OW hard a thing it is, and what great impedimentes let, to enterprise any worthie act, not only dailie experience sufficiently sheweth (moste noble and vertuous Quene) but also that notable prouerbe doeth cōfirme the same, which admonisheth vs, that all thigs are hard which are faire and excellēt. And what enterprise can there be of greater importance, and more acceptable vnto God, or more worthie of singuler commendation, then the building of the Lords Temple, the house of God, the Church of Christ, whereof the Sonne of God is the head and perfection?

When Zerubbabel went about to builde the material Temple, according to the commandement of the Lord, what difficulties and stayes daily arose to hinder his worthy indeuours, & booke of Ezra & Esdras playnely witnesse: how that not on ly he and the people of God were sore molested with foreyn aduersaries, (whereof some maliciously warred against them, and corrupted the Kings officers: and others craftely practised vnder pretence of religion) but also at home with domesticall enemies, as false Prophetes, craftie worldlings, faint hearted soldiers, and oppressors of their brethren, who as wel by false doctrine and lyes, as by subtil counsell, cowardies, and extortion, discouraged the heartes almoste of all: so that the Lords worke was not only interrupted and left of for a long tyme, but scarcely at the length with great labour and danger after a sort brought to passe.

Which thing when we weigh aright, and consider earnestly how much greater charge God hath laid vpon you in making you a builder of his spiritual Temple, we can not but partely feare, knowing the craft and force of Satan our ipiritual enemy, and the weakenes and vnabilitie of this our nature: and partely be feruent in our prayers toward God that he wolde bring to perfection this noble worke which he hath begon by you: and therefore we induour our selues by all meanes to ayde, & to bestowe our whole force vnder your graces standard, whome God hath made as our Zerubbabel for the erecting of this moste excellent Temple, and to plant and maynteyn his holy worde to the aduancement of his glorie, for your owne honour and saluatiō of your soule, and for the singuler comfort of this great flocke which Christ Iesus the great shepherd hath bought with his precious blood, and committed vnto your charge to be fed both in body and soule.

Considering therefore how many enemies there are, which by one meanes or other, as the aduersaries of Iudah and Benjamin went about to stay the building of that Temple, so labour to hinder the course of this building (whereof some are Papistes, who vnder pretence of fauoring Gods worde, traiterously seke to erect idolatrie and to destroy your maiestie: some are worldlings, who as Demas haue forsake Christ for the loue of this worlde: others are ambitious prelats, who as Amasiah & Diotrophes can abide none but them selues: and as Demetrius many practised sedition to maynteyne their errors) we perswaded our selues that there was no way so expedient and necessarie for the preservation of the one, and destruction of

worde.

the other, as to present vnto your Maiestie the holy Scriptures faithfully and playnely translated according to the languages wherein they were first written by the holy Ghost. For the worde of God is an euident token of Gods loue and our assurance of his defence, wherefoeuer it is obediently receyued: it is the trial of the spirits: and as the Prophet saith, It is as a fyre and hammer to breake the stonie heartes of them that resist Gods mercies offered by the preaching of the same. Yea it is sharper then any two edged sworde to examine the very thoghtes and to iudge the affections of the heart, and to discouer whatsoever lyeth hid vnder hypocrisie and wolde be secret from the face of God and his Church. So that this must be the first fundacion and groundworke, according whereunto the good stones of this building must be framed, and the euil tried out and reiected.

Now as he that goeth about to lay a fundacion surely, first taketh away suche impedimentes, as might iustely either hurt, let or disforme the worke: so is it necessarye that your graces zeale appeare herein, that neither the craftie perswasion of man, neither worldly policie, or natural feare dissuade you to roote out, cut downe and destroy these wedes and impedimentes which do not only deface your building, but vtterly indeuour, yea & threaten the ruine thereof. For when the noble Iosias entreprised the like kinde of worke, among other notable and many things he destroyed, not only with vtter confusion the idoles with their appertinances, but also burnt (in signe of detestatiō) the idolatrous priests bones vpon their altars, and put to death the false prophetes and forcerers, to performe the wordes of the Lawe of God: and therefore the Lord gaue him good successe & blessed him wonderfully, so long as he made Gods worde his line and rule to followe, and enterprised nothing before he had inquired at the mouth of the Lord.

And if these zealous begynnings seme dangerous and to brede disquietnes in your dominions, yet by the storie of King Asa it is manifest, that the quietnes and peace of kingdomes standeth in the vtter abolishing of idolatrie, and in aduancing of true religion: for in his dayes Iudah lyued in rest and quietnes for the space of fyue and thirtie yere, til at length he began to be colde in the zeale of the Lord, feared the power of man, imprisoned the Prophet of God, and oppressed the people: then the Lord sent him warres, & at length toke him away by death.

Wherefore great wisdom, not worldelie, but heauenly is here required, which your grace must earnestly craue of the Lord, as did Salomon, to whome God gaue an vnderstanding heart to iudge his people aright, and to discern betwene good and bad. For if God for the furnishing of the olde temple gaue the Spirit of wisdom & vnderstanding to them that shulde be the workemen thereof, as to Bezaleel, Aholiab, and Hiram: how much more wil he indewe your grace and other godly princes and chiefe gouernours with a principal Spirit, that you may procure and commande things necessarye for this moste holy Temple, foresee and take hede of things that might hinder it, and abolish and destroy whatsoever might impere and ouerthrowe the same?

Moreouer the maruelous diligence and zeale of Iehoshaphat, Iosiah, and Hezekiah are by the singuler prouidence of God left as an example to all godly rulers to reforme their countreys and to establish the worde of God with all speede, lest the wrath of the Lord fall vpon them for the neglecting thereof. For these excellent Kings did not onely embrace the worde promptly and ioyfully, but also procured earnestly and commanded the same to be taught, preached and maynteyned through all their countreys and dominions, bynding them and all their subiectes bothe great and smale with solemne protestations and couenantes before God to obey the worde, and to walke after the waies of the Lord. of Kyng|| Asait was enacted that whosoever wolde not seke the Lord God of Israel, shulde be slayne, whether he were smale or great, man or woman. And for the establishing hereof and performance of this solemne othe, aswel || Priests as Iudges were appointed and placed through all the cities of Iudah to instruct the people in the true knollage and feare of God, and to minister iustice according to the worde, knowing that, except God by his worde dyd reigne in || the heartes and soules, all mans diligence and indeuors were of none effect: for without this worde we can not discerne betwene iustice, and iniurie, protection and oppression, wisdom and foolishnes, knollage and ignorance, good and euil. Therefore the Lord, who is the chiefe gouernour of his Church, willet that nothing be attempted before we haue inquired thereof at his mouth. For seing he is our God, of duetie we must giue him this preeminence, that of our selues we entreprise nothing, but that which he hath appointed, who only knoweth all things, and gouerneth them as may best serue to his glorie and our saluation. We ought not therefore to preuent him, or do any thing without his worde, || but as sone as he hath reueiled his wil, immediately to put it in execution.

Now as concerning the maner of this building, it is not according to man, nor after the wisdom of the flesh, but of the Spirit, & according to the worde of God, whose || wais are diuers from mans wais. For if it was not lawfull for Moses to build the material Tabernacle after any other sorte then God had shewed him by a || patern, nether to prescribe any other || ceremonies & lawes then suche as the Lord had expressely commaded: how can it be lawfull to procede in this spiritual building any other wais, then Iesus Christ the Sonne of God, who is bothe the fundacion, head and chief corner stone thereof, hath commanded by his worde? And for as-much as he hath established and left an order in his Church for the building vp of his body, || appointing some to be Apostles, some Prophetes, others Euangelistes, some pastors, and teachers, he signifieth that euery one according as he is placed in this body which is the Church, ought to inquire of his ministres concerning the wil of the Lord, which is reueiled in his worde. For thei are, saith || Jeremiah, as the mouth of the Lord: yea he || promisseth to be with their mouth, & that their || lippes shal kepe knollage, & that the trueth & the law shal be in their mouth. For it is their office chieflly to vnderstand the Scriptures & teache them. For this cause the people of Israel in matters of difficultie vsed to || aske the Lord ether by the || Prophets, or by the meanes of the hie || Priest, who bare Vrim & Thummim, which were tokens of light & knollage, of holines & perfectio which shulde be in the hie Priest. Therefore when Iehoshaphat toke this order in the Church of Israel, he appointed Amariah to be the chief concerning the worde of God, because he was moste expert in the law of the Lord, and colde gyue counsell and gouerne according vnto the same. Els
there is no degre or office which may haue that autoritie and priuiledge to decise concerning Gods worde, except withall he hath the Spirit of God, and sufficient knollage and iudgement to define according thereunto. And as euery one is indued of God with greater giftes, so ought he to be herein chieflly heard, or at least that without the expresse worde none be heard: for he that hathe not the worde, || speaketh not by the mouthe of the Lord. Agayne, what danger it is to do any thing, seme it neuer so godly or necessarie, without consulting with Gods mouth, the examples of the Israelites, || deceiued hereby through the Gibeonites: and of || Saul, whose intention semed good and necessarie: and of || Iosiah also, who for great considerations was moued for the defence of true religion & his people, to fight against Pharaoh Necho King of Egypt, may sufficiently admonish vs.

Last of all ( moste gracious Quene ) for the aduancement of this building and rearing vp of the worke, two things are necessarie, First, that we haue a yuely & stedfast faith in Christ Iesus, who must dwell in our heartes, as the only meanes and assurance of our saluation; for he is the ladder that reacheth from the earth to heauen: he listeth vp his Church and setteth it in the heavenly places: he maketh vs yuely stones and buildeth vs vpon him selfe: he ioyneth vs to him selfe as the members and body to the head: yea he maketh him selfe and his Church one Christ. The next is, that our faith bring forth the good fruites, so that our godly conuersation may serue vs as a witness to confirme our election, and be an example to all others to walke as apperteyneth to the vocation whereunto they are called: lest the worde of God be euil spoken of, and this building be stayed to growe vp to a iust height, which can not be without the great prouocation of Gods iuste vengeance and discouraging of many thousandes through all the worlde, if they shulde see that our life were not holy and agreeable to our profession. For the eyes of all that feare God in all places beholde your countreyes as an example to all that beleue, and the prayers of all the godly at all tymes are directed to God for the preseruatiō of your maiestie. For considering Gods wonderful mercies toward you at all seasons, who hath pulled you out of the mouth of the lyons, and how that from your youth you haue bene brought vp in the holy Scriptures, the hope of all men is so increased, that they can not but looke that God shulde bring to passe some wonderful worke by your grace to the vniuersal comfort of his Church. Therefore euen about strength you must shewe your selfe strong and bolde in Gods matters: and though Satan lay all his power and craft together to hurt and hinder the Lorders building: yet be you assured that God wil fight from heauen against this great dragon, the ancient serpent, which is called the deuil and Satan, till he haue accomplished the whole worke and made his Church glorious to him selfe, without spot or wrinkle. For albeit all other kingdomes and monarchies, as the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians & Romains haue fallen & taken end: yet the Church of Christ euen vnder the Crosse hath from the beginning of the worlde bene victorious, and shalbe euerlastingly. Truth it is, that sometime it semeth to be shadowed with a cloude, or driven with a stormie persecution, yet suddenly the beames of Christ the sunne of iustice shine and bring it to light and libertie. If for a tyme it lie couered with ashes, yet it is quickly kindled agayne by the wynde of Gods Spirit: though it seme drowned in the sea, or parched and pynd in the wilderness, yet God giueth euer good successe. For he punisheth the enemies, and deliuereth his, nourisheth them and stil preserueth them vnder his wyngs. This Lord of lorders & King of kings who hath euer defended his, strengtheth, comfort and preserue your maiestie, that you may be able to builde vp the ruines of Gods house to his glorie, the discharge of your conscience, and to the comfort of all them that loue the conning of Christ Iesus our Lord.

Esides the manifolde and continual benefites which almightie God bestoweth vpon vs, bothe corporal and spiritual, we are especially bounde (deare brethren) to giue him thanks without ceasing for his great grace and vnspcakable mercies, in that it hath pleased him to call vs vnto this meruelous light of his Gospel, & mercifully to regarde vs after so horrible backsliding and falling away from Christ to Antichrist, from light to darknes, from the liuing God to dumme and dead idoles, & that after so cruel murder of Gods Saintes, as alas, hath bene among vs, we are not altogether cast off, as were the Israelites, and many others for the like, or not so manifest wickednes, but receyued againe to grace with moſte euident signes and tokens of Gods especial loue and fauour. To the intent therefore that we may not be vnmyndeful of these great mercies, but ſeke by all meanes (according to our dutie) to be thankful for the same, it becometh vs ſo to walke in his feare and loue, that all the daies of our life we may procure the glorie of his holy name. Now forasmuche as this thing chiefly is attayned by the knollage and practising of the worde of God (which is the light to our paths, the keye of the kingdome of heauen, our comfort in affliction, our ſhield and sworde against Satan, the schoole of all wildome, the glasse wherein we beholde Gods face, the testimonie of his fauour, and the only foode and nourishment of our soules) we thought that we wolde bestowe our labours & studie in nothing which wolde be more acceptable to God and comfortable to his Church then in the translating of the holy Scriptures into our native tongue: the which thing, albeit that diuers heretofore haue endeouored to atchieue, yet considering the infancie of those tymes and imperfect knollage of the tongues, in respect of this ripe age and cleare light which God hath now reueiled, the translations required greatly to be perfected and reformed. Not that we vendicak any thing to our selues about the least of our brethren (for God knoweth with what feare and trembling we haue bene now, for the space of two yerres and more day and night occupied herein) but being earnestly desired, and by diuers, whose learning and godlynes we reuerence, exhorted, and also encouraged by the ready willes of suche, whose heartes God likewise touched, not to spare any charges for the furtherance of suche a benefite and fauour of God toward his Church (though the tyme then was moſte dangerous and the persecution sharpe and furious) we submitted our selues at length to their godly iudgements, and seing the great oportunitie and occasions, which God presented vnto vs in this Church, by reason of so many godly and learned men: and suche diuerſities of translations in diuers tongues, we vndertoke this great and wonderful worke (with all reuerence, as in the presence of God, as intreating the worde of God, whereunto we thinke our selues vnſufficient) which now God according to his diuine providence and mercie hath directed to a moſte prosperous end. And this we may with good conscience profeſſe, that we haue in euery point and worde, according to the measure of that knollage which it pleased al mightie God to giue vs, faithfully rendred the text, and in all hard places moſte ſincerely expounded the same. For God is our witnes that we haue by all meanes endeouored to ſet forth the puritie of the worde and right ſenſe of the holy Goſt for the edifying of the brethren in faith and charitie.

Now as we haue chiefly obserued the ſenſe, and laboured alwaies to reſtore it to all integrity: ſo haue we moſte reuerently kept the proprietie of the wordes, considering that the Apostles who ſpake and wrote to the Gentiles in the Greke tongue, rather conſtrayned them to the liuely phraſe of the Ebrewe, then entrepriſed farre by mollifying their langage to ſpeake as the Gentils did. And for this and other cauſes we haue in many places reſerued the Ebrewe phraſes, notwithstanding that thei may ſeme ſomewhat hard in their eares that are not wel practiſed and alſo delite in the ſweete ſounding phraſes of the holy Scriptures. Yet leſt either the ſimple ſhulde be diſcouraged, or the malicious haue any occaſion of iuſt cauillation, ſeing ſome translations read after one ſort, and ſome after another, whereas all may ſerue to good purpoſe and edification, we haue in the margin noted that diuerſitie of ſpeache or reading which may alſo ſeme agreeable to the mynde of the holy Goſt and propre for our langage with this marke.

A gayne where as the Ebrewe ſpeache ſemed hardly to agree with ours, we haue noted it in the margin after this ſort, vſing that which was more intelligible. And albeit that many of the Ebrewe names be altered from the olde text, and reſtored to the true writing and firſt original, whereof thei haue their ſignification, yet in the vſual names litle is changed for feare of troubling the ſimple readers. Moreouer whereas the neceſſitie of the ſentence required any thing to be added (for ſuche is the grace and proprietie of the Ebrewe and Greke tongues, that it can not but ether by circumlocution, or by adding the verbe or some worde be vnderstand of them that are not wel practised therein) we haue put it in the text with another kynde of letter that it may easely be discerned from the common letter. As touching the diuision of the verses we haue followed the Ebrewe examples, which haue so euen from the begynning distinct them. Which thing as it is moste profitable for memorie: so doeth it agre with the best translations, & is moste easie to finde out both by the best Concordances, and also by the cotations which we haue diligently herein perused and set forth by this starre *. Besides this the principal matters are noted and distincted by this marke ¶. Yea and the argumentes bothe for the booke and for the chapters with the nombre of the verse are added, that by all meanes the reader might be holpen. For the which cause also we haue set ouer the head of euery page some notable worde or sentence which may greatly further aswel for memorie, as for the chief point of the page. And considering how hard a thing it is to vnderstand the holy Scriptures, and what errors, sectes and heresies growe daile for lacke of the true knollage thereof, and how many are discouraged (as thei pretend) because thei can not attaine to the true and simple meaning of the same, we haue also indeuored bothe by the diligent reading of the best commentaries, and also by the conference with the godly and learned brethren, to gather brief annotations vpon all the hard places, aswel for the vnderstanding of suche wordes as are obscure, and for the declaratio of the text, as for the application of the same as may moste apperteyne to Gods glorie and the edification of his Church. Forhermore whereas certeyne places in the bookes of Moses, of the Kings and Ezekiel semed so darke that by no description thei colde be made easie to the simple reader, we haue so set them forth with figures and notes for the full declaration thereof, that thei which can not by iudgement, being holpen by the annotations noted by the letters a b c. &c. attcyn thereunto, yet by the perspective, and as it were by the eye may sufficiently knowe the true meaning of all suche places. Whereunto also we haue added certeyne mapes of Cosmographie which necessarily serue for the perfect vnderstanding and memorie of diuers places and countreys, partely described, and partely by occasion touched, bothe in the olde and newe Testament. Finally that nothing might lacke which might be bought by labors, for the increase of knowledge and furtherance of Gods glorie, we haue adioyned two moste profitable tables, the one seruing for the interpretation of the Ebrewe names: and the other conteyning all the chefe and principal matters of the whole Bible: so that nothing (as we trust) that any colde iustly desire, is omitted. Therefore, as brethren that are partakers of the same hope and saluation with vs, we beseeche you, that this riche perle and inestimable treasure may not be offered in vayne, but as sent from God to the people of God, for the increase of his kingdome, the comfort of his Church, and discharge of our conscience, whome it hath pleased him to raise vp for this purpose, so you wolde willingly receyue the worde of God, earnestly studie it and in all your life practise it, that you may now appeare in dede to be the people of God, not walking any more according to this worlde, but in the frutes of the Spirit, that God in vs may be fully glorified through Christ Iesus our Lord, who lyueth and reigneth for euer. Amen.

THE FIRST BOKE OF Moses, called * Genesis.

THE ARGUMENT.

MOSE S in effect declareth the things, which are here chiefly to be considered: First, that the worlde & all things therein were created by God, & that man being placed in this great tabernacle of the worlde to beholde Gods wonderful workes, & to praise his Name for the infinite graces, where-with he had endued himself willingly from God through disobedience: who yet for his owne mercies sake restored him to life, & confirmed him in the same by his promises of Christ to come, by whom he should overcome Satan, death and hel. Secondly, that the wicked, & unmindeful of Gods most excellent benefites, remained still in their wickednes, & so falling most horribly from sinne to sinne, provoked God (who by his preachers called them continually to repentance) at length to destroye the whole worlde. Thirdly, he assureth vs by the examples of Abraham, Isaac, & Iacob & the rest of the Patriarkes, that his mercies neuer faile them, whome he chuseth to be his Church, and to profess his Name in earth, but in all their afflictions and persecutions he euer assisteth them, sendeth comfort, & deliuereth them. And because the beginning, increase, preservation and success thereof might be onely attributed to God, Moses sheweth by the examples of Cain, Ishmael, & Iacob and others, which were no lesse in mans iudgement, that this Church dependeth not on the estimation and nobilitie of the worlde: and also by the fewenes of them, which haue at all times worshiped him purely according to his worde, that it standeth not in the multitude, but in the poore and despised, in the smale flocke and little number, that man in his wisdom might be confounded, & the Name of God euer more praised.

CHAP. I.

1 God created the heauen & the earth, 2 The light & the darkenes, 3 The firmament, 4 He separateth the water from the earth, 5 He createth the sunne, the moone, & the starres, 6 He createth the fish, birdes, beastes, 7 He createth man and giueth him rule ouer all creatures, 8 And provideth nouriture for man and beast.

IN THE beginning
* God created <sup>a</sup> heauen
and the earth.
And the earth was <sup>b</sup>
without forme & voyde,
and darkenes was vpon the depe, & the Spirit of God <sup>d</sup> moued

vpon the waters.

3 Then God said, * Let there be light: and there was light.

4 And God sawe <sup>f</sup> light that it was good, and God separated the light from the darkenes.

5 And God called the light, Day, and the darkenes, he called Night. <sup>g</sup> So the euenig and the morning were the first day.

6 * Againe God said, * Let there be <sup>a</sup> a firmament in the middes of the waters: and let it separate the waters from the waters.

7 Then God made the firmament, & parted the waters, which were <sup>f</sup> vnder the firmament, from the waters which were <sup>a</sup> about the firmament, and it was so.

8 And God called the firmament, <sup>a</sup> Heauen. <sup>g</sup> So the euenig and the morning were the seconde day.

9 * God said againe, * Let the waters vnder the heauē be gathered into one place, & let the drye land appeare, and it was so.

10 And God called the drye land, Earth, & he called <sup>f</sup> gathering together of the waters, Seas: & God sawe that it was good.

11 Then God said, <sup>b</sup> Let the earth budde

forthe the budde of the herbe, that sedeth sede, the fructeful tre, & beareth frute according to his kinde, which maie haue his sede in it self vpon the earth. & it was so.

12 And the earth brought forth the budde of the herbe, that sedeth sede according to his kinde, also the tre that yeldeth frute, & hath his sede in it self according to his kinde: & God <sup>i</sup> sawe that it was good.

13 <sup>j</sup> So the euenig and the morning were the third daie.

14 * And God said, * Let there be <sup>k</sup> lightes in the firmament of the heauen, to <sup>l</sup> separate the daie from the night, & let them be for <sup>m</sup> signes, and for seasons, and for daies and yerres.

15 And let them be for lightes in the firmament of the heauen to giue light vpon the earth, and it was so.

16 God then made two <sup>n</sup> great lightes: the greater light <sup>o</sup> to rule the daie, & the lesse light to rule <sup>p</sup> night: he made also <sup>q</sup> starres.

17 And God set them in the firmament of the heauen, to shine vpon the earth,

18 And to <sup>r</sup> rule in the daie, & in the night, and to separate the light from the darkenes: and God sawe that it was good.

19 <sup>s</sup> So the euenig and the morning were the fourth daie.

21 Then God created the great whales, & euerie thing liuing & moving, & the <sup>y</sup> waters brought forth in abundance, according to their kinde: & euerie feathered foule according to his kinde: & God sawe that it was good.

Because mention is made in the tenth verse of this seconde chapter of the river that watered the garden, we must note that Euphrates and Tigris called in Hebrew, Terach and Hiddekel, were called by one river where they joyned together, as they had four hundred it is said at their springs, & run where they fell into the Persian sea. In this country and moste plentiful land Adam dwelt, and this was called Paradise: that is, a garden of pleasure, because of the fruitfulness and abundance thereof. And whereas it is said that Tishon copasseth the land of Haulah, it is meant of Tigris, which in some countries, as it passed by divers places, was called by sundry names as some time Diglat, in other places Tajitjy, & of some Thafin or Passon. Likewise Euphrates towards the country of Isph or Ethiopia, or Arabia was called Gion. So that Tigris and Euphrates (which were but two rivers and some time when they joyned together, were called after one name) were according to divers places called by these four names, so that they might seeme to haue bene four diuers rivers.

the Lord God walking in the garden in the coole of the day, and the man and his wife hid them selues from the presence of the Lord God among the trees of the garden.
But the Lord God called to the man, and said vnto him, Where art thou?
Who said, I heard thy voyce in the garden, and was affraid: because I was naked, therefore I hid my self.
And he said, Who tolde thee, that thou wast naked? Hast thou eaten of the tre, whereof I commanded thee that thou shouldest not eat in no case?
Then the man said, The woman which thou gauest to be with me, she gaue me of the tre, and I did eat.
And the Lord God said to the woman, Why hast thou done this? And the woman said, The serpent beguyled me, and I did eat.
Then the Lord God said to the serpent, Because thou hast done this, thou art cursed above all catel, and above euerie beast of the field: vpon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eat all the dayes of thy life.
I wil also put enimitie betwene thee and the womā, & betwene thy sede & her sede. He shal breake thine head, & thou shalt bruise his heele.
Vnto the woman he said, I wil greatly increase thy sorowes, & thy conceptionis. In sorowe shalt thou bring forth the childre, and thy desire shal be subiect to thine husband, and he shal rule ouer thee.
Also to Adám he said, Because thou hast obeyed the voyce of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tre, whereof I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat of it: cursed is the earth for thy sake: in sorowe shalt thou eat of it all the dayes of thy life.
Thornes also, and thistles shal it bring forth to thee, and thou shalt eat the herbe of the field.
In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, til thou returne to the earth: for out of it wast thou taken, because thou art dust, and to dust shalt thou returne.
(And the man called his wiues name Heuá, because she was the mother of all liuing)
Vnto Adám also and to his wife did the Lord God make coates of skinnes, and clothed them.
And the Lord God said, Beholde, the man is become as one of vs, to knowe good and euil. And now lest he put forth his hand, and take also of the tre of life and eat and liue for euer,
Therefore y Lord God sent him forth from the garden of Eden, to til the earth, whence he was taken.

Thus he cast out man, and at the Eastside of the garden of Eden he set the Cherubims, and the blade of a sword shakyn, to kepe the waye of the tre of life.
CHAP. III.
The generation of mankinde. & Káin killeth Hábel.
Lámecch a tyrant encourageth his fearful wiue.
True religion is restored.
Afterwarde the man knewe Heuá his wife, which cōceiued & bare Káin, & said, I haue obtayned a man by y Lord.
And againe he broght forth his brother Hábel, and Hábel was a keeper of shepe, & Káin was a tiller of the grounde.
And in processe of time it came to passe, that Káin broght an oblation vnto the Lord of the frute of the grounde.
And Hábel also him selfe broght of the first frutes of his shepe, and of the fat of them, and the Lord had respect vnto Hábel, and to his offering.
But vnto Káin and to his offering he had no regarde: wherefore Káin was exceeding wroth, & his countenance fel downe.
Then the Lord said vnto Káin, Why art thou wroth? and why is thy countenance cast downe?
If thou do wel, shalt thou not be accepted? and if thou do it not wel, sinne lieth at the dore: also vnto thee his desire shal be subiect, and thou shalt rule ouer him.
Then Káin spake to Hábel his brother. And when they were in the field, Káin rose vp against Hábel his brother, and slew him.
Then the Lord said vnto Káin, Where is Hábel thy brother? Who answered, I can not tel. Am I my brothers keeper?
Again he said, What hast thou done? the voyce of thy brothers blood cryeth vnto me from the grounde.
Now therefore thou art cursed fro the earth, which hath opened her mouth to receiue thy brothers blood from thine hand.
When thou shalt til the grounde, it shal not henceforth yelde vnto thee her strength: a vagabonde and a renegade shalt thou be in the earth.
Then Káin said to the Lord, My punishment is greater, then I can beare.
Beholde, thou hast cast me out this day from the earth, and from thy face shal I be hid, and shalbe a vagabonde and a renegade in the earth, & who soeuer findeth me, shal slaye me.
Then the Lord said vnto him, Douteles who soeuer slayeth Káin, he shalbe punished seven folde. And y Lord set a marke vpon Káin, lest anie man finding him shulde kill him.
Then Káin went out from the presence of the Lord and dwelt in the land of Nod towards the Eastside of Eden.

Man's nature, the state of marriage, & Gods blessing were utterly abolished through sinne, but the quality or condition thereof was changed.
That is, according to the Lords promise, as chap. 3. 15. some read, To the Lord, as reioicing for y sonne, wth the husband, who me the wolde offer to y Lord as the first frutes of her birth.
This declarer that the fathers instruction in y knowledge of God, and also how God gaue the sacrifices to signifye their filiall affection, they were de-stitute of the sacrament of the tre of life.
Ebr. 11. 4.
Because he was an hypocrite and offered only for an outward shew without sinceritie of heart.
Bothe thou and thy sacrifice shalbe acceptable to me.
Since shal still torment thy conscience.
The dignitie of y first borne is giuen to Káin ouer Hábel.

This is the nature of the reprobate, who thei are reprobate, & thei are hypocrite, & to neglect God and despise him.
God reuengeth y wrongs of his Saintes, though none can plain: for the iniquitie itselfe cryeth for reuengance.
The earth shalbe a witness against them, which mercifully receiued that blood, which they cruelly shed.
I Thou shalt neuer haue rest: for thine heart shalbe in continual faine & care.
He burdeneth God as a cruel iudge, because he did punish him so sharply.
Or, my stone is greater then can be slayne.
A visible signe of Gods iudgement that others shulde feare.

Thinking thereby to be sure & to haue selfe occasion to feare Gods iudgements against him.
The lawfull institution of marriage, wth y two shulde be one flesh, which corrupt in y house of Káin by Hábel.
Or, first inuiter.
Or, first and ripe.
His wiues seeing that all men had him for his cruelty, were affraid: therefore he braggeth y there is none so iusty that were able to resist, although he were already wounded.
He mocked at Gods iudgement in Káin, leifing as though God wolde suffice none to punish him, & yet giue him licence to murder others.
In these dayes God began to moue y hearts of the godlie to reho-ly religion, wth alonge time by y wicked had bene suppressed.
Or, rethorsal of the first.

tie and called the name of the citie by the name of his sonne, Henóch.

And to Henóch was borne Irád, and Irrád begate Methuáel, and Methuáel begate Methushael, and Methushael begate Lámec.

¶ And Lámec toke to him a two wiues: the name of the one was Adáh, and the name of the other Zilláh.

And Adáh bare Iabál, who was the father of such as dwell in the tentes, and of
such as haue cattel.

And his brothers name was Tubál, who was the father of all that playe on the har-pe and organs.

And Zilláh also bare Tubal-káin, who wrought cunningly euerie crafte of bras-
se and of yron: and the sister of Tubal-káin was Naamáh.

¶ Then Lámec said vnto his wiues Adáh
and Zilláh, Heare my voyce, ye wiues of Lámec: hearken vnto my speche: for I wolde slaye a man in my wóude, & a yongman in mine hurt.

¶ If Káin shal be auenged seuen folde, truelly Lámec, seuentie times seuen
folde.

¶ And Adám knewe his wife againe, and
she bare a sonne, and she called his name Sheth: for God, said she, hath appointed me another sēde for Hábēl, because Káin slew him.

And to the same Sheth also there was borne a sonne, and he called his name Enósh. Then began men to call vpon the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. V.

The genealogie, Age and death of Adám, & his succession vnto Noah and his children.

¶ This is the booke of the generacions of Adám. In the day that God created Adám, in the likenes of God made he
him,

Male and female created he thē, & blef-
sed them, and called their name Adám
in the day that they were created.

¶ Now Adám liued an hūdreth and thir-
tie yeres and begate a childe in his owne likenes after his image, and called his name Sheth.

¶ And the dayes of Adám, after he had begotten Sheth, were eight hundred yeres,
and he begate sonnes and daughters.

So all the dayes that Adám liued, were nine hundred and thirtie yeres: and he died.

¶ And Sheth liued an hundred, and fye
yeres, and begate Enósh.

¶ And Sheth liued, after he begate Enósh, eight hundred and seuen yeres, and be-
gate sonnes and daughters.

8 So all the dayes of Sheth were nine hūdred and twelue yeres: & he dyed.

¶ Also Enósh liued ninety yeres & begate Kenán.

¶ And Enósh liued, after he begate Kenán, eight hundred and fiftene yeres, and be-
gate sonnes and daughters.

¶ So all the daies of Enósh were nine hundred and fye yeres: and he dyed.

¶ Likewise Kenán liued seuentie yeres,
and begate Mahalaleél.

¶ And Kenán liued, after he begate Mahalaleél, eight hundred and forty yeres, &
begate sonnes and daughters.

¶ So all the dayes of Kenán were nine hūdred and ten yeres: and he dyed.

¶ Mahalaleél also liued sixty & fye yeres and begate Iéred.

¶ Also Mahalaleél liued, after he begate Iéred, eight hundred and thirty yeres, &
begate sonnes and daughters.

¶ So all the dayes of Mahalaleél were eight hundred ninety and fye yeres: and
he dyed.

¶ And Iéred liued an hundred sixty and two yeres, and begate Henóch.

¶ Then Iéred liued, after he begate He-nóch, eight hundred yeres, and begate
sonnes and daughters.

¶ So all the dayes of Iéred were nine hundred sixty and two yeres: & he dyed.

¶ Also Henóch liued sixty and fye yeres, and begate Methushélah.

¶ And Henóch walked with God, after he begate Methushélah, thre hundred yeres, and begate sonnes and daughters.

¶ So all the daies of Henóch were thre hūdred sixty and fye yeres.

¶ And Henóch walked with God, and he was no more sene: for God toke him away.

¶ Methushélah also liued an hundred eighty and seuen yeres, and begate Lámēch.

¶ And Methushélah liued, after he begate Lámēch, seuen hundred eighty and two yeres, and begate sonnes and daughters.

¶ So all the dayes of Methushélah were nine hundred sixty and nine yeres: and
he dyed.

¶ Then Lámēch liued an hūdreth eighty and two yeres, and begate a sonne,

¶ And called his name Nóbah, saying,
This same shal comforte vs concerning our worke and sorowe of our hands, as touching the earth, which the Lord hath cursed.

¶ And Lámēch liued, after he begate Nób-ah, fye hundred ninety and fye yeres,
and begate sonnes and daughters.

¶ So all the dayes of Lámēch were seue-n hundred seuentie and seuen yeres: and
he dyed.

CHAP. VI.

God threateneth to bring the flood. 5 Man is altogether corrupt. 10 Noāh is preserved in the Arke, which he was commanded to make.

a The childre of the godlie, which began to degenerate.

b Those that came of wicked parents as of Cain.

c Having more respect to their beautie, & to worldly considerations, then to their manners, and godlines.

d Because man could not be wonne by Gods lenitie and long sufferance, whereby he stood to overcome him, he would no longer stay his vengeance.

e Which term God gave man to repent before he would destroy the earth, 1 Pet. 3. 20.

f Which vaine opinioned authority over others & did degenerate from simplicity, whereto their fathers lived.

g Chap. 8. 21. mat. 18. 19.

h God doeth never repent, but he speaketh after our capacities, because he did destroy him, & in that, as it were, did disauowe him to be his creature.

i God declareth how much he detesteth sinne, seeing the punishment thereof extended to the brute beasts.

k God was merciful vnto him.

l 1 Cor. 10. 13.

So when men began to be multiplied vpon the earth, and there were daughters borne vnto them,

Then the sonnes of God sawe the daughters of man that they were faire, and they toke them wiues of all that they liked.

Therefore the Lord said, My Spirit shall not alwaye strive with man, because he is but flesh, & his dayes shall be an hundred and twentie yeres.

There were gyantes in the earth in those dayes: yea, and after that the sonnes of God came vnto the daughters of man, and they had borne them children, these were mightie men, which in olde time were men of renowne.

When the Lord sawe that the wickednes of man was great in the earth, and all the imaginations of the thoughts of his heart were onely euil continually,

Then it was repeted the Lord, that he had made man in the earth, and he was sorie in his heart.

Therefore the Lord said, I wil destroye from the earth the man, whome I haue created, from man to beast, to the creeping thing, & to the foule of the heauen: for I repent that I haue made them.

But Noāh founde grace in the eyes of the Lord.

These are the generacions of Noāh. Noāh was a iuste and vpriight man in his time, and walked with God.

And Noāh begate thre sonnes, Shem, Ham and Iapheth.

The earth also was corrupt before Gods

for the earth was filled with crueltie.

Then God looked vpon the earth; and beholde, it was corrupt: for all flesh had corrupted his way vpon the earth.

And God said vnto Noāh, An end of all flesh is come before me: for the earth is filled with crueltie through them: and beholde, I wil destroye them with the earth.

Make thee an Arke of pine trees: thou shalt make cabins in the Arke, and shalt pytch it within and without with pytch.

And thus shalt thou make it: The length of the Arke shall be thre hundred cubites, the breadth of it fiftie cubites, and the height of it thirtie cubites.

A window shalt thou make in the Arke, and in a cubite shalt thou finish it aboue, and the dore of the Arke shalt thou set in the side thereof: thou shalt make it with the lowe, seconde and third rounne.

And I beholde, I wil bring a flood of waters vpon the earth to destroye all flesh, wherein is breath of life vnder the heauen: all that is in the earth shall perish.

But with thee wil I establish my covenant, & thou shalt go into the Arke, thou, and thy sonnes, and thy wife, and thy sonnes wiues with thee.

And of euerie sorte shalt thou cause to come into the Arke, to kepe them aliuie with thee: they shall be male and female.

Of the foules after their kinde, and of the cattel after their kinde, of euerie creeping thing of the earth after his kinde, two of euerie sorte shall come vnto thee, that thou maiest kepe them aliuie.

And take thou with thee of all meat that is eat: & thou shalt gather it to thee, that it may be meat for thee & for them.

Noāh therefore did according vnto all, that God commanded him: euen so did he.

Meaning all was given to the concept of God and oppression of their neighbours.

18. And he abode yet other seven dayes,

& lo, in her' mouthe was an olive leafe

that y waters were abated from of y earth.
20. Notwithstanding he waited yet other seven dayes, & sent forth the doue, which returned not againe vnto him any more.

21. ¶ And in the six hundreth and one yere,
in the first daie of the first moneth the waters were dried vp from of the earth: &
Nôah remoued the couering of the Arke & looked, & beholde, the vpper parte of the grounde was drye.

22. And in the seconde moneth, in the seven and twentieth day of the moneth was the earth drye.

23. ¶ Then God spake to Nôah, saying,

24. Go forth of y Arke, thou & thy wife,
& thy sonnes & thy sonnes wiues w thee.

25. Bring forth the with thee euerie beast that vnto the altar.

1. And God blessed Nôah & his sonnes, and said to them, Bring forth the frute,
and multiplie, and replenish the earth.

2. Also the feare of you, and the dread of you shalbe vpon euerie beast of the earth,
and vpon euerie foule of the heauen, vpon
all that moueth on the earth, & vpon all the fishes of the sea: into your hand are thei deliuered.

3. Euerie thing that moueth & liueth, shal-

giuen you all things.

4. But flesh with the life thereof, I meane,
with the blood thereof, shal ye not eat.

5. For surely I wil require your blood, wherein your liues are: at the hand of e-uerie beast wil I require it: and at the hand
of man, euē at the hand of a mâs brother
wil I require the life of man.

6. Whoso sheddeth mans blood, by man
shal his blood be shed: for in the image
of God hath he made man.

7. But bring ye forth the frute and multiplie:
growe plentifully in the earth, and increafe
therein.

8. ¶ God spake also to Nôah & to his son-
nes with him, saying,

9. Beholde, I, euē I establish my couenā with you, and with your seed: after you,

10. And with euerie liuing creature that is with you, with the foule, with the cattel, &
with euerie beast of the earth with you,
from all that go out of the Arke, vnto e-
uerie beast of the earth.

11. And my couenānt wil I establish with you, that from henceforth all flesh shal
not be rooted out by the waters of the flood, nether shal there be a flood to destroye
the earth any more.

12. Then God said, This is the token of the couenānt which I make betwene me and you, & betwene euerie liuing thing, that is
with you vnto perpetual generations.

13. I haue set my bowe in the cloude, and it shalbe for a signe of the couenānt betwene
me and the earth.

14. And when I shal couer the earth with a cloude, and the bowe shal be sene in the cloude,

15. Then wil I remēber my couenānt, which is betwene me and you, & betwene euerie
liuing thing in all flesh, & there shalbe no
more waters of a flood to destroy all flesh.

16. Therefore y bowe shalbe in the cloude, y
I may se it, & remember the euerlasting
couenānt betwene God, and euerie liuing
thing in all flesh that is vpon the earth.

17. God said yet to Nôah, This is the signe of the couenānt, which I haue established betwene me and all flesh that is vpon
the earth.

18. ¶ Now the sonnes of Nôah going for-the of the Arke, were Shem & Ham & Iapheth. And Ham is the father of Canān.

19. These are the thre sonnes of Nôah, and of them was the whole earth ouerspred.

20. ¶ Nôah also began to be an housband mā,
and plantēd a vineyard.

21. And he drōke of y wine & was drōnkē,
& was vncouered in y middes of his tent.

CHAP. X.

1 The increase of mankind by Noah and his sonnes.
2 The beginning of cities, countreys and nations.

Now these are the generations of y
sonnes of Noah, Shem, Ham & Iapheth:
vnto whome sonnes were borne after
the flood.

2 The sonnes of Iapheth were Gomer and Magog, and Madai, and Iauan, and Tu
bal and Meshech, and Tiras.

3 And the sonnes of Gomer, Ashkenaz, and Riphath and Togarmah.

4 Also y sonnes of Iauan, Eliphaz and Tar shish, Kittim, and Dodanim.

5 Of these were the c yles of the Gentiles diuided in their landes, euerie man after his tongue, and after their families in their nations.

6 Moreouer y sonnes of Ham were Cush,
and Mizraim, and Put, and Canaan.

7 And the sonnes of Cush, Seba and Ha
uilah, and Sabtah, and Raamah, and Sab
techa: also the sonnes of Raamah were Sheba and Dedan.

8 And Cush begate Nimrod, who began to be c mighty in the earth.

9 He was a mighty hunter before the Lord.
wherefore it is said, As Nimrod y mighty hunter before the Lord.

10 And the beginning of his kingdome was Babel, and Erech, and Accad, and Calneh,
in the land of Shinar.

11 Out of that land came Asshur, & buyl
ded Ninuiuh, and the c citie Rehoboth,
and Calah:

12 Resen also betwene Ninuiuh and Calah:
this is a great citie.

13 And Mizraim begate Ludim, and Anam
im, and Lehabim, and Naphtuhim.

14 Pathrusim also, and Casluhim (out of whome came the Philistims) and Caph torim.

15 Also Canaan begate Zidon his first borne, and Heth,

16 And Iebusi, and Emori, and Girgashi,

17 And Huii, and Arki, and Sini,

18 And Aruadi, and Zemari, & Hamathi: &
afterwarde were the families of y Cana
nites spred abroad.

19 Then the border of the Canaanites was from Zidon, as thou comenest to Gerar
vntil Azzah, & as thou goest vnto Sodom,
and Gomorah, and Admah, & Zeboiim, euen vnto Lasha.

20 These are y sonnes of Ham according to their families, according to their tong ues in their countreys and in their nacio
s.

21 Vnto Shem also the father of all the sonnes<sup>h</sup> of Eber, and elder brother of Iapheth were children borne.

22 The sonnes of Shem were Elam and Af
shur, and Arpachshad, and Lud, and Aiam.

23 And the sonnes of Aram, Vz & Hul, and Gether and Mash.

24 Also Arpachshad begate Shelah, and Shelah begate Eber.

25 Vnto Eber also were borne two sonnes:
the name of the one was Pleg: for in his dayes was the earth<sup>i</sup> diuided: & his bro thers name was Ioktan.

26 Then Ioktan begate Almodad and She leph, & Hazarmaueth, and Ierah,

27 And Hadoram, & Vzai, and Dicklah,

28 And Obal, & Abimael, and Sheba,

29 And Ophir, and Hauilah, and Iobab. all these were the sonnes of Ioktan.

30 And their dwelling was from Mesha, as thou goest vnto Sephar a mount of the East.

31 These are y sonnes of Shem according
to their families, according to their tong
ues, in their countreys and nations.

32 These are the families of the sonnes of Noah, after their generations amog their people: and out of these were the nations
diuided in the earth after the flood.

there they abode.

3 And they said one to an other, Come let vs make brycke, and burne it in the fire. So thei had brycke for stone, and slyme had

3 By this great plague of the confusion of tongues, appeareth Gods horrible iudgement against mens pride and vainglorie.

7 Come on, let vs go downe, and there confounde their language, that euerie one perceiue not an others speache.

8 So the Lord scatered them from thence vpon all the earth, and they left of to buyelde the citie.

9 Therefore the name of it was called Babel, because the Lord did there confounde the language of all the earth: fro thence then did the Lord scater them vpon all the earth.

10 ¶ These are the generacions of Shem: Shem was an hundred yere olde, and begate Arpachshad two yere after the flood.

11 And Shé liued, after he begate Arpachshad, fife hundred yeres, and begate sonnes and daughters.

12 Also Arpachshad liued fife and thirty yeres, and begate Shélah.

13 And Arpachshad liued, after he begate Shélah, foure hundred and thre yeres, and begate sonnes and daughters.

14 And Shélah liued thirty yeres, and begate Eber.

15 So Shélah liued, after he begate Eber, foure hundred and thre yeres, and begate sonnes and daughters.

16 Likewise Eber liued foure and thirty yeres, and begate Péleg.

17 So Eber liued, after he begate Péleg, foure hundred and thirty yeres, and begate sonnes and daughters.

18 And Péleg liued thirty yeres, and begate Reú.

19 ¶ And Péleg liued, after he begate Reú, two hundred and nine yeres, and begate sonnes and daughters.

20 Also Reú liued two and thirty yeres, & begate Serúg.

21 So Reú liued, after he begate Serúg, two hundred and feuen yeres, and begate sonnes and daughters.

22 Moreover Serúg liued thirty yeres, and begate Nahór.

23 And Serúg liued, after he begate Nahór, two hundred yeres, and begate sonnes & daughters.

24 And Nahór liued nine & twenty yeres, and begate Térah.

25 So Nahór liued, after he begate Térah, an hundred and ninetene yeres, and begate sonnes and daughters.

26 ¶ So Térah liued ffeuentie yeres, & begate Abram, Nahór, and Harán.

27 ¶ Now these are the generaciōs of Térah: Térah begate Abram, Nahór, & Harán: and Harán begate Lot.

28 Then Harán dyed before Térah his father in the land of his natiuitie, in Vr of the Caldees.

29 So Abram & Nahór toke them wiues. the name of Abrams wife was Sarái, and the name of Nahors wife Milcáh, the daughter of Harán, the father of Milcáh, and the father of Iscáh.

30 But Sarái was barren, and had no childe.

31 Then Térah toke Abram his sonne, & Lot the sonne of Harán, his sonnes sonne, and Sarái his daughter in lawe, his sonne Abrams wife: and they departed together from Vr of the Caldees, to go into the land of Canaan, and they came to Harán, and dwelt there.

32 So the dayes of Térah were two hundred and fife yeres, and Térah dyed in Harán.

CHAP. XII.

1 Abram by Gods commandement goeth to Canaan. 2 Christ is promised. 3 Abram buyldeth altars for exercise and declaration of his faith among the infidels. 4 Because of the dertie he goeth into Egypt. 5 Pharaoh taketh his wife, and is punished.

¶ For the Lord had said vnto Abram, ¶ Get thee out of thy countrei, and fro thy kindred, and fro thy fathers house vnto the land that I wil shewe thee.

2 And I wil make of thee a great nation, and wil blesse thee, and make thy name great, and thou shalt be a blessing.

3 I wil also blesse them that blesse thee, & curse them that curse thee, & in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed.

4 So Abram departed, euen as the Lord spake vnto him, and Lot went with him. (And Abram was feuenty and fife yere olde, when he departed out of Harán)

5 Then Abram toke Sarái his wife, & Lot his brothers sonne, and all their substance that they possessed, & the foules that they had gotten in Harán, and they departed, to go to the land of Canaan: and to the land of Canaan they came.

6 ¶ So Abram passed through the land vnto the place of Shechem, and vnto the plaine of Moré (and the Canaanite was then in the land)

7 And the Lord appeared vnto Abram, and said, Vnto thy sedewil I gine this lād. And there buylded he an altar vnto the Lord, which appeared vnto him.

8 Afterward remouing thence vnto a mountaine Eastward from Beth-él, he pitched his tent hauing Beth-él on the West side, & Haai on the East: and there he buylt an altar vnto the Lord, and called on the name of the Lord.

9 ¶ Again Abram went forth for the going & iourneing towards the South.

10 ¶ Then there came a famine in the lād: therefore Abram went downe into Egypt, to sojourne there: for there was a great

11 And when he drew nere to entre into Egypt, he said to Sarái his wife, Beholde now, I knowe that thou art a faire woman to loke vpon:

12 Therefore it wil come to passe, that w<sup>h</sup>e the Egyptians se thee, they wil say, She is his wife: so wil thei kei me, but they wil kepe thee alieue.

13 Say, I pray thee, y<sup>e</sup> thou art my<sup>e</sup> sister, that I may fare wel for thy sake, and that my<sup>e</sup> life may be preferred by thee.

14 ¶ Now, when Abrám was come into Egypt, the Egyptians beheld the woman: for she was a faire yew.

15 And the princes of Pharaoh sawe her, and commended her vnto Pharaoh: so the woman was<sup>a</sup> taken into Pharaohs house:

16 Who intreated Abrám wel for her sake, and he had shepe, and beues, and he asses, and men seruantes and maide seruantes, and the asses, and camelles.

17 But the Lord ° plagued Pharaoh and his house with great plagues, because of Sarái Abrams wife.

18 Then Pharaoh called Abrám and said, Why hast y<sup>e</sup> done this vnto me? Wherefore didest thou not tel me, that she was thy wife?

19 Why saidest thou, She is my sister, that I shulde take her to be my wife? Now therefore beholde thy wife, take her and go thy way.

20 And Pharaoh gaue men<sup>e</sup> p<sup>r</sup> commandemēt concerning him: and they conueied him forth, and his wife, and all y<sup>e</sup> he had.

CHAP. XIII.

¶ Abrám departeth out of Egypt. 11 Lot departeth from him. 12 The wickednes of the Sodomites. 14 The promise made to Abrám renewed. 18 Abrám buyldeth an altar to the Lord.

1 Then Abrám went vp from Egypt, he, and his wife, and all that he had, & Lot with him towarde the South.

2 And Abrám was very riche in cattel, in siluer and in golde.

3 And he wēt on his iourney frō the South toward<sup>b</sup> Beth-él, to the place where his tent had bene at the beginning, betwene Beth-él and Haái,

4 Vnto y<sup>e</sup> place of the* altar, which he had made there at the first: and there Abrám called on the Name of the Lord.

5 ¶ Lot also, who wēt with Abrám, had shepe cattel and tentes,

6 So that the land colde not<sup>e</sup> beare them, that they might dwel together: for their* substance was great, so that they colde not dwel together.

7 Also there was debate betwene the herdmen of Abrams cattel, & the herdmen of Lots cattel. (and the<sup>d</sup> Canaanites & the Perizzites dwelled at that time in y<sup>e</sup> lād)

8 Then said Abrám vnto Lot, Let there be no strife, I pray thee, betwene thee & me, nether betwene mine herdmen and thine herdmen: for we be brethren.

10 So when Lot lifted vp his eyes, he sawe y<sup>e</sup> all the plaine of Iordén was watered euerie where: (for before the Lord destroyed Sodóm and Gomoráh, it was as the garden of the Lord, like the land of Egypt, as thou goest vnto Zóar)

12 Abrám dwelled in the land of Canaan, and Lot abode in the cities of the plaine, and pitched his tent euen to Sodóm.

13 Now the men of Sodóm were wicked & exceeding sinners against the Lord.

14 ¶ The y<sup>e</sup> Lord said vnto<sup>e</sup> Abrám, (after that Lot was departed from him) Lift vp thine eyes now, and loke from the place, where y<sup>e</sup> art, Northward, and Southward, and Eastward, and Westward:

15 For all<sup>a</sup> the land, which thou seeest, wil I giue vnto thee and to thy fede for<sup>i</sup> euer,

16 And I wil make thy fede, as the dust of y<sup>e</sup> earth: so that if a man can number y<sup>e</sup> dust of the earth, then shal thy fede be nobred.

17 Arise, walke through the land, in the length thereof, and bredth thereof: for I wil giue it vnto thee.

18 Then Abrám remoued his tent, and came and dwelled in the plaine of Mamré, which is in Hebrón, & buylded there an altar vnto the Lord.

generaciōs, as wel he that is borne in thine house, as he that is bought with money of any stranger, which is not of thy seed.

13 He that is borne in thine house, and he that is bought with thy money, must needs be circumcised: so my covenant shall be in your flesh for an everlasting covenant.

14 But the uncircumcised man child, in whose flesh the foreskinne is not circumcised, even that personne shall be cut off from his people, because he hath broken my covenant.

15 ¶ Afterward God said vnto Abraham, Sarai thy wife shalt thou not call Sarai, but Sarah shall be her name.

16 And I will bless her, & will also giue thee a sonne vnto him, yea, I will bless her & she shall be the mother of nations: Kings also of people shall come of her.

17 The Abraham fel vpō his face, & laughed, & said in his heart, Shall a child be borne vnto him, that is an hundred yeere olde? and shall Sarai that is ninety yeere olde beare?

18 And Abraham said vnto God, ¶ Oh, that Ishmael might liue in thy sight.

19 The God said Sarai thy wife shall beare thee a sonne, in dede, & thou shalt call his name Iznak: & I will establish my covenant with him for an everlasting covenant, and with his seed after him.

20 And as concerning Ishmael, I have heard thee: lo, I have blessed him, and will make him fruitful and will multiply him: exceedingly: twelve princes shall he beget, and I will make a great nation of him.

21 But my covenant will I establish with Iznak, which Sarai shall beare vnto thee, y next yeere at this season.

22 And he left of talking with him, and God went vp from Abraham.

23 ¶ Then Abraham toke Ishmael his sonne and all that were borne in his house, & all that were bought with his money, that were men child among the men of Abrahams house, and he circumcised the foreskinne of the flesh in that self same day, as God had commanded him.

24 Abraham was to him selfe ninety yeere olde & nine, when the foreskinne of his flesh was circumcised.

25 And Ishmael his sonne was thirtene yeere olde, when the foreskinne of his flesh was circumcised.

26 The selfe same day was Abraham circumcised: and Ishmael his sonne.

27 And all the men of his house, bothe borne in his house, and bought with money of the strangers, were circumcised with him.

1 A Gain the Lord appeared vnto him in the plaine of Mamre, as he sat in his tent dore about the heate of the day.

2 And he lift vp his eyes, and looked: and lo, three men stode by him, and when he saw them, he ran to meete them from the tent dore, & bowed him selfe to the ground.

3 And he said, Lord, if I have now found fauour in thy sight, go not, I praie thee, from thy seruant.

4 Let a litle water, I pray you, be brought, and wash your feet, and rest your selues vnder the tre.

5 And I will bring a morsel of bread, that you may comfort your heartes, afterwarde ye shall go your waies: for therefore are ye come to your seruant. And they said, Do euen as thou hast said.

6 Then Abraham made haste into the tent vnto Sarah, and said, Make ready at once, three measures of fine meale: kneade it, and make cakes vpon the herthe.

7 And Abraham ran to the beastes, & toke a tender and good calfe, and gaue it to the seruant, who hadsted to make it ready.

8 And he toke butter & milke, and the calfe, which he had prepared, and set before them, and stode him selfe by them vnder the tre, and they did eat.

9 ¶ Then they said to him, Where is Sarah thy wife? And he answered, Beholde, she is in the tent.

10 And he said, I will certainly come againe vnto thee according to the time of life: and lo, Sarah thy wife shall haue a sonne, and Sarah heard in the tent dore, which was behinde him.

11 ¶ Now Abraham and Sarah were olde & stricken in age, and it ceased to be with Sarah after the manner of women.

12 Therefore Sarah laughed within her selfe, saying, After I am waxed olde, & my lord also, shall I haue lust?

13 And the Lord said vnto Abraham, Wherefore did Sarah thus laugh, saying, Shall I certainly beare a child, which am olde?

14 ¶ (Shall anie thing be hard to the Lord at the time appointed will I returne vnto thee, when according to the time of life, and Sarah shall haue a sonne.)

15 But Sarah denied, saying, I laughed not: for she was afraid. And he said, It is not so: for thou laughedst.

16 ¶ Afterward the Lord said vnto Sarah, & lokeu toward Sodom: and Abraham went with them to bring them on the waie.

17 And the Lord said, Shall I hide from Abraham that thing which I do,

17 ¶ And when they had brought the out, the Angel said: escape for thy life: loke not behinde thee, neither tarie thou in all the plaine: escape into the mountaine, lest thou be destroyed.
18 And Lot said vnto them, Not so, I praise thee, my Lord.
19 Beholde now, thy seruant hath founde grace in thy sight, and thou hast magnified thy mercie, which thou hast shewed vnto me in sauing my life: and I can not escape in the mountaine, lest some euil take me, and I die.
20 Se now this citie hereby to flee vnto, which is a litle one: Oh let me escape thither: is it not a litle one, & my soule shall liue?

31 And the elder said vnto y younger, Our father is olde, and there is not a man in the earth to come in vnto vs after the manner of all the earth.
32 Come, we will make our father drink wine, and I lye with him, that we maie preserve sede of our father.

4 (Now withstanding Abimelech had not yet come nere her) And he said, Lord, wilt thou slae euen a the righteous nation?
5 Said not he vnto me, She is my sister? yea, and she herselfe said, He is my brother: vñ an vpright minde, and innocent hands haue I done this.
6 And God said vnto him by a dreame, I knowe y thou didest this cuen with an vpright minde, & I kept thee also that thou shuldest not sinne against me: therefore suffer I thee not to touche her.
7 Now then deliue y man his wife againe: for he is a Prophet, & he shall praye for thee: y thou mayest liue: but if thou deliuer her not againe, be sure y thou shalt die the death, thou, & all that thou hast.
8 Then Abimelech rising vp early in the morning called all his seruantes, and tolde all these things vnto them, and the men were sore afraide.
9 Afterward Abimelech called Abraham, and said vnto him, What hast thou done vnto vs? and what haue I offended thee, that thou hast brought on me and on my kingdome this great sinne: thou hast done things vnto me that ought not to be done.

12. Then toke Abimelech shepe & beues, & men seruantes, and women seruantes, and gaue them vnto Abraham, and restored him Sarah his wife.

13. And Abimelech said, Behold, my land is before thee: dwel where it pleaseth thee.

14. Likewise to Sarah he said, Beholde, I haue giuen thy brother a thousand peces of siluer: beholde, he is y<sup>e</sup> vaile of thine eyes to all that are with thee, and to all others: and she was<sup>e</sup> thus reproveth.

15. ¶ Then Abraham praied vnto God, & God healed Abimelech, and his wife, and his maid seruantes: and they bare children.

16. For y<sup>e</sup> Lord<sup>e</sup> had shut vp euerie wōbe of y<sup>e</sup> house of Abimelech, because of Sarah Abrahams wife.

CHAP. XXI.

1. Izhak is borne. 9 Isthmael mocketh Izhak. 14 Hagār is cast out with her sonne. 17 The Angel comforteth Hagār. 22 The couenāt betwene Abimelech & Abraham.

1. Now y<sup>e</sup> Lord visited Sarah, as he had said, and did vnto her<sup>e</sup> according as he had promised.

2. For<sup>e</sup> Sarah conceiued, & bare Abraham a sonne in his<sup>e</sup> olde age, at the same season that God tolde him.

3. And Abraham called his sonnes name that was borne vnto him, which Sarah bare him, Izhak.

4. Then Abraham circumcised Izhak his sonne, when he was eight daies olde, * as God had commanded him.

5. So Abraham was an hundredth yere olde, when his sonne Izhak was borne vnto him.

6. ¶ The Sarah said, God hath made me to reioyce: all that heare, wil reioyce wth me.

7. Again she said, Who wolde haue said to Abraham, that Sarah shulde haue giuen children sucke? for I haue borne him a sonne in his olde age.

8. Then the childe grewe & was weaned: & Abraham made a great feast the same day that Izhak was weaned.

9. ¶ And Sarah saue y<sup>e</sup> sonne of Hagār the Egyptiā (which she had borne vnto Abraham)<sup>e</sup> mocking.

10. Wherefore she said vnto Abraham, Cast out this bond woman and her sonne: for the sonne of this bond woman shal not be heire with my sonne Izhak.

11. And this thing was very grieuous in Abrahams sight, because of his sonne.

12. ¶ But God said vnto Abraham, Let it not be grieuous in thy sight for the childe, and for thy bond womā: in all that Sarah shal saie vnto thee, heare her voice: for in Izhak shal thy fede be<sup>e</sup> called.

13. As for y<sup>e</sup> sonne of y<sup>e</sup> bond womā, I wil make hi<sup>e</sup> a naciō also, because he is thy fede.

14. So Abraham arose vp early in the morning, and toke bread, and a bottel of water, and gaue it vnto Hagār, putting it on her shulder and the childe also, and<sup>e</sup> sent her away: who departing wanded in the wilderness of Beer-sheba.

15. And when the water of the bottel was spent, she cast y<sup>e</sup> childe vnder a certeine tre.

16. Then she went and sate her ouer against him a farre of about a bowe shot: for she said, I wil not fe the death of the childe, and she sate downe ouer against him, and lift vp her voyce and wept.

17. Then God heard the voyce of the childe, and the Angel of God called to Hagār from heauen, and said vnto her, What aileth thee, Hagār? feare not, for God hath heard y<sup>e</sup> voyce of the childe where he is.

18. Arise, take vp y<sup>e</sup> childe, and holde him in thine hand: for I wil make of him a great people.

19. And God<sup>e</sup> opened her eyes, & she sawe a well of water, so she went and filled the bottel with water, & gaue y<sup>e</sup> boye drinke.

20. So God was<sup>e</sup> with the childe & he grewe and dwelt in the wilderness, and was an archer.

21. And he dwelt in the wilderness of Paran, and his mother toke him a wife out of the land of Egypt.

22. ¶ And at that same time Abimelech and Phichól his chief captaine spake vnto Abraham, saying, God is with thee in all y<sup>e</sup> thou doest.

23. Now therefore sweare vnto me here by God, that thou wilt not<sup>e</sup> hurt me, nor my children, nor my childrens children: thou shalt deale with me, and with y<sup>e</sup> countrie, where thou hast bene a stranger, according vnto the kidenes that I haue shewed thee.

24. Then Abraham said, I wil<sup>e</sup> sweare.

25. And Abraham rebuked Abimelech for a well of water, w<sup>ch</sup> Abimelechs seruants had violently taken away.

26. And Abimelech said, I knowe not who hath done this thing: also thou toldest me not, nether heard I of it but this daie.

1 And after these things God did<sup>a</sup> proue Abrahám, & said vnto hí, Abrahám. Who answered, "Here am I.

2 And he said, Take now thine onely sonne Izhák whome thou louest, & get thee vnto the lande of<sup>a</sup> Moriah, and<sup>b</sup> offre him there for a burnt offering vpon one of the mountaines, which I will shewe thee.

3 Then Abrahám rose vp early in the morning, and saddled his asse, and toke two of his seruants with him, and Izhák his sonne, and cloued wood for the burnt offering, and rose vp and went to the place, which God had tolde him.

4 Then y<sup>e</sup> third day Abrahám lift vp his eyes, and sawe the place a farre of,

5 And said vnto his seruants, Abide you hère wth the asse: for I & the childe wil go y<sup>d</sup> order & worship, & come againe vnto you.

6 Then Abrahám toke the wood of y<sup>e</sup> burnt offering, & laied it vpon Izhák his sonne, & he toke the fire in his hand, & the knife: and they went bothe together.

7 Then spake Izhák vnto Abrahám his father, & said, My father. And he answered, Here am I, my sonne. And he said, Beholde the fire & the wood, but where is the lambe for the burnt offering?

8 The Abrahám answered, My sonne, God wil<sup>d</sup> prouide him a lambe for a burnt offering: so they went bothe together.

9 Whē they came to y<sup>e</sup> place wth God had shewed hí, Abrahám buylded an altár there, & couched y<sup>e</sup> wood, & bound Izhák his sonne, & laied him on y<sup>e</sup> altár vpon y<sup>e</sup> wood.

10 And Abrahám stretching forth his hand, toke the knife to kill his sonne.

11 But y<sup>e</sup> Angel of the Lord called vnto him from heauc, saying, Abrahám, Abrahám.

And he answered, Here am I.

12 Then he said, Lay not thine hand vpon the childe, neither do anie thing vnto him: for now I knowe that thou fearest God, seeing for my sake thou hast not spared thine onely sonne.

13 And Abrahám lifting vp his eyes, looked: & beholde, there was a ram behinde him caught by y<sup>e</sup> hornes in a bush. then Abrahám wēt & toke the ram & offered him vp for a burnt offering in y<sup>e</sup> stede of his sonne.

14 And Abrahám called the name of that place, Tehouah-ireh, as it is said this day, In the mount wil the Lord be sene.

15 And the Angel of the Lord cryed vnto Abrahám from heauen the seconde time, y wilt giue it, I praye thee, heare me, I wil

giue y price of the field: receiue it of me,
and I wil bury my dead there.

13 Ephrón then answered Abrahám, faying
vnto him,

14 My Lord, hearkē vnto me: y land is worthe
four hundred shekels of filuer: what wyl be twene me & thee: bury there fore thy dead.

15 So Abrahám hearkened vnto Ephrón, & Abrahám weyed to Ephrón the filuer,
which he had named, in the audience of the Hittites, even four hundred filuer shekels of currant money among marchates.

16 ¶ So y field of Ephrón which was in Machpeláh, & ouer againft Mamré, even y field
& the caue y was therein, and all the trees
y were in the field, which were in all the borders roundabout, was made fure

17 Vnto Abrahám for a poffeffion, in the fight of the Hittites, even of all that went in at the gates of his cite.

18 And after this, Abrahám buried Sarah his wife in the caue of the field of Machpeláh ouer againft Mamré: the fame is Hebrón in the land of Canán.

19 Thus bothe the field and the caue, y is therein, was made fure vnto Abrahám for a poffeffion of buyal by the Hittites.

CHAP. XXIIII.

20 Abrahám causeth his feruant to fweare to take a wife
for Izhák in his owne kindred. 22 The feruant prayeth to God. 24 He fideleitie towards his mafter. 26 The friendis of Rebekah commit the matter to God. 28 They see her consent and she agreeth. 29 And is married to Izhák.

21 ¶ Now Abrahám was olde, and was broken in yeres, and the Lord had blefled

Abrahám in all things.

2 Therefore Abrahám faid vnto his eldest feruant of his house, which had the rule ouer all that he had, Put now thine hand
vnder my thigh,

3 And I wil make thee fweare by the Lord God of y heauen, & God of y earth, that thou shalt not take a wife vnto my sonne
of the daughters of the Canaanites amog
whome I dwell.

4 But thou shalt go vnto my cōuntrye, &
to my kindred, & take a wife vnto my son Izhák.

5 And the feruant faid to him, What if the woman wil not come w me to this land?
shal I bring thy sonne againe vnto the lād
from whence thou cameft?

6 To whome Abrahám answered, Beware
y y bring not my sonne d thither agayne.

7 ¶ The Lord God of heauen, who toke me
from my fathers house, & from y lād where I was borne, and that fpake vnto me, & that fware vnto me, faying, Vnto thy fide wil I giue this land, he shal fend his Angel before thee, and thou shalt take a wife vnto my sonne from thence.

8 Neuertheles if the womā wil not followe thee, then shalt thou be" difcha'ged of this mine othe: onely bring not my sonne the-ther againe.

9 Then the feruant put his hand vnder the thigh of Abrahám his mafter, & fware to him for this matter.

10 ¶ So the feruant toke ten camels of the camels of his mafter, and departed: for he had all his maisters goods in his had, & fo-
he arofe, and went to Arám Naharáim, vn-
to the cōtie of Nahór.

11 And he made his camels to" lie downe
without the cite by a well of water, at euen about the time that women come out
to drawe water.

12 And he faid, O Lord God of my master Abrahám, I befeche thee, fend me good fpede this day, and shewe mercie vnto
my mafter Abrahám.

13 Lo, I ftan by the well of water, whiles
the mēs daughters of this cite come out
to drawe water.

14 ¶ Grant that y maide, to whome I faie,
Bowe downe thy pitcher, I pray thee, that I may drinke: if she fay, Dinke, and I wil
giue thy camels drinke also: may be she y
thou halt ordeined for thy feruant Izhák, & thereby shal I knowe y thou halt shew-

15 ¶ Now yer he had left fpeaking, beholde,
h Rebekáh came out, the daughter of Be-thuel, sonne of Milcáh the wife of Nahór Abrahams brother, and her pitcher vpon
her fhulder.

Here is declared y<sup>e</sup> God ruer heareth the prayers of his, and granteth their requests.

m He boasteth not his good fortune as do the wicked lyne acknowledge that God hath dealt mercifully with his master in keepig promises.

n For he waited on Gods hand, who had now heard his prayer. o To wit, Laban p The gentle incretment of strangers vnto the godlie fathers. q The fidelitie that seruantes owe to their masters, causeth them to preferre their masters business to their owne necessitie. r To blessed, signifieth here to enrich, or increase with substance, as y<sup>e</sup> text in y<sup>e</sup> same verse declareth.

she went downe to the well, and filled her pitcher, and came vp.

17 Then the seruant ran to mete her, and said, Let me drinke, I praye thee a little water of thy pitcher.

18 And she said, Drinke y<sup>e</sup> syr: and she hasted, & let downe her pitcher vpon her hand & gaue him drinke.

19 And when she had giuen him drinke, she said, I wil drawe water for thy camels also vntil thei haue dronken ynough.

20 And she poured out her pitcher into the trogh speedely, and ranne againe vnto the well to drawe water, and she drew for all his camels.

21 So the man wondred at her, and helde his peace, to wit, whether the Lord had made his iourney prosperous or not.

22 And when the camels had left drinking, the man toke a golden <sup>k</sup> abillement of halfe a shekel weight, & two bracelettes for her hãds, of tē shekels weight of golde:

23 And he said, Whose daughter art thou? tel me, I praie thee, Is there roume in thy fathers house for vs to lodge in?

24 Then she said to him, I am y<sup>e</sup> daughter of Bethuél the sonne of Milcãh whome she bare vnto Nahór.

25 Moreover she said vnto him, We haue lytter also and prouander ynough, and roume to lodge in.

26 And the man bowed him selfe and worshipped the Lord,

27 And said, Blessed be the Lord God of my master Abrahám, w<sup>ch</sup> hath not withdrawn his mercie <sup>m</sup> and his trueth from my master: for whē I was in y<sup>e</sup> waie, y<sup>e</sup> Lord broght me to my masters brethrs house.

28 And the maide ran & tolde them of her mothers house according to these wordes.

29 ¶ Now Rebekãh had a brother called Labã, & Labã ran vnto y<sup>e</sup> mã to the well.

30 For when he had sene the earings & the bracelettes in his sisters hands, & when he heard the wordes of Rebekãh his sister, saying, Thus said the man vnto me, then he went to the man, & lo<sup>n</sup> he stode by the camels at the well.

32 ¶ Then y<sup>e</sup> man came into y<sup>e</sup> house, and he vnshaded the camels and broght lytter & prouander for the camels, and water to walsh his fete, & the mens fete that were with him.

33 Afterward the meat was set before him: but he said, I wil not eat, vntil I haue said my message: And he said, Speake on.

34 Then he said, I am Abrahams seruant,

35 And the Lord hath blessed my master wonderfully, that he is become great: for he hath giuen him shepe, and bues, & sil-

uer, and golde, and men, seruantes, & maide seruantes, and camels, and asses.

36 And Sarah my masters wife hath borne a sonne to my master, whē she was olde, & vnto him hath he giue all that he hath.

37 Now my master made me sweare, saying, Thou shalt not take a wife to my sonne of the daughters of the Canaanites, in whose land I dwell:

38 But thou shalt go vnto my fathers house and to my kinred, and take a wife vnto my sonne.

39 Then I said vnto my master, What if the woman wil not followe me?

40 Who answered me, The Lord, before whome I walke, wil send his Angel with thee, and prosper thy iourney, and thou shalt take a wife for my sonne of my kindred and my fathers house.

41 Then shalt y<sup>e</sup> be discharged of mine othe, when thou comest to my kinred: and if thei giue thee not one, thou shalt be free from mine othe.

42 So I came this daie to the well, and said, O Lord, the God of my master Abrahám, if y<sup>e</sup> now prosper my iourney which I go,

43 Beholde, * I stand by the well of water: when a virgine cometh forth to drawe water, & I saie to her, Giue me, I praie thee, a litle water of thy pitcher to drinke,

44 And she saie to me, Drinke y<sup>e</sup>, and I wil also drawe for thy camels, let her be the wife, which the Lord hath prepared for my masters sonne.

45 And before I had made an end of speakig in mine heart, beholde, Rebekãh came, forth, and her pitcher on her shuldre, & she went downe vnto the well, and drew water. Thē I said vnto her, Giue me drinke, I praie thee.

46 And she made haste, and toke downe her pitcher from her shuldre, and said, Drinke, & I wil giue thy camels drinke also. So I dranke, & she gaue the camels drinke also.

47 Then I asked her, & said, Whose daughter art y<sup>e</sup>? And she answered, The daughter of Bethuél Nahors sonne, whome Milcãh bare vnto him. Then I put the abillement vpon her face, and the bracelettes vpon her handes:

48 ¶ And I bowed downe & worshipped y<sup>e</sup> Lord, and blessed the Lord God of my master Abrahám, which had broght me y<sup>e</sup> right waie to take my masters brothers daughter vnto his sonne.

49 Now therefore, if ye wil deale mercifully and truly with my master, tel me: and if not, tel me that I maie turne me to the right hand or to the left.

50 Then answered Labã and Bethuél, & said, This thing is procedd of the Lord: we can not therefore saie vnto thee, neither euil nor good.

Beholde, Rebekah is before thee. take her & go, that she maie be thy masters sonnes
wife, euen as the Lord hath said.

And when Abrahams seruāt heard their wordes, he bowed him selfe toward the earth vnto the Lord.

Then the seruāt toke for the iewels of sil-
uer, & iewels of golde, & raiment, & gaue

her mother he gaue giftes.

Afterwarde they did eat & drinke, bothe
he, and the men that were with him, and taried all night. and when they rose vp in the morning, he said, Let me departe vn-
to my master.

Then her brother and her mother answered, Let the maide abide with vs, at the least ten dayes: then shal she go.

But he said vnto the, Hide you me not,
seig y Lord hath prospered my iourney:
send me away, y I may go to my master.

Then they said, We wil call the maide,
and aske her consent.

And they called Rebekah, and said vnto her, Wilt thou go with this man? And she answered, I wil go.

So they let Rebekah their sister go, and her nourse, with Abrahams seruāt and his men.

And thei blessed Rebekah, and said vn-
to her, Thou art our sister, growe into thousand thousandes, and thy sēde possē-
se the gate of thy ennemies.

Then Rebekah arose, and her maides, & rode vpon the camels, and followed y
mā. & y seruāt toke Rebekah, & departed.

Now Izhāk came from the way of Beér-lahái-roi, (for he dwelt in the South countrey)

And Izhāk went out to pray in the field
toward the euening: who lift vp his eies
and looked, and beholde, the camels came.

Also Rebekah lift vp her eies, and when she sawe Izhāk, she lighted downe from the camel.

(For she had said to the seruāt, Who is yonder man, that commeth in the field to mete vs: And the seruāt had said, It is my master) So she toke a vaille and coue-red her.

And the seruāt tolde Izhāk all things,
that he had done.

Afterward Izhāk brought her into the tēt
of Sarāh his mother, & he toke Rebekah,
& she was his wife, & he loued her: so Izhāk
was comforted after his mothers death.

23 And the Lord said to her, two nations are in thy wombe, and two maner of people shal be deuided out of thy bowels, and the one people shal be mightier then the other, and the elder shal serue y younger.
24 ¶ Therefore when her time of deliuerance was fulfilled, beholde, twinnes were in her wombe.

25 So he that came out first was red, and he was all ouer as a rough garment, and they called his name Esáu.

26 * And afterwarde came his brother out, and his hand held Esáu by the heele: therefore his name was called Iakób. Now Izhák was thre score yere olde when Rebekáh bare them.

27 And the boyes grewe, & Esáu was a cunning hunter, & lived in y fields: but Iakób was a plaine man, and dwelt in rétes.
28 And Izhák loued Esáu, for venison was his meat, but Rebekáh loued Iakób.

29 Now Iakób sodde pottage, & Esáu came from the field and was wearie.

30 Then Esáu said to Iakób, Let me eat, I pray thee, of y pottage so red, for I am weary. Therefore was his name called Edóm.

31 And Iakób said, Sel me euen now thy birthright.

32 And Esáu said, Lo, I am almost dead, what is then this birthright to me?

33 Iakób then said, Swear to me eue now. And he sware to him, * & sold his birthright vnto Iakób.

34 Then Iakób gaue Esáu bread and pottage of lentiles: and he did eat and drinke and rose vp, & went his way: So Esáu condemned his birthright.

CHAP. XXXI.

God provideth for Izhák in the famine. 3 He renueth his promises. 9 The king blasphemeth him for denying his wife. 14 The Philistims hate him for his riches. 15 Stoppe his wells. 16 And drive him away. 24 God comforteth him. 31 He maketh alliance with Abimelech.

And there was a famine in the land besides the first famine that was in the dayes of Abraham. wherefore Izhák went to Abimelech King of the Philistims vnto Gerár.

2 For the Lord appeared vnto him, & said, Go not downe into Egypt, but abide in the land in which I shal shewe vnto thee.

3 Dwell in this land, & I wil be with thee, and wil blesse thee: for to thee, and to thy seed I wil giue all these countreys: and I wil performe the othe which I sware vnto Abraham thy father.

4 Also I wil cause thy fede to multiplie as the starrs of heauen, and wil giue vnto thy fede all these countreys: & in thy fede shal all the naciós of the earth be blessed.

5 Because that Abraham obeyed my voyce and kept mine ordinance, my commandementes, my statutes, and my Lawes.

6 ¶ So Izhák dwelt in Gerár.

7 And the men of the place asked him of his wife, & he said, She is my sister: for he feared to say, She is my wife, lest said he, the men of the place shulde kil me, because of Rebekáh: for she was beautiful to the eie.

8 So after he had bene there long time, Abimelech King of the Philistims looked out at a window, and lo, he sawe Izhák sporting with Rebekáh his wife.

9 Then Abimelech called Izhák, and said, Lo, she is of a suretie thy wife, & why saidst thou, She is my sister? To whome Izhák answered, Because I thought this, It maie be that I shal die for her.

10 Then Abimelech said, Why hast thou done this vnto vs? one of the people had almost lien by thy wife, so shuldest thou haue brought sinne vpon vs.

11 The Abimelech charged all his people, saying, He that toucheth this man, or his wife, shal die the death.

12 Afterward Izhák sowed in that land, and founde in the same yere an hundred fold by estimation: and so y Lord blessed him.

13 And the man waxed mightie, & still increased, til he was exceeding great.

14 For he had flockes of shepe, and herdes of cattel, and a mightie householde: therefore the Philistims had senued at him,

15 In so much that y Philistims stopped & filled vp with earth all the wells which his fathers seruants digged in his father Abrahams time.

16 Then Abimelech said vnto Izhák, Get thee from vs, for thou art mightier then we a great deale.

17 ¶ Therefore Izhák departed thence & pitched his tent in the vallei of Gerár, and dwelt there.

18 And Izhák returning, digged the wells of water, which he had digged in the dayes of Abraham his father: for the Philistims had stopped them after the death of Abraham, & he gaue them the same names, which his father gaue them.

19 Izhaks seruants then digged in the vallei, & found there a well of liuing water.

20 But the herd men of Gerár did strue w Izhaks herd men saying, The water is ours: therefore called he the name of the well Esék, because they were at strife w him.

21 Afterward they digged another well, and stroue for that also, and he called the name of it Sitnáb.

22 Then he remoued thence, & digged an other well, for the wther stroue not there:

fore called he the name of it <sup>o</sup> Rehobóth, & said, Because y Lord bathe now made
vs rounge, we shal encrease vpon y earth.

23 So he went vp thence to Beer-sheba.

24 And the Lord appeared vnto him the same night, and said, I am the God of A-brahám thy father: feare not, for I am with thee, and wil blesse thee and multiplie thy fede for my seruant Abrahams sake.

25 Thē he buyt an <sup>a</sup> altar there, and called vpon the name of the Lord, & there spred
his tent: where also Izhaks seruants dig-ged a well.

26 ¶ Then came Abimélech to him frō Ge-rár, and Ahuzzáth one of his friends, and Phichól the captaine of his armie.

27 To whome Izhák said, Wherefore come ye to me, seing ye hate me and haue
put me awaie from you?

28 Who answered, We sawe certainly that the Lord was with thee, and we thought
thus, Let there be now an othe betwene vs,
euen betwene vs and thee, and let vs make a couenant with thee.

29 Thou shalt do vs no hurt, as we haue
not touched thee, and as we haue done vn-
to thee nothing but good, and sent thee awaie in peace: thou now, the blessed of the Lord, do this.

30 Then he made them a feast, & thei did
eat and drinke.

31 And thei rose vp betimes in the morning, and sware one to an other: then Izhák let them go, and thei departed from him in peace.

32 And that same daye Izhaks seruants came & tolde him of a well, which thei had dugged, & said vnto him, We haue found
water.

33 So he called it <sup>o</sup> Shibáh: therefore the name of the cite is called <sup>o</sup> Beer-sheba vn-
to this daye.

34 ¶ Now when Esáu was fourtie yere olde,
he toke to wife Iudith, the daughter of Beerí an Hittite, & Basemáth y daughter of Elón an Hittite also.

35 And thei <sup>o</sup> were <sup>a</sup> grief of minde to Izhák and to Rebekáh.

CHAP. XXVII.

8 Izhák getteth the blessing from Esáu by his mothers counsel. 38 Esáu by weping moueth his father to pittie him. 41 Esáu hateth Izhák and threateneth his death. 43 Rebekáh sendeth Izhák awaie.

1 And when Izhák was olde, & his eies
were dimme (so that he colde not se)
he called Esáu his eldest sonne, and said
vnto him, My sonne. And he answered him, I am here.

2 Then he said, Beholde, I am now olde
and knowe not the daie of my death:

3 Wherefore now, I praie thee take thine instruments, thy quier and thy bowe, &
get thee to the field, that thou maiest

"take me some venison.

4 Then make me sauourie meat, such as I loue, and bring it me that I maie eat, and y my <sup>a</sup> soule maie blesse thee, before I dye.
5 (Now Rebekáh heard, when Izhák spake to Esáu his sonne) and Esáu went into the field to hunt for venison, and to bring it.

6 ¶ Then Rebekáh spake vnto Izhák her sonne, saying, Beholde, I haue heard thy father talking w Esáu thy brother, saying,

7 Bring me venison, and make me sauourie meat, that I maie eat and blesse thee
before the Lord, afore my death.

8 Now therefore, my sonne, heare my voy-
ce in that which I commande thee.

9 ¶ Get thee now to the flocke, & bring me thence two good kyds of the goates, that I maie make pleasant meat of them for thy father, such as he loueth.

10 Then thou shalt bring it to thy father,
and he shal eat, to the intent that he maie
blesse thee before his death.

11 But Izhák said to Rebekáh his mother, Beholde, Esáu my brother is rough, and I am smorre.

12 My father maie possibly fele me, and I
shal seme" to him to be a mocker: so shal
I bring a curse vpon me, and not a blessing.

13 But his mother said vnto him, <sup>o</sup> Vp <sup>o</sup> me
be thy curse, my sonne: onely heare my voyce, and go and bring me them.

14 So he went and fet them, and brought them
to his mother: and his mother made pleasant meat, such as his father loued.

15 And Rebekáh toke faire clothes of her elder sonne Esáu, which were in her house, and clothed Izhák her yonger sonne:

16 And she couered his hands and the smothe of his necke with the skinned of the kyds of the goates.

17 Afterwarde she put the pleasant meat and bread, which she had prepared, in the hand of her sonne Izhák.

18 ¶ And whē he came to his father, he said,
My father. Who answered, I am here:
who art thou, my sonne?

19 And Izhák said to his father, <sup>o</sup> I am Es-sáu thy first borne, I haue done as y badest me, arise, I praie thee: sit vp and eat of my venison, that thy soule maie blesse me.

20 Then Izhák said vnto his sonne, How hast thou founde it so quickly my sonne?

Who said, Because the Lord thy God
brought it to mine hand.

21 Againe said Izhák vnto Izhák, Come
nere now, that I maie fele thee, my sonne, whether thou be that my sonne Esáu or not.

22 Then Izhák came nere to Izhák his father, and he felt him and said, The voyce is Izhaks voyce, but the hāds are the handes of Esáu.

 16 Now Labán had two daughters, the elder called Leáh, & y<sup>e</sup> younger called Rahél.
 17 And Leáh was tender eyed, but Rahél was beautiful and faire.
 18 And Iakób loued Rahél, and ſaid, I wil ſerue thee ſeuē yerē for Rahél thy younger daughter.
 19 Then Labán answered, It is better that I giue her thee, then that I ſhulde giue her to another man: abide with me.
 20 And Iakób ſerued ſeuē yerē for Rahél, and they ſcmed vnto him but a ſewe daies, becauſe he loued her.
 21 ¶ Then Iakób ſaid to Labán, Giue me my wife that I maie go in to her: for my terme is ended.
 22 Wherefore Labán gathered together all the men of the place, and made a feaſt.
 23 But whē the euening was come, he toke Leáh his daughter and brought her to him, and he went in vnto her.
 24 And Labán gaue him maide Zilpáh to his daughter Leáh, to be her ſeruāt.
 25 But when the morning was come, beholde, it was Leáh: Then ſaid he to Labán, Wherefore haſt thou done thus to me? did not I ſerue thee for Rahél? wherefore then haſt thou beguiled me?
 26 And Labán answered, It is not the manner of this place, to giue the younger before the elder.
 27 Fulfil ſeuē yerē for her, and we wil alſo giue thee this for the ſeruiſe, which thou ſhalt ſerue me yer ſeuē yerē more.
 28 Thē Iakób did ſo, & fulfilled her ſeuē yerē, ſo he gaue him Rahél his daughter to be his wife.
 29 Labán alſo gaue to Rahél his daughter Bilháh his maide to be her ſeruāt.
 30 So entred he in to Rahél alſo, and loued alſo Rahél more then Leáh, and ſerued him yet ſeuē yerē mo.
 31 ¶ When y<sup>e</sup> Lord ſawe that Leáh was deſpiſed, he made her fruitful: but Rahél was barren.
 32 And Leáh conceived and bare a ſonne, and ſhe called his name Reubén: for ſhe ſaid, Becauſe the Lord hath looked vpon my tribulacion, now therefore mine houſband wil loue me.
 33 And ſhe conceived againe and bare a ſonne, and ſaid, Becauſe the Lord heard that I was hated, he hath therefore giuen me this ſonne alſo, and ſhe called his name Simeón.
 34 And ſhe conceived againe and bare a ſonne, and ſaid, Now at this time wil my houſbād kepe me companie, becauſe I haue borne him three ſonnes: therefore was his name called Leuí.
 35 Moreover ſhe conceived againe and bare re a ſonne, ſaying, Now wil I praife the Lord: * therefore ſhe called his name Iudáh, and left bearing.

 CHAP. XXX.
 1 Rahél and Leáh being bothe barren giue their maides vnto their houſband, and they beare him children.
 2 Leáh giueth mādrakes to Rahél that Iakób might lie with her. 27 Labán is enriched for Iakób: his ſake. 43 Iakób is made very riche.
 1 And when Rahél ſawe that ſhe bare Iakób no children, Rahél enuied her iſter, and ſaid vnto Iakób, Giue me children, or els I dye.
 2 Thē Iakób ſangre was kindeled againſt Rahél, and he ſaid, Am I in Gods ſtede, which hath withholden frō thee the frute of the wombe?
 3 And ſhe ſaid, Beholde my maide Bilháh, go in to her, and ſhe ſhal beare vpon my knees, & I ſhal haue childrē alſo by her.
 4 Then ſhe gaue him Bilháh her maide to wife, and Iakób went in to her.
 5 So Bilháh conceived and bare Iakób a ſonne.
 6 Thē ſaid Rahél, God hath giuen ſentēce on my ſide, & hath alſo heard my voyce, and hath giuen me a ſonne: therefore called he his name, Dan.
 7 And Bilháh Rahels maide conceived againe, and bare Iakób the ſeconde ſonne.
 8 Then Rahél ſaid, With excellēt wreſtlings haue I wreſtled with my iſter and haue gotten the vpper hand: and ſhe called his name, Naphtali.
 9 And when Leáh ſawe that ſhe had left bearing, ſhe toke Zilpáh her maide, and gaue her Iakób to wife.
 10 And Zilpáh Leahs maide bare Iakób a ſonne.
 11 Then ſaid Leáh, A companie cometh: and ſhe called his name, Gad.
 12 Againē Zilpáh Leahs maide bare Iakób another ſonne.
 13 Then ſaid Leáh, Ah, bleſſed am I, for the daughters wil beſſe me. and ſhe called his name, Aſhér.
 14 ¶ Now Reubén went in the dayes of the wheat harueſt and found mandrakes in the field & brought them vnto his mother Leáh. Then ſaid Rahél to Leáh, Giue me I pray thee, of thy ſonnes mandrakes.
 15 But ſhe answered her, Is it a ſmale matter for thee to take mine houſbād, except thou take my ſonnes mādrakes alſo? Thē ſaid Rahél, Therefore he ſhal ſlee with thee this night for thy ſonnes mandrakes.
 16 And Iakób came from the field in the euening, and Leáh went out to meete him, & ſaid, Come in to me, for I haue bought and payed for thee with my ſonnes mandrakes: and he ſlept with her that night.
 17 And God heard Leah and ſhe conceived, and bare vnto Iakób the ſift ſonne.

36 And he set thre daies iourney betwene

him selfe and laakob, & laakob kept the rest of Labans shepe.

37 ¶ Then laakob toke rodde of grene

popular, and of hafe, and of the chesnut

tre, and piled white strakes in them, and made the white appeare in the rodde.

38 Then he put y rodde, which he had pil-

led, in the gutters and watering troghes,

when the shepe came to drinke, before

y shepe: (for thei were in heate, when thei

came to drinke)

39 And the shepe were in heate before the

rodde, & after ward broght forth the yong of party colour, and with smale & great spottes.

40 And laakob parted these lambes, and turned the faces of the flocke towards

these lambes party coloured and all maner

of blacke, among the shepe of Laban: so

he put his owne flockes by them selues, &

put them not with Labans flocke.

41 And in euerie ramming tyme of the stronger shepe, laakob laied the rodde

before the eies of the shepe in the gutters

y thei might conceiue before the rodde.

42 But when the shepe were feble, he put them not in: and so y febler were Labans,

and the stronger laakobs.

43 So the man encreased exceedingly, and had manie flockes, and maide seruants, and

men seruants, and camels and asses.

1 Now he heard the wordes of Laban

sonnes, saying, laakob hathe take away

all that was our fathers, and of our fa-

2 Also laakob behelde the countenance of Laban, that it was not towards him as

in times past:

3 And the Lord had said vnto laakob, Turne againe into the land of thy fathers, and to thy kinred, and I wil be with thee.

4 Therefore laakob sent and called Rahel

and Leah to the field vnto his flocke.

10 ¶ For in ramming time I lifted vp mine
eies and sawe in a dreame, and beholde, the
he goates leaped vpon the she goates, that were partie coloured with litle and great spottes spotted.
11 And the Angel of God said to me in a dreame, Iaakob. And I answered, Lo, I am here.
12 And he said, lift vp now thine eies, and see all the he goates leaping vpon the she goates that are partie coloured, spotted with litle & great spottes: for I haue sene
all that Laban doeth vnto thee.
13 ¶ I am the God of Beth-el, where thou anointedst y<sup>e</sup> pillar, where thou vowedst
a vowe vnto me. Now arise, get thee out of this countrei & returne vnto the land
where thou wast borne.
14 Then answered Rahel and Leah, and said vnto him, Hau we anie more porci-
on and enheritance in our fathers house?
15 Doest not he count vs as strangers? for he hathe <sup>e</sup> solde vs, and hathe eaten vp & consumed our monie.
16 Therefore all y<sup>e</sup> riches, which God hathe taken from our father, is ours and our childrens: now then what foucer God hathe
said vnto thee do it.
17 ¶ The Iaakob rose vp, and set his sonnes
and his wiues vpon camels.
18 And he caried awaie all his flockes, and all his substance which he had gotten, to wit, his riches, which he had gotten in Padan Aram, for to go to Izhak his father vnto the land of Canaan.
19 When Laban was gone to shere his she-pes, then Rahel stole her fathers <sup>f</sup> idoles.
20 Thus Iaakob <sup>g</sup> stole awaie the heart of Laban the Aramite: for he tolde him not that he fled.
21 So fled he with all that he had, & he rose vp, and passed the <sup>h</sup> riuer, and set his face toward mount Gilead.
22 The third day after was it tolde Laban,
that Iaakob fled.
23 Then he toke his brethren with him, &
followed after him seuen dayes iourney,
and ouertoke him at mount Gilead.
24 And God came to Laban the Aramite
in a dreame by night, and said vnto him,
Take hede that thou speake not to Iaakob
<sup>i</sup> ought saue good.
25 ¶ Then Laban ouertoke Iaakob, & Iaa-kob had pitched his tent in the mount: & Laban also with his brethren pitched vpon mount Gilead.
26 Then Laban said to Iaakob, What hast
thou done? thou hast euen stolen away
mine heart & caried away my daughters
as though they had bene taken captiues wth
the sworde.

Wherefore diddest thou flee so secretly
& steale away from me, & diddest not tel
me, that I might haue sent thee forth
with mirth & with songs, with timbrel &
with happe.
28 But thou hast not suffered me to kisse
my sonnes, and my daughters: now thou hast done foolishly in doing so.
29 I am <sup>j</sup> able to do you euil: but the <sup>k</sup> God
of your father spake vnto me yester night, saying, Take hede that thou speake not to Iaakob ought saue good.
30 Now though thou wentest thy way, because thou greatly longedst after thy fathers house: yet wherefore hast thou stollē
my gods?
31 The Iaakob answered, & said to Laban,
Because I was afraid: & thought that thou wouldest haue taken thy daughters from
me.
32 But with whome thou findest thy gods, let him not lue. Serche thou before our brethren what I haue of <sup>l</sup> mine, and take it to thee (but Iaakob wist not that Rahel had stollen them)
33 Then came Laban into Iaakobs tent, & into Leahs tent, and into the two mai-
des tentes, but founde them not, so he wet out of Leahs tent, & entred into Rahels tent.
34 (Now Rahel had takē the idoles & put them in the camels' litter & sate downe
vpon them) & Laban serched all the tent,
but founde them not.
35 Then said she to her father, My lord, be not angry that I cannot rise vp before thee: for the custome of womē is vpon me:
so he serched, but found not the idoles.
36 ¶ The Iaakob was wroth, & chode with Laban: Iaakob also answered and said to Laban, What haue I trespassed? what haue
I offended, that thou hast pursued after
me?
37 Seing thou hast serched all my stuffe,
what hast <sup>m</sup> thou founde of all thine household
stuffe? put it here before my brethren and thy brethren, that they may iudge be-

38 This twety yere I haue bene with thee:

it not vnto thee, but made it good my sel-

were it stollen by day or stollen by night.
40 I was in the day consumed with heat,
and with frost in the night, and my <sup>p</sup> slepe
departed from mine eies.
41 Thus haue I bene twenty yere in thine

20 And ye shal say moreouer, Beholde, thy seruant laakob commeth after vs (for he thought, I wil appeale his wrath with the present that goeth before me, and afterward I wil se his face: it may be that he wil accept me)

21 So went the present before him: but he tarried that night with the companie.

22 And he rose vp the same night, and toke his two wiues, and his two maidens, and his eleue children, & went ouer the forde Iabbok.

23 And he toke them, & sent them ouer the riuer, & sent ouer that he had.

24 ¶ When laakob was left him selfe alone, there wrestled a man with him vnto the breaking of the day.

25 And he sawe that he colde not preuaile against him: therefore he touched the holow of his thigh, & the holow of laakobs thigh was loosed, as he wrestled with him.

26 And he said, Let me go, for y morning appeareth. Who answered, *I wil not let thee go except thou blesse me.

27 Then said he vnto him, What is thy name? And he said, laakob.

Chap. 31. 28 Then said he, *Thy name shal be called laakob no more, but Israél: because thou hast had power with God, thou shalt also preuaile with men.

29 Then laakob demaded, saying, Tel me, I pray thee, thy name. And he said, Wherefore now dost thou aske my name? And he blessed him there.

30 And laakob called the name of the place, Peniel: for, said he, I haue sene God face to face, and my life is preserved.

31 And the sunne rose to him as he passed Peniel, and he halted vpon his thigh.

32 Therefore the children of Israél eat not of the sinew that shranke in the holow of the thigh, vnto this day: because he touched the sinew that shranke in the holow of laakobs thigh.

CHAP. XXXIII.

¶ And as laakob lift vp his eies, and looked, beholde, Esau came, and with him foure hundred men: and he deuided the children to Leah, and to Rahél, and to the two maidens.

¶ So he went before the & bowed him selfe to the grounde seven times, vntill he came nere to his brother.

4 Then Esau ran to mete him and embraced him, and fel on his necke and kissed him, and thei wept.

5 And he lift vp his eies, and sawe the women, and the children, and said, Who are these with thee? And he answered, Thei are y childre whome God of his grace hath giuen thy seruant.

6 Then came y maidens nere, thei, and their children, and bowed them selues.

7 Leah also with her children came nere and made obeisance: and after Ioseph & Rahél drew nere and did reuerence.

8 Then he said, What meanest thou by all this droue, which I met? Who answered, I haue sent it, that I maie finde fauour in y sight of my lord.

9 And Esau said, I haue ynough, my brother: kepe that thou hast to thy selfe.

10 But laakob answered, Nay, I pray thee: if I haue founde grace now in thy sight, then receiue my present at mine hand: for I haue sene thy face, as though I had sene the face of God, because thou hast accepted me.

11 I praie thee take my blessing, that is broght thee: for God hath had mercie on me, & therefore I haue all things: so he compelled him, and he toke it.

12 And he said, Let vs take our iourney & go, and I wil go before thee.

13 Then he answered him, My lord knoweth, that the children are tendre, and the ewes & kine with yong vnder mine hand: & if thei shulde ouerdreue them one day, all the flocke wolde dye.

14 Let now my lord go before his seruāt, and I wil driue softly, according to the paffe of the cattel, which is before me, and as the children be able to endure, vntill I come to my lord vnto Seir.

15 Then Esau said, I wil leaue the some of my folke with thee. And he answered, What nedeth this? let me finde grace in the sight of my lord.

16 ¶ So Esau returned, and went his way that same day vnto Seir.

17 And laakob went forward towarde Succoth, & buyt him an house, and made bootheres for his cattel: therefore he called the name of the place Succoth.

18 ¶ Afterwarde, laakob came safe to Shechem a citie, which is in the land of Canaan, when he came from Padan Aram, and pitched before the citie.

19 And there he bought a parcel of grounde, where he pitched his tent, at the hand of the sonnes of Hamor Shechems father, for an hundredth pieces of money.

20 And he set vp there an altar, and called it, The mightie God of Israél.

for his sonne. 22 The Shechemites are circumcised at the request of Iaakobs sonnes, and the persuasion of Hamor. 23 The whoredome is reuenged. 24 Iaakob reproveth his sonnes.

Then Dinah the daughter of Leāh, which she bare vnto Iaakob, wēt out to se the daughters of that country.

Whome when Shechēm the sonne of Hamór the Hiuite lord of that coutrie sawe, he toke her, and lay w her, & defiled her.

So his heart claue vnto Dināh y daughter of Iaakob: and he loued the maide, & spake kindly vnto the maide.

The said Shechēm to his father Hamór, saying, Get me this maide to wife.

(Now Iaakob heard that he had defiled Dināh his daughter, and his sonnes were with his cattel in y field: therefore Iaakob helde his peace, vntil they were come)

¶ Then Hamór the father of Shechēm went out vnto Iaakob to commune with him.

And when the sonnes of Iaakob were come out of the field and heard it, it grieved the men, & they were very angrie, because he had wrought y villennie in Israēl, in that he had liē with Iaakobs daughter: which thing ought not to be done.

And Hamór comūned with them, saying, The foule of my sonne Shechēm longeth for your daughter: giue her him to wife, I pray you.

So make y affinitie w vs: giue your daughters vnto vs, and take our daughters vnto you,

And ye shal dwel with vs, and the land shal be before you: dwel, and do your busines in it, and haue your possessions therein.

Shechēm also said vnto her father and vnto her brethren, Let me finde fauour in your eies, and I wil giue whatsoeuer ye shal appoint me.

Aske of me abundantly bothe dowrie and giftes, & I wil giue as ye appoint me, so that ye giue me the maide to wife.

The sonnes of Iaakob answered Shechēm and Hamór his father, talking among them selues deceitfully, because he had defiled Dināh their sister,

And they said vnto them, We can not do this thing, to giue our sister to an vncircumcised man: for that were a reprofe vnto vs.

But in this wil we consent vnto you, if ye wil be as we are, that euerie mā childe among you be circumcised:

Then wil we giue our daughters to you, and we wil take your daughters to vs, and wil dwel with you, and be one people.

But if ye wil not hearken vnto vs to be circumcised, then wil we take our daughter & departe.

Now their wordes pleased Hamór, and Shechēm Hamors sonne.

And the yong mandeferde not to do the thig because he loued Iaakobs daughter: he was also the moste set by of all his fathers house.

¶ Then Hamór and Shechēm his sonne went vnto the gate of their citie, & communed with the men of their citie, saying,

These men are peaceable with vs: & y they may dwel in the land, and do their affaires therein (for beholde, the land hath rounge ynough for them) let vs take their daughters to wiues, and giue them our daughters.

Onely herein wil y men consent vnto vs for to dwel with vs, and to be one people, if all the men children among vs be circumcised as they are circumcised.

Shal nor their flockes and their substāce and all their cattel be ours: onely let vs consent herein vnto the, and they wil dwel with vs.

And vnto Hamór, & Shechēm his sonne hearkened all that went out of the gate of his citie: and all the men children were circumcised, even all that went out of the gate of his citie.

And on the third day (when thei were fore) two of the sonnes of Iaakob, Simeón and Leui, Dinahs brethren toke ether of them his sward & went into the citie boldly, and slewe euerie male.

Thei slewe also Hamór and Shechēm his sonne with the edge of the sward, & toke Dināh out of Shechems house, and went their way.

Againe the other sonnes of Iaakob came vpon the dead, and spoiled the citie, because they had defiled their sister.

Thei toke their shepe, and their beues, and their asses, and whatsoeuer was in the citie, and in the fields.

Also they caried away captiue and spoiled all their goods, and all their children and their wiues, and all that was in the houses.

Then Iaakob said to Simeón and Leui, Ye haue troubled me, & made me sinke among the inhabitants of the land, as wel the Canaanites, as the Perizzites, and I being fewe in nombre, they shal gather them selues together against me, and slay me, and so shal I, and my house be destroyed.

And they answered, Shulde he abuse our sister as a whore?

olde age, and he made him a coate of many colours.

4 So when his brethren saw that their father loved him more then all his brethren, then they hated him, and could not speake peaceably vnto him.

5 ¶ And Ioseph dreamed a dreame, and tolde his brethren, who hated him so muche the more.

6 For he said vnto the, Heare, I pray you, this dreame which I haue dreamed.

7 Beholde now, we were binding sheues in the middes of the field: & lo, my sheue arose and also stode ypright, & beholde, your sheues compassed rounde about, and did reuerence to my sheue.

8 Then his brethren said to him, What, shalt thou reigne ouer vs, and rule vs? or shalt thou haue altogether dominion ouer vs? And they hated him so muche the more, for his dreames, & for his wordes.

9 ¶ Again he dreamed another dreame, & tolde it his brethren, & said, Beholde, I haue had one dreame more, and beholde, the sunne and the moone and eleuen starres did reuerence to me.

10 Then he tolde it vnto his father & to his brethren, and his father rebuked him, & said vnto him, What is this dreame, which thou hast dreamed? shal I, & thy mother, and thy brethren come in dede and fall on the ground before thee?

11 And his brethren enuied him, but his father noted the saying.

12 ¶ Then his brethren went to kepe their fathers shepe in Shechem.

13 And Israel said vnto Ioseph, Do not thy brethren kepe in Shechem? come & I will send thee to them.

14 And he answered him, I am here. Then he said vnto him, Go now, se whether it be wel with thy brethren, and how the flocks prosper, and bring me worde againe, so he sent him from the vale of Hebron, and he came to Shechem.

15 ¶ Then a man founde him: for lo, he was wandering in the field, and the man asked him, saying, What seekst thou?

16 And he answered, I seeke my brethren: tel me, I pray thee, where they kepe shepe.

17 And the man said, They are departed hence: for I heard them say, Let vs go vnto Dorthan. Then went Ioseph after his brethren, and found them in Dorthan.

18 And when they saw him a far off, euen before he came at them, they conspired against him for to slay him.

19 For they said one to another, Beholde, this dreamer commeth.

20 Come now therefore, & let vs slay him, and cast him into some pit, & we will say, A wicked beast hath deuoured him: then we shall see, what wil come of his dreames.

21 *But when Reuben heard that, he deliuered him out of their hands, & said, Let vs not kill him.

22 Also Reuben said vnto them, Shed not blood, but cast him into this pit that is in the wilderness, & lay no hand vpon him.

Thus he said, that he might deliuer him out of their hand, and restore him to his father againe.

23 ¶ Now when Ioseph was come vnto his brethren, they stript Ioseph out of his coate, his particoloured coate, & was vpon him.

24 And they took him, & cast him into a pit, & the pit was empty, without water in it.

25 Then they sat them downe to eat bread: and they lift vp their eyes and looked, and beholde, there came a company of Ishmeelites from Gilead, and their camels laden with spicerie, and rosen, and myrrhe, and were going to carie it downe into Egypt.

26 The Iudah said vnto his brethren, What auaileth it, if we slay our brother, though we kepe his blood secret?

27 Come and let vs sel him to the Ishmeelites, and let not our hands be vpon him: for he is our brother & our flesh: and his brethren obeyed.

28 The Midianites marchant men passed by, and they drewe forth, and lift Ioseph out of the pit, and sold Ioseph vnto the Ishmeelites for twentie pieces of silver: who brought Ioseph into Egypt.

29 ¶ Afterward Reuben returned to his pit, and beholde, Ioseph was not in the pit: then he rent his clothes,

30 And returned to his brethren, & said, The childe is not yonder, & I, whether shal I go?

31 And they took Iosephs coate, and killed a kid of the goates, and depped the coate in the blood.

32 So they sent that particoloured coate, & they brought it vnto their father, & said, This haue we founde: se now, whether it be thy sonnes coate, or no.

33 Then he knew it and said, It is my sonnes coate: a wicked beast hath deuoured him: Ioseph is surely torne in pieces.

34 And Iacob rent his clothes, & put sackcloth about his loynes, & sorrowed for his sonne a long season.

35 Then all his sonnes & all his daughters rose vp to comforte him, but he wolde not be comforted, but said, Surely I wil go downe into the grave vnto my sonne mourning: so his father wept for him.

36 And the Midianites sold him into Egypt vnto Potiphar an Eunuche of Pharaoh, and his chief stande.

13 And it was tolde Tamár, ſaying, Beholde, thy father in lawe goeth vp to Timnáh, to ſhere his ſhepe.

14 Then ſhe put her widowes garmen-tes of from her, & couered her with a vail, and wrapped her ſelfe, & ſate downe in <sup>f</sup>Petháh-enáim, w<sup>h</sup> is by the way to Timnáh, becauſe the ſawe ſy Sheláh was grown, & ſhe was not giue vnto him to wife.

15 When Iudáh ſawe her, he iudged her an whore: for he had couered her face.

16 And he turned to the way, towards her, & ſaid, Come, I pray thee, let me lye with thee. (for he <sup>g</sup>knewe not that ſhe was his daughter in lawe) And ſhe answered, What wilt thou giue me for to lie wth me?

17 Then ſaid he, I wil ſend thee a kid of ſy goates from the ſlocke. & ſhe ſaid, Wel, if thou wilt giue me a pledge, til ſy ſend it.

18 Then he ſaid, What is the pledge that I ſhal giue thee? And ſhe answered, Thy ſignet, & thy cloke, and thy ſtaffe that is in thine hand. So he gaue it her, and lay by her, and ſhe was with childe by him.

19 Then ſhe roſe, and went & put her vail, le fro her & put on her widowes raymēt.

20 Afterward Iudáh ſent a kid of the goates by the hád of his <sup>h</sup>neighbour ſy Adullamite, for to receiue his pledge from the womans hand: but he founde her not.

21 Then aſked he the mē of that place, ſaying, Where is ſy whore, <sup>i</sup>that ſate in Enáim by ſy way ſide? And they answered, There was no whore here.

22 He came therefore to Iudáh againe, & ſaid, I cā not finde her, & alſo the mē of ſy place ſaid, There was no whore there.

23 Then Iudáh ſaid, Let her take it to her, leſt we be <sup>j</sup>ſhamed: beholde, I ſent this kid, and thou haſt not founde her.

24 ¶ Now after thre moneths, one tolde Iudáh, ſaying, Tamár thy daughter in lawe hath played the whore, and lo, with playing the whore, ſhe is great with childe. Then Iudáh ſaid, Bring ye her forth, and let her be <sup>k</sup>burnt.

25 When ſhe was brought forth, ſhe ſent to her father in law, ſaying, By the man, vnto whome theſe thiſgs pertaine, am I with childe: & ſaid alſo, Loke, I praye thee, whoſe theſe are, the ſeale, & ſy cloke, and ſy ſtaffe.

26 Then Iudáh knewe them, and ſaid, She is <sup>l</sup>more righteous the I: for ſhe hath done it becauſe I gaue her not to Sheláh my ſonne. So he laye with her <sup>m</sup>no more.

27 ¶ Now, whē the time was come that ſhe ſhulde be deliuered, beholde, there were twinnes in her wombe.

28 And when ſhe was in trauel, the one put out his hand: & the midwife toke and bounde a red threde about his hand, ſaying, This is come out firſt.

29 But when he <sup>n</sup>plucked his had backe againe, lo, his brother came out, & the midwife ſaid, How haſt <sup>o</sup>thou broken the breache vpō thee: & his name was called *Phárez.

30 And afterwarde came out his brother ſy had the red threde about his hand, and his name was called Zárah.

And fro that time that he had made him ruler ouer his house & ouer all that he had, the Lord<sup>a</sup> blessed the Egyptiās house for Iosephs sake : & the blessing of the Lord was vpon all that he had in y<sup>e</sup> house, and in the field.

Therefore he left all y<sup>e</sup> he had in Iosephs had, & toke accompte of nothig, that was wth him, saue onely of the bread, which he did eat. And Ioseph was a faire personne, and wel fauoured.

Now therefore after these thigs, his masters wife cast her eyes vpon Ioseph, and said, Lye with me.

But he refused & said to his masters wife, Beholde, my master knoweth not what he hath in the house with me, but hath committed all that he hath to mine hand.

There is no man greater in this house then I: neither hath he kept any thing fro me, but only these, because thou art his wife: how then can I do this great wickednes & so sinne against God?

And albeit she spake to Ioseph day by day, yet he hearkened not vnto her, to lye with her, or to be in her companie.

Then on a certeine day Ioseph entred into the house, to do his busines: & there was no man of the housholde in the house:

Therefore she caught him by his garment, sayig, Slepe wth me: but he left his garment in her hand and fled, & got him out.

Now when she sawe that he had left his garment in her hand, and was fled out,

She called vnto the men of her house, and tolde them, saying, Beholde, he hath brought in an Ebrewe vnto vs<sup>a</sup> to mocke vs: who came into me for to haue slept with me: but I<sup>b</sup> cryed with a loude voyce.

And when he heard y<sup>e</sup> I lift vp my voyce and cryed, he left his garment with me, & fled away, and got him out.

So she layed vp his garment by her, vntill her lord came home.

Then she tolde him<sup>c</sup> according to these wordes, saying, The Ebrewe seruant, wth thou hast brogt vnto vs, came into me to mocke me.

But asone as I lift vp my voyce and cryed, he left his garmēt wth me, & fled out.

Then when his master heard the wordes of his wife, which she tolde him, saying, After this maner did thy seruāt to me, his angre was kindled.

And Iosephs master toke him and put him in<sup>d</sup> i<sup>n</sup> prison, in the place, where the Kings prisoners lay bounde: and there he was in prison.

But y<sup>e</sup> Lord was with Ioseph, & shewed him mercie, and got him fauour in the sight of the<sup>e</sup> master of the prison.

And the keeper of the prison committed to Iosephs had all the prisoners that were in the prison, and whatsoeuer they did there, that did he.

And the keeper of the prison loked vnto nothing that was vnder his hand, seing that the Lord was with him: for whatsoeuer he did, the Lord made it to prosper.

CHAP. XL.

The interpretation of dreames in of God. 12. 19. Ioseph expoundeth the dreames of the two prisoners. 23 The ingratitude of the butler.

And after these thigs, the butler of y<sup>e</sup> King of Egypt and his baker offended their lord the king of Egypt.

And Pharaoh was angry against his two officers, against the chief butler, and against the chief baker.

Therefore he put them in warde in his chief stuardes house, in the prison and place where<sup>a</sup> Ioseph was bounde.

And the chief stuarde gaue Ioseph charge ouer them, & he serued them: and they continued a season in warde:

And they bothe dreamed a dreame, ether of the his dreame in one night, & eche one according to y<sup>e</sup> interpretation of his dreame, to the y<sup>e</sup> butler & the baker of the King of Egypt, wth were bounde in the prison.

And when Ioseph came in vnto them in the morning, and loked vpon them, beholde, they were sad.

And he asked Pharaohs officers, that were with him in his masters warde, saying, Wherefore<sup>b</sup> loke ye so sadly to day?

Who answered him, We haue dreamed, eche one a dreame, & there is none to interpret the same. Then Ioseph said vnto the, Are not interpretations of Gods<sup>c</sup> tel them now.

So the chief butler tolde his dreame to Ioseph, and said vnto him, In my dreame, beholde, a vine was before me,

And in the vine were thre branches, and as it budded, her flour came forth: & the clusters of grapes waxed ripe.

And I had Pharaohs cup in mine hand, & I toke the grapes, and wrong them into Pharaohs cup, and I gaue the cup into Pharaohs hand.

Then Ioseph said vnto him, This<sup>d</sup> is the interpretation of it: The thre branches are thre dayes.

Within thre dayes shal Pharaoh lift vp thine head, & restore thee vnto thine<sup>e</sup> office, and thou shalt giue Pharaohs cup into his hand after the olde maner, when y<sup>e</sup> wait his butler.

But haue me in remembrance with thee, when thou art in good case, & shewe mercie, I pray thee, vnto me, and make mention of me to Pharaoh, that thou maiest bring me out of this house.

are thre dayes:

19 Within thre daies shal Pharaoh take thine
head from thee, & shal hang thee on a tre, and the birdes shal eat thy flesh from
of thee.

20 ¶ And so the third day, which was Pharaohs birthday, he made a feast vnto all his seruantes: and he lifted vp the head of the chief butler, and the head of the chief baker among his seruantes.

21 And he restored the chief butler vnto

CHAP. XLI.

26 Pharaohs dreames are expounded by Ioseph. 40 He made ruler ouer all Egypt: 51 He hath two sonnes: Manasseh and Ephraim. 54 The famine beginneth
throughout the worlde.

ANd<sup>a</sup> two yeres after, Pharaoh also dreame, and beholde, he stode by
a riuier,

2 And lo, there came out of the riuier seuen
goodlie kine and fatfleshed, and thei fed
in a meadow:

3 And lo, seuen other kine came vp after them out of the riuier, euilfaoured and leane fleshed, and stode by the other kine
vpon the brinke of the riuier.

4 And the euilfaoured and leane fleshed kine did eat vp the seuen wellfaoured &
fat kine: so Pharaoh awoke.

5 Again he slept, and dreamed the seconde time: and beholde, seuen eares of corne grewe vpon one stalke, ranke and goodlie.

6 And lo, seue thinne eares, & blasted with
the East winde, sprang vp after them:

And the thinne eares deuoured the seue
ranke and ful eares. then Pharaoh awake, and lo, it was a dreame.

8 Now when the morning came, his spiri-
te was troubled: therefore he sent and called all the soothsaiers of Egypt, & all the wise men thereof, and Pharaoh tolde
them his dreames: but none colde interpret them to Pharaoh.

9 Then spake the chief butler vnto Pharaoh,
saying, I call to minde my fautes

this day.

10 Pharaoh being angry with his seru-ants, put me in ward in the chief stuarde
house, bothe me and the chief baker.

11 The we dreamed a dreame in one night,
bothe I, and he: we dreamed eche man according to the interpretacion of his dreame.

12 And there was with vs a yong man, an Ebrewe, seruāt vnto the chief stuarde, whome when we tolde, he declared our dreames to vs, to euerie one he declared
according to his dreame.

13 And as he declared vnto vs, so it came to passe: for he restored me to mine office, and hanged him.

14 ¶ Then sent Pharaoh, and called Ioseph,
and they brought him hastily out of prison, and he shaued him, and changed
his raiment, and came to Pharaoh.

15 Then Pharaoh said to Ioseph, I haue dreamed a dreame, and no man can interpret it, and I haue heard say of thee, that when thou hearest a dreame, thou canst interpret it.

16 And Ioseph answered Pharaoh, saying, Without me God shal answer for the welch of Pharaoh.

17 And Pharaoh said vnto Ioseph, In my dreame, beholde, I stode by the banke of
the riuier:

18 And lo, there came vp out of y riuier seue
fatfleshed, and wellfaoured kine, and thei
fed in the meadow.

19 Also lo, seuen other kine came vp after them, poore and very euilfaoured, and leanefleshed: I neuer sawe the like in all the land of Egypt, for euilfaoured.

20 And the leane and euilfaoured kine
did eat vp the first seuen fat kine.

21 And when they had eaten them vp, it
colde not be known that they had eaten
them, but they were stil as euilfaoured,
as they were at the beginning: so did I awake.

22 Moreouer I sawe in my dreame, and be-holde, seuen eares sprang out of one stal-
ke, ful and faire.

23 And lo, seuen eares, withered, thinne, and blasted with the East winde, sprang vp after them.

24 And the thinne eares deuoured the seuen good eares. Now I haue tolde the soothsaiers, and none can declare it vnto
me.

25 ¶ Then Ioseph answered Pharaoh, Bo-
the Pharaohs dreames are one. God hath shewed Pharaoh, what he is about to do.

26 The seuen good kine are seuen yeres, &
the seuen good eares are seuen yeres: this is one dreame.

27 Likewise the seuen thinne and euil fauoured kine, that came out after them, are seuen yeres: and the seuen emptie eares

blasted with the East winde are seuen yerres of famine.

38 This is the thing, which I haue said vnto Pharaoh, that God hath shewed vnto Pharaoh, what he is aboute to do.

39 Beholde, there come seuen yerres of great<sup>109</sup> plentie in all the land of Egypt.

40 Againe, there shal arise after them seuen yerres of famine, so that all the plentie shalbe forgotten in the land of Egypt, and the famine shal consume the land:

41 Nether shal the plentie be knowe in the land, by reason of this famine that shal come after: for it shalbe excedding great.

42 And therefore the drame was doubled vnto Pharaoh the second time, because the thing is established by God, & God halteth to performe it.

43 Now therefore let Pharaoh prouide for a man of vnderstanding and wisdom, & set him ouer the land of Egypt.

44 Let Pharaoh make and appoint officers ouer the lād, and take vp the fiftie parte of y<sup>e</sup> lād of Egypt in y<sup>e</sup> seuen plenteous yerres.

45 Also let them gather all the fode of these good yerres that come, and lay vp corne vnder the hand of Pharaoh for fode, in the cities, and let them kepe it.

46 So the fode shalbe for the prouision of the land, against the seuen yerres of famine, which shalbe in the land of Egypt, that the land perish not by famine.

47 And y<sup>e</sup> saying pleased Pharaoh and all his seruantes.

48 Then said Pharaoh vnto his seruantes, Can we finde such a man as this, in whome is the * Spirit of God?

49 The Pharaoh said to Ioseph, For as muche as God hath shewed thee all this, there is no man of vnderstanding, or of wisdom like vnto thee.

50 * Thou shalt be ouer mine house, & at thy worde shal all my people be armed, only in y<sup>e</sup> Kings throne wil I be about thee.

51 Moreover Pharaoh said to Ioseph, Beholde, I haue set thee ouer all the land of Egypt.

52 And Pharaoh toke of his ring from his hand, and put it vpon Iosephs hand, and araied him in garments of fine linen and put a golden chaine about his necke.

53 So he set him vpon the best charet that he had, saue one: & they cryed before him, * Abrech, and placed him ouer all the land of Egypt.

54 Againe Pharaoh said vnto Ioseph, I am Pharaoh, & without thee shal no man lift vp his hand or his fore in all the land of Egypt.

55 And Pharaoh called Iosephs name * Zaphnath-paaneah: and he gaue him to wife Asenath y<sup>e</sup> daughter of Poti-pherah prince of On. then went Ioseph abroad in the land of Egypt.

46 And Ioseph was thirty yere olde whe he stode before Pharaoh King of Egypt: and Ioseph departing from the presence of Pharaoh, went through out all the land of Egypt.

47 And in the seuen plenteous yerres the earth broght forth the store.

48 And he gathered vp all the fode of the seuen plenteous yerres, which were in the land of Egypt, and layed vp fode in the cities: the fode of the field, that was round about euery citie, layed he vp in the same.

49 So Ioseph gathered wheat, like vnto the land of y<sup>e</sup> sea in multitude out of measure, vntil he left nombring: for it was without nombre.

50 Now vnto Ioseph were borne two sonnes (before the yerres of famine came) y<sup>e</sup> Asenath the daughter of Poti-pherah prince of On bare vnto him.

51 And Ioseph called the name of the first borne Manasseh: for God, said he, hath made me forget all my labour & all my fathers houlholde.

52 Also he called the name of the seconde Ephraim: for God, said he, hath made me frutefull in the land of mine affliction.

53 So the seuen yerres of the plentie that was in the land of Egypt were ended.

54 * The began the seuen yerres of famine to come, according as Ioseph had said: & the famine was in all landes, but in all the land of Egypt was bread.

55 At the length all the land of Egypt was affamished and the people cryed to Pharaoh for bread. And Pharaoh said vnto all the Egyptians, Go to Ioseph: what he saith to you, do ye.

56 When the famine was vpon all the lād, Ioseph opened all places, wherein the store was and folde vnto the Egyptians: for the famine waxed fore in the land of Egypt.

57 And all countreis came to Egypt to bye corne of Ioseph, because the famine was fore in all landes.

Now Ioseph was gouerner of the land
who ſolde to all the people of the laſd: the

And whē Ioseph ſawe his brethré, he kne-

& ſaid vnto them, Whēce come ye? Who (Now Ioseph knewe his brethren, but

And Ioseph remembred the *dreames,
which he dreamed of them) and he ſaid
vnto them, Ye are ſpies, and are come to
ſe the *weakenes of the land.
But they ſaid vnto him, Nay, my lord,
but to bye vitaille thy ſeruātes are come.
We are all one mans ſonnes: we meane
truely, and thy ſeruantes are no ſpies.
But he ſaid vnto them, Nay, but ye are
come to ſe the weakenes of the land.
And they ſaid, We thy ſeruantes are twelue brethren, the ſonnes of one man in the land of Canaan: and beholde, the yō-geſt is this day with our father, and one is not.
Againe Ioseph ſaid vnto the, This is it
that I ſpake vnto you, ſaying, Ye are ſpies.
Hereby ye ſhal be proued: by the life of Pharaoh, ye ſhal not go hēce, except your yongeſt brother come hether.
Sēd one of you which may ſet your brother, and ye ſhal be kept in priſon, that your wordes may be proued, whether there be trueth in you: or els by the life of Pharaoh ye are but ſpies.
So he put them in wardē thre dayes.
Then Ioseph ſaid vnto them the third day, This do, and liue: for I feare God.
If ye be true men, let one of your brethren be bounde in your priſon houſe, &
go ye, carie fode for the famine of your houſes:
* But bring your yonger brother vnto
me, that your wordes may be tried, and y
ye die not: and they did ſo.
And thei ſaid one to another, We haue
verely ſinned againſt our brother, in y
we ſawe the anguiſh of his ſoule, when he beſoght vs; and we wolde not heare him:
therefore is this trouble come vpon vs.
And Reubēn answered them, ſaying,
Warned I not you, ſaying, * Sinne not a-gainſt the childe, and ye wolde not heare?
and lo, his blood is now required.
And they were not aware that Ioseph
vnderſtoode them: for he ſpake vnto them
by an interpreter)
Then he turned from them, and wept,
- and turned to them againe, and commu-
ned with them, and toke Simeon from amōg them, and bounde him before their eyes.
So Ioseph commanded that thei ſhul-de fille their ſackes with wheat, and put euerie mans money againe in his ſacke, &
giue them vitaille for the iourney: and
thus did he vnto them.
And they laied their vitaille vpon their
aſſes, and departed thence.
And as one of them opened his ſacke for
to giue his aſſe prouandre in the ynne,
he eſpied his money: for lo, it was in his ſackes mouthe.
Then he ſaid vnto his brethren, My money is reſtored: for lo, it is euen in my ſacke.
And their heart failed them, & they were aſtonniſhed, and ſaid one to an other, What is this, that God haſte done
vnto vs?
And they came vnto Iaakōb their father vnto the land of Canaan, and tolde
him all that had befallen them, ſaying,
The man, who is lord of the land, ſpake
roughly to vs, and put vs in priſon as ſpies
of the countrei.
And we ſaid vnto him, We are true mē,
and are no ſpies.
We be twelue brethren, ſonnes of our father: one is not, and the yongeſt is this day with our father in the laſd of Canaan.
Then the lord of the countrei ſaid vnto
vs, Hereby ſhal I knowe if ye be true mē:
Leaue one of your brethren with me, and take ſide for the famine of your houſes &
departe,
And bring your yongeſt brother vnto
me, that I may knowe that ye are no ſpies,
but true mē: ſo wil I deliuer you your brother, and ye ſhal occupie in the land.
And as they emptied their ſackes, be-holde, euerie mans bundel of money was in his ſacke: and when they and their father ſawe the būdels of their money, they were afraid.
Then Iaakōb their father ſaid to them,
Ye haue robbed me of my childrē: Ioseph
is not, and Simeon is not, and ye wil take Bējamin: all theſe thiſgs are againſt me.
Then Reubēn answered his father, ſaying, Slay my two ſonnes, if I brig him not to thee againe: deliuer him to mine hand,
and I wil bring him to thee againe.
But he ſaid, My ſone ſhal not go downe
w you: for his brother is dead, & he is left alone: if death come vnto him by y way,
which ye go, then ye ſhal bring my graie
head with ſorowe vnto the graue.

NOW great famine was in the land. And when they had eaten vp the vitaille, which they had brought from Egypt, their father ſaid vnto them, Turne againe, and bye vs a litle fode.

And Iudah answered him, ſaying, The man charged vs by an othe, ſaying, * Neuer ſe my face, except your brother be with you.

If thou wilt ſend our brother with vs, we wil go downe, and by thee fode:

But if thou wilt not ſend him, we wil not go downe: for the man ſaid vnto vs, * Loke me not in the face, except your brother be with you.

And Iſrael ſaid, Wherefore delt ye ſo euil with me, as to tel the man, whether ye had yet a brother, or no?

And they answered, The man asked ſtraitly of our ſelues and of our kinred, ſaying, Is your father yet aliue? haue ye any brother? And we tolde him according to theſe wordes: colde we knowe certainly y he wolde ſay, Bring your brother downe?

Then ſaid Iudah to Iſrael his father, Sed the boye with me, that we may riſe & go, and that we may liue and not dye, both we, and thou, and our children.

I wil be ſuretie for him: of mine hand ſhalt thou require him. * If I bring him not to thee, & ſet him before thee, * then let me beare the blame for ever.

For except we had made this tarying, doubtles by this we had returned the ſecond time.

Then their father Iſrael ſaid vnto them, If it muſt neede be ſo nowe, do thus: take of the beſt frutes of the land in your veſſels, and bring the man a preſent, a litle roſen, and a litle honie, * ſpices and myrrer, nuttes, and almondes:

And take double money in your hand, and the money, that was brought againe in your ſackes mouthes: carie it againe in your hand, left it were ſome ouer ſight.

Take alſo your brother and ariſe, and go againe to the man.

And God almightie giue you mercie in the ſight of the man, that he maie deliuer you your other brother, and Benjamin: but I ſhalbe robbed of my childe, as I haue bene.

¶ Thus y men toke this preſent, and toke twiſe ſo muche money in their hand with Benjamin, and roſe vp, and went downe to Egypt and ſtode before Ioseph.

And when Ioseph ſawe Benjamin with him, he ſaid to his ſtuard, Bring theſe men home and kil meat and make readie: for the men ſhal eat with me at noone.

And y man did as Ioseph bad, & brought the men vnto Iosephs houſe.

Now when the me were brought into Iosephs

houſe, thei were afraid, and ſaid, Becauſe of the money, that came in our ſackes mouthes at the firſt time, are we brought, that he maie * pike a quarel againſt vs, and * laie ſome thing to our charge, and bring vs in bondage and our aſſes.

Therefore came thei to Iosephs ſtuard, and communed with him at the dore of the houſe.

And ſaid, Oh ſyr, * we came i dede downe hether at the firſt time to bye fode,

And as we came to an ynne and opened our ſackes, behold, euerie mans money was in his ſackes mouth, euen our money in ful weight, but we haue brought it againe in our hands.

Alſo other money haue we brought in o handes to bye fode, but we ca not tel, who put our money in our ſackes.

And he ſaid, Peace be vnto you, ſcare not: your God and the God of your father haue giuen you that treaſure in your ſackes, I had your money: and he brought for the Simeon to them.

So the man led thei in to Iosephs houſe, and gaue them water to waſh their ſete; and gaue their aſſes prouander.

And thei made redy their preſent againſt Ioseph came at none, (for thei heard ſaie, that thei ſhulde eat bread there.)

When Ioseph came home, thei brought the preſent into the houſe to him, which was in their hands, and bowed downe to the grounde before him.

And he asked them of their prosperitie, and ſaid, Is your father the olde man, of whome ye tolde me, in good health? is he yet aliue?

Who answered, Thy ſeruāt our father is in good helth, he is yet aliue: and they bowed downe, and made obeifance.

And he liſting vp his eyes, behelde his brother Benjamin in his mothers ſonne, & ſaid, Is this your yonger brother, of whome ye tolde me? And he ſaid, God be merciful vnto thee, my ſonne.

And Ioseph made haſte (for his affection was inflamed toward his brother, and ſoght where to wepe) and entred into his chambre, and wept there.

Afterward he waſhed his face, and came out, and refrained him ſelfe, and ſaid, Set on meat.

And they prepared for him by him ſelfe, and for them by them ſelues, and for y Egyptians, which did eat with him: by them ſelues, becauſe the Egyptians might not eat bread with y Ebrewes: for that was an abomination vnto the Egyptians.

CHAP. XLIIII.

15 Ioseph accuseth his brother of theft. 33 Iudāh offereth
him selfe to be seruant for Benjamin.

1 A fterwarde he cōmanded his stuard, saying, Filthe mens sackes with fode, as muche as thei can cary, and put e-uerie mans money in his sackes mouthes.

2 And<sup>a</sup> put my cup, I meane the siluer cup,
in the sackes mouthes of the yongest, and his corne money. And he did according to the commandement that Ioseph gaue
him.

3 And in the<sup>b</sup> morning the men were sent away, thei, and their asses.

4 And when thei went out of the citie not farre of, Ioseph said to his stuard, Vp,
followe after the men: & whē thou doest
overtake them, say vnto them, Wherefore
haue ye rewarded euil for good?

5 Is that not the cup, wherein my lord drinketh<sup>b</sup> and in the which he doeth deuine
and prophecie? ye haue done euil in so doing.

6 ¶ And whē he ouertoke thē, he said those wordes vnto them.

7 And thei answered him, Wherefore saith eth my lord suche wordes? God forbid
that thy seruants shulde do suche a thing.

8 Beholde, the money which we found in our sackes mouthes, we broght againe to thee out of the land of Canaan: how then shulde we steale out of thy lordes house
siluer, or golde?

9 With whomesoeuer of thy seruants it be founde, let him dye, and we also wil be my lords bondmen.

10 And he said, Now then let it be according vnto your wordes: he with whome
it is founde, shalbe my seruant, & ye shal
be<sup>b</sup> blameles.

11 Then at once euerie mā toke downe his sacke to the grounde, and euerie one opened his sacke.

12 And he searched, and began at the eldest and left at the yongest: and the cup was founde in Beniamins sacke.

13 Then thei<sup>c</sup> rent their clothes, and laded
euerie man his asse, and went againe into the citie.

14 ¶ So Iudāh & his brethren came to Io-sephs house (for he was yet there) and thei
sel befor him on the grounde.

15 The Ioseph said vnto thē, What acte is this, which ye haue done? Knowe ye not that suche a man as I, can deuine & prophecie?

16 Then said Iudāh, What shal we say vnto my lord: what shal we speake? & how can we iustifie our selues? d God hathe

founde out the wickednes of thy seruātes: beholde we are seruants to my lord, bothe we, and he, with whome the cup is founde.

17 But he answered, God forbid, y I shulde
do so, but the man, with whome the cup is founde, he shalbe my seruant, & go ye in peace vnto your father.

18 ¶ Thē Iudāh drew nere vnto him, and said, Oh my lord, let thy seruant now
speake a worde in my lords eares, and let
not thy wrath be kindled against thy seruant: for thou art euen<sup>e</sup> as Pharaoh.

19 My lord asked his seruāts, saying, Have ye a father, or a brother?

20 And we answered my lord, We haue a father that is olde, and a yong<sup>g</sup> childe,
which he begate in his age: and his brother
is dead, & he alone is left of his mother,
and his father loueth him.

21 Now y<sup>f</sup> saidest vnto thy seruants, Bring him vnto me, that I may<sup>h</sup> set mine eie vp-
on him.

22 And we answered my lord, The childe
can not departe from his father: for if he leauē his father, his father wolde dye.

23 Then saidest thou vnto thy seruāts, Except your yonger brother come downe
with you, loke in my face no more.

24 So when we came vnto thy seruant our father, and shewed him what my lord had said,

25 And our father said vnto vs, Go againe,
bye vs a litle fode,

26 Thē we answered, We can not go downe:
but if our yongest brother go with vs,
then wil we go downe: for we may not se
the mā face, except our yongest brother
be with vs.

27 Then thy seruant my father said vnto vs, Ye knowe that my<sup>i</sup> wife bare me two sonnes,

28 And the one went out from me, and I said, Of a surety he is torne in peeces, and I sawe him not since.

29 Now ye take this also away from me:
if death take him, then y<sup>j</sup> e shal bring my
gray head in sorowe to the graue.

30 Now therefore, whē I come to thy seruant my father, and the childe be not with vs (seeing that his<sup>k</sup> life dependeth on the childes life)

31 Then when he shal se that the childe is not come, he wil dye: so shal thy seruants
bring the gray head of thy seruant our father with sorowe to the graue.

32 Doubtes thy seruant became suretie for the childe to my father, and said, * If I bring him not vnto thee againe, thē I wil
beare the blame vnto my father for euer.

33 Now therefore, I pray thee, let me thy seruant bide for the childe, as a seruant to

CHAP. XLV.

1 Ioseph maketh him selfe knowne to his brethren. 8 He sheweth that all was done by Gods providence. 18 Pharaoh commandeth him to send for his father. 24 Ioseph exhorteth his brethren to cōfess. 27 Iacob reioiceth.

Then Ioseph colde not reſtaine him selfe before all that stode by him, but he cryed, Haue forthe cuerie mā frō me. And there taried not one with him, while Ioseph vttered him selfe vnto his brethren.

2 And he wept & cryed, so that the Egyptians heard: y<sup>e</sup> house of Pharaoh heard also.

3 Then Ioseph said to his brethren, I am Ioseph: doeth my father yet liue? But his brethren coulde not answer him, for they were astonished at his presence.

4 Againe Ioseph said to his brethren, Come nere, I pray you, to me. And they came nere. And he said, I am Ioseph your brother, whome ye solde into Egypt.

5 Now therefore be not sad, neither grieved with your selues, that ye solde me hether: **for God did send me before you for your preseruacion.*

6 For now two yerres of famine haue bene through the land, and fūe yerres are behinde, wherein nether shal be earing nor haruest.

7 Wherefore God sent me before you to preserue your posteritie in this land, and to saue you aliuie by a great deliuerance.

8 Now then you sent not me hether, but God, who hath made me a father vnto Pharaoh, and lord of all his house, and ruler through out all the land of Egypt.

9 Hasten you and go vp to my father, and tel him, Thus saeth thy sonne Ioseph, God hath made me lord of all Egypt: come downe to me, tary not.

10 And thou shalt dwell in the land of Gósen, and shalt be nere me, thou and thy children, & thy childrens childrē, & thy shepe, & thy beastes, & all that thou hast.

11 Also I wil nourish thee there (for yet remaine fūe yerres of famine) lest thou perish through pouertie, thou & thy householde, and all that thou hast.

12 And beholde, your eyes do se, & the eyes of my brother Beniamin, y<sup>e</sup> my mouth speaketh to you.

13 Therefore tel my father of all mine honour in Egypt, & of all that ye haue sene, & make haste, & bring my father hether.

14 Then he fel on his brother Beniamins necke, and wept, & Beniamin wept on his necke.

15 Moreover he kissed all his brethren, and wept vpon them: and afterwarde his brethren talked with him.

16 ¶ And the tydings came vnto Pharaohs house, so that they said, Iosephs brethren are come: and it pleased Pharaoh wel, & his seruants.

17 Then Pharaoh said vnto Ioseph, Say to thy brethren, This do ye, lade your beastes, & departe, go to y<sup>e</sup> lād of Canaan,

18 And take your father, and your householde, and come to me, and I wil giue you the best of the land of Egypt, and ye shal eat of the fat of the land.

19 And I commande thee, Thus do ye, take your charers out of the land of Egypt for your children, and for your wiues, and bring your father and come.

20 Also regard not your stuffe: for the best of all the land of Egypt is yours.

21 And the children of Israel did so: and Ioseph gaue them charers according to the commendement of Pharaoh: he gaue them vitails also for the iourney.

22 He gaue the all, none except, change of raiment: but vnto Beniamin he gaue three hundred pieces of siluer, & fūe sures of rayment.

23 And vnto his father likewise he sent ten asses laden with the best things of Egypt, and ten she asses lade with wheat, & bread, & meat for his father by the way.

24 So sent he his brethren away, and they departed: and he said vnto them, & Fall not out by the way.

25 ¶ Then they wet vp from Egypt, & came vnto the land of Canaan vnto Iacob their father,

26 And tolde him, saying, Ioseph is yet aliue, and he also is gouernour ouer all the lād of Egypt, and Iacob's heart failed: for he beleued them not.

27 And they tolde him all the wordes of Ioseph, which he had said vnto them: but when he sawe the charers, which Ioseph had sent to cary him, then the spirit of Iacob their father reuiued.

28 And Israel said, I haue ynough: Ioseph my sonne is yet aliue: I wil go and se him yer I dye.

Then Israel toke his iourney with all that he had, & came to Beer-sheba, and offered sacrifice vnto the God of his father Izhak.

2 And God spake vnto Israel in a vision by night, saying, Iacob, Iacob. Who answered, I am here.

for I wil there make of thee a great nation.

4 I wil go downe with thee into Egypt, and I wil also bring thee vpon againe, and Ioseph shal put his had vpon thine eies. Then Iakob rose vp from Beer-sheba: and the sonnes of Israel caried Iakob their father, and their children, and their wiues in the charets, which Pharaoh had sent to cary him.

6 And thei toke their cattel & their goods, which they had gotten in the land of Canaan, and came into Egypt, bothe Iakob and all his fede with him,

7 His sonnes and his sonnes sonnes with him, his daughters and his sonnes daughters, and all his fede broght he with him into Egypt.

8 And these are the names of the children of Israel, which came into Egypt, euen Iakob & his sonnes: * Reuben, Iakobes first borne.

9 And the sonnes of Reuben: Hanoch, and Phallu, and Hezron and Carmi.

10 And the sonnes of * Simeon: Iemuel, & Iamin, and Ohad, and Iachin, & Zohar, & Shaul y sonne of a Canaanitish woma.

11 And the sonnes of * Levi: Gershon, Kohath and Merari.

12 And the sonnes of * Iudah: Er, and Onan, and Shelah, and Pharez, and Zerah: (but Er, and Onan dyed in y land of Canaan) And the sonnes of Pharez were Hezron and Hamul.

13 And the sonnes of * Issachar: Tolai, & Phuuah, and Iob, and Shimron.

14 And the sonnes of Zebulun: Sered, & Elon, and Iahleel.

15 These be the sonnes of Leah, which she bare vnto Iakob in Padan Aram, with his daughter Dinah. All the soules of his sonnes & his daughters were thirty & thre.

16 And the sonnes of Gad: Zaphion, and Haggi, Shuni, and Ezbon, Eri, and Arodi, and Areli.

17 And the sonnes of * Asher: Imnah, & Ishuah, and Isui, and Beriath, and Serah their sister. And the sonnes of Beriath: Heber, and Malchiel.

18 These are y childre of Zilpah, whome Laban gaue to Leah his daughter: & these she bare vnto Iakob, came fixtene soules.

19 The sonnes of Rachel Iakobs wife were Ioseph, and Beniamin,

20 And vnto Ioseph in the lad of Egypt were borne Manasseh, & Ephraim, which * Asenath the daughter of Poti-pherah prince of On bare vnto him.

21 And y sonnes of * Beniamin: Belah, & Beker, & Ashbel, Gerar, and Naaman, Ehi, & Rosh, Muppim, & Huppim, & Ard.

22 These are the sonnes of Rachel, w were borne vnto Iakob, fourtene soules in all.

23 Also the sonnes of Dan: Hushim.

24 Also the sonnes of Nephthali: Iahzeel, and Guni, and Iezer, and Shilem.

25 These are the sonnes of Bilhah, w Laban gaue vnto Rachel his daughter, & the bare these to Iakob, in all, seue soules.

26 All the soules, that came with Iakob into Egypt, which came out of his loynes (beside Iakobs sonnes wiues) were in the whole, thre score and fixe soules.

27 Also the sonnes of Ioseph, which were borne him i Egypt, were two soules: so that all the soules of y house of Iakob, which came into Egypt, are seuentie.

28 Then he sent Iudah before him vnto Ioseph, to direct his way vnto Goshen, and they came into the land of Goshen.

29 Then Ioseph made ready his charet & went vp to Goshen to mete Israel his father, and presented him selfe vnto him, & fel on his necke, and wept vpon his necke a good while.

30 And Israel said vnto Ioseph, Now let me dye, since I haue sene thy face, and that thou art yet alieue.

31 Then Ioseph said to his brethren, and to his fathers house, I wil go vp and shewe Pharaoh, and tel him, My brethren and my fathers house, which were in the land of Canaan, are come vnto me,

32 And the men are shepherdes, & because they are shepherdes, they haue broght their shepe & their cattel, & all y thei haue.

33 And if Pharaoh call you, and aske you, What is your trade?

34 The ye shal say, Thy seruants are men occupied about cattel, fro our childhode euen vnto this time, bothe we and our fathers: that ye may dwell in the lad of Goshen: for euerie shepekeeper is an abomination vnto the Egyptians.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 Then came Ioseph and tolde Pharaoh, and said, My father, & my brethre, & their shepe, & their cattel, and all y they haue, are come out of the land of Canaan, & beholde, they are in y land of Goshen.

2 And Ioseph toke parte of his brethre, eue

a five men, & presented the vnto Pharaoh.

3 The Pharaoh said vnto his brethre, What is your trade? And thei answered Pharaoh, Thy seruants are shepherdes, bothe we and our fathers.

4 Thei said moreouer vnto Pharaoh, For to sojourne in y land are we come: for thy seruants haue no pasture for their shepe, so fore is the famine in the land of Canaan. Now therefore, we pray thee, let thy seruants dwell in the land of Goshen.

11 And Ioseph placed his father, and his brethren, and gaue them possession in the land of Egypt, in the best of the land, euen in the land of Ramesses, as Pharaoh had commanded.

a Some read, that he fed the as little babes, because they coulde not provide for them selves against that famine.

12 And Ioseph nourished his father, and his brethren, and all his fathers household with bread, euen d to the yong children.

Wherein he bothe declarerh his fidelitie toward the King, and his minde fre fro venenousnes.

13 Now there was no bread in all the lad: for the famine was exceeding sore: so that the land of Egypt & the land of Canaan were famished by the reason of y<sup>e</sup> famine.

14 And Ioseph gathered all the money, that was foude in the lad of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, for the corne which they boght, & Ioseph laied vp the money in Pharaohs house.

15 So when money failed in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, then all the Egyptiis came vnto Ioseph, and said, Giue vs bread: for why shulde we dye before thee? for our money is spent.

16 Then said Ioseph, Bring your cattel, & I wil giue you for your cattel, if your money be spent.

17 So they broght their cattel vnto Ioseph, & Ioseph gaue them bread for the horses, and for the flockes of shepe, and for the herdes of cattel, and for the asses: so he fed them with bread for all their cattel that yere.

18 But when the yere was ended, they came vnto him the next yere, & said vnto him, We wil not hide from thy lord, that since our money is spent, & my lord hathe the herdes of the cattel, there is nothing left in the fight of my lord, but our bodies & our grounde.

20 So Ioseph boght all the lad of Egypt for Pharaoh: for y<sup>e</sup> Egyptians solde euerie ma his grounde becaufe the famine was fore vpon them: so the land became Pharaohs.

21 And he removed the people vnto the cities, "from one side of Egypt euen to the other.

22 Onely the land of the Priestes boght he not: for the Priestes had an ordinance of Pharaoh, and they did eat their ordinance, which Pharaoh gaue the: wherefore they solde not their grounde.

23 Then Ioseph said vnto the people, Beholde, I haue boght you this day and your land for Pharaoh: lo, here is fede for you: sowe therefore the grounde.

24 And of the encrease ye shal giue the fift parte vnto Pharaoh, and foure partes shal be yours for the fede of the field, and for your meat, and for them of your householdes, and for your children to eat.

25 Then they answered, Thou hast saued our liues: let vs finde grace in the sight of my lord, & we wil be Pharaohs seruants.

26 Then Ioseph made it a lawe ouer the land of Egypt vnto this day, that Pharaoh shulde haue the fift parte, h except the land of the Priestes onely, w was not Pharaohs.

27 And Israel dwelt in the lad of Egypt, in the countrey of Gosen: and they had their possessions therein, and grewe and multiplied exceedingly.

28 Moreouer, Iakob liued in the land of Egypt seuentene yeres, so that the whole age of Iakob was an hundreth fourtie & seuen yere.

29 Now when the time drewe nere y<sup>e</sup> Israel must dye, he called his sonne Ioseph, and said vnto him, If I haue now foude grace in thy sight, put thine had now vnder my thigh, and deale mercifully and truly wth me: bury me not, I pray thee, in Egypt.

30 But when I shal slepe with my fathers, thou shalt cary me out of Egypt, and bury me in their burial. And he answered, I wil do as thou hast said.

31 Then he said, Swear vnto me. And he sware vnto him. And Israel k worshipped toward the beds head.

7 Now whē I came frō Padan, Rahēl dyed vpon mine hād in the land of Canaan, by the way when there was but halfe a daies iourney of grounde to come to Ephraim: and I buryed her there in the way to Ephraim: the same is Beth-lehem.

11 And Israël said vnto Ioseph, I had not thought to haue sene thy face: yet lo, God hath shewed me also thy fede.

12 And Ioseph toke the away frō his knees, and did reuerence downe to the ground.

14 But Israël stretched out his right hand, and laid it on Ephraims head, which was the yonger, and his left hand vpon Manasséh head (directing his hands of purpose) for Manasséh was the elder.

15 ¶ Also he blessed Ioseph and said, The God, before whome my fathers Abraham and Izhak did walke, the God, which hath fed me all my life long vnto this day, blesse thee.

16 The Angel, which hath deliuered me from all euil, blesse the children, and let my name be named vpon them, and the name of my fathers Abraham and Izhak, that they may growe as fish into a multitude in the middes of the earth.

17 But whē Ioseph sawe that his father laid his right hād vpon the head of Ephraim, it displeased him: and he stayed his fathers hand to remoue it from Ephraims head to Manasséh head.

18 And Ioseph said vnto his father, Not so! my father, for this is y eldest: put thy right hand vpon his head.

19 But his father refused, and said, I knowe wel, my sonne, I knowe wel: he shalbe also a people, & he shalbe great likewise: but his yonger brother shalbe greater than he, and his fede shalbe full of nations.

20 So he blessed them that day, and said, In thee Israël shal blesse, and say, God make thee as Ephraim and as Manasséh: & he set Ephraim before Manasséh.

21 Then Israël said vnto Ioseph, Beholde, I dye, and God shalbe with you, & bring you againe vnto the land of your fathers.

22 Moreover, I haue giuen vnto thee one portion about thy brethre, which I gate out of the hand of the Amorite by my sworde & by my bowe.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 Iakob blesseth all his sonnes by name, and sheweth them what is to come. 29 He wil be buryed with his fathers. 33 He dyeth.

1 Then Iakob called his sonnes, & said, Gather your selues together, that I may tel you what shal come to you in the last daies.

2 Gather your selues together, & heare, ye sonnes of Iakob, & hearken vnto Israël your father.

7 Cursed be their wrath, for it was ferece, & their rage, for it was cruel: I wil diuide them in Iakob, & scatter the in Israël.

Euen by the God of thy father, who shal helpe thee, & by the almightie, who shal blesse thee with heauenlie blessings fro aboue, with blessings of y depe, that lieth beneath, with blessings of the breasts, & of the wombe.

Beniamin shal rauine as a wolfe: in the morning he shal deuoure the prairie, and at night he shal diuide the spoile.

All these are the twelue tribes of Israel, and thus their father spake vnto the, and blessed them: euerie one of them blessed he with a seuerall blessing.

And he charged them & said vnto the, I am ready to be gathered vnto my people: bury me with my fathers in the caue that is in the field of Ephron the Hittite,

In the caue that is in the field of Machpelah besides Mamre in the land of Canaan: which Abraham boght w the field of Ephron the Hittite for a possession to bury in.

There thei buried Abraham and Sarah his wife: there thei buried Ishak & Rebekah his wife: and there I buried Leah.

The purchase of the field & the caue y is therein, was boght of y childre of Heth.

Thus Iaakób made an end of giuing charge to his sonnes, and plucked vp his fete into the bed and gaue vp the goft, & was gathered to his people.

CHAP. 1.

Iaakób is buried. Joseph forgiveth his brethren. Joseph seeth his childrens children, as he dyeth.

Then Ioseph fel vpon his fathers face and wept vpon him, and kissed him.

And Ioseph commanded his seruantes the phisicians, to enbaume his father, & the phisicians enbaumed Israel.

So forty daies were accomplished (for so long did the daies of them that were enbaumed last) and the Egyptians bewailed him seventy daies.

And when the daies of his mourning were past, Ioseph spake to the house of Pharaoh, saying, If I haue now founde fauour in your eyes, speak I pray you, in y cares of Pharaoh, and say,

My father made me swear, saying, Lo, I dye, bury me in my graue, which I haue made me in the lād of Canaan: now therefore let me go, I prairie thee, & bury my father and I will come againe.

The Pharaoh said, Go vp and bury thy father, as he made thee to swear.

So Ioseph went vp to bury his father, and with him went all the seruantes of Pharaoh, bothe the elders of his house and all the elders of the land of Egypt.

Likewise all the house of Ioseph, and his brethren, and his fathers house: onely their children, and their shepe, and their cattel left they in the land of Goshen.

And thei went vp with him bothe charers and horsemen: and they were an exceeding great companie.

And they came to Góren Atád, which is beyonde Iordén, and there they made a great and exceeding fore lamentacion: and he mourned for his father seue daies.

And whē the Canaanites the inhabitars of the land sawe the mourning in Góren Atád, they said, This is a great mourning vnto the Egyptians: wherefore the name thereof was called Abél Mizráim, which is beyonde Iordén.

So his sonnes did vnto him according as he had commanded them:

For his sonnes caried him into the land of Canaan, & buried him in the caue of the field of Machpelah, w caue Abraham boght with y field, to be a place to bury in, of Ephron y Hittite besides Mamre.

THE SECONDE BOK E of Moſes, called Exodus.

THE ARGUMENT.

AFTER that Iakōb by Gods commandemēt Gen. 46. 3. had ledged his familie into Egypt, where they remained for the ſpace of foure hundredth yeres, and of ſeuenty perſones grew: to an infinite nombre, ſo that the King and the countrey grudged and ended a loſe by tyrannie and cruel ſlauery to ſuppreſſe them: the Lord according to his promiſe Gen. 15. 14. had compaſſion of his Church & deliuered them, but plagued their enemies in moſt ſtrage and ſondry ſortes. And the more that the tyrannie of the wicked enaged againſt his Church, the more did his heavy iudgements increaſe againſt them, til Pharaoh & his armie were drowned in the ſiue Sea, which gaue an entrie and paſſage to the childre of God.
But as the ingratitude of man is great, ſo did they immediately forget Gods wofull benefices: & alen he had giuen them the Paſſ-over to be a ſigne & memorial of the ſiue, yet they ſe to diſtruſt, & tempted God with ſondry murmuring and grudging againſt him and his miniſters, ſometime moued with ambitiō, ſometime for lacke of drinke or meate to cōtem their liſt: ſometime by idolatrie, or ſuche like. Wherefore God viſited them with ſtraps, rodde and plagues that by his correchons they might ſeke to him for remedy againſt his ſcawges & earnestly repent them for their rebellio. & wickedneſſe. And becauſe God loved them to the end, whome he hath once begone to loue, he puniſhed them not according to their deſerues, but dealt with them in great mercies, and euer with newe benefices labored to overcome their malice:
for he ſtil governed them and gaue them his worde & Law, lothe cōcerning the maner of ſeruing him, & alſo the forme of iudgements and ciuil policies: to the intent that they ſhulde not ſerue God after their owne inventions, but according to that ordre, which his heauenlie wiſdome had appointed.

CHAP. I.

people of the children of Israel are greater and mightier than we.

10 Come, let vs worke wisely with the, lest they multiplie, and it come to passe, that if there be warre, they ioyne them selues also vnto our enemies, & fight against vs, and get them out of the land.

d Into Canaan, and to we shall looke out commoditie.

e Or, come and prouision.

f The more that God blest him, the more dooth the wicked auerit them.

g For, whereas they feared the felues of them by exile.

h These seeme to haue bene the chief of the rest.

i Or, better where you may see it.

k Their disobedience herein was lawfull, but their dissembling euill.

l That is, God increased the families of the Israelites by their means. i When tyrants can not prouide by craft, they braue forth into open rage.

m This Levite was called Amran, who married Iochabed, cha 6, 30.

n A. 7, 30. hebr 2, 23.

Therefore did they set taskmasters ouer them, to keepe them vnder with burdens: and they buyt the cities Pithom & Raamses for the treasures of Pharaoh.

12 But the more they vexed them, the more they multiplied and grew: therefore they were more grieved against the children of Israel.

13 Wherefore the Egyptians by crueltie caused the children of Israel to serue.

14 Thus they made them weary of their liues by sore labour in claye and in bricke, and in all worke in the field, with all manner of bondage, which they laied vpon them moste cruelly.

15 Moreover the King of Egypt commanded the midwives of the Ebrewes women, (of which the ones name was Shiphrâh, and the name of the other Puah)

16 And said, When ye do the office of a midwife to the women of the Ebrewes & se them on their stolles, if it be a sonne, the ye shall kil him: but if it be a daughter, then let her liue.

17 Notwithstanding the midwives feared God, & did not as the King of Egypt commanded them, but preserved aliue the me children.

18 Then the King of Egypt called for the midwives, & said vnto the, Why haue ye done thus, and haue preserved aliue the men children?

19 And the midwives answered Pharaoh, Because the Ebrewes women are not as the women of Egypt: for they are liuelie, and are deliuered yer y midwife come at the.

20 God therefore prospered the midwives, and the people multiplied & were very mightie.

21 And because the midwives feared God, therefore he made them houses.

22 Then Pharaoh charged all his people, saying, Euerie man childe that is borne, i cast ye into the riuer, but reserue euerie maidchilde aliue.

CHAP. II.

2 Moses is borne and cast into the flagger. 3 He is taken up of Pharaohs daughter & kept. 12 He killeth the Egyptian. 15 He sleeth and marieth a wife. 23 The Israelites crye vnto the Lord.

1 Then there went a man of the house of Leui, & toke to wife a daughter of Leui,

2 And the woman conceived & bare a sonne: & when she sawe that he was faire, she hid him three moneths.

But when she colde no longer hide him, she toke for him an arke made of reede, and daubed it w slime & with pitch, & laide the childe therein, & put it among y bulrushes by the riuer brinke.

4 Now his sister stode a far of, to wit what wolde come of him.

5 Then the daughter of Pharaoh came downe to wash her in the riuer, and her maidens walked by the riuers side: & when she sawe the arke among the bulrushes, she sent her maid to fet it.

7 Then she opened it, and sawe it was a childe: and beholde, the babe wept: so she had compassion on it, and said, This is one of the Ebrewes children.

7 The said his sister vnto Pharaohs daughter, Shall I go & call vnto thee a nurse of the Ebrewes womē to nurse thee y childe?

8 And Pharaohs daughter said to her, Go. So the maid went and called the chilles mother.

9 To whome Pharaohs daughter said, Take this childe away, and nurse it for me, & I wil rewarde thee. The woman toke the childe and nursed him

10 Now the childe grew, and she brought him vnto Pharaohs daughter, & he was as her sonne, and she called his name Moses, because, said she, I drew him out of the water.

11 And in those dayes, when Moses was growē, he went forth vnto his brethre, and looked on their burdens: also he sawe an Egyptiā smiting an Ebrewe one of his brethren.

12 And he looked rounde about, & when he sawe no man, he slew the Egyptian, and hid him in the sand.

13 Again he came forth the seconde day, and beholde, two Ebrewes stroue: and he said vnto him that did the wrōg, Wherefore smitest thou thy fellowe?

14 And he answered, Who made thee a mā of autoritie & a iudge ouer vs? Thinkest thou to kil me, as thou killedest the Egyptian? Then Moses feared and said, Certainly this thing is knowen.

15 Now Pharaoh heard this matter, and sought to slay Moses: therefore Moses fled from Pharaoh, & dwelt in the lād of Midian, and he sate downe by a well.

16 And y Priest of Midian had seue daughters, which came and drew water, and filled the troghes, for to watter their fathers shepe.

17 Then the sheperdes came and droue them away: but Moses rose vp & defended them, and wattered their shepe.

18 And when they came to Reuel their father, he said, How are ye come so sone to day?

CHAP. III.

Moses kept shepe, and God appeareth vnto him in a bush. 10 He sendeth him to deliuer the children of Israel. 14 The name of God. 16 God teacheth him what to do.

WHen Moses kept the shepe of Ie-thro his father in lawe, Priest of Midian, & droue the flocke to the <sup>a</sup> backe side of the desert, and came to the <sup>a</sup> Mo-untaine of God, <sup>b</sup> Horeb,

2 Then the Angel of the Lord appeared
vnto him in a flame of fyre, out of the middles of a <sup>a</sup> bush: & he looked, & beholde-
the bush burned with fyre, and the bush was not consumed.

3 Therefore Moses said, I wil turne aside
now, & se this great sight, why the bush burneth not.

4 And when the <sup>a</sup> Lord saw that he turned aside to se, God called vnto him out of the middes of the bush, and said, Moses,
Moses. And he answered, I am here.

5 Then he said, Come not hither, <sup>a</sup> put thy shoes of thy fete: for the place whereon
thou standest is <sup>a</sup> holy grounde.

6 Moreouer he said, * I am the God of thy father, the God of Abraham, the God of Izhak, & the God of Iaakōb. Then Moses hid his face: for he was <sup>a</sup> afraid to loke vpon God.

7 ¶ Then the Lord said, I haue surely sene
the trouble of my people, which are in Egypt, & haue heard their crye, because of their <sup>a</sup> taskmasters: for I knowe their sorowes.

8 Therefore I am come downe to deliuer
them out of the hand of the Egyptians,
and to bring them out of that land into a good lād & a large, into a lād that floweth with milke & hony, <sup>a</sup> into the place of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, &
the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hiuites, and the Iebusites.

9 * And now lo, the crye of the children of Israël is come vnto me, and I haue also sene the oppresſion, wherewith the Egyptians oppresse them.

10 Come now therefore, and I wil send thee vnto Pharaoh, that thou maiest brig-
my people the children of Israël out of Egypt.

11 ¶ But Moses said vnto God, Who am I,
that I shulde go vnto Pharaoh, and that I shulde bring the children of Israël out
of Egypt?

12 And he answered, <sup>a</sup> Certainly I wil be
with thee: & this shalbe a token vnto thee,
that I haue ſer thee: After that thou haſt brought the people out of Egypt, yē shal
serue God vpon this Mountaine.

13 Then Moses said vnto God, Beholde, when I shal come vnto the children of Israel, and shal say vnto them, The God of your fathers hath sent me vnto you: if thei say vnto me, What is his Name? what answere shal I giue them?

14 And God answered Moses, <sup>a</sup> I AM
THAT I AM. Also he said, Thus shalt thou say vnto the children of Israël,
I AM hath sent me vnto you.

15 And God spake further vnto Moses,
Thus shalt thou say vnto the children of Israēl, The Lord God of your fathers,
the God of Abraham, the God of Izhak,
and the God of Iaakōb hath sent me vn-
to you: this is my Name for euer, & this is my memorial vnto all ages.

16 Go and gather the Elders of Israël together, & thou shalt say vnto them, The Lord God of your fathers, yē God of A-brahām, Izhak, & Iaakōb appeared vnto
me, & said, I haue surely remēbred you,
& that which is done to you in Egypt.

17 Therefore I did say, I wil bring you out of the affliction of Egypt vnto the land of the Canaanites, and the Hittites,
and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, &
the Hiuites, and the Iebusites, vnto a land
that floweth with milke and hony.

18 Then shal thei obeye thy voyce, & thou and the Elders of Israël shal go vnto the King of Egypt, and saie vnto him, The Lord God of the Ebrewes hath met w<sup>a</sup>
vs: we pray thee now therfore, let vs go thre dayes journey in the wilderness, that we may <sup>a</sup> sacrifice vnto yē Lord our God.

19 ¶ But I knowe, that the King of Egypt
wil not let you go, but by strong hand.

20 Therefore wil I stretch out mine hād
and smite Egypt with all my wonders, w<sup>a</sup>
I wil do in the middes thereof: and after
that shal he let you go.

21 And I wil make this people to be fauo-

ye shal not go empty.

Then Moses answered, and said, But lo, thei wil not beleue me, nor hear-

Lord hath not appeared vnto thee.

2 And the Lord said vnto him, What is
y in thine hād? And he answered, A rod.
3 Then said he, Cast it on the grounde. So he cast it on the grounde, and it was turned into a serpent: and Moses fled from it.

4 Again the Lord said vnto Moses, Put forthe thine hād, and take it by the taile.
Then he put forthe his hand and caught
it, and it was turned into a rod in his hand.

to worke mi-

5 Do this, that thei may beleue, that the

Abraham, the God of Izhak, & the God
of Iakob hath appeared vnto thee.

6 And the Lord said furthermore vnto
him, Thrust now thine hand into thy bo-

his bosome againe, & pluckt it out of his bosome, and beholde, it was turned agai-

signes, nether obey vnto thy voyce, then shalt thou take of the water of the ri-

the water which thou shalt take out of the riuer, shalbe turned to blood vpon the drye land.

13 But he said, Oh my Lord, send, I pray

thee, by the hand of him, whome y shal

14 Then the Lord was very angry with Moses, and said, Do not I knowe Aaron thy brother the Leuite, that he him selfe
shal speake for lo, he cometh also forth to mete thee, and when he seeth thee, he wilbe glad in his heart.

15 Therefore thou shalt speake vnto him, & put these wordes in his mouth, and I
wilbe with thy mouth, and w his mouth,
and wil teache you what ye ought to do.

16 And he shalbe thy spokesman vnto the people: he shalbe, euen he shalbe as thy mouth, & thou shalt be to him as God.
17 Moreouer y shalt take this rod in thine
hand, wherewith thou shalt do miracles.

18 ¶ Therefore Moses went and returned to Iethro his father in lawe, & said vnto
him, I pray thee, let me go, and returne
to my brethren, which are in Egypt, and se whether thei be yet alieue. Then Iethro said to Moses, Go in peace.

19 (For the Lord had said vnto Moses in Midian, Go, returne to Egypt: for thei
are all dead which went about to kil thee)

20 Then Moses toke his wife, and his son-nes, and put them on an asse, and returned towarde the land of Egypt, & Moses
toke the rod of God in his hand.

21 And the Lord said vnto Moses, When thou art entred and come into Egypt again, se that thou do all the wonders before Pharaoh, which I haue put in thine hand: but I wil harden his heart, and he
shal not let the people go.

22 Then thou shalt say to Pharaoh, Thus saith the Lord, Israel is my sonne, euen my first borne.

23 Wherefore I say to thee, Let my sonne go, that he may serue me: if thou refuse to let him go, beholde, I wil slay thy sonne,
euen thy first borne.

24 And as he was by the way in the ynne,
the Lord met him, and wolde haue killed him.

25 Then Zipporah toke a sharpe knife, and cut away the fore skynne of her sonne, and cast it at his fete, and said, Thou art in-dede a bloodie housband vnto me.

26 So he departed fro him. Then she said,
O bloodie housband (because of the cir-

27 ¶ Then the Lord said vnto Aaron, Go and met him in the Mount of God, and kissed him.

28 Then Moses tolde Aaron all the wordes
of the Lord, who had sent him, and all the Lord had spoken vnto Moses, and he did the miracles in the sight of the people,

And the people beleued, and when they heard that the Lord had visited his children of Israel, and had looked vpon their tribulatio, they bowed downe, & worshipped.

CHAP. V.

Moses and Aaron do their message to Pharaoh, who letteth not the people of Israel departe but oppresseth them more and more. So they crye out vpon Moses & Aaron therefore, and Moses complaineth to God.

Then afterward Moses & Aaron went & said to Pharaoh, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Let my people go, that they maie celebrate a feast vnto me in the wilderness.

And Pharaoh said, Who is the Lord, y I shulde heare his voyce, & let Israel go? I knowe not the Lord, nether wil I let Israel go.

And they said, We wotshipp the God of the Ebrewes: we pray thee, suffre vs to go three daies iournei in the desert and to sacrifice vnto the Lord our God, lest he bring vpon vs the pestilence or sworde.

The King of Egypt vnto them, Moses and Aaron, why cause ye the people to cease from their workes: get you to your burdens.

Pharaoh said furthermore, Beholde, much people is now in the land, & ye make them leaue their burdens.

Therefore Pharaoh gaue commendement the same day vnto the talkemasters of the people, and to their officers, saying,

Ye shal giue the people no more strawe, to make bricke: (as in time past) but let them go and gather them strawe themselves.

Notwithstanding lay vpon them the nombre of bricke, which they made in time past, diminish nothing thereof: for they be idle, therefore they crye, saying, Let vs go to offere sacrifice vnto our God.

Lay more worke vpon the men, and cause them to do it, and let them not regarde vaine wordes.

Then went the talkemasters of the people & their officers out, and tolde the people, saying, Thus saith Pharaoh, I wil giue you no more strawe.

Go you selues, get you straw where ye can finde it, yet shal nothing of your labour be diminished.

Then were the people scatred abroad throughout all the land of Egypt, for to gather stubble in steede of straw.

And the talkemasters hastened the saying, Finish your dayes worke: euerie dayes taske, as ye did when ye had straw.

And the officers of the children of Israel, which Pharaohs talkemasters had set

ouer them, were beaten, and demanded, Wherefore haue ye not fulfilled your taske in making bricke yesterday and to day, as in times past?

The officers of the children of Israel came, & cryed vnto Pharaoh, saying, Wherefore dealest thou thus with thy seruants?

There is no straw giuen to thy seruants, and they say vnto vs, Make bricke: and lo, thy seruants are beaten, and thy people is blamed.

But he said, Ye are to muche idle: therefore ye say, Let vs go to offere sacrifice to the Lord.

Go therefore now & worke: for there shal no straw be giuen you, yet shal ye deliuer the whole tale of bricke.

Then the officers of the children of Israel sawe the selues in an euil case, because it was said, Ye shal diminish nothing of your bricke, nor of euerie daies taske.

And they met Moses & Aaron, which stode in their way as they came out from Pharaoh,

To whom they said, The Lord loke vpon you and iudge: for ye haue made our sauour to stinke before Pharaoh, & before his seruants, in that ye haue put a sworde in their hand to slay vs.

Wherefore Moses returned to the Lord, and said, Lord, why hast thou afflicted this people: wherefore hast thou thus sent me?

For since I came to Pharaoh to speake in thy Name, he hath vexed this people, and yet thou hast not deliuered thy people.

CHAP. VI.

God rememeth his promises of the deliuerance of the Israelites. Moses speaketh to the Israelites, but they beleue him not. Moses and Aaron are sent againe to Pharaoh. The genealogie of Reuben, Simon, and Lewis, of whome came Moses and Aaron.

The Lord said vnto Moses, Now shalt thou see, what I wil do vnto Pharaoh: for by a strong hand shal he let them go, and euen be constrained to driue the out of his land.

Moreover God spake vnto Moses, and said vnto him, I am the Lord,

And I appeared vnto Abraham, to Isaac, and to Iacob by the Name of Almighty God: but by my Name Ichouah was I not knowne vnto them.

Furthermore as I made my covenant with them to giue them the land of Canaan, the land of their pilgrimage, wherein they were strangers:

So I haue also heard the groning of the children of Israel, whome the Egyptians kepe in bondage, & haue remembered my covenant.

6 Wherefore say thou vnto the childre of Israël, I am the Lord, and I wil bring you out from the burdens of the Egyptians, and wil deliuer you out of their bondage, and wil redeme you in a stretched out arme, and in great iudgements.

7 Also I wil take you for my people; and wil be your God: then ye shal knowe y I the Lord your God bring you out from y burdens of the Egyptians.

8 And I wil bring you into the land which I sware that I wolde giue to Abraham, to Izhák and to Iaakób; and I wil giue it vnto you for a possession: I am the Lord.

e So hard a thing it is to shewe true obedience vnder the croce.

9 ¶ So Moses tolde the children of Israël thus: but thei hardened; not vnto Moses, for anguish of spirit & for cruel bondage. 10 Then the Lord spake vnto Moses,

11 saying, Go speake to Pharaoh King of Egypt, that he let the children of Israël go out of his land.

12 But Moses spake before y Lord, saying, Beholde, the children of Israël hearken not vnto me, how then shal Pharaoh heare me, which am of <sup>d</sup> vncircumcised lippes?

d Or, barbarous and rude in speache. <sup>e</sup> By this worde (vncircumcised) is signified the whole corruption of mans nature.

13 Then the Lord spake vnto Moses and vnto Aaron, & charged them to go to the children of Israël and to Pharaoh King of Egypt, to bring the children of Israël out of the land of Egypt.

e This genealogie sheweth of iehoua Moses and Aaron came.

14 ¶ These be the e heades of their fathers houses: the sonnes of Reubén the first borne of Israël are Hanóh and Pallú, Hezrón and Carmi: these are the families of Reubén.

Nom. 17. 13.

26 These are Aaron and Moses to whome the Lord said, Bring the childre of Israël out of the land of Egypt, according to their armies.

k For the armies were great, y the might be compared to armies.

27 These are y Moses & Aaron, w spake to Pharaoh King of Egypt, that they might bring the childre of Israël out of Egypt.

28 ¶ And at that time when the Lord spake vnto Moses in the land of Egypt,

CHAP. VII.

3 God hardeneth Pharaohs heart. 10 Moses and Aaron do the miracles of the serpent, and the blood: and Pharaohs seuerers do the like.

1 THÉ the Lord said to Moses, Beholde, I haue made thee Pharaohs God, & Aaron thy brother shal be thy Prophet. Thou shalt speake all that I commanded thee: and Aaron thy brother shal speake vnto Pharaoh, that he suffre the children of Israël to go out of his land.

a I haue the power autoritie to speake in a name and execute iudgements on him. <sup>b</sup> Or, he shal speake for thee Pharaoh.

2 But I wil harden Pharaohs heart, and multiplie my miracles and my wondres in the land of Egypt.

3 And Pharaoh shal not hearké vnto you, that I may lay mine hand vpon Egypt, & bring out mine armies, and my people, the childre of Israël out of the land of Egypt, by great iudgements.

4 Then the Egyptians shal know that I am y Lord, when I stretch forth mine hand vpon Egypt, and bring out the children of Israël from among them.

b To stretch forth against the banishment sharply an opprobrious Church.

5 So Moses and Aaron did as the Lord commanded them, thus so did they.

6 (Now Moses was 40 yere yere olde, & Aaron foure score and thre, when thei spake vnto Pharaoh)

12 For they cast downe euerie man his rod,

14 ¶ The Lord then said vnto Mosés, Pha-

he wil come vnto the water) & thou shalt

16 And thou shalt say vnto him, The Lord
God of y Ebrews hath sent me vnto thee, saying, Let my people go, that they may serue me in the wilderness: & beholde, hitherto thou woldest not heare.

17 Thus saith the Lord, In this thou shalt turned to blood.

18 And the fish that is in the riuer shal dye,
and the riuer shal stinke, & it shal greue y
Egyptiás to drinke of y water of y riuer.

19 ¶ The Lord then spake to Mosés, Say vn-
to Aarón, Take thy rod, & stretch out thine hand ouer the waters of Egypt, ouer
their streames, ouer their riuers, and ouer
their poudes, and ouer all pooles of their waters, and they shalbe blood, and there shalbe blood through out all y land of Egypt, bothe in vessels of wood, & of stone.

20 So Mosés and Aarón did eué as the Lord commanded: * and he lift vp the rod, and smote the water that was in the riuer in y sight of Pharaoh, and in the sight of his seruants: and all the water that was in the riuer, was turned into blood.

21 And the fish that was in the riuer dyed,
and the riuer stanke: so that the Egyptiás
colde not drinke of the water of the riuer:
and there was blood through out all the land of Egypt.

22 ¶ And the enchanterers of Egypt didd like wise w thei: so ceries: & the heart of Pha-araoh was hardened: so y he did not hearken vnto them, as the Lord had said.

23 Then Pharaoh returned, & wēt againe
into his house, * nether did this yet entre into his heart.

24 All y Egyptiás the digged round about
y riuer for waters to drinke: for they col-
de not drinke of the water of the riuer.

25 And thus continued fully seue daies after the Lord had smitten the riuer.

6 Frogs are sent. 13 Mosés praith and they dye. 17
Lye are set, whereby the forcerers acknowledge Gods
power. 24 Egypt is plagued with newform flies. 30 Mosés
praith againe: 32 But Pharaohs heart is hardened.

Afterwaide the Lord said vnto Moses, Go vnto Pharaoh, and tel him, Thus saith the Lord, Let my people go, y
they may serue me:

2 And if thou wilt not let them go, behol-
de, I wil smite all thy countrey with a frog-
ges:

3 And the riuer shal scrall full of frogges,
which shal go vp and come into thine
house: and into thy chambre, where thou sleepest, and vpon thy bed, & into the house of thy seruants, and vpon thy people,
and into thine ouens, and into thy knea-
ding troghes.

4 Yea, the frogges shal climbe vp vpon thee, and on thy people, and vpon all thy seruants.

5 ¶ Also the Lord said vnto Mosés, Say thou vnto Aarón, Stretch thine hand with thy rod vpon the streames, vpon the ri-
uers, and vpon the podes, and cause frog-
ges to come vp vpon the land of Egypt.

6 Then Aarón stretched his had vpon the waters of Egypt, and the frogges came vp, and couered the land of Egypt.

7 And y forcerers did likewise with their forceries, and broght frogges vp vpō the land of Egypt.

8 Then Pharaoh called for Mosés & Aa-rón, & said, Pray ye vnto the Lord that he may take away the frogges from me,
and from my people, & I wil let the people go, that they may do sacrifice vnto
the Lord,

9 And Mosés said vnto Pharaoh, As concerning me, euén commande when I shal
praye for thee, and for thy seruants, and
for thy people, to destroye the frogges frō thee and from thine houses, that they may remaine in the riuer onely.

10 Thé he said, To morowe. And he answered, Be it as y hast said, that thou maist
knowe, that there is none like vnto the Lord our God.

11 So the frogges shal departe frō thee, &
from thine houses, and from thy seruants,
and from thy people: onely they shal re-
maine in the riuer.

12 Then Mosés and Aarón went out from Pharaoh: and Mosés cryed vnto the Lord concerning the frogges, which he had sent vnto Pharaoh.

13 And the Lord did according to the saying of Mosés: so the frogges dyed in the houses, in the townes, & in the fields.

14 And they gathered them together by heapes, and the land stanke of them.

given him, he hardened his heart, and hearkened not vnto them, as the Lord had said.

16 ¶ Again the Lord said vnto Moses, Say vnto Aaron, Stretch out thy rod, & smite the dust of the earth, that it may be turned to lye throughout all the land of Egypt.

17 And they did so: for Aaron stretched out his hand with his rod, and smote the dust of the earth: and lye came vpon man & vpon beast: all the dust of the earth was lye throughout all the land of Egypt.

18 Now the enchanter affaid likewise with their enchantments to bring forth the lye, but they coulde not. so the lye was vpon man and vpon beast.

19 Then said the Lord vnto Moses, This is the finger of God. But Pharaohs heart remained obstinat, and he hearkened not vnto them, as the Lord had said.

20 ¶ Moreover the Lord said to Moses, Rise vp early in the morning, and stand before Pharaoh (so, he wil come forth to the water) & say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Let my people go, that they may serue me.

21 Els, if I will not let my people go, beholde, I will send swarmes of flies bothe vpon thee, & vpon thy seruants, and vpon thy people, & into thine houses: and the houses of the Egyptians shalbe full of swarmes of flies, and the ground also whereon they are.

22 But the land of Goshen, where my people are, wil I cause to be wonderful in that day, so that no swarmes of flies shal be there, that thou maist knowe that I am the Lord in the middes of the earth.

23 And I wil make a deliuerance of my people from thy people: to morowe shal this miracle be.

24 And the Lord did so: for there came great swarmes of flies into the house of Pharaoh, and into his seruants houses, so that through all the land of Egypt the earth was corrupt by the swarmes of flies.

25 Then Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron, & said, Go, do sacrifice vnto your God in this land.

26 But Moses answered, It is not mete to do so: for then we shulde offer vnto the Lord our God that, which is an abomination vnto the Egyptians. Lo, can we sacrifice the abomination of the Egyptians before their eyes, and they not stone vs?

27 Let vs go three daies iourney in the desert, & sacrifice vnto the Lord our God, as he hath commanded vs.

28 And Pharaoh said, I wil let you go, yemay sacrifice vnto the Lord your God in the wilderness: but go not farre away, pray for me.

29 And Moses said, Beholde, I wil go out from thee, and pray vnto the Lord, that the swarmes of flies may departe from Pharaoh, from his seruants, and from his people tomorrow: but let Pharaoh send henceforth a decree no more, in not suffering people to sacrifice vnto the Lord.

30 So Moses went out from Pharaoh and prayed vnto the Lord.

31 And the Lord did according to the saying of Moses, and the swarmes of flies departed from Pharaoh, from his seruants, and from his people, & there remained not one.

32 Yet Pharaoh hardened his heart euen then also, & did not let the people go.

3 Beholde, the hand of the Lord is vpon thy flocke which is in the field: for vpon thy horses, vpon the asses, vpon the camels, vpon the cattel, & vpon the shepe shalbe a mighty great moraine.

4 And the Lord shal do a wonderfully betwene the beasts of Israel, and the beasts of Egypt: so that there shal nothing dye of alky perueineth to the childre of Israel.

5 And the Lord appointed a time, saying, Tomorrow the Lord shal finish this thing in this land.

6 So the Lord did it on the morowe, & all the cattel of Egypt dyed: but of the cattel of the children of Israel dyed not one.

7 Then Pharaoh sent, and beholde, there was not one of the cattel of the Israelites dead: and the heart of Pharaoh was obstinat, and he did not let the people go.

Lord God of y<sup>e</sup> Ebrewes, Let my people

24 For I wil at this time send all my pla-

the earth.

25 For now I wil stretche out mine hand,
that I may smite thee & thy people with the pestilence: & thou shalt perish from
the earth.

26 And in dede, for this cause haue I appointed thee, to shewe my power in thee,
& to declare my Name throughout all the world.

27 Yet thou exaltest thy selfe against my people, and lettest them not go.

28 Beholde, tomorrow this time I wil cause to raine a mightie great haile, suche as was not in Egypt since the fundatio<sup>n</sup> thereof was laid vnto this time.

29 Send therefore now, and gather thy cattel, and all that thou hast in the field:
for vpon all the men, & the beastes, which are founde in the field, and not brought home, the haile shall fall vpon them and they shall dye.

30 Suche then as feared the worde of the Lord among the seruantes of Pharaoh,
made his seruants & his cattel flee into
the houses:

31 But suche as regarded not the worde
of the Lord, left his seruants, and his cat-
tel in the field.

32 ¶ And the Lord said to Moses, Stretche
forth thine hand toward heauen, that there may be haile in all the land of Egypt,
vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon all y<sup>e</sup>
herbes of the field in the land of Egypt.

33 Then Moses stretched out his rod toward heauen, and the Lord sent thundre &
haile, and lightning vpon the ground:
and the Lord caused haile to raine vpon
the land of Egypt.

34 So there was haile, & fire mingled with the haile, so grievous, as there was none
throughout all the land of Egypt, since it was a nation.

35 And the haile smote throughout all the lad of Egypt all that was in y<sup>e</sup> field, bothe
man and beaste: also the haile smote all y<sup>e</sup> herbes of the field, and brake to pieces all
the trees of the field.

36 Onely in the land of Goshen (where the children of Israel were) was no haile.

37 Then Pharaoh sent and called for Moses and Aarōn, and said vnto them, I haue now sinned: the Lord is righteous, but I and my people are wicked.

28 Pray ye vnto y<sup>e</sup> Lord (for it is ynough)
that there be no more mightie thunders & haile, and I wil let you go, and ye shall
tary no longer.

29 Then Moses said vnto him, Asone as I am out of y<sup>e</sup> citie, I wil spcade mine han-des vnto the Lord, and the thunder shall cease, nether shall there be any more haile,
that thou maiest know that the earth is the Lords.

30 Now I knowe that thou, and thy seruantes feare the Lord God, before I pray.

31 (And the flaxe, and the barley were smitten: for the barley was eared, and the flaxe
was bolled.)

32 But the wheat & the rye were not smitten, for they were hid in the grounde)

33 Then Moses went out of the citie from Pharaoh & spred his hands to the Lord,
and the thundre and the haile ceased, ne-
ther rained it vpon the earth.

34 And when Pharaoh saw that the raine
and the haile and the thundre were ceased, he sinned againe; and hardened his heart bothe he, and his seruants.

35 So the heart of Pharaoh was hardened:
nether wolde he let the children of Israel
go, as the Lord had said by Moses.

CHAP. X.

confesseth his sinne. 22 Darcenes is sent. 28 Pharaoh

¶ Gain the Lord said vnto Moses, Go

his heart, & the heart of his seruants, that I might worke these my miracles in the middles of his realme.

2 And that thou maiest declare in the ea-
res of thy sonne, and of thy sonnes sonne,
what things I haue done in Egypt, & my miracles, which I haue done among them: that ye may know that I am the Lord.

3 Then Moses and Aarōn came vnto Pha-

6 And they shal filthine houses, & all thy seruants houses; and the houses of all the Egyptians, as nether thy fathers, nor thy fathers fathers haue sene, since the time they were vpon the earth vnto this day. So he returned, and went out from Pharaoh.

Or, suare.
e Meaning, the occasion of all these evils: so are the godlie euil charged, as Elias was by Achab.

7 Then Pharaohs seruants said vnto him, How long shal he be an offence vnto vs? let the men go, that they may serue the Lord their God: wilt thou first knowe y Egypt is destroyed?

8 So Moses and Aaron were brought againe vnto Pharaoh, & he said to them, Go, serue the Lord your God, but who are they that shal go?

9 And Moses answered, We wil go with 5 yong and with our olde, with our sonnes and with our daughters, with our shepe and with our cattel wil we go: for we must celebrate a feast vnto the Lord.

d That is, I wolde y Lord were no more affectioned toward you, the I am minded to let you go

10 And he said vnto them, Let the Lord so be with you, as I wil let you go and your children beholde, for euil is before your face.

11 It shal not be so: now go ye that are me, and serue the Lord: for that was your desire. Then they were thrust out from Pharaohs presence.

12 ¶ After y Lord said vnto Moses, Stretch out thine hand vpon the land of Egypt for the gresfhoppers, that they may come vpon the land of Egypt; and eat all the herbes of the land, even all that the haile hath left.

13 Then Moses stretched forth his rod vpon the land of Egypt: and the Lord brought an East winde vpon the land all that day, and all that night: and in the morning y East winde brought the gresfhoppers.

14 So the gresfhoppers went vp vpon all the land of Egypt, and remained in all quarters of Egypt: so grievous gresfhoppers, like to thos that were neuer before, nether after them shal be sucher.

Or, he causeth it to remaine.

15 For they couered all the face of y earth, so that the land was darcke: and they did eat all the herbes of the land, and all the frutes of the trees, which y haile had left, so y there was no grene thing left vpon the trees, nor among y herbes of the field throughout all the land of Egypt.

f The wicked in their misdeeds seke to Gods ministers for helpe, albeir they hate & detest the.

16 Therefore Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron in haste, and said, I haue sinned against the Lord your God, and against you.

17 And nowe forgiue me my sinne onely this once, and pray vnto the Lord your God: that he may take away from me this death onely.

18 Moses then went out from Pharaoh, and praied vnto the Lord.

19 And the Lord turned a mightie strong West winde, and toke away the gresfhoppers, and violently cast the into the Red Sea, so that there remained not one gresfhopper in all the coast of Egypt.

23 For the Lord wil passe by to smite the Egyptians: and when he seeth the blood vpon the lintel & on the two dore chekes, the Lord wil passe ouer the dore, & wil not suffice the <sup>1</sup> destroyer to come into your houses to plague you.

24 Therefore shal ye obserue this thing as an ordinance <sup>bothe</sup> for thee and thy sonnes for euer.

25 And when ye shal come into the <sup>m</sup> land, which the Lord wil giue you, as he hathe promised, then ye shal kepe this <sup>seruice</sup>.

26 *And whē your children aske you, What seruice is this ye kepe?

27 Then ye shal say, It is the sacrifice of the Lords Passeouer, which passed ouer the houses of the children of Israël in Egypt, when he smote the Egyptians, and preferred our houses. Then the people <sup>n</sup> bowed them selues, and worshipped.

28 So the children of Israël went, and did as the Lord had commanded Moses and Aaron: so did they.

29 ¶ Now at <sup>n</sup> midnight, the Lord || smote all the firstborne in the lād of Egypt; frō the firstborne of Pharaoh that sat on his throne, vnto the <sup>firstborne</sup> of the captiue that was in prison, and all the firstborne of beastes.

30 And Pharaoh rose vp in the night, he, and all his seruants & all the Egyptians: and there was a great crye in Egypt: for there was <sup>o</sup> no house where there was not one dead.

31 And he called to Moses and to Aaron by night, & said, Rise vp, get you out frō among my people, bothe ye, and the children of Israël, and go serue the Lord as ye haue said.

32 Take also your shepe and your cattel as ye haue said, and departe, and <sup>p</sup> blesse me also.

33 And the Egyptians did force the people, because they wolde send them out of the land in haste: for they said, We dye all.

34 Therefore the people toke their dowe before it was leauened, <sup>euē</sup> their dowe bounde in clothes vpon their shulders.

35 And the children of Israël did according to the saying of Moses, and they asked of the Egyptians <sup>* iewels of siluer & iewels of golde, and raiment.</sup>

36 And the Lord gaue the people fauour in the sight of the Egyptians: and they <sup>grā</sup>ted their request: so they spoiled the Egyptians.

37 Then the * children of Israël toke their journey from ¶ Ramesses to Succoth about six hundred thousand men of fote, beside children.

38 And a great multitude of sundry sortes of people went out with them, and

shepe, and beues, & cattel in great abundance.

39 And they baked the dowe which they brought out of Egypt, & made vnleavened cakes: for it was not leauened, because they were thrust out of Egypt, nether colde they tary, nor yet prepare them selues vi-tailes.

40 ¶ So the dwelling of the childre of Israel, while they dwelled in Egypt, was * foure hundred and thirty yerres.

41 And when the <sup>four</sup> hundredeth & thirty yerres were expired, euē the selfe same day departed all the hostes of the Lord out of the land of Egypt.

42 It is a night to be kept <sup>holy</sup> to the Lord, because he brought them out of the land of Egypt: this is that night of the Lord, which all the childre of Israël must kepe throughout their generacions.

43 Also the Lord said vnto Moses and Aaron, This is the lawe of the Passeouer: <sup>n</sup> no stranger shal eat thereof.

44 But euerie seruāt that is bought for money, when thou hast circūcised him, then shal he eat thereof.

45 A stranger or an hyred seruāt shal not eat thereof.

46 *In one house shal it be eatē: thou shalt cary none of the flesh out of the house, <sup>n</sup>ether shal ye breake a bone thereof.

47 All the Cōgregacion of Israël shal obserue it.

48 But if a stranger dwel with thee, & wil obserue the Passeouer of ¶ the Lord, let him circūcise all the males, that belong vnto him, and then let him come and obserue it, and he shalbe as one that is borne in the land: for none vncircūcised persone shal eat thereof.

49 One <sup>n</sup> law shalbe to him that is borne in the land, & to the stranger that dwelleth among you.

50 Then all the children of Israël did as the Lord commanded Moses and Aaron: so did they.

51 And the selfe same day did the Lord bring the children of Israël out of the land of Egypt by their armies.

out of Egypt, out of the house of bondage: for by a mightie hand the Lord brought you out from thence: therefore no leauened bread shall be eaten.

¶ Now when the Lord hath brought thee into the land of the Canaanites, and Hittites, and Amorites, and Hivites, and Jebusites (which he sware vnto thy fathers, that he wolde giue thee, a land flowing with milke and hony) the thou shalt kepe this seruice in this moneth.

¶ Seven daies shalt thou eat vnleauened bread, & the seventh day shall be the feast of the Lord.

¶ Vnleauened bread shall be eaten seven daies, & there shall no leauened bread be ſene with thee, nor yet leaue be ſene with thee in all thy quarters.

¶ And thou shalt shewe thy sonne in y day, ſaying, This is done, because of that which the Lord did vnto me, when I came out of Egypt.

¶ And it shall be a ſigne vnto thee & vpon thine hand, & for a remembrance betwene thine eyes, that the Lawe of the Lord may be in thy mouth: for by a ſtrong hand the Lord brought thee out of Egypt.

¶ And when the Lord shall bring thee into the land of the Canaanites, as he ſware vnto thee and to thy fathers, & shall giue it thee,

* Then y shalt ſet a parte vnto the Lord all that ſt openeth the wombe: alſo euerie thing that ſt doeth open the wombe, & cometh forth of thy beaſt: the males shall be the Lords.

¶ But euerie ſt ſole of an aſſe, y shalt redeme with a lambe: and if thou redeme him not, then thou shalt breake his necke: likewise all the ſt borne of man among thy ſonnes shalt thou bye out.

¶ For when Pharaoh was hard hearted againſt our departing, the Lord the ſlew all the firſt borne in the lad of Egypt: fro the firſt borne of man euē to the firſt borne of beaſt: therefore I ſacrifice vnto y Lord all the males that ſt open the wōbe, but all the firſt borne of my ſonnes I redeme.

¶ And it shall be as a token vpon thine hand, & as a ſtoutelets betwene thine eyes, that the Lord brought vs out of Egypt by a mightie hand.

¶ Now when Pharaoh had let the people go, God caried the not by the way of the

Philistims country, though it were nearer (for God ſaid, Leſt y people repent when thei ſe warre, & turne againe to Egypt)

¶ But God made the people to go about by y way of the wildernes of the red Sea: and the children of Iſraél went vp & armed out of the land of Egypt.

¶ (And Moſes toke the bones of Ioseph with him: for he had made the childre of Iſraél ſweare, ſaying, * God wil ſurely viſite you, and ye ſhall take my bones away hence with you)

* And the Lord went before thei by day in a pillar of a cloude to leade them the way, & by night in a pillar of fyre to giue them light, that thei might go bothe by day and by night.

* He toke not away the pillar of the cloude by day, nor the pillar of fyre by night from before the people.

CHAP. XIII.

¶ Pharaohs heart is hardened, and purſueth the Iſraelites. ¶ The Iſraelites ſtriken with ſcare murmure againſt Moſes. ¶ He deuileth the Sea. ¶ The Egyptians followe and are drowned.

¶ Then the Lord ſpake vnto Moſes, ſaying,

¶ And I wil harden Pharaohs heart that he ſhall follow after you: ſo I wil get me honour vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his hoſte: the Egyptians alſo ſhall knowe that I am the Lord: and thei ſhall do ſo.

¶ Then it was tolde the King of Egypt, that the people fled: & the heart of Pharaoh & of his ſeruants was turned againſt the people, and they ſaid, Why haue we this done, & haue let Iſraél go out of our ſeruice?

¶ (For the Lord had hardened the heart of Pharaoh King of Egypt, and he followed after the children of Iſraél: but the children of Iſraél went out with an hye had)

12 Did not we tel thee this thing in Egypt, saying, Let vs be in rest, that we may serue the Egyptians: for it had bene better for vs to serue the Egyptians, the that we shulde dye in the wildernes.

13 Then Moses said to the people, Feare ye not, stand still, and beholde the saluacion of the Lord which he wil shewe to you this day. For the Egyptians, whome ye haue sene this day, ye shal neuer se them againe.

14 The Lord shal fight for you: therefore holde you your peace.

15 And the Lord said vnto Moses, Wherefore cryest thou vnto me? speake vnto the children of Israel that they go forward:

16 And lift thou vp thy rod, & stretch out thine hand vpon the Sea & deuide it, and let the childre of Israel go on drye groude through the middes of the Sea.

17 And I beholde I wil harden the heart of the Egyptians that thei may followe the, and I wil get me honour vpon Pharaoh, & vpon all his hoste, vpon his charets, & vpon his horsemen.

21 And Miriām answered the men, Sing ye

22 Then Mofes broght Israel from the red

8 Then Mofés tolde his father in law all that the Lord had done vnto Pharaóh, & to the Egyptians for Israels sake, and all the trauaile that had come vnto them by the way, and how the Lord deliuered the.

9 And Iethró reioyced at all the goodnes, which the Lord had shewed to Israël, and because he had deliuered them out of the hand of the Egyptians.

10 Therefore Iethró said, <sup>d</sup> Blessed be the Lord who hath deliuered you out of the hád of y Egyptians, and out of y hand of Pharaóh: who hath also deliuered the people from vnder the hand of the Egyptians.

11 Now I knowe that the Lord is greater then all the gods: * for as they haue dealt proudly with them, so are they <sup>e</sup> recom-pens'd.

12 Then Iethró Mofés father in law toke burnt offrings and sacrifices to offre vnto God. And Aaron and all the Elders of Israël came to eat bread with Mofés father in law <sup>f</sup> before God.

13 ¶ Now on the morowe, when Mofés sate to iudge the people, the people stode aboute Mofés from morning vnto euen.

14 And when Mofés father in lawe sawe all that he did to the people, he said, What is this that thou doest to the people? why sitest thou thy selfe alone, and all the people stand about thee from morning vnto euen?

15 And Mofés said vnto his father in lawe, Because the people come vnto me to seke <sup>g</sup> God.

16 Whē they haue a matter, they come vnto me, and I iudge betwene one and another, and declare the ordinances of God, and his lawes.

17 But Mofés father in law said vnto him, The thing, which thou doest, is not wel.

18 Thou bothe<sup>h</sup> weariest thy selfe greatly, & this people that is w<sup>i</sup> thee: for the thing is to heauie for thee: thou art not able to do it thy selfe alone.

19 * Heare now my<sup>i</sup> voyce, ( I wil giue thee counsell, and God shalbe with thee) be thou for the people to <sup>j</sup> Godwarde, & reporte thou the causes vnto God,

20 And admonish them of the ordinances, and of the lawes, & shewe them the way, wherein they must walke, & the worke y they must do.

21 Moreover prouide thou among all the people: men of courage, fearing God, men dealing truely, hating couetousnes: and appoint <sup>k</sup> suche ouer them to be rulers ouer thousandes, rulers ouer hundredes, rulers ouer fifties, and rulers ouer tens.

22 And let them iudge the people at all seasons: but euerie great matter let the bring vnto thee, & let them iudge all smale causes: so shal it be easier for thee, when they shal beare the burden with thee.

23 If thou do this thing, (and God <sup>l</sup> so commañde thee) bothe thou shalt be able to endure, & all this people shal also go quietly to their place.

24 So Mofés<sup>m</sup> obeyed y voyce of his father in lawe, and did all that he had said:

25 And Mofés chose men of courage out of all Israël, and made them heades ouer the people, rulers ouer thousandes, rulers ouer hundredes, rulers ouer fifties, and rulers ouer tens.

26 And they iudged the people at all seasons, but they brought the hard causes vnto Mofés: for they iudged all smale matters them selues.

27 Afterward Mofés<sup>n</sup> let his father in lawe departe, and he went into his contrey.

Go to the people, and sanctifie them to

And let the be ready on the third daie:
for the third daie the Lord wil come
downe in the sight of all the people vpon
mount Sinai:

And thou shalt set markes vnto the people rounde about, saying, Take hede to your felues that ye go not vp to the mouit,
nor touche the bordre of it: whosoever
toucheth the mount, shal surely dye.

No hand shal touche it, but he shal be stoned to death, or stricken through with dartes: whether it be beast or man, he shal
not liue: when the home bloweth long,
thei shal come vp into the mountaine.

Then Moses went downe from the mount vnto the people, & sanctified the people, and thei washed their clothes.

And he said vnto the people, Be ready
on the third daie, and come not at your wiues.

And the third daie, whe it was morning;
there was thunders & lightnings, & a thicke cloude vpon the mount, & the sound of the trumpet exceding loude, so that all the people, that was in the campe, was afraid.

Then Moses broght the people out of the tents to mete with God, & thei stode
in the nether part of the mount.

* And mount Sinai was all on smoke, because the Lord came downe vpon it in fire, and the smoke thereof ascended, as the smoke of a fornace, and all the mount trembled exceedingly.

And when the sound of the trüpet blew
long, and waxed louder and louder, Moses spake, and God answered him by voyce.

(For the Lord came downe vpon mouit Sinai on the top of the mount) and whe
the Lord called Moses vp into the top of the mount, Moses went vp.

Then the Lord said vnto Moses, Go
downe, charge y people, that thei breake
not their boundes, to go vp to the Lord to gaze,
lest manie of them perish.

And let the Priests also which come to the Lord be sanctified, lest the Lord de-stroye them.

And Moses said vnto the Lord, The people can not come vp into the mount Sinai: for thou hast charged vs, sayings, Set markes on the mountaine, & sanctifie it.

And the Lord said vnto him, Go, get thee downe, and come vp, thou, & Aaron with thee: but let not the Priests & the people breake their boundes to come vp vn-
to the Lord, lest he destroye them.

So Moses went downe vnto the people,
and tolde them.

And shewing mercie vnto thousandes

* For in six daies the Lord made the hea-

them is, & rested the seuenth daie: there-

¶ Thou shalt take no gift: for the gift blindeth the wise, & peruerteth his wordes of the righteous.

¶ Thou shalt not oppresse a stranger: for ye knowe the heart of a stranger, scing ye were strangers in the land of Egypt.

¶ But the seuenth yere thou shalt let it rest and lye still, that the poore of thy people may eat, and what they leaue, the beastes of the field shal eat. In like maner thou shalt do with thy vineyarde, & with thine oliue trees.

¶ Six daies thou shalt do thy worke, and in the seuenth day thou shalt rest, that thine ox, and thine asse may rest, & the sonne of thy maid, and the stranger may be refreshed.

¶ Thou shalt kepe the feast of vnleavened bread: thou shalt eat vnleavened bread seuen daies, as I commanded thee, in the season of the moneth of Abib: for in it thou camest out of Egypt: & none shal appeare before me emptye.

¶ Beholde, I send an Angel before thee, to kepe thee in the way, and to bring thee to the place which I haue prepared.

¶ Beware of him, and heare his voyce, & spooke him not: for he wil not spare your misdedes, because my Name is in him.

¶ But if thou hearken vnto his voyce, and do all that I speake, then I wil be an enemy vnto thine enemies, and wil afflict them that afflict thee.

¶ For mine Angel shal go before thee, and bring thee vnto the Amorites, & the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Canaanites, the Hiuities, and the Iebussites, and I wil destroye them.

¶ Thou shalt not bowe downe to their gods, nether serue them, nor do after the workes of thee: but utterly ouerthrowe them, and breake in pieces their images.

¶ For ye shal serue the Lord your God, & he shal blesse thy bread and thy water, & I wil take all sickness away fro the middes of thee.

¶ There shal none cast their frute nor be barren in thy land: the nombre of thy dayes wil I fulfil.

¶ I wil send my feare before thee, & wil destroye all the people among whom thou shalt go: and I wil make all thine enemies turne their backs vnto thee.

¶ And I wil send hornets before thee, which shal drie out the Hiuities, the Canaanites, and the Hittites from thy face.

2 And Moses hi selfe alone shal come nere
to the Lord, but they shal not come nere,
nether shal the people go vp with him.

3 ¶ Afterward Moses came and tolde the people all the wordes of the Lord and all the lawes: and all the people answered with one voyce, and said, *All the things which the Lord hath said, wil we do.

4 And Moses wrote all the wordes of the Lord, and rose vp early, and set vp an altar vnder the mountaine, and twelue pillers according to the twelue tribes of Israel.

5 And he sent yong men of the children of Israel, which offered burnt offrings of beues, & sacrificed peace offrings vnto the Lord.

6 The Moses toke halfe of the blood, and put it in basens, and halfe of the blood he sprinkled on the altar.

7 After he toke the boke of the couenant,
and read it in the audience of the people:
who said, All that the Lord hath said, we wil do, and be obedient.

8 Then Moses toke the blood, and sprinkled it on the people, & said, Beholde, the blood of the couenant, which the Lord hath made with you concerning all these things.

9 ¶ Then went vp Moses and Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and seuentie of the Elders
of Israel.

10 And they sawe the God of Israel, and vnder his feet was as it were a worke
of a Saphir stone, & as the verie heauen whē
it is cleare.

11 And vpon the nobles of the children of Israel he laid not his hand: also they sawe
God, and s did eat & drinke.

12 ¶ And the Lord said vnto Moses, Come
vp to me into the mountaine, & be there,
and I wil giue thee tables of stone, and y
Lawe & the commandement, which I haue written, for to teache them.

13 Then Moses rose vp & his minister Io-

14 And said vnto the Elders, Tarie vs here,
vntil we come againe vnto you: & behol-
de, Aaron, and Hur are w you: whoeuer
hathe anie matters, let him come to them.

15 Then Moses went vp to the mount, and
the cloude couered the mountaine,

16 And the glorie of the Lord abode vpon
mount Sinai, & the cloude couered it six
daies: and the seuenth day he called vnto
Moses out of the middes of the cloude.

17 And the sight of the glorie of the Lord
was like consuming fire on the top of the mountaine, in the eyes of the children of Israel.

18 And Moses entred into the middes of
the cloude, & went vp to the mountaine:
& Moses was in the mount fourty dayes

THE CANDELSTICKE.

Because the facion of the candelticke is so plaine & euident, it nedeth not to describe the particular partes thereof according to the ordre of letters. Onely where as it is said in the 34 verse, that there shalbe foure bowles or cuppes in the cādelticke, it must be vnderstād of the shaft or shāke: for there are but thre for euerie one of the other branches. Also the knoppes of the cādelticke are those which are vnder the brāches as they issue out of the shaft on either side.

- 35 And there shalbe a knop vnder two branches made thereof: & a knop vnder two brāches made thereof: and a knop vnder two brāches made thereof according to the six branches comming out of the Candelticke.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The Lord calleth Aaron & his ſonnes to the Priſteſhood. 1. Their garmets 12. 29 Aaron entreth in to the Saſtuarie in the name of the children of Iſrael. 30 Urin and Thummim. 38 Aaron beareth the inquite of the Iſraelites offerings.

And cauſe thou thy brother Aaron
to come vnto thee and his ſonnes with him, from among the children of Iſrael,
that he may ſerue me in the Priests office:
I meane Aaron, Nadab, and Abihú, Eleazar, and Ithamar Aarons ſonnes.

Alſo thou ſhalt make holy garments for Aaron thy brother, a glorious & beautiful.
Therefore thou ſhalt ſpeake vnto all con-
ning me, whome I haue filled with the ſpirite of wiſdome, that they make Aarons garments to beſeuer him, that he may ſerue me in the Priests office.

THE GARMENTS OF THE HIGH PRIEST.

A The Ephod, or vponſt coate, which was like cloth of
golde and was girded vnto him, wherein was the breſt
plate with the twelve ſtones, which was tied about with two cheines to two onyx ſtones and beneath with two laces.

B The robe was next vnder the Ephod, wherunto were joined the pomegranates and belles of golde.

C The tunicle or broyded coate, which was vnder the robe
and longer then it, and was alſo with onyx ſtones.

4 Now theſe ſhalbe the garmets, which thou ſhalt make, a breſt plate, & an Ephod, & a robe, &

a broydred coat, a mitre, & a girdle. so the se holy garmets shal they make for Aaron thy brother, & for his sonnes, that he may serue me in the Priesths office.

5 Therefore they shal take golde, & blew
silke, and purple, & skarlet, & fine linen,

6 ¶ And they shal make the Ephod of golde,
blewe silke, and purple, skarlet, & fine twi
ned linen of broydred worke.

7 The two shulders thereof shalbe ioyned together by their two edges: so shal it be closed.

8 And y<sup>d</sup> embroydred garde of the same Ephod, which shalbe vpō him, shalbe of y<sup>e</sup>
felfe same worke and fuffe, euen of golde,
blewe silke, and purple, & skarlet, and fi ne twined linen.

9 And thou shalt take two onix stones, and
grauē vpon them the names of the chil dren of Israël:

10 Six names of the vpon the one stone, &
the six names that remaine, vpō the secō
de stone, according to<sup>e</sup> their generaciōs.

11 Thou shalt cause to graue y<sup>e</sup> two stones
accordig to the names of y<sup>e</sup> childrē of Is raēl by a grauer of signets, y<sup>e</sup> worketh and graueth in stone, and shalt make them to be set and embossed in golde.

12 And thou shalt put the two stones vpon
the shulders of the Ephod, as stones of re
mēbrance of y<sup>e</sup> children of Israël: for Aa
rōn shal beare their names before y<sup>e</sup> Lord
vpō his two shulders for a remēbrance.

13 So thou shalt make bosses of golde,
at the ende, of wretched worke shalt y<sup>e</sup> make
them, & shalt fasten the wretched cheines
vpon the bosses.

14 ¶ And two cheines of fine golde s
at the ende, of wretched worke shalt y<sup>e</sup> make
them, & shalt fasten the wretched cheines
vpon the bosses.

15 ¶ Also thou shalt make the brest plate of iudgemēt with broydred worke: like the worke of the Ephod shalt thou make it:

16 of golde, blew silke, and purple, & skar
let, & fine twined linen shalt y<sup>e</sup> make it.

17 Four square it shalbe and double, an hand bred long and an hand bred broad.

18 Then thou shalt set it ful of places for stones, euen four rowes of stones: y<sup>e</sup> ordr
shalbe this, a<sup>e</sup> ruby, a topaze, and a carbū
cle in the first rowe.

19 And in the seconde rowe thou shalt set an<sup>e</sup>
emeraude, a saphir, and a<sup>e</sup> diamond.

20 And in y<sup>e</sup> third rowe a turkeis, an achare,
and an hematite.

21 And in the fourte rowe a<sup>e</sup> chrysolite, an onix, and a iasper: and they shalbe set in golde in their embossments.

22 And the stones shalbe according to the names of the childrē of Israël, twelue, ac cording to their names, grauen as signets,
euerie one after his name, & they shalbe
for the twelue tribes.

23 ¶ Then thou shalt make vpon the brest
plate two cheines at the endes of wretched

worke of pure golde.

24 Thou shalt make also vpō the brest plate
two rings of golde, and put the two rings
on<sup>e</sup> the two endes of the brest plate.

25 And thou shalt put the two wretched chei
nes of golde in the two rings in the endes
of the brest plate.

26 And the other two endes of the two wre
then cheines, thou shalt fasten in the two embossments, and shalt put them vpō the shulders of the Ephod on y<sup>e</sup> foreside of it.

27 ¶ Also thou shalt make two rings of golde, which thou shalt put in the two o ther endes of the brest plate, vpon the bor der thereof, toward y<sup>e</sup> inside of y<sup>e</sup> Ephod.

28 And two other rings of golde thou shalt make, & put them on the two sides of the Ephod, beneth in the fore parte of it ouer
against the coupling of it vpon the broy
dred garde of the Ephod.

29 Thus they shal binde the brest plate by his rings vnto the rings of the Ephod, w
a lace of blew silke, that it may be fast
vpon the broydred garde of the Ephod, & y<sup>e</sup>
the brest plate be not losed frō y<sup>e</sup> Ephod.

30 So Aaron shal<sup>e</sup> beare the names of the childrē of Israël in the brest plate of iud gement vpon his heart, when he goeth in to the holy place, for a remēbrance con tinually before the Lord.

31 ¶ Also thou shalt put in the brest plate of iudgement the<sup>e</sup> Vrim & the Thūmim,
w<sup>e</sup> shalbe vpō Aarons heart, whē he goeth
in before the Lord: and Aaron shal beare
the iudgemēt of the children of Israël vp
on his heart before the Lord continually.

32 ¶ And thou shalt make the robe of the E
phod altogether of blew silke.

33 And the hole for his heade shalbe in the middles of it, hauig an edge of wouē wor
ke rounde about y<sup>e</sup> collar of it: so it shalbe
as y<sup>e</sup> collar of an habergeō that it rē not.

34 ¶ And beneth vpon the skirtes thereof
y<sup>e</sup> shalt make pomgranates of blew silke, &
purple, & skarlet, round about the skir
tes thereof and belles of golde betwene them
round about:

35 That is, a golden bel and a pomgranate,
a golden bel and a pomgranate rounde a bout vpon the skirtes of the robe.

36 So it shalbe vpon Aaron, when he mini stere, and his found shalbe heard, when he goeth into the holy place before the Lord, and when he commeth out, and he shal not dye.

37 ¶ Also thou shalt make a plate of pure
golde, & graue therō, as signets are graue,
HOLINES TO THE LORD,

38 And y<sup>e</sup> shalt put it on a blew silke lace,
and it shalbe vpon the mitre: euen vpon y<sup>e</sup>
fore fronte of the mitre shal it be.

39 So it shalbe vpon Aarons forehead, that

CHAP. XXIX.

1 The manner of consecrating the Priests. 38 The continual sacrifice. 45 The Lord promisseth to dwell among
the children of Israël.

1 His thing also shalt thou do vnto the when thou cōsecratest them to be my Priestes. * Take a yong calf, and two rams
without blemish,

2 And vneleauened bread & cakes vneleu-ened tempered with oyle, & wafers vneleu-ened anointed with oyle: (of fine wheat flower shalt thou make them)

3 Thē y shalt put thē in one basket, & a present them in the basket with the calf and
the two rams,

4 And shalt bring Aarōn and his sonnes
vnto the dore of the Tabernacle of y Cō-
gregation, and wash them with water.

5 Also thou shalt take the garments, & put vpon Aarōn the tunicle, and the robe of the Ephod, and the Ephod, and the brest plate, and shalt close them to him with the broydred garde of the Ephod.

6 Then thou shalt put the mitre vpon his head, and shalt put the holy crowne vpon
the mitre.

7 And thou shalt take the anointing oyle,
and shalt powre vpon his head, and anoint him.

8 And thou shalt bring his sonnes, and put
coates vpon them,

9 And shalt girdle them with girdels, bothe
Aarōn & his sonnes: and shalt put the bo-
nests on them, and the Priestes office shal-
be theirs for a perpetual lawe: thou shalt
also fill the hands of Aarōn, and the hāds
of his sonnes.

10 After, thou shalt present the calf before the Tabernacle of the Cōgregation, * and Aarōn and his sonnes shal put their hāds
vpon the head of the calf.

11 So thou shalt kil the calf before y Lord,
at the dore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

12 Then thou shalt take of y blood of the calf, and put it vpon the hornes of the altar with thy finger, and shalt powre all the rest of the blood at the fore of the altar.

13 * Also thou shalt take all the fat that couereth the inwardes, and the kall, that is on the liuer, and the two kidneis, and the fat that is vpon thē, and shalt burne them
vpon the altar.

14 But the flesh of the calf, and his skin, and his doug shalt thou burne with fire with out the holte: it is a sinne offering.

15 ¶ Thou shalt also take one ram, and Aarōn and his sonnes shal put their hands
vpon the head of the ram.

16 Then thou shalt kil the ram, and take his blood, and sprinkle it round about vpon
the altar,

17 And thou shalt cut the ram in pieces, and wash y inwardes of him and his legges, &
shalt put them vpon the pecies thereof, and
vpon his head.

18 So thou shalt burne the whole ram vpon
the altar: for it is a burnt offering vnto the Lord for a swete sauour: it is an offering
made by fire vnto the Lord.

19 ¶ And thou shalt take the other ram, and Aarōn and his sonnes shal put their hands
vpon the head of the ram.

20 Then shalt thou kil the ram, and take of his blood & put it vpon the lap of Aarōs eare, and vpon the lap of the right eare of his sonnes, and vpon the thumbe of their right hand, & vpon the great toe of their right fore, and shalt sprinkle the blood
vpon the altar round about.

21 And thou shalt take of the blood that is
vpon the altar, and of the anointing oyle,
and shalt sprinkle it vpon Aarōn, and vpon
his garments, and vpon his sonnes, and vpon
the garments of his sonnes with him:
so he shalbe halowed, and his clothes, and his sonnes, and the garments of his son-nes with him.

22 Also thou shalt take of the rams y fat &
the rompe, euen the fat that couereth the inwardes, and the kall of the liuer, and the two kidneis, and the fat that is vpon them,
and the right shulder, (for it is the s ram
of consecration)

23 And one loaf of bread, and one cake of bread tempered with oyle, & one wafer, out of y basket of the vneleauened bread that is before the Lord.

24 And thou shalt put all this in the hāds of Aarōn, and in the hāds of his sonnes, and

thalt shake them to and fro before  $\gamma$  Lord.
 25 Again, thou shalt receiue them of their hands, and burne them vpon the altar besides the burnt offering for a swete sauour before the Lord; for this is an offering made by fire vnto the Lord.

26 Likewise thou shalt take the brest of the ram of the consecration, which is for Aaron, and shalt shake it to  $\gamma$  and fro before the Lord, and it shalbe thy parte.

27 And thou shalt sanctifie the brest of the shaken offering, & the shulder of the heauue offering, which was shaken to and fro, & which was heaued vp of the ram of the consecration, which was for Aaron, and which was for his sonnes.

28 And Aaron and his sonnes shal haue it by a statute for euer, of the children of Israel: for it is an heauue offering, and it shalbe an heauue offering of the children of Israel, of their peace offerings, euen their heauue offering to the Lord.

29 And the holy garmets, which apperteyne to Aaron, shalbe his sonnes after him, to be anointed therein, and to be consecrated therein.

30 That sonne that shalbe Priest in his steede, shal put them on seuen dayes, when he cometh into the Tabernacle of the Congregation to minister in the holy place.

31 So thou shalt take the ram of  $\gamma$  consecration, and sethe his flesh in the holy place.
 32 And Aaron and his sonnes shal eat the flesh of the ram, and the bread that is in  $\gamma$  basket, at the dore of the Tabernacle of  $\gamma$  Congregation.

33 So they shal eat these things,  $\gamma$  whereby their atonement was made, to consecrate the, & to sanctifie the: but a stranger shal not eat thereof, because they are holy things.

34 Now if ought of  $\gamma$  flesh of the consecration, or of  $\gamma$  bread remaine vnto the morning, then thou shalt burne the rest with fire: it shal not be eat, because it is an holy thing.

35 Therefore shalt thou do thus vnto Aaron and vnto his sonnes, according to all things, which I haue commanded thee: seuen daies shalt thou consecrate them,

36 And shalt offer euerie day a calf or a sinne offering, for reconciliation: and thou shalt cleanse  $\gamma$  altar, when thou hast offered vpon it for reconciliation; & shalt anoint it, to sanctifie it.

37 Seuen daies shalt thou cleanse the altar, and sanctifie it, so the altar shalbe moste holy: and what soeuer toucheth the altar, shalbe holy.

38 Now this is  $\gamma$  which thou shalt present vpon the altar: euen two labes of one yere olde, day by day continually.

39 The one lambe thou shalt present in the morning, and the other lambe thou shalt present at euen.

40 And with  $\gamma$  one labbe, a tenth parte of fine flour mingled w the fourte parte of an  $\gamma$  Hin of beaten oile, and the fourte parte of an  $\gamma$  Hin of wine, for a drinke offering.

41 And the other lambe  $\gamma$  shalt present at euen: thou shalt do thereto according to the offering of the morning, & according to the drinke offering thereof, to be a burnt offering for a swete sauour vnto the Lord.

42 This shal be a continual burnt offering in your generatiōs at the dore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation before  $\gamma$  Lord, where I wil make appointment with you, to speake there vnto thee.

43 There I wil appoint with the children of Israel, and the place shalbe sanctified by my glorie.

44 And I wil sanctifie the Tabernacle of  $\gamma$  Congregation & the altar: I wil sanctifie also Aaron & his sonnes to be my Priests,

45 And I wil dwell among the children of Israel, and wil be their God.

46 Then shal they knowe that I am  $\gamma$  Lord their God, that brought them out of  $\gamma$  land of Egypt, and which I might dwell among them: I am the Lord their God.

to them, b Plucke of

the golden earrings, which are in the eares
of your wiues, of your sonnes, and of your daughters, and bring them vnto me.

Then all the people pluckte from the selues the golden earrings, which were in their eares, and they brought them vnto Aaron.

* Who receiued them at their hands, and facioned it with the grauing tole, & made of it a molten calf: then they said, * These be thy gods, o Israel, w brought thee out of the land of Egypt.

When Aaron sawe that, he made an altar
before it: and Aaron proclaimed, saying,
To morowe shalbe the holy day of the Lord.

So they rose vp the next day in the morning, and offered burnt offerings, & brought peace offerings: also the people sate them
downe to eat and drinke, and rose vp to playe.

Then the Lord said vnto Moses, * Go,
get thee downe: for thy people which thou hast brought out of the lad of Egypt, haue corrupted their waies.

They are sone turned out of the way,
which I commanded them. for they haue
made them a molten calf, & haue worshipped it, & haue offered thereto, sayig, * These be thy gods, o Israel, which haue broght
thee out of the land of Egypt.

Again the Lord said vnto Moses, * I
haue sene this people, and beholde, it is a stiffe necked people.

* Nowe therefore let me alone, that my wrath may waxe hote against them, for I wil consume them: but I wil make of thee
a mightie people.

* But Moses praied vnto y Lord his God,
and said, O Lord, why doest thy wrath
waxe hote against thy people, which thou hast brought out of the lad of Egypt, with great power and with a mightie hand?

* Wherefore shal the Egyptians speake,
and say, He hath brought them out maliciously for to slay them in the mountaines,
and to consume them from the earth? turne from thy fierce wrath, and change thy minde from this euil toward thy people.

Remembre s Abraham, Izhak, & Israel
thy seruants, to whome thou swarest by thine owne selfe, and saidest vnto them, * I wil multiplie your seds, as the starres of the heauen, and all this land, that I haue spoken of, wil I giue vnto your seds, and they shal inherit it for euer.

Then the Lord changed his minde from the euil, which he threatned to do vnto
his people.

So Moses returned and went downe
from the mountaine with the two Tables
of the Testimonie in his hand: the Tables
were writte on bothe their sides, euen on y

one side & on the other were they written.

And these Tables were the worke of God, and this writing was the writing
of God grauen in the Tables.

And whe Ioshua heard the noife of the people, as they showed, he said vnto Moses, There is a noife of warre in the hoste.

Who answered, It is not the noife of the
that haue the victorie, nor the noife of the
that are ouercome: but I do heare the noife
of singing.

Nowe, as he came nere vnto the
hoste, he sawe the calf and the dancing: so Moses wrath waxed hote, and he cast the Tables out of his hands, and brake them
in pices beneth the mountaine.

* After, he toke the calf, which they had made, & burned it in the fire, and ground
it vnto powder, and strowed it vpon the water, & made the childre of Israel drin-ke of it.

Also Moses said vnto Aaron, What did
this people vnto thee, y thou hast broght
so great a sinne vpon them?

The Aaron answered, Let not the wrath
of my lord waxe ferece: thou knowest this people, that they are enen set on mischief.

And they said vnto me, Make vs gods to go before vs: for we knowe not what is become of this Moses (the man y broght vs out of the land of Egypt.)

The I said to them, Ye that haue golde, plucke it of: and they broght it me, and I did cast it into the fire, and thereof came this calf.

Moses therefore sawe that the people were naked, for Aaron had made them naked vnto their shame among their enemies.

And Moses stode in the gate of the cap,
and said, Who pertaineth to the Lord: let him come to me. And all the sonnes of Leui gathered them selues vnto him.

Then he said vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Put euerie man his sworde by his side: go to and fro, fro gate
to gate, through the hoste, and slay eue-rie man his brother, and euerie man his companion, & euerie man his neighbour.

So the children of Leui did as Moses had commanded: and there fel of the people the same day about thre thousand me.

(For Moses had said, Consecrat your hands vnto the Lord this day, euen euerie
man vpon his sonne, and vpon his brother, that there may be giuen you a blef-sing this day)

And whe the morning came, Moses said
vnto the people, Ye haue comitted a grie-uous crime: but now I wil go vp to the Lord, if I may pacifie him for your sinne.

Moses therefore went againe vnto the Lord, and said, Oh, this people haue sin-

first, and I wil write vpon the Tables the wordes that were in y first Tables, which thou brakest in pieces.

2 And be ready in the morning, that thou maiest come vp early vnto the mouit of Sinai, and waite there for me in the top of the mount.

3 But let no man come vp with thee, nether
let anie man be sene throughout all the mount, nether let the shepe nor cattel fede before this mount.

4 ¶ The Moses hewed two Tables of stone like vnto the first, and rose vp early in y
morning, and went vp vnto the mount of Sinai, as the Lord had cōmāded him, &
toke in his hand two Tables of stone.

5 And the Lord descended in the cloude,
and rode with him there, and proclaimed
the Name of the Lord.

6 So the Lord passed before his face, and cried, The Lord, y Lord, strong, merciful, and gracious, slow to angrē, & abundant in goodnes and trueth,

7 Reseruing mercie for thousands, forgiuing iniquitie, & transgression and sin-
ne, and not making the wicked innocent,
visiting the iniquitie of the fathers vpon
the children, and vpon childrens childre,
vnto the third and fourth generation.

8 Then Moses made haste and bowed him self to the earth, and worshipped,

9 And said, O Lord, I praye thee, if I haue
founde grace in thy sight, that the Lord
wolde now go w vs (for it is a stifnecked people) and pardone our iniquitie & our
sinne, and take vs for thine enheritance.

10 And he answered, Beholde, * I wil make a couenant before all thy people, and wil
do meruels, suche as haue not bene done
in all the world, nether in all nations: and all the people amōg whome thou art, shal
se the worke of y Lord: for it is a terrible thing that I wil do with thee.

11 Kepe diligently that which I comande thee this day: beholde, I wil cast out before thee the Amorites, and the Cananites, and the Hittites, & the Perizzites,
and the Hiuities, and the Iebusites.

12 * Take hede to thy self, that thou make no compact with the inhabitants of the land whither y goest, lest they be the cause
of ruine among you:

13 But ye shal overthrowe their altars, and
breake their images in pieces, and cut do-
wne their groues,

14 (For thou shalt bowe downe to none other god, because the Lord, whose Name is Ielous, is a ielous God)

15 Lest thou make a * compact with the inhabitants of the land, and when they go
a whoring after their gods, and do sacrifice vnto their gods, some man call thee, and
thou * eat of his sacrifice:

16 And lest thou take of their * daughters
vnto thy sonnes, and their daughters go a whoring after their gods, and make thy sonnes go a whoring after their gods.

17 Thou shalt make thee no gods of metal.

18 ¶ The feast of vneleuened bread shalt y
kepe: seue dayes shalt thou eat vneleuened
bread, as I commanded thee, in the time of the * moneth of Abib: for in the mo-
neth of Abib thou camest out of Egypt.

19 * Euerie male, that first openeth y wombe shalbe mine: also all the first borne of thy flocke shalt reconed mine, bothe of beues
and shepe.

20 But the first of the asse thou shalt bye
out with a lambe: and if thou rede me
not, then thou shalt breake his necke: all
the first borne of thy sonnes shalt thou re-
de me, and none shal appeare before me empty.

21 ¶ Six dayes thou shalt worke, and in the
seueth day thou shalt rest: bothe in earing
time, and in the haruest thou shalt rest.

22 ¶ Thou shalt also obserue the feast of weekes in the time of y first frutes of wheat
haruest, and the feast of gathering frutes in the end of the yere.

23 ¶ Thrise in a yere shal all your me chil-dre appeare before y Lord Ichouah God
of Israel.

24 For I wil cast out the nations before thee, and enlarge thy coastes, so that no man shal desire thy land, whē thou shalt come vp to appeare before the Lord thy God thrise in the yere.

25 Thou shalt not offer the blood of my sacrifice with leauen, nether shal ought of the sacrifice of the feast of Pascheuer be left vnto the morning.

26 The first ripe frutes of thy land thou shalt bring vnto the house of the Lord,
thy God: yet shalt thou not sette a kid
in his mothers milke.

27 And the Lord said vnto Moses, Write thou these wordes: for after the tēoure
of * these wordes I haue made a couenant
with thee and with Israel.

28 So he was there with the Lord * fourtie
daies and fourtie nights, and did nether
eat bread nor drinke water: and he wrote
in the Tables * the wordes of y couenant,
euen the ten commandements.

29 ¶ So when Moses came downe frō mouit
Sinai, the two Tables of the Testimonie were in Moses hand, as he descended from the mount: (now Moses wist not that
y skin of his face shone bright, after that God had talked with him)

30 And Aarōn and all the childre of Israel looked vpon Moses, and beholde, the skin
of his face shone bright, and they were afraide to come nere him.

12 And afterward all the childre of Israel came nere, and he charged them with all that the Lord had said vnto him in mount Sinai.

13 So Moses made an end of communing with them, and had put a couering vpon his face.

14 But when Moses came before the Lord to speake with him, he toke of the couering vntil he came out: then he came out, and spake vnto the children of Israel that which he was commanded.

15 And the children of Israel sawe the face of Moses, how the skin of Moses face shone bright: therefore Moses put the couering vpon his face, vntil he went to speake with God.

CHAP. XXXV.

The Sabbath. 1 The fre gifts are required. 21 The readines of the people to offer. 30 Bezaleel & Aholiab are praised of Moses.

1 Then Moses assembled all the Congregation of the children of Israel, and said vnto the, These are the wordes which the Lord hath commanded, that ye shulde do them.

2 Six dayes thou shalt worke, but the seuenth day shal be vnto you the holy Sabbath of rest vnto the Lord: whosoever doeth anie worke therein, shal dye.

3 Ye shal kindle no fire throughout all your habitacions vpon the Sabbath day.

4 Again, Moses spake vnto all the Congregation of the children of Israel, saying, This is the thing which the Lord commandeth, saying,

5 Take from among you an offering vnto the Lord: whosoever is of a willing heart, let him bring this offering to the Lord, namely golde, and siluer, and brasse:

6 Also blew silk, and purple, and skarlet, and fine linen, and goates heere,

7 And rams skins died red, and badgers skins with Shittim wood:

8 Also oyle for light, & spices for the anointing oyle, and for the swete incense,

9 And onix stones, and stones to be set in the Ephod, and in the brest plate.

10 And all the wise hearted among you, shal come & make all that the Lord hath commanded:

11 That is, the Tabernacle, the pavillion thereof, & his couering, & his taches, & his boardes, his barres, his pillars & his sockets,

12 The Arke, and the barres thereof: the Merciscat, & the vaile that couereth it,

13 The Table, and the barres of it, and all the instruments thereof, & the shewe bread:

14 Also the Candelsticke of light and his instruments and his lampes with the oyle for the light.

15 Likewise the Altar of perfume and his barres, and the anointing oyle, and the swete incense, and the vaile of the dore at the entering in of the Tabernacle,

16 The Altar of burnt offering with his brasse grate, his barres and all his instruments, the Laver and his fote,

17 The hangings of the courte, his pillars & his sockets, and the vaile of the gate of the courte,

18 The pins of the Tabernacle, and the pins of the courte with their cordes,

19 The ministering garments to minister in the holy place, and the holy garments for Aaron the Priest, and the garments of his sonnes, that they may minstre in the Priestes office.

20 Then all the Congregation of the children of Israel departed from the presence of Moses.

21 And euerie one, whose hearts encouraged him, & euerie one, whose spirit made him willing, came and brought an offering to the Lord, for the worke of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and for all his vses, and for the holy garments.

22 Bothe men & women, as many as were fre hearted, came and brought taches and earrings, and rings, and bracelets, all were jewels of golde: and euerie one that offered an offering of golde vnto the Lord:

23 Euerie man also, which had blew silk, and purple, & skarlet, and fine linen, and goates heere, and rams skins died red, and badgers skins, brought them.

24 All that offered an oblatiō of siluer & of brasse, brought their offering vnto the Lord: & euerie one, which had Shittim wood for anie manner worke of the ministraciō, brought it.

25 And all the womē that were wife hearted, did spin with their handes, and brought the spun worke, even the blew silk, and the purple, the skarlet, and the fine linen.

26 Likewise all the women, whose heartes were moued with knowledge, spun goates heere.

27 And the rulers brought onix stones, and stones to be set in the Ephod, and in the brest plate:

28 Also spice, and oyle for light, and for the anointing oyle, and for the swete perfume.

29 Euerie man and woman of the childre of Israel, whose heartes moued the willingly to bring for all the worke which the Lord had commanded the to make, by the hand of Moses, brought a fre offering to the Lord.

30 Then Moses said vnto the childre of Israel, Beholde, the Lord hath called by name Bezaleel the sonne of Uri, the sonne of Hur of the tribe of Iudah,

Then wrought Bezaleel, and Aholiab,
and all conning men, to whome the Lord gaue wisdom, and vnderstanding,
to knowe how to worke all maner worke
for the seruice of the Sanctuarie, according to all that the Lord had commanded.

For Moses had called Bezaleel, & Aholiab, and all the wise hearted men, in whose hearts the Lord had giue wisdom, euen
as manie as their heartes encouraged to come vnto that worke to worke it.

And they receiued of Moses all the offering which the children of Israel had brought
for the worke of the seruice of the Sanctua-
rie, to make it: also they brought stil vnto
him fre gifts euerie morning.

So all the wise men, that wrought all the holy worke, came euerie man fro his wor-
ke which they wrought,

And spake to Moses, saying, The people
bring to muche, and more then ynough
for the vse of the worke, which the Lord
hath commanded to be made.

Then Moses gaue a commandement, and they caused it to be proclaimed throughout the hoste, saying, Let nether man nor woman prepare anie more worke for the oblation of the Sanctuarie. So the people were stayed from offering.

For the stuffe they had, was sufficient for all the worke to make it, and to muche.

All the conning men therefore among the workemen, made for the Tabernacle ten curtaines of fine twined linen, and
of blew silk, and purple, and skarlet:

Cherubims of broyded worke made
they vpon them.

The length of one curtaine was twenty
and eight cubites; and the breadth of one curtaine foure cubites: and the curtaines
were all of one cise.

And he coupled five curtaines together,
and other five coupled he together.

And he made strings of blew silk by the edge of one curtaine, in the seluedge of the coupling: likewise he made on the side of the other curtaine in the seluedge in the seconde coupling.

Fiftie strings made he in the one curtain-
ne, and fiftie strings made he in the edge of the other curtaine, which was in the seconde coupling: the strings were set one against an other.

After, he made fiftie taches of golde, & coupled the curtaines one to an other with the taches: so was it one Tabernacle.

Also he made curtaines of goates heere
for the couering vpon the Tabernacle: he made them to the number of eleuen cur-taines.

The length of one curtaine had thirty
cubites, and the breadth of one curtaine foure cubites: the eleuen curtaines were
of one cise.

And he coupled five curtaines by them
selues, and six curtaines by them selues:

Also he made fiftie strings vpon the edge
of one curtaine in the seluedge in the coupling, and fiftie strings made he vpon the edge of the other curtaine in the seconde coupling.

He made also fiftie taches of brasse to couple the couering that it might be one.

And he made a couering vpon the pauillion of rams skins died red, & a coue-
ring of badgers skins aboue.

Likewise he made the boardes for the Tabernacle of Shittim wood to stand vpon.

The length of a boarde was ten cubites,
& the breadth of one boarde was a cubi-
te, and an halfe.

One boarde had two tenons, set in ordre
as the fete of a ladder, one against an other: thus made he for all the boardes of the Tabernacle.

So he made twentie boardes for the South-side of the Tabernacle, euen ful South.

And fourtie sockets of siluer made he vn-
der the twentie boardes, two sockets vnder
one boarde for his two tenons, & two sockets vnder another boarde for his two tenons.

Also for the other side of the Taberna-

boardes,

And their fourtie sockets of siluer, two sockets vnder one boarde, & two sockets
vnder another boarde.

Likewise towards the West side of the

And two boardes made he in the corners
of the Tabernacle, for ether side,

10 ¶ Also he made the Table of Shittim wood: two cubites was the length thereof, and a cubite the breadth thereof, and a cubite and an halfe the height of it.

11 And he ouerlaid it with fine golde, and made thereto a crowne of golde round about.

12 Also he made thereto a border of an <sup>a</sup>had breadth round about, and made vpon y border a crowne of golde round about.

13 And he cast for it foure rings of golde, and put the rings in the foure corners that were in the foure fete thereof.

14 Against the border were the rings, as places for the barres to beare the Table.

15 And he made the barres of Shittim wood, and couered them with golde to beare the Table.

16 ¶ Also he made the instruments for the Table of pure golde: dishes for it, & incense cups for it, and goblets for it, & coverings for it, wherewith it shulde be couered.

18 And six branches came out of the sides thereof: thre branches of the Candellsticke out of the one side of it, and thre branches of the Candellsticke out of the other side of it.

19 In one branche thre bolles made like almondes, a knop and a floure: and in an other branche thre bolles made like almondes, a knop & a floure: and so throughout the six branches that proceeded out of the Candellsticke.

Also he made the altar of the burnt offring * of Shittim wood: five cu-

bites the breadth thereof: it was square and thre cubites hie.

2 And he made vnto it hornes in the foure

of the same, & he ouerlaid it with brasle.

3 Also he made all the instruments of the Altar: y<sup>e</sup> ashpans, & the besomes, and the basins, y<sup>e</sup> fleshokes, & the censers: all the instruments thereof made he of brasle.

4 Moreouer he made a brasle grate wrought
like a net to the Altar, vnder the compas
of it beneath in the middes of it,

5 And cast foure rings of brasle for y<sup>e</sup> foure ends of the grate to put barres in.

6 And he made the barres of Shittim wood, and couered them with brasle.

7 The which barres he put into the rings
on the sides of the altar to beare it with-
all, and made it holowe within y<sup>e</sup> boardes.

8 Also he made the Laver of brasle, and the fote of it of brasle of the glasses of y<sup>e</sup>
women that did assemble and came together at the dore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

9 Finally he made y<sup>e</sup> courte on the South-side ful South: the hangings of the courte were of fine twined linen, hauing an hundreth cubites.

10 Their pillars were twentie, & their bra-

11 And on the Northside the hangings
were an hundreth cubites: their pillars
twentie, & their sockets of brasle twentie,
y<sup>e</sup> hokes of y<sup>e</sup> pillars & their filets of siluer.

12 On the Westside also were hangings of fiftie cubites, their ten pillars with their ten sockets: y<sup>e</sup> hokes of the pillars and their filets of siluer.

13 And toward the Eastside, ful East, were hangings of fiftie cubites.

14 The hangings of the one side were fiftie cubites, their thre pillars, and their

thre sockets:

15 * And of the other side of the courte ga-

cubites, with their thre pillars and their
thre sockets.

16 All the hangings of the courte round about were of fine twined linen:

17 But the sockets of the pillars were of brasle: the hokes of the pillars and their filets of siluer, and the couering of their chapters of siluer: and all the pillars of the courte were hooped about with siluer.

18 He made also the hanging of the gate of the courte of needle worke, blew filke, and purple, and skarlet, and fine twined linen euē twentie cubites long, and five cubi-

of the courte.

19 And their pillars were foure with their foure sockets of brasle: their hokes of sil-

and their filets of siluer.

20 But all the pins of the Tabernacle and of the courte round about were of brasle.

21 ¶ These are the partes of the Taberna-

mandement of Moles for the office of y<sup>e</sup> Leuites by the hand of Ithamar sonne
to Aaron the Priest.

22 So Bezaleel the sonne of Uri the sonne
of Hur of the tribe of Iudāh, made all y<sup>e</sup>

CHAP. XXXIX.

The apparel of Aarón and his sonnes. 32 All that the Lord commanded, was made, and finished. 43 Moses bleisseth the people.

As coverings for the Ark &c. Cadellstiche, the Altars & such like. Chap. 31. 10. & 35. 19.

Moreouer they made a garments of ministration to minstre in the Sanctuary of blew silk, and purple, & skarlet: thei * made also the holy garments for Aarón, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

3 So he made the Ephód of golde, blew silk, and purple, and skarlet, and fine twined linen.

And they did beate the golde into thin plates, and cut it into wiers, to worke it in the blew silk & in the purple, and in the skarlet, & in the fine linen, with broyded worke.

4 For the which thei made sholders to couple together: for it was closed by the two edges thereof.

5 And the broyded garde of his Ephód that was vpon him, was of the same stuffe, and of like worke: even of golde, of blew silk, and purple, and skarlet, and fine twined linen, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

Chap. 28. 9.

That is, of very fine and curious workmanship.

6 ¶ And they wrought two onix stones closed in ouches of golde, and graued, as b signets are grauen, with the names of the children of Israël,

Chap. 28. 12.

7 And put the on the sholders of 5 Ephód, as stones for a * remembrance of the children of Israël, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

8 ¶ Also he made the brest plate of broyded worke like the worke of the Ephód: of golde, blew silk, and purple, & skarlet, and fine twined linen.

9 They made the brest plate double, and it was square, an hand breadth long, and an hand breadth broad: it was also double.

10 And they filled it with foure rowes of stones. The ordre was thus, a ruby, a topaze, and a carbuncle in the first rowe.

Or a figure, which stone authors write that it cometh of the vrine of the beaſt called linc.

11 And in the seconde rowe, an emeraude, a saphir, and a diamond:

12 Also in the third rowe, a turkeis, an achate, and an hematite:

13 Likewise in the fourte rowe, a chrysolite,

an onix, and a iasper: closed and set in ouches of golde.

14 So the stones were according to the names of the children of Israël, even twelue after their names, grauen like signets. euerie one after his name according to the twelue tribes.

15 After, they made vpon the brest plate cheines at the endes, of wrethen worke of pure golde.

16 They made also two bosses of golde, & two golde rings, and put the two rings in the two corners of the brest plate.

17 And they put the two wrethen cheines of golde in the two rings, in the corners of the brest plate.

18 Also the two other endes of the two wrethen cheines they fastened in the two bosses, and put them on the sholders of the Ephód vpon the fore fronte of it.

19 Likewise they made two rings of golde, and put them in the two other corners of the brest plate vpon the edge of it, which was on the inside of the Ephód.

20 They made also two other golden rings, and put them on the two sides of the Ephód, beneth on the fore side of it and ouer against his coupling about the broyded garde of the Ephód.

21 Then they fastened the brest plate by his rings vnto the rings of the Ephód, with a lace of blew silk, that it might be fast vpon the broyded garde of the Ephód, and that the brest plate shulde not be loosed from the Ephód, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

22 ¶ Moreouer he made the robe of the Ephód of wouen worke, altogether of blew silk.

23 And the hole of the robe was in the middes of it, as 5 collar of an habergeon, with an edge about the collar, that it shulde not rent.

24 And they made vpon the skirtes of the robe pomegranates, of blew silk, & purple, and skarlet, and fine linen twined.

25 They made also * belles of pure golde, & put the belles betwene the pomegranates vpon the skirtes of the robe round about betwene the pomegranates.

26 A bel & a pomegranate, a bel & a pomegranate round about the skirtes of the robe to minister in, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

27 ¶ After, they made coates of fine liné, of woué worke for Aarón & for his sonnes.

28 And the mitre of fine linen, and goodlie bonnets of fine linen, and linen * breches of fine twined linen,

for Aaron the Priest, and his sonnes garments to minister in the Priests office.

42 According to euerie point that the Lord
had commanded Moses, so the children of Israël made all the worke.

43 And Moses behelde all the worke, and beholde, thei had done it as the Lord had commanded: so had thei done: and Moses blessed them.

CHAP. XL.

The Tabernacle with the apperinnances is reared up.
34 The glorie of the Lord appeareth in the cloudes couering the Tabernacle.

¶ Then the Lord spake vnto Moses, saying,

In the first day of the first moneth in the very first of the same moneth shalt thou set vp the Tabernacle, called the Tabernacle
of the Congregation:

And thou shalt put therein the Arke of the Testimonie, and couer the Arke with the vaile.

4 Also thou shalt bring in the Table, and set it in ordre as it doeth require: thou shalt also bring in the Candellsticke, and
light his lampes,

5 And thou shalt set the incense Altar of golde before the Arke of the Testimonie, and put the hanging at the dore of the Tabernacle.

6 Moreover thou shalt set the burnt offering Altar before the dore of the Tabernacle, called the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

7 And thou shalt set the Lauer betwene
the Tabernacle of the Congregation &
the Altar, and put water therein.

8 Then thou shalt appoint the courte round about, and hang vp the hanging at the courte gate.

9 After, thou shalt take the anointing oyle,
and anoint the Tabernacle, and all that is therein, and halowe it with all the instruments thereof, that it may be holie.

10 And thou shalt anoint the Altar of the burnt offering, and all his instruments, and shalt sanctifie the Altar, that it may be an altar moste holie.

11 Also thou shalt anoint the Lauer and his fote, and shalt sanctifie it.

12 Then thou shalt bring Aaron and his sonnes vnto the dore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, & wash them with
water.

13 And thou shalt put vpon Aaron the holy garments, and shalt anoint him, & fanctifie him that he may minister vnto me
in the Priests office.

14 Thou shalt also bring his sonnes, and
clothe them with garments,

15 And shalt anoint them as thou diddest
anoint their father, that thei may minister vnto me in the Priests office: for their anointing shal be a signe, that y priesthode shal be euerlasting vnto the throughout their generations.

16 So Moses did according to all that the Lord had commanded him: so did he.

17 ¶ Thus was the Tabernacle reared vp
the first day of the first moneth in the seconde yere.

18 Then Moses reared vp the Tabernacle
and fastened his sockets, and set vp the bo-
ardes thereof, and put in the barres of it,
and reared vp his pillers.

19 And he spred the covering ouer the Tabernacle, and put the covering of that covering on he about it, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

20 ¶ And he toke and put the Testimonie
in the Arke, and put the barres in the ring of the Arke, and set the Merciseat on his vp on the Arke.

21 He brought also the Arke into the Tabernacle, and hanged vp the covering vaile,

¶ Furthermore he put the Table in the Tabernacle of the Congregation in the Northside of the Tabernacle, without the vaile;

¶ And set the bread in ordre before the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moses;

¶ Also he put the Candelsticke in the Tabernacle of the Congregation ouer against the Table towards the Southside of the Tabernacle.

¶ And he lighted the lampes before the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moses;

¶ Moreover he set the golden Altar in the Tabernacle of the Congregation before the vaile;

¶ And burnt sweet incense thereon, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

¶ Also he haged vp the vaile at the dore of the Tabernacle.

¶ After he set the burnt offering Altar without the dore of the Tabernacle, called the Tabernacle of the Congregation, & offered the burnt offering and the sacrifice thereon, as the Lord had comanded Moses.

¶ Likewise he set the Lauer betwene

the Tabernacle of the Congregation & the Altar, and powred water therein to wash with.

¶ So Moses, and Aaron, and his sonnes, washed their hands & their feet thereat.

¶ When they went into the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and when they approached to the Altar, they washed, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

¶ Finally he reared vp the courte round about the Tabernacle and the Altar, and hanged vp the vaile at the courte gate: so Moses finished the worke.

¶ Then the cloude couered the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and the glorie of the Lord filled the Tabernacle.

¶ So Moses colde not entre into the Tabernacle of the Congregation, because the cloude abode thereon, and the glorie of the Lord filled the Tabernacle.

¶ Now when the cloude ascended vp from the Tabernacle, the children of Israel went forward in all their iourneys.

¶ But if the cloude ascended not, then they iourneyed not til the day that it ascended.

¶ For the cloude of the Lord was vpon the Tabernacle by day, and fire was in it by night, in the sight of all the house of Israel, throughout all their iourneys.

THE THIRD BOKE OF Moses, called * Leuiticus.

THE ARGUMENT.

AS God daily by moste singular benefites declared him selfe to be mindeful of his Church: so he willed not that they shoulde haue any occasion to trust either in them selfe, or to depend vpon others for lacke of temporall things, or ought that belonged to his diuine seruice and religion. Therefore he ordeined diuerse kindes of oblations and sacrifices, to assure them of forgiveness of their offences. (if they offered them in true faith and obedience) Also he appointed their Priests and Leuites, their apparel, offering, conuersion and portion: he shewed what feastes they shoulde obserue, and in what times. Moreover he declared by these sacrifices & ceremonies that the reward of sinne is death, and that without the blood of Christ the innocent Limbe there can be no forgiveness of sinnes. And because they shoulde giue no place to their owne inuentions (which thing God moste detesteth as appeareth by the terrible example of Nadab and Abihu) he prescribed euen to the least things, what they shoulde do, as what beasts they shoulde offer and eat: what diseases were contagious and to be auoyded: what ordres they shoulde take for all maner of filthines and pollution: whose companie they shoulde flee: what marriages were lawfull: and what pollicie lawes were profitable. Which thing declared, he promised fauour and blessing to them that kept his Lawes, and threatened his curse to them that transgressed them.

In the peace offering it was indifferent to offer either male or female, but in burnt offering only the male: so here can be offered no birds, but in the burnt offering they might all there was consumed with fire, and in the peace offering, but a part.

The burnt offering was wholly consumed, and of the offering made by fire only the inward parts, &c. were burnt: & flunder & breast, with the two thighs and &c. were given to the Priests, & the rest his that offered.

Meaning at the Northside of the altar, chap. iiii.

Also if his oblation be a peace offering, if he will offer of the flock (whether it be male or female) he shall offer such as is without blemish, before the Lord. And he shall put his hand upon the head of his offering, and kill it at the dore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation: & Aarons sonnes the Priests shall sprinkle the blood upon the altar round about.

So he shall offer part of the peace offerings as a sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord, & the fat that couereth the inward parts, and all the fat that is upon the inward parts.

He shall also take away the two kidneys, and the fat that is on them, and upon the flanks, and the kall on the liuer with the kidneys.

And Aarons sonnes shall burne it on the altar with the burnt offering, which is vpon the wood, that is on the fire: this is a sacrifice made by fire for a sweete sauour unto the Lord.

Also if his oblation be a peace offering unto the Lord out of the flock, whether it be male or female, he shall offer it without blemish.

If he offer a lambe for his oblation, then he shall bring it before the Lord,

And lay his hand vpon the head of his offering, and shall kill it before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and Aarons sonnes shall sprinkle the blood thereof round about vpon the altar.

After, of the peace offerings he shall offer an offering made by fire vnto the Lord: he shall take away the fat thereof, & the rumpe altogether, hard by the backe bone, & the fat that couereth the inward parts, and all the fat that is vpon the inward parts.

Also he shall take away the two kidneys, with the fat that is vpon them, and vpon the flanks, & the kall vpon the liuer with the kidneys.

The Priest shall burne it vpon the altar, as the meat of an offering made by fire vnto the Lord.

Also if his offering be a goat, then shall he offer it before the Lord.

And shall put his hand vpon the head of it, and kill it before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, & the sonnes of Aaron shall sprinkle the blood thereof vpon the altar round about.

Then he shall offer thereof his offering, as an offering made by fire vnto the Lord, the fat that couereth the inward parts, and all the fat that is vpon the inward parts.

Also he shall take away the two kidneys, & the fat that is vpon them, and vpon the flanks & the kall vpon the liuer with the kidneys.

So the Priest shall burne them vpon the altar, as the meat of an offering made by fire for a sweete sauour: * all the fat is the Lords.

This shall be a perpetual ordinance for your generations, through out all your dwellings, so that ye shall eat neither fat nor blood.

CHAP. IIIII.

The offering for finnes done of ignorance, 3 For the Priest, 13 The Congregation, 22 The ruler, 27 And the private man.

MOeuer the Lord spake vnto Moses, saying,

Speake vnto the children of Israel, saying, If anie shall sinne through ignorance, in anie of the commandments of the Lord (which ought not to be done) but shall do contrarie to anie of them,

If the Priest that is anointed do sinne (according to the sinne of the people) the shall he offer, for his sinne which he hath sinned, a yong bullocke without blemish vnto the Lord for a sinne offering,

And he shall bring the bullocke vnto the dore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation before the Lord, & shall put his hand vpon the bullocks head, and kill the bullocke before the Lord.

And the Priest that is anointed shall take of the bullocks blood, and bring it into the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

Then the Priest shall dip his finger in the blood, and sprinkle of the blood seven times before the Lord, before the vail of the Sanctuary.

The Priest also shall put some of the blood before the Lord, vpon the hornes of the altar of sweete incense, which is in the Tabernacle of the Congregation, then shall he powre all the rest of the blood of the bullocke at the fore of the altar of burnt offering, which is at the dore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

And he shall take away all the fat of the bullocke for the sinne offering: to wit, the fat that couereth the inward parts, and all the fat that is about the inward parts.

He shall take away also the two kidneys, and the fat that is vpon them, and vpon the flanks, & the kall vpon the liuer with the kidneys,

As it was taken away from the bullocke of the peace offerings, and the Priest shall burne the vpon the altar of burnt offering.

But the skin of the bullocke, and all his flesh, with his head, and his legs, & his inward parts, and his dung shall he beare out.

So he shall cary the whole bullocke out of the holste vnto a cleane place, where the ashes are powred, & shall burne him on y wood in the fire: where the ashes are cast out, shall he be burnt.

And if the whole Congregation of Israel

6 Therefore shal he bring his trespass offering vnto the Lord for his sinne which he hath committed, <sup>either</sup> a female from y flocke, <sup>be it</sup> a lambe or a shee goat for a sinne offering, and the Priest shal make an atonement for him, concerning his sinne.

7 But if he be not able to bring a shepe, he shal bring for his trespass which he hath committed, two turtle doves, or two yong pigeons vnto the Lord, one for a sinne offering, and the other for a burnt offering.

8 So he shal bring them vnto the Priest, who shal offer the sinne offering first, and *wring y necke of it a sundre, but not plucke it cleane of.

9 After he shal sprinkle of the blood of the sinne offering vpon the side of the altar, & the rest of the blood shal be shed at the fote of the altar: for it is a sinne offering.

10 Also he shal offer the secōde for a burnt offering, as the manner is: so shal the Priest make an atonement for him (for his sinne which he hath committed) and it shal be forgiven him.

11 ¶ But if he be not able to bring two turtle doves, or two yong pigeons, then he y hath sinned, shal bring for his offering, the tēth parte of an Ephah of fine flour for a sinne offering, he shal put none oyle thereto, nether put anie incense theron: for it is a sinne offering.

12 Then shal he bring it to the Priest and y Priest shal take his hādeful of it for the remembrance thereof, and burne it vpon the altar * with the offerings of the Lord made by fire: for it is a sinne offering.

13 So the Priest shal make an atonement for him, as touching his sinne that he hath committed in one of these points, and it shal be forgiven him: and the remnant shal be the Priests, as the meat offering.

14 ¶ And the Lord spake vnto Moses, saying,

15 If anie persone transgresse and sinne through ignorāce by taking awaie things consecrated vnto the Lord, he shal then brig for his trespass offering vnto y Lord a ram without blemish out of the flocke, worthe two shekels of siluer by thy estimation after the shekel of the Sactuarie, for a trespass offering.

16 So he shal restore y wherein he hath offended, in taking awaie of the holy thing, and shal put the fift parte more thereto, & giue it vnto the Priest: so the Priest shal make an atonement for him with the ram of the trespass offering, and it shal be forgiven him.

17 ¶ Also if anie sinne & * do against anie of the commandements of the Lord, which ought not to be done, & knowe not & sinne and beare his iniquitie,

18 Then shal he bring a ram without blemish out of the flocke, in thy estimation worthe two shekels for a trespass offering vnto y Priest: and the Priest shal make an atonement for him concerning his ignorance wherein he erred, and was not ware: so it shal be forgiven him.

19 This is the trespass offering for the trespass committed against the Lord.

7 And the Priest shal make an atonement for him before the Lord, & it shal be forgiven him, whatsoeuer thing he hath done, and trespassed therein.

8 ¶ Then y Lord spake vnto Moses, saying, 9 Cōmāde Aaron and his sonnes, saying, This is the lawe of the burnt offering, (it is the burnt offering because it burneth vpon the altar all the night vnto the morning, and the fire burneth on the altar)

25 And Moyses slewe him, & toke the blood,
which he put vpon the hornes of the Altar
round about with his finger, and purified
the Altar, and powred the rest of the blood at the fote of the Altar: so he sanctified it, to make reconciliation vpon it.

26 Then he toke all the fat that was vpon
the inwardes, and the kall of the liuer and the two kidneis, with their fat, which Mo-
yses burned vpon the Altar.

27 But the bullocke and his hide, and his flesh, and his dounge, he burnt with fire
without the hofte as the Lord had commanded Moyses.

28 Also he broght the ram for the burnt offering, and Aarón & his sonnes put their hands vpon the head of the ram.

29 So Moyses killed it, and sprinkled the blood vpon the Altar round about,

30 And Moyses cut the ram in pieces, & burnt
the head with the pieces, and the fat,

31 And washed the inwardes and the legs
in water: so Moyses burnt the ram euerie whit vpon the Altar, for it was a burnt offering for a swete sauour, which was made by fire vnto the Lord, as the Lord had commanded Moyses.

32 After, he broght the other ram, the ram
of consecrations, and Aarón & his son-nes laied their hands vpon the head of the ram,

33 Which Moyses slewe, and toke of the blood of it, and put it vpon the lap of Aarons right eare, and vpon the thombe of his right hand, and vpon the great toe of his right fete.

34 Then Moyses broght Aarons sonnes, &
put of the blood on the lap of their right
eares, & vpon the thumbes of their right
hads, & vpon the great toes of their right
fete, and Moyses sprinkled the rest of the blood vpon the Altar round about.

35 And he toke the fat and the rumpe, and all the fat that was vpon the inwardes, &
the kall of the liuer, and the two kidneis
with their fat, and the right shulder.

36 Also he toke of the baskett of the vn-leavened bread that was before the Lord,
one unleavened cake and a cake of oyled
bread, and one wafer, and put them on the fat, and vpon the right shulder.

37 So he put all in Aarons hands, and in his sonnes hands, and shoke it to and fro
before the Lord.

38 After, Moyses toke the out of their hads,
and burnt the vpon the Altar for a burnt offering: for these were consecrations for a swete sauour which were made by fire vn-
to the Lord.

29 Likewise Moyses toke the breast of the ram of consecrations and shoke it to and fro before the Lord: for it was Moyses portion, as the Lord had commanded Moyses.

30 Also Moyses toke of the anointing oyle,
and of the blood which was vpon the Altar, and sprinkled it vpon Aarón, vpon his garments, and vpon his sonnes, and on his sonnes garmets with him: so he sanctified Aarón, his garments, and his sonnes, and his sonnes garments with him.

31 Afterward Moyses said vnto Aarón & his sonnes, Sethe the flesh at the dore of
the Tabernacle of the Congregation,
and the eate it with the bread that is in the baskett of consecrations, as I comanded, saying, Aarón and his sonnes shal
eat it,

32 But that which remaineth of the flesh &
of the bread, shal ye burne with fire.

33 And ye shal not departe from the dore
of the Tabernacle of the Congregation
seuen daies, vntil the daies of your con-
secrations be at an end: for seuen daies,
said the Lord, shal he consecrate you,

34 As he hath done this day: so the Lord hath commanded to do, to make an atonement for you.

35 Therefore shal ye abide at the dore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation day
and night, seuen daies, and shal kepe the watch of the Lord, that ye dye not: for so I am commanded.

36 So Aarón and his sonnes did all things which the Lord had commanded by the hand of Moyses.

CHAP. IX.

And in the eight day Moyses called

2 Then he said vnto Aarón, Take thee a

for so I am commanded.

14 Also* the shaken breast and the heave
shulder shal ye eat in a cleane place: thou,
and thy sonnes, and thy daughters with thee: for they are given as thy duetie and thy sonnes duetie, of the peace offerings of
the children of Israël.

15 The heave shulder, and the shake breast
shal they bring with the offerings made by fire of the fat, to shake it to and fro before the Lord, and it shalbe thine and thy sonnes with thee by a lawe for euer, as
the Lord hath commanded.

16 ¶ And Mosēs fought y goat that was of-
fred for sinne, and lo, it was burnt: therefore he was angry with Eleazār and Ithamār the sonnes of Aarōn, which were left
alide, saying,

17 Wherefore haue ye not eaten the sin
offring in the holy place, seing it is moste
holy: and God hath given it you, to beare
the iniquitie of the Cōgregaciō, to make an atonement for them before the Lord.

18 Beholde, the blood of it was not broght

19 And Aarōn said vnto Mosēs, Beholde, this day s haue they offred their sin offring and their burnt offring before the Lord, and such things as thou knowest are come vnto me: if I had eaten the sin offring to day, shulde it haue bene accepted
in the sight of the Lord?

20 So when Mosēs heard it, he was contēt.

CHAP. XI.

Of beastes, fishes and birdes, which be cleane, and
which be vncleane.

After the Lord spake vnto Mosēs &
Ato Aarōn, saying vnto them,

21 Speake vnto the children of Israël, and say,* These are the beastes which ye shal eat, among all the beastes that are on the earth.

22 Whatsoeuer parteth the hoofe, and is clouen footed, and chaweth the cud among
the beastes, that shal ye eat:

23 But of them that chewe the cud, or deuide the hoofe onely, of them ye shal not eat: as the camel, because he cheweth the cud, and deuideth not the hoofe, he shal-
be vncleane vnto you.

24 Likewise the conie, because he cheweth
the cud & deuideth not y hoofe, he shal-
be vncleane to you.

25 Also the hare, because he cheweth the cud, & deuideth not the hoofe, he shalbe
vncleane to you.

26 * And the swine, because he parteth the
hoofe and is clouen footed, but cheweth
not the cud, he shalbe vncleane to you.

27 Of their flesh shal ye not eat, and their carkeis shal ye not touche: for they shalbe

vncleane to you.

28 ¶ These shal ye eat, of all that are in the waters: whatsoeuer hath finnes & scales
in the waters, in the seas, or in the riuers,
them shal ye eat.

29 But all that haue not fins nor scales in
the seas, or in y riuers, of all that moueth
in the waters & of all liuing things that are in the waters, they shalbe an abominacion vnto you.

30 Thei, I say, shalbe an abomination to you: ye shal not eat of their flesh, but shal
abhorre their carkeis.

31 Whatsoeuer hath not fins nor scales
in the waters, that shalbe abomination
vnto you.

32 ¶ These shal ye haue also in abominaciō
among the foules, they shal not be eaten: for they are an abominacion, the eagle, and the
goshaue, and the osprey:

33 Also the vultur, and the kite after his
kinde,

34 And all rauens after their kinde:

35 The ostriche also, and the night crowe,
and the fcamawe, and the hauke after his
kinde:

36 The litle owle also, and the cormorant,
and the great owle.

37 Also the redshake and the pelicane, and
the swanne:

38 The storke also, the heron after his kin-
de, and the lapwing, and the backe:

39 Also euerie foule that creepeth and goeth
vpon all foure, such shalbe an abominacion vnto you.

40 Yet these shal ye eat: of euerie foule that crepeth, and goeth vpon all foure which haue their fete and leggs all of one to le-
ape withall vpon the earth,

41 Of them ye shal eat these, the grasshoper
after his kinde, and the solecan after his kinde, the hargol after his kinde, and the hagab after his kinde.

42 But all other foules y crepe & haue foure
fete, they shalbe abominacion vnto you.

43 For by suche ye shalbe polluted: whosoeuer toucheth their carkeis, shalbe vncleane vnto the euenig.

44 Whosoever also s beareth of their car-
keis, shal wash his clothes, and be vncle-ane vntil euen.

45 Euerie beaft that hath claws deuided,
and is not clouen footed, nor cheweth the
cud, such shalbe vncleane vnto you: eue-
rie one y toucheth the, shalbe vncleane.

46 And whatsoeuer goeth vpon his pawes
among all maner beastes that goeth on all foure, such shalbe vncleane vnto you: who-
so doeth touche their carkeis shalbe
vncleane vntil the euen.

47 And he that beareth their carkeis, shal wash his clothes, and be vncleane vntil the euen: for such shalbe vncleane vnto you.

29 Also theſe ſhalbe vncleane to you among the things that creepe and moue vpon the earth, the weaſel, and the mouſe, and the <sup>h</sup> frog, after his kinde:

30 Also the rat, and the lizard, and the chameleon, and the ſtello, and the molle.

31 Theſe ſhalbe vncleane to you among all y<sup>e</sup> creepe: whoſoeuer doeth touche the when thei be dead, ſhalbe vncleane vntill the euen.

32 Also whatſoeuer anie of the dead carkeiſes of them doeth fall vpon, ſhalbe vncleane, whether it be veſſel of wood, or raiment, or ſkin, or ſack: whatſoeuer veſſel it be that is occupied, it ſhalbe put in the water as vncleane vntill the euen, and ſo be purified.

33 But euerie earthe veſſel, whereinto anie of them falleth, whatſoeuer is with in it ſhalbe vncleane, and y<sup>e</sup> ſhal breake it.

34 Allmeat alſo that ſhalbe eaten, if anie ſuche water come vpon it, ſhalbe vncleane: and all drinke that ſhalbe dronke in all ſuche veſſels ſhalbe vncleane.

35 And euerie thing that their carkeiſes fall vpon, ſhalbe vncleane: the fornais or the pot ſhalbe broken: for thei are vncleane, and ſhalbe vncleane vnto you.

36 Yet the fountaines & wellles where there is plenty of water ſhal be cleane: but that which toucheth their carkeiſes ſhal be vncleane.

37 And if there fall of their dead carkeiſes vpon anie ſede, which uſeth to be ſowen, it ſhal be cleane.

38 But if anie water be powred vpon the ſedes, and there fall of thei dead carkeiſes thereon, it ſhalbe vncleane vnto you.

39 If alſo anie beaſt, whereof ye may eat, dye, he that toucheth the carkeiſes thereof ſhalbe vncleane vntill the euen.

40 And he that eateth of the carkeiſes of it, ſhal waſh his clothes and be vncleane vntill the euen: he alſo that beareth the carkeiſes of it, ſhal waſh his clothes, and be vncleane vntill the euen.

41 Euerie creeping thing therefore that creepeth vpon the earth ſhalbe an abomination, and not be eaten.

42 Whatſoeuer goeth vpon the breaſt, and whatſoeuer goeth vpon all foure, or that hath manie ſete among all creeping things that creepe vpon the earth, ye ſhal not eat of them, for thei ſhalbe abomination.

43 Ye ſhal not pollute your ſelues with anie thing y<sup>e</sup> creepeth, nether make your ſelues vncleane wth them, nether deſile your ſelues thereby: ye ſhal not, I ſay, be deſiled by the.

44 For I am the Lord your God: be ſanctified therefore, and be holy, for I am holy, and deſile not your ſelues with anie creeping thing, that creepeth vpon the earth.

45 For I am the Lord that brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God, and that you ſhulde be holy, for I am holy.

46 This is the lawe of beaſtes, & of foules, and of euerie liuing thing that moueth in the waters, and of euerie thing that creepeth vpon the earth:

47 That there may be a difference betwene the vncleane and cleane, and betwene the beaſt that may be eaten, & the beaſt that ought not to be eaten.

CHAP. XII.

1 A lawe how women ſhoulde be purged after their deliuerance.

1 And the Lord ſpake vnto Moſes, ſaying,

2 Speake vnto the children of Iſrael, and ſay, When a woman hath brought forth the ſede, and borne a manchild, ſhe ſhal be vncleane ſeuē daies, like as ſhe is vncleane when ſhe is put a parte for her diſeaſe.

4 And ſhe ſhal continue in the blood of her purifying thre and thirty daies: ſhe ſhal touche no halowed thing, nor come in to the Sanctuary, vntill the time of her purifying be out.

5 But if ſhe beare a maide child, then ſhe ſhalbe vncleane two weekes, as when ſhe hath her diſeaſe: and ſhe ſhal continue in the blood of her purifying thre ſcore and ſix daies.

6 Now when the daies of her purifying are out, (whether it be for a ſonne or for a daughter) ſhe ſhal bring to the Priſt a lambe of one yere olde for a burnt offering, and a yong pigeon or a turtle dove for a ſin offering, vnto y<sup>e</sup> dore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation,

7 Who ſhal offer it before the Lord, and make an atonement for her: ſo ſhe ſhalbe purged of the illue of her blood: this is y<sup>e</sup> lawe for her y<sup>e</sup> hath borne a male or female.

8 But if ſhe be not able to bring a labe, ſhe ſhal bring two turtles, or two yong pigeons: the one for a burnt offering, and the other for a ſin offering: and the Priſt ſhal make an atonement for her: ſo ſhe ſhalbe cleane.

that hathe the plague, ſeuē daies.

5 After, the Prieſt ſhal loke vpon him the ſeuēth day: & if the plague ſeme to him
to abide ſtil, and the plague growe not in the ſkin, the Prieſt ſhal ſhut him vp yet ſe-

6 Then the Prieſt ſhal loke on him againe
the ſeuēth day, and if the plague be darcke, and the ſore growe not in the ſkin,
then the Prieſt ſhal pronounce him clea-
ne, for it is a ſkab: therefore he ſhal waſh
his clothes, and be cleane.

7 But if the ſkab growe more in the ſkin,
after that he is ſene of the Prieſt, for to be purged, he ſhal be ſene of the Prieſt yet again.

8 Then the Prieſt ſhal conſider, and if the
ſkab growe in the ſkin, then the Prieſt ſhal pronounce him vnclane: for it is leproſie.

9 ¶ When the plague of leproſie is in a man, he ſhal be brought vnto the Prieſt,

10 And the Prieſt ſhal ſee him: & if the ſwel-
ling be white in the ſkin, & haue made y heere white, & there be rawe fleſh in the ſwelling,

11 It is an olde leproſie in the ſkin of his fleſh: and the Prieſt ſhal pronounce him vnclane, and ſhal not ſhut him vp, for he is vnclane.

12 Also if the leproſie breake out in the ſkin, and the leproſie couer all the ſkin of
the plague, from his head euen to his fete,
whereſoeuer the Prieſt loketh,

13 Then the Prieſt ſhal conſider: and if the
leproſie couer all his fleſh, he ſhal pronouce y plague to be cleane, becauſe it is all turned into whitenes: ſo he ſhal be cleane.

14 But if there be rawe fleſh on him when he is ſene, he ſhal be vnclane.

15 For the Prieſt ſhal ſee the rawe fleſh, and declare him to be vnclane: for the rawe fleſh is vnclane, therefore it is the leproſie.

16 Or if the rawe fleſh change and be turned into white, then he ſhal come to the Prieſt,

17 And the Prieſt ſhal beholde him: and if the ſore be changed into white, then the Prieſt ſhal pronouce the plague cleane, for it is cleane.

18 ¶ The fleſh alſo in whoſe ſkin there is a bile and is healed,

19 And in the place of the bile there be a white ſwelling, or a white ſpot ſomewhat

reddiſh, it ſhal be ſene of the Prieſt.

20 And whe the Prieſt ſeeth it, if it appeare
lower then the ſkin, and the heere thereof
be changed into white, the Prieſt the ſhal
pronounce him vnclane: for it is a plague of leproſie, broken out in the bile.

21 But if the Prieſt loke on it and there be no white heeres therein, & if it be not lower then the ſkin, but be darcker, then the Prieſt ſhal ſhut him vp ſeuē daies.

22 And if it ſpread abroad in the fleſh, the Prieſt ſhal pronounce him vnclane, for it is a ſore.

23 But if the ſpot continue in his place, &
growe not, it is a burning bile: therefore the Prieſt ſhal declare him to be cleane.

24 ¶ If there be anie fleſh, in whoſe ſkin
there is an hote burning, and the quicke
fleſh of the burning haue a white ſpot,
ſomewhat reddiſh or pale,

25 Then the Prieſt ſhal loke vpon it: and if the heere in that ſpot be chaged into white, and it appeare lower then the ſkin, it is a leproſie broke out in the burning: therefore the Prieſt ſhal pronounce him vnclan-
ne: for it is the plague of leproſie.

26 But if the Prieſt loke on it, and there be no white heere in the ſpot, and be no lower the other ſkin, but be darcker, then
the Prieſt ſhal ſhut him vp ſeuē daies.

27 After, the Prieſt ſhal loke on him the ſeuēth day: if it be growen abroad in the ſkinne, then the Prieſt ſhal pronouce him
vnclane: for it is the plague of leproſie.

28 And if the ſpot abide in his place, not growing in the ſkin, but is darcke, it is a riſing of the burning: the Prieſt ſhal therefore declare him cleane, for it is the drying vp of the burning.

29 ¶ If alſo a man or woman hathe a ſore
on the head or in the beard,

30 Then the Prieſt ſhal ſee the ſore: and if it appeare lower then the ſkin, and there be in it a ſmale yelow heere, then the Prieſt ſhal pronounce him vnclane: for it is a blacke ſpot, and leproſie of the head or of the beard.

31 And if the Prieſt loke on the ſore of the blacke ſpot, and if it ſeme not lower then
y ſkin nor haue anie blacke heere in it, the Prieſt ſhal ſhut vp him, that hathe the
ſore of the blacke ſpot, ſeuē daies.

32 After, in the ſeuēth day the Prieſt ſhal
loke on the ſore: and if y blacke ſpot gro-
we not, & there be in it no yelow heere,
and the blacke ſpot ſeme not lower then
the ſkin,

33 Then he ſhal be ſhaue, but the place of y
blacke ſpot ſhal he not ſhaue: but y Prieſt
ſhal ſhut vp him, that hathe the blacke ſpot,
ſeuē daies more.

34 And the ſeuēth day the Prieſt ſhal loke
on the blacke ſpot: and if the blacke ſpot

growe not in the skia, nor seme lower the
the other skin, then y Priest shal clese him,
& he shal wash his clothes, and be cleane.

35 But if the blacke spot growe abroade in
the flesh after his clensing,

36 Then the Priest shal loke on it: and if the blacke spot growe in the skin, y Priest
shal not * seke for the yelow heere: for he is vn-cleane.

37 But if the blacke spot seme to him to abide, and that blacke heere growe therein,
the blacke spot is healed, he is cleane, and
the Priest shal declare him to be cleane.

38 ¶ Furthermore if there be manie white spots in y skin of y flesh of man or woma,

39 Then the Priest shal consider: and if the spots in the skin of their flesh be somewhat darcke and white withall, it is but a white spot broken-out in the skin: therefore he is cleane.

40 And the man whose heere is fallen of his head and is balde, is cleane.

41 And if his head close the heere on the fore parte, & be balde before, he is cleane.

42 But if there be in the balde head, or in the balde fore head a white reddish fore,
it is a leprosie springig in his balde head,
or in his balde forehead.

43 Therefore the Priest shal loke vpon it,
and if the rising of the fore be white reddish in his balde head, or in his balde fore head, appearing like leprosie in the skin
of the flesh,

44 He is a leper and vn-cleane: therefore the Priest shal pronounce him altogether vn-
cleane: for the fore is in his head.

45 The leper also in whome the plague is,
shal haue his clothes rent, and his head
bare, and shal put a couering vpo his lippes, and shal crye, I am vn-cleane, I am vncleane.

46 As long as the di sease shal be vpon him,
he shal be polluted, for he is vn-cleane: he
shal dwel alone, * without the campe shal
his habitation be.

47 ¶ Also the garment that the plague of leprosie is in, whether it be a wollen garment or a linen garment,

48 Whether it be in the warpe or in the woofe of linen or of wollen, ether in a skin or in anie thing made of skin,

49 And if the fore be grene or somewhat reddish in the garment or in the skin, or
in the warpe, or in the woofe, or in anie
thing that is made of skin, it is a plague of leprosie & shal be shewed vnto the Priest.

50 Then the Priest shal se the plague, and shut vp it that haue the plague, seuē daies,

51 And shal loke on the plague the seuenth
day: if the plague growe in the garment or in the warpe, or in the woofe, or in the skin or in anie thing that is made of skin,
that plague is a freating leprosie and vn-

cleane.

52 And he shal burne the garment, or the
warpe, or the woofe, whether it be wollen
or linen, or anie thing that is made of skin, wherein the plague is: for it is a frea-ting leprosie, therefore it shalbe burnt in the fire.

53 If the Priest yet se that the plague egro-
we not in the garment, or in the woofe,
or in whatsoeuer thing of skin it be,

54 Then the Priest shal commade them to wash the thing wherein the plague is, &
he shal shut it vp seuen dayes more.

55 Againe the Priest shal loke on the plague, after it is washed: and if the plague
haue not changed his colour, thogh the plague spred no further, it is vn-cleane:
thou shalt burne it in y fire, for it is a frea-
ting leprosie, whether the spot be in the bare
place of the whole, or in parte thereof.

56 And if the Priest se that the plague be darcker, after that it is washed, he shal cut
it out of the garment, or out of the skin,
or out of the warpe, or out of the woofe.

57 And if it appeare stil in the garment or
in the warpe, or in the woofe, or in anie
thing made of skin, it is a spreading leprosie: thou shalt burne the thing wherein the plague is, in the fire.

58 If thou hast washed the garment or the warpe, or y woofe, or whatsoeuer thing of skin it be, if the plague be departed therefrom, then shal it be washed the seconde
time, and be cleane.

59 This is the lawe of the plague of leprosie in a garment of wollen or linen, or in the warpe, or in the woofe, or in anie thing
of skin, to make it cleane or vn-cleane.

Then he that shalbe clenfed, shal wash
his clothes, and shaue of all his heere, and wash him selfe in water, so he shalbe clea-

but shal tarie without his tent seuen dayes.

So in the seuenth day he shal shaue of all his heere, bothe his head, and his beard, &
his eie browes: euen all his heere shal he shaue, & shal wash his clothes & shal wash
his flesh in water: so he shalbe cleane.

Then in the eight day he shal take two
he lambes without e blemish, and an ewe
lambe of a yere olde without blemish,
and thre tenth deales of fine floure for a meat offering, mingled with oyle, and a pinte of oyle.

And the Priest that maketh him cleane
shal bring the man which is to be made cleane, and those things, before the Lord,
at the dore of the Tabernacle of the Cogregacion.

Then the Priest shal take one lambe, & offer him for a trespass offering, and the pinte of oyle, and shake them to and fro
before the Lord.

And he shal kil the lambe in the place
where the sinne offering and the burnt of-firing are slaine, euen in the holy place: for
as the sin offering is the Priests, so is the trespasse offering: for it is moste holy.

So the Priest shal take of the blood of the trespass offering, and put it vpon the lap of the right eare of him that shal-be clenfed, and vpon the thumbe of his right hand, and vpon the great toe of his right fote.

The Priest shal also take of the pinte of
oyle, and powre it into the palme of his left hand,

And the Priest shal dip his right finger
in the oyle that is in his left had, & sprinkle of the oyle with his finger seven times
before the Lord.

And of the rest of the oyle that is in his hand, shal the Priest put vpon the lap of the right eare of him that is to be clen-
fed, & vpon the thumbe of his right hand,
and vpon the great toe of his right fote,
where the blood of the trespass offering
was put.

But the remnant of the oyle that is in the Priestes hand, he shal powre vpon the head of him that is to be clenfed: so the Priest shal make an atonemet for him before the Lord.

And the Priest shal offer the sin offering and make an atonement for him that is to be clenfed of his vncleannes: the after shal
he kil the burnt offering.

So the Priest shal offer the burnt offering & the meat offering vpon the altar: and the Priest shal make an atonement for him: so

he shalbe cleane.

But if he be poore, & not able, then he shal bring one labe for a trespass offering to be shake, for his reedociation, & a tenth deale of fine floure mingled with oyle, for
a meat offering, with a pinte of oyle.

Also two turtle doves, or two yong pigeons, as he is able, wherof the one shal-be a sin offering, and the other a burnt of-
firing,

And he shal bring them the eight day
for his clenfing vnto the Priest at the dore of the Tabernacle of the Congrega-cion before the Lord.

Then the Priest shal take the lambe of
the trespass offering, and the pinte of oyle,
and the Priest shal shake them to and fro before the Lord.

And he shal kil the lambe of the trespass
offering, & the Priest shal take of y blood of the trespass offering, and put it vpon the
lap of his right eare that is to be clenfed,
and vpon the thumbe of his right hand, &
vpon the great toe of his right fote.

Also the Priest shal powre of the oyle
into the palme of his owne left hand.

So the Priest shal with his right finger sprinkle of the oyle that is in his left hand, seven times before the Lord.

Then the Priest shal put of the oyle
that is in his hand, vpon the lap of the right eare of him that is to be clenfed, and vpon the thumbe of his right hand, and vpon the great toe of his right fote: vpon
the place of the blood of the trespass of-
firing.

But y rest of the oyle that is in y Priests
had, he shal put vpon the head of him that is to be clenfed, to make an atonement for him before the Lord.

Also he shal present one of the turtle doves, or of the yong pigeons, as he is able:

Suche, I say, as he is able, the one for a sin
offering, and the other for a burnt offering
with the meat offering: so the Priest shal
make an atonement for him that is to be clenfed before the Lord.

This is the lawe of him which hathe y plague of leprosie, who is not able in his clenfing to offere the whole.

The Lord also spake vnto Moses and to Aarón, saying,

When ye be come vnto the land of Canaan which I gve you in possession, if I send the plague of leprosie in an house
of the land of your possession,

Then he that oweth the house, shal come house.

empty the house before the Priest go in to it to se the plague, that all that is in the house be not made vnclane, and then shal the Priest go in to se the house,

And he shal marke the plague: and if the plague be in the wall of the house, and that there be depe spots, grenish or reddish, which seme to be lower the wall,

Then the Priest shal go out of the house to the dore of the house, and shal cause to shut vp the house seuen daies.

So y<sup>e</sup> Priest shal come againe the seneth day: and if he se that the plague be increased in the wall of the house,

Then the Priest shal commande them to take away y<sup>e</sup> stones wherein the plague is, and they shal cast them into a foule place without the citie.

Also he shal cause to scrape the house within round about, and powre the dust, that they haue pared of, without the citie in an vnclane place.

And they shal take other stones, and put the in y<sup>e</sup> places of those stones, & shal take other mortar, to plaister the house with.

But if the plague come againe and breake out in the house, after that he hath taken away the stones, and after y<sup>e</sup> he hath scraped and plaistred the house,

Then the Priest shal come and see: and if the plague growe in the house, it is a freating leprosie in the house: it is therefore vnclane.

And he shal breake downe the house, with the stones of it, and the timber thereof, and all the mortor of the house, and he shal carie them out of the citie vnto an vnclane place.

Morouer he that goeth into the house all y<sup>e</sup> while that it is shut vp, he shal be vnclane vntil the euen.

He also that slepeth in the house shal wash his clothes: he likewise that eateth in the house, shal wash his clothes.

But if the Priest shal come and se, that the plague hath spread no further in the house, after the house be plaistred, the Priest shal pronounce that house cleane, for the plague is healed.

Then shal he take to purifie the house, two sparowes, and cedar wood, & skarlet lace, and hyssope.

And he shal kill one sparowe ouer pure water in an earthen vessel,

And shal take the cedar wood, and the hyssope, and the skarlet lace with the liue sparowe, and dip them in the blood of the liue sparowe, and in the pure water, and sprinkle the house seuen times:

So shal he clesne the house wth the blood of the sparowe and with the pure water, and with the liue sparowe, & with the cedar wood, and with the hyssope, and with the skarlet lace, Afterwarde he shal let go y<sup>e</sup> liue sparowe out of the towne into y<sup>e</sup> broad fieldes: so shal he make atonement for the house, and it shal be cleane.

This is the lawe for euerie plague of leprosie and blacke spot,

And of the leprosie of the garment, and of the house,

And of the swelling, and of the skab, & of the white spot.

This is the lawe of y<sup>e</sup> leprosie to teache when a thing is vnclane, and when it is cleane.

The manner of purging the vnclane issues both of men and women. The children of Israel must be separate from all vnclannes.

Morouer the Lord spake vnto Moyses, and to Aaron, saying, Speake vnto the children of Israel, and say vnto them, Whosoever hath an issue from his flesh, is vnclane, because of his issue.

And this shal be his vnclennes in his issue: when his flesh auoideth his issue, or if his flesh be stopped from his issue, this is his vnclennes.

Euerie bed whereon he lieth that hath y<sup>e</sup> issue, shal be vnclane, & euerie thing whereon he sitteth, shal be vnclane.

Whosoever also toucheth his bed, shal wash his clothes, and wash him selfe in water, and shal be vnclane vntil the euen.

And he y<sup>e</sup> sitteth on anie thing, whereon he sate that hath the issue, shal wash his clothes, & wash him selfe in water, & shal be vnclane vntil the euen.

Also he that toucheth the flesh of him that hath the issue, shal wash his clothes, & wash him selfe in water, and shal be vnclane vntil the euen.

If he also, y<sup>e</sup> hath the issue, spit vp o him that is cleane, he shal wash his clothes, & wash him selfe in water, & shal be vnclane vntil the euen.

And whosoever toucheth anie thing that was vnder him, shal be vnclane vnto the euen: and he that beareth those things, shal wash his clothes, and wash him selfe in water, and shal be vnclane vntil the euen.

Likewise whome soeuer he toucheth y<sup>e</sup> hath the issue (and hath not washed his hands in water) shal wash his clothes & wash him selfe in water, & shal be vnclane vntil the euen.

32 And whosoever toucheth anie thing that

33 So that whether he touche her bed, or a-

34 And if a man lie with her, and the floures
of her separacion<sup>e</sup> touche him, he shalbe

whereon he lieth, shalbe vnclene.

35 Also when a womans issue of blood run-

he goates: one lot for the Lord, and the other for the Scape goat.

And Aaron shal offer the goat, vpon
which the Lords lot shal fall, and make him a sinne offering.

But the goat, on which the lot shal fall
to be the Scape goat, shalbe presented aliue before the Lord, to make reconciliacion by him, & to let him go (as a Scape goat) into the wilderness.

Thus Aaron shal offer the bullocke for his sinne offering, & make a reconciliacion for him selfe, and for his house, and shal
kill the bullocke for his sinne offering.

And he shal take a censer full of burning
coles from of the Altar before the Lord, & his handfull of sweet incens beat small,
and bring it within the vaile,

And shal put the incens vpon the fire before the Lord, that the cloude of the in-cens may couer the Mercieseat that is vpon
the Testimonie: so he shal not dye.

And he shal take of the blood of the
bullocke, & sprinkle it with his finger
vpon the Mercieseat Eastward: and before the Mercieseat shal he sprinkle of the blood with his finger seven times.

Then shal he kill the goat that is the peoples sinne offering, & bring his blood
within the vaile, and do with that blood,
as he did with the blood of the bullocke, & sprinkle it vpon the Mercieseat, and before the Mercieseat.

So he shal purge the Holy place from the vncleannes of the children of Israel, &
from their trespasses of all their finnes: so shal he do also for the Tabernacle of the Congregation placed with them, in the middles of their vncleannes.

And there shal be no man in the Tabernacle of the Congregation, when he goeth in to make an atonement in the Holy place, vntill he come out, & haue made an atonement for him selfe, & for his house
holde, and for all the Congregation of Israel.

After, he shal go out vnto the Altar
that is before the Lord, & make a reconciliation vpon it, & shal take of the blood of the bullocke, and of the blood of the goat, and put it vpon the hornes of the Altar round about:

So shal he sprinkle of the blood vpon it
with his finger seven times, and cleanse it,
and halowe it from the vncleannes of the children of Israel.

When he hath made an end of purging
the Holy place, & the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and the altar, then he shal
bring the liue goat:

And Aaron shal put bothe his hands vpon
the head of the liue goat, and confesse
ouer him all the iniquities of the childre

of Israel, & all their trespasses, in all their finnes, putting the vpon the head of the goat, and shal send him away (by the hand of a man appointed) into the wilderness.

So the goat shal beare vpon him all their iniquities into the land that is not inhabited, and he shal let the goat go into the wildernes.

After, Aaron shal come into the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and put of the linen clothes, which he put on when he went into the Holy place, & leaue the there.

He shal wash also his flesh with water in the Holy place, and put on his owne raiment, and come out, and make his burnt offring, and the burnt offering of the people, and make an atonement for him selfe,
and for the people.

Also the fat of the sinne offering shal he burne vpon the Altar.

And he that caryed forthe the goat, called the Scape goat, shal wash his clothes,
and wash his flesh in water, and after that
shal come into the holte.

Also the bullocke for the sinne offering,
and the goat for the sinne offering (whose blood was broght to make a reconciliacion in the Holy place) shal one cary out without the holte to be burnt in the fire, with their skins, and with their flesh, and with their dung.

And he that burneth them shal wash his clothes, and wash his flesh in water, and afterwarde come into the holte.

So this shalbe an ordinance for euer
vnto you: the tenth day of the seventh moneth ye shal humble your soules, and do no worke at all, whether it be one of y<sup>e</sup>
same country or a stranger that sojourne-
th among you.

For the day shal the Priest make an atonement for you to cleanse you: ye shal be cleane
from all your finnes before the Lord.

This shalbe a Sabbath of rest vnto you,
and ye shal humble your soules, by an ordinance for euer.

And the Priest whom he shal appoint,
and whom he shal consecrate (to minister
in his fathers steed) shal make the atonement, and shal put on the linen clothes &
holy vestments,

And shal purge the holy Sanctuary and
the Tabernacle of the Congregation, &
shal cleanse the Altar, & make an atonement for the Priests and for all the people of the Congregation.

And this shalbe an everlasting ordinance
vnto you, to make an atonement for the childre of Israel for all their finnes: once
a yere: and as the Lord commanded Moyses,
he did.

hathe commanded, saying,

3 Whoſoeuer he be of the house of Israël

wherefore that man shalbe cut of from a-

5 Therefore the children of Israël shal
bring their offerings, which they wolde offer
abroad in the field, and present them
vnto the Lord at y dore of the Taberna-

6 Then the Priest shal sprinkle the blood

7 And thei shal no more offer their offrings

8 ¶ Also thou shalt say vnto them, Whoſo-

strangers which so iourne among them,
that offereth a burnt offering, or sacrifice,

9 And bringeth it not vnto the dore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation to offer it vnto the Lord, euē that man shal be cut of from his people.

10 ¶ Likewise whoſoeuer he be of the house of Israël, or of the strangers that so iourne among them, that eateth anie blood, I wil euē set my face against that persone
that eateth blood, & wil cut him of from
among his people:

11 For the life of the flesh is in the blood, &
I haue giuen it vnto you to offer vpon the altar, to make an atonement for your sou-
les: for this blood shal make an atonement
for the soule.

12 Therefore I said vnto the childre of Is-raēl, None of you shal eat blood: nether
the stranger that so iourneth among you,
shal eat blood.

13 Moreover whoſoeuer he be of the children of Israël, or of the strangers that so iourne among them, which by hunting
taketh anie beast or foule that maie be eate, he shal powe out y blood thereof,
and couer it with dust:

14 For the life of all flesh is his blood, it is

ioyned with his life: therefore I said vnto
the children of Israël, * Ye shal eat the blood of no flesh: for the life of all flesh
is the blood thereof: whoſoeuer eateth
it, shal be cut of.

15 And euerie persone that eateth it which dyeth alone, or that which is torne with beastes, whether it be one of the same countrey
or a stranger, he shal bothe wash his clo-

16 But if he walsh them not, nor walsh his

29 For whosoever shall commit anie of these abominations, the persones that do so, shall be cut off from among their people.

CHAP. XIX.

1 A repetition of sundrie lawes and ordinances.

1 And the Lord spake vnto Moses, saying,

2 Speake vnto all the Congregation of the children of Israel, and say vnto them, *Ye shall be holy, for I the Lord your God am holy.

3 *Ye shall feare euery man his mother &

his father, and shall kepe my Sabbaths: for I am the Lord your God.

4 *Ye shall not turne vnto idoles, nor make you molten gods: I am the Lord your God.

5 And when ye shall offer a peace offering vnto the Lord, ye shall offer it freely.

6 *It shall be eaten the day ye offer it, or on the morowe: & that which remaineth vntil the third day, shall be burnt in the fire. For if it be eaten the third day, it shall be vncleane, it shall not be accepted.

7 Therefore he that eateth it, shall beare his iniquitie, because he hath defiled the halowed thing of the Lord, and that person shall be cut off from his people.

8 *When ye reape your harvest of your land, ye shall not reape euery corner of your field, nether shall thou gather the gleanings of thy harvest.

9 Thou shalt not gather the grapes of thy vineyard cleane, nether gather euery grape of thy vineyard, but thou shalt leaue them for the poore and for the stranger: I am the Lord your God.

10 *Ye shall not steal, nether shall ye deal falsely, nether lie one to another.

11 *Also ye shall not sweare by my Name falsely, nether shall thou defile the Name of thy God: I am the Lord.

12 *Thou shalt not do thy neighbour wrong, nether robbe him. *The workemans hire shall not abide with thee vntil the morning.

13 *Thou shalt not curse the deafe, nether put a stumbling block before the blinde, but shalt feare thy God: I am the Lord.

14 *Ye shall not do vniustly in iudgement.

15 *Thou shalt not fauour the persone of the poore, nor honour the persone of the mighty, but shalt iudge thy neighbour iustly.

16 *Thou shalt not walke about with tales among thy people. Thou shalt not stand against the blood of thy neighbour: I am the Lord.

17 *Thou shalt not hate thy brother in thine heart, but thou shalt plainly rebuke thy neighbour, and suffice him not to sinne.

18 *Thou shalt not auenge, nor be minded of wrong against the childre of thy people, but shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe: I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

For whom the Priests may lament. 6 How pure the Priests ought to be, both in their selues and in their families.

1 And the Lord said vnto Moses, Speake vnto the Priests the sonnes of

Aaron, and say vnto them, Let none be defiled by the dead among his people, Bur by his kinsfema that is nere vnto him: to wit, by his mother, or by his father, or by his sonne, or by his daughter, or by his brother,

Or by his sister a maid, that is nere vnto him, which hath not had a husband: for her he may lament.

He shall not lament for the prince among his people, to pollute himselfe.

They shall not make bald partes vpon their head, nor shau the lockes of their beard, nor make anie cuttings in their flesh.

They shall be holy vnto their God, and not pollute the Name of their God: for the sacrifices of the Lord made by fire, and the bread of their God they do offer: there fore they shall be holy.

They shall not take to wife an whore, or one polluted, nether shall they marie a woman diuorced from her husband: for such one is holy vnto his God.

Thou shalt sanctifie him therefore, for he offereth the bread of thy God: he shall be holy vnto thee: for I the Lord, which sanctifie you, am holy.

If a Priests daughter fall to playe the whore, she polluteh her father: therefore shall she be burnt with fire.

Also y his Priests among his brethren, (vpon whose head the anointing oyle was powred, and hath consecrated his hand to put on the garments) shall not vncouer his head, nor rent his clothes,

Nether shall he go to anie dead body, nor make him selfe vncleane by his father or by his mother,

Nether shall he go out of the Sanctuary, nor pollute the holy place of his God: for the crowne of the anointing oyle of his God is vpon him: I am the Lord.

Also he shall take a maid vnto his wife:

But a widowe, or a diuorced woman, or a polluted, or an harlot, these shall he not marry, but shall take a maid of his owne people to wife:

Nether shall he defile himselfe among his people: for I am the Lord & sanctifie him.

And y Lord spake vnto Moses, saying,

Thus spake Moses vnto Aarón, and to his sonnes, and to all the childre of Israël.

CHAP. XXII.

Who ought to abstaine from eating the things that were offered. 19 What oblations shoulde be offered.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses, say-

Speake vnto Aarón, and to his sonnes,
that they be separated from the holy things of the children of Israël, and that they pollute not mine holy Name in those things, which they halowe vnto me: I am
the Lord.

Say vnto them, Whosoeuer he be of all your seide among your generacions after you, that toucheth the holy things which
the childre of Israël halowe vnto the Lord, haueing his vncleannes vpon him, euē that person shal be cut of from my sight: I
the Lord.

* Whosoeuer also of the seide of Aarón is a leper, or hathe a running issue, he shal not eat of the holy things vntill he be cleane:
and whoso toucheth anie that is vnclean
by reason of the dead, or a man whose
issue of seide runneth from him,

Or the man that toucheth anie creeping
thing, whereby he may be made vncleane,
or a man, by whome he may take vnclean-
nes, whosoeuer vncleannes he hathe,

The persone that hathe touched such shal therefore be vncleane vntill the euen,
and shal not eat of the holy things, except
he haue washed his flesh with water.

But when the sunne is downe, he shal be cleane, and shal afterward eat of the holy things: for it is his fode.

* Of a beast that dyeth, or is rent with beasts, whereby he may be defiled, he shal
not eat: I am the Lord.

Let them kepe therefore mine ordinance, lest they beare their sinne for it, and dye for it, if they defile it: I the Lord sanctifie them.

There shal no stranger also eat of the holy thing, nether the guest of the Priest,
nether shal an hired seruant eat of the holy thing:

But if the Priest bie anie with money, he shal eat of it, also he that is borne in his house: they shal eat of his meat.

If the Priests daughter also be married vnto a stranger, she may not eat of the holy offerings.

Notwithstanding if the Priests daughter
be a widow or diuorced, and haue no chil-
de, but is returned vnto her fathers house,
she shal eat of her fathers bread, as she did
in her youth: but there shal no stranger
eat thereof.

* If a man eat of the holy thing vnwittingly, he shal put the fifte parte therevnto, and giue it vnto the Priest with the halowed thing.

So they shal not defile the holy things of the children of Israël, which they offer vn-
to the Lord.

Nether cause the people to beare the ini-quities of their trespass, while they eat their holy thing: for I the Lord do halow them.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses, saying,

Speake vnto Aarón, and to his sonnes,
and to all the children of Israël, and say
vnto them, Whosoeuer he be of the house of Israël, or of the strangers in Israël, that
wil offer his sacrifice for all their vowes,
and for all their fre offerings, w they vse to offer vnto the Lord for a burnt offering,

Ye shal offer of your fre minde a male without blemish of the beues, of the she-pe, or of the goates.

Ye shal not offer anie thing y hath a blemish:
for y shal not be acceptable for you.

* And whosoeuer bringeth a peace offering vnto the Lord to accomplish his vow, or for a fre offering, of the beues, or of y she-pe, his fre offering shal be perfecte, no blemish
shal be in it.

Blinde, or broken, or maimed, or haueing
a wenne, or skiruiue, or skabbed: these shal ye not offer vnto the Lord nor make an offring by fire of these vpon the altar of
the Lord.

Yet a bullocke, or a shepe that hathe anie
membre superfluous, or lackig, such a maieft
thou present for a fre offering, but for a vowe it shal not be accepted.

Ye shal not offer vnto the Lord that which is bruised or crushed, or broken, or cut away, nether shal ye make an offering thereof
in your land,

Nether of the hand of a stranger shal ye
offer the bread of your God of anie of these,
because their corrupcion is in them,
there is a blemish in the: therefore shal they
not be accepted for you.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses, saying,

CHAP. XXIII.

The feasts of the Lord. 3 The Sabbath. 5 The Pascheouer. 6 The feast of vnleauened bread. 10 The feast of first frutes. 16 Whitsontide. 24 The feast of blowing trumpets. 34 The feast of tabernacles.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses, saying,
2 Speake vnto the children of Israel, and say vnto them, The feasts of the Lord which ye shal call the holy <sup>a</sup> assemblies, euen these are my feasts.

3 *Six daies* shal worke be done, but in the seuenth day shalbe the Sabbath of rest, an holy <sup>a</sup> conuocation: ye shal do no worke therein; it is the Sabbath of the Lord, in all your dwellings.

4 ¶ These are y<sup>e</sup> feasts of the Lord, and holy conuocations, which ye shal proclame in their <sup>a</sup> seasons.

5 In the first moneth, and in the fourteenth day of the moneth at euening shalbe the Pascheouer of the Lord.

6 And on the fiftenth day of this moneth shalbe the feast* of vnleauened bread vnto the Lord: seuen daies ye shal eat vnleauened bread.

7 In the first day ye shal haue an holy conuocation: ye shal do no <sup>b</sup> seruile worke therein.

8 Also ye shal offer sacrifice made by fire vnto the Lord seuen daies, and in the <sup>c</sup> seuenth day shalbe an holy conuocation: ye shal do no seruile worke therein.

9 ¶ And y<sup>e</sup> Lord spake vnto Moses, saying,

10 Speake vnto the children of Israel, and say vnto the, When ye be come into the land, which I giue vnto you, and reape the haruest thereof, the ye shal bring* a sheafe of the first frutes of your haruest vnto the Priest,

11 And he shal shake the sheafe before the Lord, that it may be acceptable for you: the morowe after the <sup>d</sup> Sabbath, the Priest shal shake it.

12 And that day when ye shake the sheafe, shal ye prepare a lambe without blemish of a yere olde, for a burnt offering vnto the Lord:

13 And the meat offering thereof shalbe two <sup>e</sup> tenth deales of fine flour mingled with oyle, for a sacrifice made by fire vnto the Lord of swete saour: and the drinke offering thereof the fourth part <sup>f</sup> of an Hin of wine.

14 And ye shal eat nether bread nor parched come, nor* grene eares vntil the selfe same day that ye haue broght an offering vnto your God: this shal be a lawe for euer in your generacions and in all your dwellings.

15 ¶ Ye shal count also to you from the morowe after the <sup>g</sup> Sabbath, euen from the day that ye shal bring the sheafe of the shake offering, seuen <sup>h</sup> Sabbaths, thei shalbe complete.

16 Vnto the morowe after the seuenth Sabbath shal ye nombre fifty daies: then ye shal bring a newe meat offering vnto the Lord.

17 Ye shal bring out of your habitacions bread for the shake offering: thei shalbe two <sup>i</sup> loaves of two tenth deales of fine flour, which shalbe baked with <sup>j</sup> leaunen for first frutes vnto the Lord.

18 Also ye shal offer with the bread seuen lambes without blemish of one yere olde, and a yong bullocke and two rams: thei shal be for a burnt offering vnto the Lord, with their meat offerings and their drinke offerings, for a sacrifice made by fire of a swete saour vnto the Lord.

19 Then ye shal prepare an he goat for a sin offering, and two lambes of one yere olde for peace offerings.

20 And the Priest shal shake them to and fro with the bread of the first frutes before the Lord, and with the two lambes: thei shalbe holy to the Lord, for the <sup>k</sup> Priest.

21 So ye shal proclame the same day, that it may be an holy conuocation vnto you: ye shal do no seruile worke therein: it shal be an ordinance for euer in all your dwellings, throughout your generacions.

22 ¶ And when you reape the haruest of your land, thou shalt not rid cleane y<sup>e</sup> corners of thy felde when thou reapest, nether shalt thou make anie aftergathering of thy haruest, but shalt leaue them vnto the poore and to the stranger: I am the Lord your God.

23 ¶ And y<sup>e</sup> Lord spake vnto Moses, saying,

24 Speake vnto the children of Israel, and say, In the <sup>l</sup> seuenth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth shal ye <sup>m</sup> haue a Sabbath, for the remembrance of <sup>n</sup> blowing the trumpets, an holy conuocation.

25 Ye shal do no seruile worke therein, but offer sacrifice made by fire vnto the Lord.

ye shal offer sacrifices made by fire vnto
the LORD: it is the Solemne assemblie,

37 These are y feastes of the LORD (which ye shal call holy conuocations) to offer sa-

and beside all your fe offerings, which ye shal giue vnto the LORD.

39 But in the fiftieth day of the seuenth

vnto the LORD seuen daies: in the first day
shalbe a Sabbath: likewise in the eight day shalbe a Sabbath.

40 And ye shal take you in the first day the frute of goodlie trees, branches of palme
trees, and the boughes of thicke trees, &
willowes of the broke, and shal reioyce
before the LORD your God seuen daies.

41 So ye shal kepe this feast vnto the LORD
seuen daies in the yere, by a perpetual or-

seuenth moneth shal you kepe it.

42 Ye shal dwell in boothes seuen daies: all that are Israelites borne, shal dwell in bo-

43 That your posteritie may knowe that I
haue made the children of Israel to dwell
in boothes, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt: I am y LORD your God.

44 So Moses declared vnto the children of Israel the feastes of the LORD.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 The oyle for the lampes: 5 The sheuebread. 14 The

1 And the LORD spake vnto Moses,
saying,

2 Commande the children of Israel that
thei bring vnto thee pure oyle oliue bea-

3 Without the vaile of the Testimonie,
in the Tabernacle of the Congregation,
shal Aaron dresse them, bothe euen and

be a lawe for euer through your genera-

4 He shal dresse the lampes vpon the pu-

5 Also thou shalt take fine flour, & bake twelue cakes thereof: two tenth deales
shal be in one cake.

6 And thou shalt set them in two rowes, six in a rowe vpon the pure table before the LORD.

7 Thou shalt also put pure incense vpon the rowes, that in stede of the bread it may be for a remembrance, and an offering mathis sonne of the Israelitish woman, and a man of Israel stroue together in the 11 So the Israelitish womans sonne blas-

The Sabbath of the seventh yere. 2 The Iubile in the fiftieth yere. 3 Not to oppress their brethren: 4 The sale, and redeeming of lands, houses and persons.

1 And the Lord spake vnto Moses in mount Sinai, saying,

2 Speake vnto the children of Israël, and say vnto them, When ye shal come into the land which I giue you, the land shal kepe Sabbath vnto the Lord.

3 Six yeres thou shalt sowe thy field, and six yeres thou shalt cut thy vineyard, and gather the frute thereof.

4 But the seventh yere shal be a Sabbath of rest vnto the land: it shal be the Lords Sabbath: thou shalt neither sowe thy field, nor cut thy vineyard.

5 That which groweth of it owne accord of thy haruest, thou shalt not reape, neither gather the grapes that thou haste left vnlaboured: for it shal be a yere of rest vnto the land.

6 And the rest of the land shal be meat for you, euen for thee, & for thy seruant, & for thy maid, & for thy hyred seruant, and for the stranger that sojourneth with thee:

7 And for thy cattel, and for the beastes that are in thy land shal all the increase thereof be meat.

8 ¶ Also thou shalt number seven Sabbaths of yeres vnto thee, euen seven times seven yeres: and the space of the seven Sabbaths of yeres wil be vnto thee nine and fourty yere.

9 Then thou shalt cause to blowe the trumpet of the Iubile in the tenth day of the seuenth moneth: euen in the day of the reconciliation shal ye make the trumpet blowe, through out all your land.

10 And ye shal halowe that yere, euen the fiftieth yere, and proclaime libertie in the land to all the inhabitants thereof: it shal be the Iubile vnto you, and ye shal returne euerie man vnto his possession, and euerie man shal returne vnto his familie.

11 This fiftieth yere shal be a yere of Iubile vnto you: ye shal not sowe, neither reape that which groweth of it selfe, neither gather the grapes thereof, that are left vnlaboured.

12 For it is the Iubile, it shal be holy vnto you: ye shal eat of the increase thereof out of the field.

13 In the yere of this Iubile, ye shal returne euerie man vnto his possession.

14 And when thou sellest ought to thy neighbour, or byest at thy neighbours hand, ye shal not oppress one another:

15 But according to the number of yeres after the Iubile thou shalt bye of thy neighbour: also according to the number of the yeres of the reuenues, he shal sell vnto thee.

16 According to the multitude of yeres, thou shalt encrease the price thereof, and according to the fewnes of yeres, thou shalt abate the price of it: for the number of frutes doeth he sell vnto thee.

17 Oppresse not ye therefore anie man his neighbour, but thou shalt feare thy God: for I am the Lord your God.

18 ¶ Wherefore ye shal obey mine ordinances, and kepe my lawes, and do them, and ye shal dwell in the land in safteie.

19 And the land shal giue her frute, and ye shal eat your fill, and dwell therein in safteie.

20 And if ye shal say, What shal we eat the seventh yere, for we shal not sowe, nor gather in our increase?

21 I wil send my blessing vpon you in the sixth yere, and it shal bring forth the frute for three yeres.

22 And ye shal sowe the eighth yere, and eat of the olde frute vntil the ninth yere: vntil the frute thereof come, ye shal eat the olde.

23 ¶ Also the land shal not be solde to be cut of from the familie: for the land is mine, and ye be but strangers and sojourners with me.

24 Therefore in all the land of your possession ye shal grante a redemption for the land.

Then shal he counte the yeres of his
sale, and restore the ouerplus to the man,
to whome he solde it: so shal he returne
to his possession.

But if he can not get sufficient to restore
to him, then that which is solde, shal re-
maine in the hād of him that hath boght
it, vntil the yere of the Iubile: and in the Iubile it shal come out, and he shal re-
turne vnto his possession.

Likewise if a man sel a dwelling house
in a walled citie, he may bye it out againe within a whole yere after it is solde: with-
in a yere may he bye it out.

But if it be not boght out within the space of a ful yere, then the house that is in the walled citie, shal be stablished, as cut
of from the familie, to him that boght it,
throughout his generacions: it shal not go out in the Iubile.

But the houses of villages, which haue
no walles rounde about them, shal be eitemed as the field of the countrie: they may be boght out againe, and shal go out in the Iubile.

Notwithstanding, the cities of the Le-uites, and the houses of the cities of their possession, may the Leuites redeme at all seasons.

And if a mā purchase of the Leuites, the house that was solde, and the citie of their possession shal go out in the Iubile: for y houses of the cities of y Leuites are their possession among the children of Israël.

But the field of the suburbs of their cities, shal not be solde: for it is their perpetual possession.

Moreover if thy brother be impoue-
rished, and fallen in decay with thee,
thou shalt releue him, and as a strāger and
sojourner, so shal he liue with thee.

Thou shalt take no vsurie of him, nor
vantage, but thou shalt feare thy God,
that thy brother may liue with thee.

Thou shalt not giue him thy money to vsurie, nor lend him thy vitailles for increase.

I am the Lord your God, which haue
brought you out of the lād of Egypt, to giue
you the land of Canaan, and to be your God.

If thy brother also that dwelleth by thee, be impouerished, and be solde vnto
thee, thou shalt not compel him to serue
as a bonde seruant,

But as an hyred seruant, and as a sojourner he shal be with thee: he shal serue
thee vnto the yere of the Iubile.

The shal he departe from thee, to he he,
and his children with him, and shal retur-
ne vnto his familie, and vnto the possession of his fathers shal he returne:

For they are my seruants, whome I brought out of the land of Egypt: they shal

not be solde as bonde men are solde.

Thou shalt not rule ouer him cruelly,
but shalt feare thy God.

Thy bonde seruant also, and thy bonde
maid, which thou shalt haue, shal be of the heathen that are rounde about you: of the shal ye bye seruants and maids.

And moreouer of the children of the
strangers, that are sojourners among you;
of them shal ye bye, and of their families
that are with you, which they begate in your land: these shal be your possession.

So ye shal take them as inheritance for your children after you, to possesse them
by inheritance, ye shal vse their labours
for euer: but ouer your brethren the children of Israël ye shal not rule one ouer another with crueltie.

If a sojourner or a stranger dwelling
by thee get riches, and thy brother by him
be impouerished, and sel him selfe vnto
the stranger or sojourner dwelling by thee,
or to the stocke of the strangers familie,

After that he is solde, he may be boght
out: one of his brethren may bye him out,

Or his vncler, or his vncler sone may bye
him out, or anie of the kindred of his flesh
among his familie, may redeme him: ether if he can get so muche, he may bye him selfe out.

Then he shal reken with his byer from the yere that he was solde to him, vnto the yere of Iubile: and the money of his sale
shal be according to the number of yeres:
according to the time of an hyred
seruant shal he be with him.

If there be manie yeres behinde, according to them he shal giue againe for his deliuerance, of the money that he was boght for.

If there remaine but fewe yeres vnto the
yere of Iubile, the he shal couete with him,
and according to his yeres giue againe
for his redemption.

He shal be with him yere by yere as an
hyred seruāt: he shal not rule cruelly ouer
him in thy sight.

And if he be not redemed thus, he shal go out in the yere of Iubile, he, and his children with him.

For vnto me the children of Israël are
seruants: they are my seruants, whome
I haue brought out of the land of Egypt: I am the Lord your God.

shall sleepe and none shall make you afraid:
also I wil rid euil beasts out of the land,
and the sword shall not go through your
land.

Also ye shall chase your enemies, and they shall fall before you vpon the sword.

*And five of you shall chase an hundredth,
and an hundredth of you shall put ten thousand to flight, and your enemies shall fall
before you vpon the sword.

For I wil haue respect vnto you, & make you increase, & multiplie you, and I wil
establishe my couenant with you.

Ye shall eat also olde store, and cary out
olde because of the newe.

*And I wil set my Tabernacle among
you, and my soule shall not lothe you.

Also I wil walke among you, and I wil
be your God, and ye shall be my people.

I am the Lord your God which haue
brought you out of the land of Egypt, that ye shulde not be their bondmen, and I haue broken the bondes of your yoke, and made you go vpright.

*But if ye wil not obey me, nor do all
these commandements,

And if ye shall despise mine ordinances,
either if your soule abhorre my Lawes, so that ye wil not do all my commandements,
but breake my couenant,

Then wil I also do this vnto you, I wil appoint ouer you fearfulness, a consumption, and the burning ague to consume the eies, and make the heart heauy,
and you shall sowe your seede in vaine:
for your enemies shall eat it:

And I wil set my face against you, and ye shall fall before your enemies, and they
that hate you, shall reigne ouer you, *and
ye shall flee when none pursueth you.

And if ye wil not for these things obey
me, then wil I punish you seven times
more, according to your sinnes,

And I wil breake the pride of your power, and I wil make your heauen as yro,
& your earth as brasie:

And your strength shall be spent in vaine:
nether shall your land giue her increase,
nether shall the trees of the land giue

their fruite.

And if ye walke *stubbernelly against me, and wil not obey me, I wil then bring seuen times mo plagues vpon you, according to your sinnes.

I wil also send wilde beastes vpon you,
which shall spoile you, and destroy your catrel, and make you fewe in number: so
your hie wayes shall be desolate.

Yet if by these ye wil not be reformed
by me, but walke stubbernelly against me,

Then wil I also walke *stubbernelly against you, and I wil smite you yet seuen
times for your sinnes:

And I wil send a sword vpon you, that shall auenge quarrel of my couenant: and when ye are gathered in your cities, I wil
send y pestilence among you, and ye shall be deliuered into the hand of the enemye.

When I shall breake the staffe of your bread, then ten womē shall bake your bread
in one oven, and they shall deliuer your bread againe by weight, and ye shall eat,
but not be satisfied.

Yet if ye wil not for this obey me, but
walke against me stubbernelly,

Then wil I walke stubbernelly in mine anger against you, & I wil also chastise you
seuen times more according to your sinnes.

And ye shall eat the flesh of your sonnes,
and the flesh of your daughters shall ye deuoure.

I wil also destroye your hie places, and *cut away your images, and caite your carkeises vpon the bodies of your idoles, &
my soule shall abhorre you.

And I wil make your cities desolate, and bring your Sanctuarie vnto night, and ye wil not smel the sauour of your swete odoures.

I wil also bring the land vnto a wilder-
nes, & your enemies, which dwell therein,
shall be astonished thereat:

Also I wil scatter you among the heathē,
and I wil drawe out a sword after you,
and your land shall be waste, and your cities shall be desolate.

Then shall the land enioye her *Sabbaths,
as long as it lieth voyde, and ye shall be in your enemies land: then shall the land rest,
and enioye her Sabbaths.

All the daies that it lieth voyde, it shall rest, because it did not rest in your Sabbaths, when ye dwelt vpon it.

And vpon them that are left of you, I wil
send euen a faintenes into their hearts in the land of their enemies, & the founde of a leafe shaken shall chase them, and they shall flee as fleeing from a sword, & they shall fall, no man pursuing them.

They shall fall also one vpon another,
as before a sword, though none pursue
them, and ye shall not be able to stand before your enemye.

And ye shall be the land of your enemies.

And they that are away from their lands, & for them shall they pine.

Then their cities shall be waste, and
they shall be a desolation.

And I wil punish them for their trespas, which they have committed against me, and all that shall be stubbernelly against me.

Therefore shall they be punished
for their fathers.

Then I wil bring them out

2 The ordre of the lampes. 6 The purifying and offring of the Leuites. 24 The age of the Leuites, when they are receiued to seruice, and when they are dismissed.

1 And the Lord spake vnto Mosés,
saying,

¶ Speake vnto Aarón, and say vnto him,
When thou lightest the lampes, the seuen
lampes shal giue light toward the forefront of the Candellsticke.

3 And Aarón did so, lighting the lampes thereof toward the forefront of the Cādellsticke, as the Lord had commanded Mosés.

4 And this was the work of the Candell-sticke, euen of golde beaten out with the hammer, bothe the shaft, and the floures
thereof was beate out with the hammer:
according to the paterne, which the Lord
had shewed Mosés, so made he the Can-dellsticke.

5 ¶ And the Lord spake vnto Mosés, say-
ing,

6 Take the Leuites from among the children of Israël, and purifie them.

7 And thus shalt thou do vnto them, when thou purifiest them, Sprinkle water of purificacion vpon them, & let them shauē
all their flesh, and wash their clothes: so thei shalbe cleane.

8 Then thei shal take a yong bullocke with his meat offering of fine flour, mingled with oyle, and another yong bullocke
shalt thou take for a sinne offering.

9 Then thou shalt bring the Leuites before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and assemble all the Congregation of
the children of Israël.

10 Thou shalt bring the Leuites also before the Lord, & the children of Israël shal
put their hands vpon the Leuites.

11 And Aarón shal offer the Leuites before the Lord, as a shake offering of the childre
of Israël, that they may execute the serui-ce of the Lord.

12 And the Leuites shal put their hands vp-
on the heades of the bullockes, and make thou the one a sinne offering, & the other a burnt offering vnto the Lord: that thou maiest make an atonement for the Leuites.

13 And thou shalt set the Leuites before Aarón and before his sonnes, and offer
them as a shake offering to the Lord.

14 Thus thou shalt separate the Leuites from among the children of Israël, & the Leuites shalbe mine.

15 And afterward shal the Leuites go in, to serue in the Tabernacle of the Congregacion, and thou shalt purifie them and offer them, as a shake offering.

16 For they are frely giuen vnto me from among the children of Israël, for I sucke

of Israël are mine, bothe of man and of beast: since the day that I smote euerie firstborne in the land of Egypt, I sanctified them for my self.

18 And I haue taken the Leuites for all the firstborne of the children of Israël,

19 And haue giuen the Leuites as a gift vnto Aarón, and to his sonnes from among the children of Israël, to do the seruice of the children of Israël in the Taber-

with the Leuites, according vnto all that

Israël vnto them.

21 So the Leuites were purified, and wash-

vnto them.

thei shal go in, to execute their office in the seruice of the Tabernacle of the Co-

charge, but thei shal do no seruice: thus shalt thou do vnto the Leuites touching their charges.

CHAP. IX.

a The Passeouer is commanded againe. 13 The punishment of him that keepeth not the Passeouer. 15 The cloude conducteth the Israelites through the wilderness.

¶ And the Lord spake vnto Mosés in the wilderness of Sinái, in the first moneth of the secóde yere, after thei were come out of the land of Egypt, saying,

1 The childre of Israël shal also celebrate the <sup>a</sup> Passeouer at the time appointed there-unto.

2 In the fourth day of this moneth at <sup>a</sup> euen, ye shal kepe it in his due season: according to <sup>a</sup> all the ordinances of it, and
according to all the ceremonies thereof
shal ye kepe it.

3 Then Mosés spake vnto the children of Israël, to celebrate the Passeouer.

4 And thei kept the Passeouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth at euen in the wilderness of Sinái: according to all that the Lord had commanded Mosés, so did
the children of Israël.

¶ And certeine men were defiled <sup>b</sup> by a dead man, that thei might not kepe the Passeouer the same day: and thei came before Mosés and before Aaron the same day.

7 And those men said vnto him, We are defiled by a dead man: wherefore are we kept backe that we may not offer an offring vnto the Lord in the time thereun-to appointed among the children of Is-
raël?

8 Then Mosés said vnto them, Stand still,
and I wil heare what the Lord wil coman-
de concerning you.

9 ¶ And the Lord spake vnto Mosés, say-
ing,

10 Speake vnto the children of Israël, and say, If anie among you, or of your poite-ritie shalbe vnclene by the reason of a corps, or be in a long iourney, <sup>a</sup> he shal
kepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord.

11 In the fourteth day of the secóde mo-
neth at euen thei shal kepe it: with vnleuened bread and sowe herbes shal thei
eat it.

12 They shal leaue none of it vnto the morning, <sup>a</sup> nor breake anie bone of it: according to all the ordinance of the Passeouer shal thei kepe it.

13 But the man that is cleane and is not in a <sup>a</sup> iourney, and is negligent to kepe the Passeouer, the same persone shalbe cut of
from his people: because he broght not the offering of the Lord in his due season,
that man shal beare his sinne.

14 And if a stranger dwell among you, and wil kepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord, as the ordinance of the Passeouer, & as the maner thereof is, so shal he do: <sup>a</sup> ye shal haue one lawe bothe for the stranger, & for him that was borne in the same land.

15 ¶ And whē the Tabernacle was reared vp, a cloude couered the Tabernacle, namely the Tabernacle of the Testimonie:
& at euen therē was vpon the Tabernacle, as the appearance of fire vntil morning.

16 So it was alwaie: the cloude couered it
by day, & the appearance of fire by night.

17 And when the cloude was taken vp from the Tabernacle, then afterward the children of Israël iourneied: & in the place
where the cloude abode, there the children of Israël pitched their tentes.

18 At the commandement of the <sup>h</sup> Lord,
the children of Israël iourneied, and at the commandement of the Lord thei picched: as long as the cloude abode vpon the Tabernacle, <sup>a</sup> they laye still.

19 And when the cloude taryed still vpon
the Tabernacle a long time, the children of Israël kept the watch of the Lord, &
iourneied not.

20 So when the cloude abode <sup>a</sup> a fewe daies vpon the Tabernacle, thei abode in their

the Lord: for thei iourneied at the com-

And in the ſeconde yere, in the ſecōde

And the children of Iſraél departed on

CHAP. XI.

1 The people murmureth, and is punished with fire. 4 The people lusteth after flesh. 6 They lothe Man- na. 11 The weak faith of Moses. 16 The Lord deuiceth the burthen of Moses to seuentie of the An- cientes. 31 The Lord sendeth quailes. 33 Their lust is punished.

W Hē the people became * murmur- ers, * it displeased the Lord: and the Lord heard it, therefore his wrath was kindled, and the fire of the Lord burnt among them, and * consumed the vtmost parte of the hoste.

2 Then the people cryed vnto Moses: and when Moses prayed vnto the Lord, the fire was quenched.

3 And he called y<sup>e</sup> name of that place * Tab- erāh, because the fire of the Lord burnt among them.

4 ¶ And a number of <sup>a</sup> people that was a- mong them, fel a lusting, and <sup>b</sup> turned away, and the children of Israēl also wept and said, Who shal giue vs flesh to eat?

5 We remember the fish which we did eat in Egypt for * naught, the cucumbers, and the pepons, and the lekes, and the onions, and the garleke.

6 But now our soule is <sup>d</sup> dried away, we can se nothing but this M A N.

7 (The M A N also was as * coriāder sede, & his coulour like the coulour of * bdeliū.

8 The people went about and gathered it, and ground it in milles, or bet it in mor- ters, and baked it in a cauldron, and made cakes of it, and the taste of it was like vn- to the taste of fresh oyle.

9 And when the dew fel downe vpon the hoste in the night, the M A N fel with it)

10 ¶ Then Moses heard the people wepe throughout their families, euerie man in the dore of his tente, and the wrath of the Lord was grievously kindled: also Moses was grieved.

11 And Moses said vnto y<sup>e</sup> Lord, Wherefo-re hast thou vexed thy seruant? and why haue I not founde * fauour in thy sight, seing thou hast put the charge of all this people vpon me?

12 Haue I <sup>a</sup> conceiued all this people? or haue I begotten them? that thou shuldest say vnto me, Cary them in thy bosome, as a nurse beareth y<sup>e</sup> sucking childe) vnto the <sup>b</sup> land, for the which thou swarest vnto their fathes?

13 Where shulde I haue flesh to giue vnto all this people? for they wepe vnto me, saying, Giue vs flesh that we may eat.

14 I am not able to beare all this people a- lone, for it is to heauie for me.

15 Therefore if thou deale thus with me, I pray thee, if I haue founde fauour in thy sight, kil me, that I beholde not my mis-erie.

16 ¶ Then y<sup>e</sup> Lord said vnto Moses, Gather vnto me seuentie men of the Elders of Is- raēl, whome thou knowest, that they are the Elders of the people, & gouerners ouer them, and bring them vnto the Taber- nacle of the Congregation, and let them stand there with thee,

17 And I wil come downe, & talke with thee there, * and take of the Spirit, which is vpon thee, and put vpon them, and they shal beare the burthe of the people with thee: so thou shalt not beare it alone.

18 Furthermore thou shalt say vnto the people, Be sanctified against tomorrow, and ye shal eat flesh: for you haue wept in the eares of the Lord, saying, Who shal giue vs flesh to eat? for we were better in Egypt: therefore the Lord wil giue you flesh, and ye shal eat.

19 Ye shal not eat one day nor two daies, nor five daies, nether ten daies, nor twenty daies,

20 But a whole moneth, vntil it come out at your nostrils, and be lothesome vnto you, because ye haue <sup>a</sup> contemned the Lord, which is <sup>a</sup> among you, and haue wept before him, saying, Why came we hither out of Egypt?

21 And Moses said, Six hundreth thousand fotemen are there of the people, * among whome I am: & thou saiest, I wil giue the flesh, that they may eat a moneth long.

22 Shal the shepe and the beues be flaine for them, to finde them? ether shal all the fish of the sea be gathered together for them to suffice them?

23 And the Lord sayd vnto Moses, Is * the Lords hand shortened? thou shalt se now whether my worde shal come to passe vn- to thee, or no.

27 Then there ran a yong man, and tolde

28 And Ioshúa the sonne of Nun the ser-

29 But Mosés said vnto him, Enuyest thou for my sake? yea, wolde God that all the Lords people were Prophetes, & that the Lord wolde put his Spirit vpon them.

30 And Mosés returned into the hoste, he

Aarón and Miriám grudge against Mosés. 10 Mi-

of Mosés.

Afterward Miriám and Aarón *spake
against Mosés, because of the womā
of Ethiopia whome he had married (for he had married a woman of Ethiopia)

2 And they said, What hath the Lord spoken but only by Mosés: hath he not spoken also by vs: and the Lord heard this.

3 (But Mosés was a very *b meke man, aboue all the men that were vpon the earth)

4 And by and by the Lord said vnto Mosés, & vnto Aarón, & vnto Miriám, Come out
ye thre vnto the Tabernacle of the Congregation: and they thre came forth.

5 Then the Lord came downe in the pillar of the cloude, and stode in the dore of the Tabernacle, & called Aarón and Miriám,
and they bothe came forth.

6 And he said, Heare now my wordes, If there be a Prophet of the Lord among
you, I wil be knowne to him by a vision;
& wil speake vnto him by dreame.

7 My seruāt Mosés is not so, who is faithful in all mine house.

8 Vnto him wil I speake *mouth to mouth,
and by vision, & not in darke wordes, but he shal se y<sup>e</sup> similitude of y<sup>e</sup> Lord. wherefore then were ye not afraid to speake a-

9 Thus the Lord was very angry with the,
and departed.

10 Also the cloude departed from the Tabernacle: & beholde, Miriám was leprous
like snowe: and Aarón looked vpō Miriám,
and beholde, she was leprous.

11 Then Aarón said vnto Mosés, Alas, my Lord, I beseeche thee, lay not the sinne vpō vs, which we haue foolishly committed &
wherein we haue sinned.

12 Let her not, I pray thee, be as one dead,
of whome the flesh is halfe consumed, whē
he commeth out of his mothers wombe.

13 Thē Mosés cryed vnto the Lord, saying,
O God, I beseeche thee, heale her now.

14 ¶ And the Lord said vnto Mosés, If her father had spit in her face, shulde she not haue bene ashamed seuen dayes? let her be *shut out of the hoste seuen dayes, & after she shal be received.

15 So Miriám was shut out of the hoste seuen dayes, and the people remoued not, til Miriám was brought in againe.

9 Of the tribe, of Ephráim, Oshéa the sonne of Nun:

10 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Paltí the sonne of Raphú:

11 Of the tribe of Zebulún, Gaddiél the sonne of Sodí:

13 Of the tribe of Dan, Ammiél the sonne of Gemalli:

14 Of the tribe of Ashér, Sethúr the sonne of Michaél:

15 Of the tribe of Naphtalí, Nahbí the sonne of Vophsí:

16 Of the tribe of Gad, Geuél the sonne of Machí.

17 These are the names of the <sup>c</sup> mé, which Mosés sent to spie out the land: and Mosés called the name of Oshéa the sonne of Nun Iehoshúa.

18 So Mosés sent them to spie out the land of Canaan, and said vnto thé, Go vp this way toward the South, and go vp into the mountaines,

19 And consider the land what it is, and the people that dwell therein, whether they be strong or weake, ether few or many,

20 Also what the land is that they dwell in, whether it be good or bad: and what cities they be that they dwell in, whether they dwell in tentes, or in walled townes:

21 And what the land is: whether it be fat or leane, whether there be trees therein, or not. And be of good courage, and bring of the frute of the land (for then was the time of the first ripe grapes)

22 So they went vp, & searched out the land, from the wilderness of <sup>c</sup> Zin vnto Rehób; to go to Hamáth,

23 And thei ascended toward the South, and came vnto Hebrón, where were Ahimán, Shehái and Talmái, the sonnes of <sup>c</sup> Anák. And <sup>s</sup> Hebrón was buylt feuen yere before Zoán in Egypt.

24 *Thé they came to the riuér Eshcól, and cut downe thence a branche with one clustre of grapes, and they bare it vpon a barre betwene two, and brought of the pomegranates and of the figges.

25 That place was called the <sup>c</sup> riuér Eshcól because of the clustre of grapes, which the children of Israél cut downe thence.

26 Then after forty daies they turned againe from searching of the land.

27 And they went and came to Mosés and to Aarón & vnto all the Cōgregation of the children of Israél, in the wilderness of

28 And they tolde <sup>i</sup> him, and said, We came vnto the land whether thou hast sente vs, & surely it floweth with * milke & honie: and here is of the frute of it.

29 Neuertheles the people be strong that dwell in the land, and the cities are walled and excedding great: and moreover, we sawe the <sup>k</sup> sonnes of Anák there.

30 The Amalekites dwell in <sup>y</sup> Southcountry, and the Hittites, and the Iebusites, and the Amorites dwell in the mountaines, and the Canaanites dwell by the Sea and by the coste of Iordén.

31 Then Caléb stilled the people <sup>e</sup> before Mosés, & said, Let vs go vp at once, and possesse it: for vndoubtedly we shal ouercome it.

32 But the men, that went vp with him, said, We be not able to go vp against the people: for they are stronger then we.

33 So they brought vp an euil reporte of the lād which they had searched for the children of Israél, saying, The land which we haue gone through to seache it out, is a land that <sup>l</sup> eateth vp the inhabitants thereof: for all the people that we sawe in it, are men of great stature.

34 For there we sawe gyátes, the sonnes of Anák, which come of the gyantes, so that we seemed in our sight like gresheppers: and so we were in their sight.

CHAP. XIII.

3 The people murmure against Mosés. 10 They wolde haue stoned Caléb and Ioshúa. 13 Mosés pacifieth God by his praiser. 45 The people that wolde entre into the land, contrarie to Gods wil, are slaine.

1 Then all the Congregation lifted vp their voice, and cryed: and * the people wept that night,

2 And all the children of Israél murmured against Mosés and Aarón: and the whole assemblie said vnto them, Wolde God we had dyed in the land of Egypt, or in this wilderness: wolde God we were dead.

3 Wherefore now hath <sup>y</sup> Lord brought vs into this lād to fall vpon the sword: our wiues, and our children shal be <sup>b</sup> a praye: were it not better for vs to returne into Egypt?

10 And all the multitude said, t Stone the
with stones: but the glorie of the Lord
appeared in the Tabernacle of the Con-

11 And the Lord said vnto Mosés, How

12 I wil smite them with the pestilence and

13 But Mosés said vnto the Lord, * When

16 Because the Lord was not * able to bring this people into the land, which he swa-

17 And now, I beseeche thee, let the power

26 After, the Lord spake vnto Mosés and

cept thou make thy self Lord and ruler
ouer vs also:

24 Also thou hast not brought vs vnto a lãd
that floweth with milke and bonie, nether
giuen vs inheritance of fieldes and vine-

men: we wil not conceyve.

25 The Moyses waxed verie angrie, & said
vnto the Lord, & Look not vnto their offring, I haue not taken so muche as an as-se fro the, nether haue I hurte anie of the.

26 And Moyses said vnto Kórah, Be thou &
all thy company, before the Lord: bothe
thou, thei, and Aaron to morowe:

27 And take euerie man his censur, and put incens in them, and bring ye euerie man
his censur before the Lord, two hundreth
and fiftie censurs: thou also and Aaron, e-uerie one his censur.

28 So thei toke euerie man his censur, and
put fire in them, and laied incens thereon,
and stode in the dore of the Tabernacle
of the Cögregation with Moyses & Aaron.

29 And Kórah gathered all the multitude against them vnto the dore of the Tabernacle of the Cögregation, then the glorie
of the Lord appeared vnto all the Cö-
gregation.

30 And the Lord spake vnto Moyses and to Aaron, saying,

31 Separate you selues fro among this Cögregation, y<sup>e</sup> I may consume the at once.

32 And thei fel vpon their faces and said,
O God y<sup>e</sup> God of the spirits, of all flesh,
hathe not one man onely sinned, and wilt thou be wrath with all the Cögregation?

33 And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying,

34 Speake vnto the Cögregation & say,
Get you away fro about the Tabernacle
of Kórah, Dathán and Abirám.

35 Then Moyses rose vp, & went vnto Da-thán and Abirám, and the Elders of Israël followed him.

36 And he spake vnto the Cögregation,
saying, Departe, I pray you, fro the tentes
of these wicked men, and touche nothing
of theirs, lest ye perish in all their sinnes.

37 So thei gate them away fro the Tabernacle of Kórah, Dathán and Abirám on euerie side: and Dathán, & Abirám came out and stode in the dore of their tentes
with their wiues, and their sonnes, & their litle children.

38 And Moyses said, Hereby ye shal knowe that y<sup>e</sup> Lord hath sent me to do all these workes: for I haue not done them of mine
owne minde.

39 If these mē dye the cōmune death of all men, or if thei be visited after y<sup>e</sup> visitaciō
of all men, the Lord hath not sent me.

40 But if the Lord make a newe thing, &

the earth open her mouth, & swalowe the
vp all that thei haue, & thei go downe
quicke into a pit, the ye shal vnderstand
that the men haue prouoked the Lord.

41 And as sone as he had made an end of speaking all these wordes, euen the grou-
de claued a sunder that was vnder them,

42 And the earth opened her mouth, and swalowed them vp, with their families, &
all the men that were with Kórah, and all their goods.

43 So thei & all that thei had, went downe
aliue into the pit, & the earth couered the:
so thei perished from among the Cögre-gation.

44 And all Israël that were about the, fled
at the crye of the: for thei said, Let vs flee,
lest the earth swalowe vs vp.

45 But there came out a fire from the Lord,
and consumed the two hundreth and fiftie
men that offered the incens.

46 And y<sup>e</sup> Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying,
47 Speake vnto Eleazar, the sonne of Aa-rón the Priest, that he take vp the censurs
out of the burning, and skater the fire beyonde the altar: for thei are halowed,

48 The censurs, & say, of these sinners, that destroyed them selues: and let them make of them broad plates for a covering of the Altar: for thei offered the before the Lord,
therefore thei shalbe holy, and thei shalbe
a signe vnto the children of Israël.

49 Then Eleazar the Priest toke the brasen
censers, which thei, that were burnt, had offered, and made broad plates of them for a covering of the Altar.

50 It is a remembrance vnto the children of Israël, that no stranger which is not of the sede of Aaron, come nere to offer incens
before the Lord, that he be not like Kórah and his companie, as the Lord
said to him by the hand of Moyses.

51 But on the morowe all the multitude of the children of Israël murmured against Moyses and against Aaron, saying,
Ye haue killed the people of the Lord.

52 And when the Cögregation was gathered against Moyses & against Aaron, then thei turned their faces toward the Tabernacle of the Cögregation: & beholde,
the cloude couered it, & the glorie of the Lord appeared.

53 Then Moyses and Aaron were come before the Tabernacle of the Cögregation.

54 And the Lord spake vnto Moyses, saying,
55 Get you vp from among this Cögre-gation: for I wil consume them quickly:
then thei fel vpon their faces.

56 And Moyses said vnto Aaron, Take the censur and put fire therein of the Altar, & put therein incens, & go quickly vnto
the Cögregation, & make an atonement
for them: for there is wrath gone out fro

CHAP. XVII.

2 The twelve rods of the twelve princes of the tribes of Israél: Aarons rod buddeth, and beareth blossoms,
10 For a testimonie against the rebellious people.

1 And the Lord spake vnto Moses, say-
ing,

2 Speake vnto the childre of Israél, & take of euerie one of them a rod, after y<sup>e</sup> house
of their fathers, of all their princes according to the familie of their fathers, euen
twelve rods: and thou shalt write euerie
mans name vpon his rod.

3 And write Aarons name vpon the rod of Leui: for euerie rod shalbe for the head of the house of their fathers.

4 And thou shalt put the in the Tabernacle of the Congregation, before the Arke of the Testimonie, where I wil declare
my selfe to you.

5 And the mans rod, whome I chose, shal
blossom: and I wil make cease from me
the grudgings of the children of Israél,
which grudge against you.

6 ¶ Then Moses spake vnto the children of Israél, & all their princes gaue him a rod,
one rod for euerie prince, according to y<sup>e</sup>
houses of their fathers, euen twelve rods,
& the rod of Aarón was among their rods.

7 And Moses laid the rods before the Lord
in the Tabernacle of the Testimonie.

8 And when Moses on the morowe went into the Tabernacle of the Testimonie,
beholde, the rod of Aarón for the house
of Leui was budded, and brought forth
buddes, & brought forth blossoms & became ripe almondes.

9 Then Moses brought out all the rods frõ
before the Lord vnto all the children of Israél: and they looked vpon them, & toke
euerie man his rod.

10 ¶ After, y<sup>e</sup> Lord said vnto Moses, Bring Aarons rod againe before the Testimonie to be kept for a toke to the rebellious
children, & thou shalt cause their murmuring to cease frõ me, y<sup>e</sup> they dye not:

11 So Moses did as the Lord had commaded him: so did he.

12 ¶ And the children of Israél spake vnto Moses, saying, Beholde, we are dead, we perish, we are all lost:

13 Whosoever cometh nere, or approacheth
to the Tabernacle of the Lord, shal dye:
shal we be consumed and dye?

CHAP. XVIII.

1. 7 The office of Aarón & his sonnes, 1 With the Leui-tes: 8 The Priests parte of the offerings: 20 God is their portion. 26 The Leuites haue the tithes, and offer
the tenthes thereof to the Lord.

1 And y<sup>e</sup> Lord said vnto Aarón, Thou, & thy sonnes & thy fathers house
with thee, shal beare the iniquitie of the Sanctuarie: bothe thou & thy sonnes with thee shal beare y<sup>e</sup> iniquitie of your Priests
office.

2 And bring also with thee thy brethren of the tribe of Leui of the familie of thy father, which shalbe ioyned with thee, and minister vnto thee: but thou, and thy son-nes with thee shal minister before the Tabernacle of the Testimonie.

3 And they shal kepe thy charge, euen the charge of all y<sup>e</sup> Tabernacle: but they shal
not come nere the instruments of the Sactuarie, nor to the altar, lest they dye, so-
the they & you:

4 And they shal be ioyned with thee, & ke-pe the charge of the Tabernacle of the Congregation for all y<sup>e</sup> seruice of the Tabernacle: & no stranger shal come nere
vnto you.

5 Therefore shal ye kepe the charge of the Sanctuarie, and the charge of the altar: so there shal fall no more wrath vpon the children of Israél.

6 For lo, I haue taken your brethren y<sup>e</sup> Leui-tes frõ among y<sup>e</sup> children of Israél, which
as a gift of yours, are giue vnto the Lord,
to do the seruice of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

7 But thou, & thy sonnes with thee shal ke-pe your Priests office for all things of the altar, and within the vaile: therefore shal ye serue: for I haue made your Priests office an office of seruice: therefore the stranger that cometh nere, shalbe slaine.

8 ¶ Again y<sup>e</sup> Lord spake vnto Aarón, Be-holde, I haue giuen thee the keping of mine offerings, of all the halowed things of the childre of Israél: vnto thee I haue gi-uen them for the anointings sake, and to thy sonnes, for a perpetual ordinance.

ngs, reserved from the fire: all their offering of all their meat offering, and of all their sin
offering, and of all their trespass offering, w<sup>h</sup>
they bring vnto me, that shalbe most holy vnto thee and to thy sonnes.

10 In the most holy place shalt thou eat ir:
euerie male shal eat of it: it is holy vnto
thee.

11 This also shalbe thine: the beaute offering of their gift, with all the shalke offerings
of the children of Israél: I haue giuen
them vnto thee & to thy sonnes & to thy siii.

13 And the first ripe of all that is in their

shalbe thine: all the cleane in thine house
shal eat of it.

14 *Euerie thing separate from the comu-

15 All that first openeth the *matrice of a-

Lord, of man or beast, shalbe thine: but the first borne of man shalt thou rede-

beast shalt thou redeme.

16 And those that are to be redeemed, shalt redeem from the age of a moneth, according to thy estimation, for the money of five shekels, after the shekel of the Sanctuarie, * which is twentie gerahs.

17 But the first borne of a kowe, or the first borne of a shepe, or the first borne of a goat shalt thou not redeme: for they are holy: thou shalt sprinkle their blood at the altar, and thou shalt burne their fat: it is a sacrifice made by fire for a sweete sauour vnto the Lord.

18 And the flesh of them shalbe thine, * as the shake breast, and as the right shulder
shalbe thine.

19 All the heave offerings of the holy things which the children of Israel shal offer vn-

nes, and thy daughters wth thee, to be a duetie for euer: it is a perpetual couenant
of salt before the Lord, to thee and to thy seed wth thee.

20 ¶ And the Lord said vnto Aarón, Thou shalt haue none inheritance in their land,
nether shalt thou haue anie parte among them: * I am thy parte & thine inheritance
among the children of Israel.

21 For beholde, I haue giue the childre of Leui all the tenth in Israel for an inheritance, for their seruice which they serue in
the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

22 Nether shal the children of Israel anie
more come nere y<sup>e</sup> Tabernacle of the Cogregation, lest they susteine sinne, & dye.

23 But the Levites shal do the seruice in y<sup>e</sup> Tabernacle of y<sup>e</sup> Congregation, & they shal beare their sinne: it is a lawe for euer in your generations, y<sup>e</sup> among the childre of Israel they possesse none enheritance.

24 For the tithes of the children of Israel,
which they shal offer as an offering vnto y<sup>e</sup> Lord, I haue giuen the Levites for an inheritance: therefore I haue said vnto the,
Among th<sup>e</sup> childre of Israel ye shal pos-seffe none inheritance.

25 Speake also vnto the Levites & say vnto them, When ye shal take of the childre of Israel the tithes, w<sup>h</sup> I haue giuen you of the
for your inheritance, then shal ye take an heave offering of that same for the Lord, &
the tenth parte of the tithe.

27 And your heave offering shalbe reckened vnto you, as the * corne of the baine, or as
the abundance of the wine presse.

28 So ye shal also offer an heave offering vn-
to the Lord of all your tithes, which ye shal receive of the children of Israel, and ye shal giue thereof the Lords heave of-firing to Aarón the Priest.

29 Ye shal offer of all your gifts all the Lords heave offerings: of all y<sup>e</sup> fat of the same shal ye offer the holy things thereof.

30 Therefore thou shalt say vnto the, Whe-
ye haue offered the fat thereof, then it shal-
be counted vnto the Levites, as the encre-ase of the corne floore, or as y<sup>e</sup> encrease of the wine presse.

31 And ye shal eat it in all places, ye, and your households: for it is your wages for your seruice in the Tabernacle of the Co-
gregation.

32 And ye shal beare no sinne by the reason of it, when ye haue offered the fat of it:
nether shal ye pollute the holy things of the children of Israel, lest ye dye.

1 Miriam dyeth. 2 The people murmure. 3 They haue water out of the rocke. 14 Edom denieth the Iſraelites paſſage. 25. 28 The death of Aaron, in whoſe
rowne Eleazar ſuccedeth.

1 Then the children of Iſrael came with the whole Congregation to the deſert of Zin in the firſt moneth, and the people abode at Kadeth: where Miriam died, and was buried there.

2 But there was no water for the Congregation, and they aſſembled them ſelues
againſt Moſes and againſt Aaron.

3 And the people chode with Moſes, and ſpoke, ſaying, Wolde God we had periſhed,
when our brethren dyed before y<sup>e</sup> Lord.

4 *Why haue ye thus brought the Congregation of the Lord vnto this wildeernes,
y<sup>e</sup> be hwe, and our cattel ſhulde dye there?

5 Wherefore now haue ye made vs to come
vp frō Egypt, to bring vs into this mi-ſerable place, which is no place of ſede, nor figs, nor vines, nor pomgranates: nether is there anie water to drinke.

6 Then Moſes and Aaron went from the aſſembly vnto the dore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and fel vpon
their faces: and the glorie of the Lord appeared vnto them.

7 ¶ And y<sup>e</sup> Lord ſpoke vnto Moſes, ſaying,

8 Take the rod, and gather thou and thy brother Aaron the Congregation together, and ſpeake ye vnto the rocke before
their eies, & it ſhal giue forth his water,
and thou ſhalt bring them water out of the rocke: ſo thou ſhalt giue the Congregation, and their beaſtes drinke.

9 Then Moſes toke the rod frō before the Lord, as he had commanded him.

10 And Moſes and Aaron gathered y<sup>e</sup> Cogregation together before the rocke, and Moſes ſayd vnto them, Heare now, ye rebels: ſhal we bring you water out of this rocke?

11 Then Moſes liſt vp his hand, and with his rod he ſmote the rocke twiſe, and the water came out abundantly: ſo the Congregation, and their beaſts dranke.

12 ¶ Agayne the Lord ſpoke vnto Moſes & to Aaron, Becauſe ye beleued me not, to ſanctifie me in the preſence of the children of Iſrael, therefore ye ſhal not bring this Congregation into the land which

saith thy brother Israél, Thou knowest
all the trouble that we haue had,

<sup>16</sup> How our fathers went downe into Egypt, and we dwelt in Egypt a long time,
where the Egyptians handled vs euil &
our fathers.

<sup>17</sup> But when we cryed vnto the Lord, he hea-red our voyce, and sent an Angel, & hath brought vs out of Egypt, & beholde, we are in y<sup>e</sup> citie Kadesh, in thine vtmost border.

<sup>18</sup> I pray thee that we may passe through thy countrey: we wil not go through the fieldes nor the vineyardes, nether wil we drinke of the water of the wellles: we wil
go by the kings way, and nether turne
vnto the right hand nor to the left, vntil
we be past thy borders.

<sup>19</sup> And Edom answered him, Thou shalt not passe by me, lest I come out against thee with the sworde.

<sup>20</sup> Then the children of Israél said vnto
him, We wil go vp by the hie way: & if I
and my cattel drinke of thy water, I wil
then paye for it: I wil onely (without anie harmed) go through on my fete.

<sup>21</sup> He answered againe, Thou shalt not go through. The Edom came out against him with much people, and with a might-ty power.

<sup>22</sup> Thus Edom denied to giue Israél passage through his countrey: wherefore Israél turned away from him.

<sup>23</sup> And when the children of Israél with all the Congregation departed from Kadesh, they came vnto the mount Hor.

<sup>24</sup> And the Lord spake vnto Moses and to Aaron in the mount Hor nere the coste
of the land of Edom, saying,

<sup>25</sup> Aaron shalbe gathered vnto his people: for he shal not entre into the land, w<sup>ch</sup>

bring them vp into the mount Hor,

<sup>27</sup> And cause Aaron to put of his garmentes & put them vpon Eleazar his sonne: for Aaron shal be gathered to his fathers, and shal dye there.

<sup>28</sup> And Moses did as the Lord had commanded: & they went vp into the mount Hor,
in the sight of all the Congregation.

<sup>29</sup> And Moses put of Aarons clothes, and put them vpon Eleazar his sonne: so Aaron dyed there in the top of the mount: and Moses and Eleazar came downe from of
the mount.

<sup>30</sup> When all the Congregation sawe that Aaron was dead, all the house of Israél wept for Aaron thirtie dayes.

Israél vanquisheth King Arad. 6 The fiery serpentes are sent for the rebellion of the people. 24. 33 Sih-
on and Og are overcome in battell.

<sup>1</sup> When King Arad the Canaanite,
which dwelt toward the South,
heard tell that Israél came by the waie of the spies, then fought he against Israél, and toke of them prisoners.

<sup>2</sup> So Israél vowed a vowe vnto the Lord,
and said, If thou wilt deliuer and giue this people into mine hand, then I wil vterly
destroie their cities.

<sup>3</sup> And the Lord heard the voyce of Israél,
and deliuered them the Canaanites: & they vterly destroyed them and their cities, &
called the name of the place Hormah.

<sup>4</sup> After, they departed from the mount Hor by the way of the red Sea, to com-
passe the land of Edom: and the people were sore grieved because of the way.

<sup>5</sup> And the people spake against God and against Moses, saying, Wherefore haue ye brought vs out of Egypt, to dye in the wil-
dernes: for here is nether bread nor water,
and our soules loatheth this light bread.

<sup>6</sup> Wherefore the Lord sent a fiery serpen-
tes among the people which stog the people: so that manie of the people of Israél
died.

<sup>7</sup> Therefore the people came to Moses and said, We haue sinned: for we haue spoken against the Lord, and against thee:
praye to the Lord, that he take away the serpents from vs: and Moses prayed for
the people.

<sup>8</sup> And the Lord said vnto Moses, Make thee
a fiery serpent, and set it vp for a signe,
that as manie as are bitten, may loke vpon
it, and liue.

set it vp for a signe: and when a serpent
had bitten a man, then he looked to the ser-

¶ Then Israél sent messengers vnto Si-

¶ Let me go through thy land: we wil not

¶ But Sihón gaue Israél no licence to pas-

bled all his people, and went out against Israél into the wildernes: and he came to Iahóž, and fought against Israél.

¶ But Israél smote him with the edge of the sword, and conquered his land, from Arón vnto Iabók, euen vnto the children of Ammón: for the border of the children of Ammón was strong.

¶ And Israél toke all these cities, & dwelt
in all the cities of the Amorites in Heshbón and in all the * villages thereof.

¶ For * Heshbón was the citie of Sihón
the King of the Amorites, which had fought before time against the King of the Moabites, and had taken all his land out of his hand, euen vnto Arnón.

¶ Wherefore they that spake in prouerbes, say, Come to Heshbón, let the citie of Sihón be buyt and repaired:

¶ For a fire is gone out of Heshbón, and a flame from the citie of Sihón, and ha-
the consumed Ar of the Moabites, and the lords of Bamóth in Arnón.

¶ We be to thee, Moáb: o people of * Chemósh, thou art vndone: he hath suffred his sonnes to be pursued, and his daughters to be in captiuitie to Sihón the King of the Amorites.

¶ Their * empire is lost from Heshbón
vnto Dibón, and we haue destroyed them
vnto Nophah, which reacheth vnto Medebá.

¶ Thus Israél dwelt in the land of the Amorites.

¶ And Mosés sent to search out Iazér,
and they toke the townes belóging there-
to, and roted out the Amorites that were there.

¶ And they turned and went vp toward Bashán: & Og the King of Bashán came out against them, he, and all his people, to fight at Edrei.

¶ Then the Lord said vnto Mosés, Feare him not: for I haue deliuered him into thine hand & all his people, and his land:
* and thou shalt do to him as thou didest
vnto Sihón the King of the Amorites,

which dwelt at Heshbón.

¶ They smote him therefore, and his son-
nes, and all his people, vntil there was none left him: so they conquered his land.

CHAP. XXII.

¶ King Balák sendeth for Balaám to curse the Israeli-
tes. 12 The Lord forbiddeth him to go. 22 The Angel of the Lord meeteth him, & his asse speaketh.
28 Balaám protesteth that he wil speake nothing,
but that which the Lord putteth in his mouth.

¶ After, the children of Israél departed
on the * other side of Iordén from Ierichó.

¶ Now Balák the sonne of Zippór sawe
all that Israél had done to the Amorites.

¶ And the Moabites were fore afraide of the people, because they were manie, and Moáb * feared against the children of Israél.

¶ Therefore Moáb said vnto the * Elders
of Midían, Now shal this multitude lick-
e vp all that are round about vs, as an oxe licketh vp the grasse of the field: and Ba-lák the sonne of Zippór was King of the Moabites at that time.

¶ He sent messengers therefore vnto Balaám the sonne of Beór to Pethór (which is by the * riuier of the land of the childre
of his folke) to call him, saying, Behol-
de, there is a people come out of Egypt,
which couer the face of the earth, and lie

¶ Come now therefore, I pray thee, and curse me this people (for they are stronger then I) so it may be that I shal be able to smite the and to driue them out of the lād: for I knowe that he, whome thou blest,
is blessed, and he whome thou cursest,
shal be cursed.

¶ And the Elders of Moáb, and the Elders
of Midían departed, hauing * the rewarde
of the soothsaying in their hand, and they came vnto Balaám, & tolde him the wor-

¶ Who answered them, Tary here this

Lord shal say vnto me. So * the princes of Moáb abode with Balaám.

- <sup>12</sup> And God said vnto Balaám, Go not thou with them, neither curse the people, for they are blessed.
- <sup>13</sup> And Balaám rose vp in the morning, and said vnto the princes of Balak, Returne vnto your land: for the Lord hath refused to giue me leave to go with you.
- <sup>14</sup> So the princes of Moab rose vp, and went vnto Balák, and said, Balaám hath refused to come with vs.

- <sup>18</sup> And Balaám answered, and sayd vnto the seruantes of Balák, * If Balák wolde giue me his house full of siluer and golde, I can not go beyonde the worde of the Lord my God, to do lesse or more.
- <sup>19</sup> But nowe, I pray you, tary here this night, that I may wit, what the Lord wil say vnto me: more.
- <sup>20</sup> And God came vnto Balaám by night, and said vnto him, If the me come to call thee, rise vp, and go with them: but onely what thing I say vnto thee, that shalt thou do.
- <sup>21</sup> So Balaám rose vp early, and saddled his asse, and went with the princes of Moab.
- <sup>22</sup> And the wrath of God was kindled, because he went: & the Angel of the Lord stode in the way to be against him, as he rode vpon his asse, and his two seruantes were with him.
- <sup>23</sup> And when the asse sawe the Angel of the Lord stid in the way, and his sworde drawn in his hand, the asse turned out of his waie and went into the field, but Balaám smote the asse, to turne her into the way.
- <sup>24</sup> Again the Angel of the Lord stode in a path of the vineyardes, hauing a wall on the one side, and a wall on the other.
- <sup>25</sup> And when the asse sawe the Angel of the Lord, she thrust her selfe vnto the wall, and dashed Balaams fote against the wall: wherefore he smote her againe.
- <sup>26</sup> Then the Angel of the Lord went further, and stode in a narowe place, where was no way to turne, either to the right hand, or to the left.
- <sup>27</sup> And when the asse sawe the Angel of the Lord, she lay downe vnder Balaám:

therefore Balaám was very wrath, and smote the asse with a staffe.

Then the Lord opened the mouth of the asse, and she said vnto Balaám, What haue I done vnto thee, that thou hast smitten me now three times?

And Balaám said vnto the asse, Because thou hast mocked me: I wolde there were a sworde in mine hand, for now wolde I kill thee.

And the asse said vnto Balaám, Am not I thine asse, which thou hast ridden vpon since thy first time vnto this day? haue I vied at anie time to do thus vnto thee? Who said, Nay.

And the Lord opened the eyes of Balaám, and he sawe the Angel of the Lord standing in the way with his sworde drawn in his hand: then he bowed him selfe, and fell flat on his face.

And the Angel of the Lord said vnto him, Wherefore hast thou now smitten thine asse three times? beholde, I came out to withstand thee, because thy way is not straight before me.

But the asse sawe me, and turned from me now three times: for els, if she had not turned fro me, surely I had euē now slaine thee, and sauēd her aliue.

Then Balaám said vnto the Angel of the Lord, I haue sinned: for I wist not that thou stodest in the way against me: now therefore if it displease thee, I will turne home againe.

But the Angel said vnto Balaám, Go with the men: but what I say vnto thee, that shalt thou speake. So Balaám went with the princes of Balák.

And when Balák heard that Balaám came, he went out to meet him vnto a citie of Moab, which is in the border of Arnón, euē in the vtmost cosse.

Then Balák said vnto Balaám, Did I not send for thee to call thee? wherefore camest thou not vnto me? am I not able to dede to promote thee vnto honour.

And Balaám made answer vnto Balák, Lo, I am come vnto thee, & can I now say anie thing at all? the worde that God putteth in my mouth, that shall I speake.

So Balaám went with Balák, and they came vnto the citie of Huróth.

Then Balák offered bullockes, and sheeps, and sent thereof to Balaám, and to his princes that were with him.

And on the morow Balák toke Balaám, and brought him vp into the hie places of Baal, that thence he might see the vtmost parte of the people.

2 And Balák did as Balaám said, and a Ba-

6 So when he returned vnto him, lo, he sto-

7 Then he vttered his parable, and said,
Balák the King of Moáb hath brought me
from Arám out of the mountaines of the East, saying, Come, curse Iakób for my sake: come, and detest Iakób.

8 How shal I curse, where God hath not curst? or how shal I detest, where God
hath not detested?

9 For so the top of the rocks I did se him,
and from the hills I did beholde him: lo,

shal not be rekened among the nations.

10 Who can tel the dust of Iakób, and the number of the fourth parte of Iakób?
Let me dye the death of the righteous,
and let my last end be like his.

11 Then Balák said vnto Balaám, What hast thou done vnto me? I toke thee to cur-

blessed them altogether.

12 And he answered, and said, Must I not

13 And Balák said vnto him, Come, I pray thee, with me vnto another place, whence thou maist se them, and thou shalt se but the vtmost parte of them, and shalt not se them all: therefore curse the out of that place for my sake.

14 And he brought him into Sede-sophím
to the top of Pisgah and buylt seuen altars, & offred a bullocke, & a ram on euerie altar.

15 After, he said vnto Balák, Stand here by thy burnt offering, and I wil mete the Lord yonder.

16 And the Lord met Balaám, and put an answer in his mouth, and said, Go againe
vnto Balák, and saie thus.

17 And when he came to him, beholde, he stode by his burnt offering, and the princes
of Moáb with him: so Balák said vnto

him, What hath the Lord said?

18 And he vttered his parable, & said, Rise vp, Balák, and hearken vnto me,
thou sonne of Zippór.

19 God is not as man, that he shulde lie,
neither as the sonne of man that he shul-
de repent: hath he said, and shal he not do it? and hath he spoken, and shal he not accomplish it?

20 Beholde, I haue receiued commandement to blesse: for he hath blessed, & I can not alter it.

21 He seeth none iniquitie in Iakób, nor seeth he transgression in Iakób: the Lord
his God is with him, & the ioyful shoute of a King is among them.

22 God brought them out of Egypt: their strength is as an vnicorne.

23 For there is no forerier in Iakób, nor soothsayng in Iakób: according to this time it shalbe said of Iakób and of Iakób,
What hath the Lord wrought?

24 Beholde, the people shal rise vp as a lió,
and lift vp him selfe as a yong lion: he shal
not lie downe, til he eat of the prairie, and til he drinke the blood of the slaine.

25 ¶ Then Balák said vnto Balaám, Nether
curse, nor blesse them at all.

26 But Balaám answered, and said vnto Ba-lák, Tolde not I thee, saying, All that the Lord speaketh, that must I do?

27 ¶ Againe Balák said vnto Balaám, Come,
I pray thee, I wil bring thee vnto another place, if so be it wil please God, that thou
maist thence curse them for my sake.

28 So Balák brought Balaám vnto the top of Peór, that looketh toward Ieshmón.

29 Then Balaám said vnto Balák, Make me here seuen altars, and prepare me here
seuen bullockes, and seuen rams.

30 And Balák did as Balaám had said, and offred a bullocke and a ram on euerie altar.

Concerning vowes. 4 The Vowes of the maid, 7 Of the wife, 10 Of the widow, or deuorced.

1 ¶ Then Moses spake vnto the childrē of Israel according to all that the Lord
had commanded him,

2 Moses also spake vnto the heades of the tribes concerning the children of Israel, saying, This is the thing which the Lord
hathe commanded,

3 Whosoever voweth a vow vnto y Lord,
or sweareth an othe to bide him" selfe by
a bonde, he shal not breake his" promises,
but shal do accordyng to all thar proceedeth
out of his mouth.

4 If a woman also vowe a vow vnto the Lord, & bide her selfe by a bōde, being in her fathers house, in y time of her youth,

5 And her father heare her vowe & bōde,
wherewith she hathe bounde her selfe, and her father holde his peace concerning
her, then all her vowes shal stand & eue-rie bonde, wherewith she hathe bounde
her selfe, shal stand.

6 But if her father disallowe her the same daye that he heareth all her vowes & bon-
des, wherewith she hathe bounde her selfe,
they shal not be of value, and the Lord wil
forgiue her, because her father disallowed
her.

- But if her housband disallowe her the same day that he heareth it, then shal he make her vowe which she hath made, & that that she hath pronounced with her lippes, wherewith she bonde her selfe, of none effect: and the Lord wil forgieue her.

- But if her housband holde his peace concerning her first day to day, thē he stablisheth all her vowes and all her bondes which she hath made: he hath confirmed them because he held his peace concerning her the same day that he heard them.
- But if he breake them after that he hath heard them, then shal he beare her iniquitie.
- These are the ordināces which the Lord commanded Mosēs, betwene a man & his wife, & betwene the father and his daughter, being yong in her fathers house.

CHAP. XXXI.

Five Kings of Midian & Balaām are slaine. 18 One of the maidens is rescued alive. 27 The prize is equally divided. 49 A present given of Israel.

- AND the Lord spake vnto Mosēs, saying,
- *Reuenge the children of Israel of the Midianites, & afterward shalt thou be gathered vnto thy people.
- And Mosēs spake to the people, saying, Harken some of you vnto warre, and let them go against Midian, to execute the vengeance of the Lord against Midian.
- A thousand of euerie tribe through out all the tribes of Israel, shal ye send to the warre.

So there were taken out of the thousands of Israel, twelue thousand prepared vnto warre, of euerie tribe a thousand.

And Mosēs sent them to the warre, euen a thousand of euerie tribe, and sent them with Phinehās the sonne of Eleazār the Priest to the warre & the holy instruments: that is, the trumpets to blowe were in his hand.

And they warred against Midian, as the Lord had commanded Mosēs, & slue all the males.

They slue also 5 Kings of Midian among them that were slaine: Eni and Rékem, & Zur, & Hur & Réba five kings of Midian, and thei slue Balaām the sonne of Beor with the sword:

But the children of Israel toke the women of Midian prisoners, and their children, & spoyled all their cattel, & all their flockes, and all their goods.

And they burnt all their cities, wherein they dwelt, and all their villages with fire.

And they toke all the spoyle & all they praye bothe of men & beastes.

And they broght the captiues and that which they had taken, and the spoyle vnto Mosēs and to Eleazār the Priest, and vnto the Congregation of the children of Israel, into the cape in the plaine of Moab, which was by Iordén toward Ierichó.

Then Mosēs and Eleazār the Priest, & all the princes of the Congregation went out of the campe to mete them.

And Mosēs was angry with the captaines of the hoste, with the captaines ouer thousands, & captaines ouer hundreds, which came from the warre and batell.

And Mosēs said vnto them, What haue ye sauēd all the women?

Beholde, these caused the children of Israel through the counsel of Balaām to commit a trespass against the Lord, as concerning Peór, and there came a plague among the Congregation of the Lord.

Now therefore, slay all the males among the children, & kil all the women that haue knowen man by carnal copulation.

But all the women children that haue not knowen carnal copulation, kepe alive for your selues.

And ye shal remaine without the hoste seue dayes, all that haue killed any person, & all that haue touched anie dead, & purifie bothe your selues & your prisoners the third day and the seuenth.

Also ye shal purifie euerie garment and all that is made of skins & all worke of goates heere, & all things made of wood.

31 And Moses and Eleazár the Priest did

10 Speake vnto the children of Israél, and say vnto them, * When ye be come ouer
Iordén into the land of Canaan,

11 Ye shal appoint you cities, to be cities
of refuge for you, that the slayer, which slayeth anie persone vnwares, may flee thither.

land of Canaan which shalbe cities of re-

15 These six cities shalbe a refuge for the children of Israél, and for the stranger,
and for him that dwelleth among * you,
that euerie one which killeth anie perso-
ne vnwares, may flee thither.

16 * And if one * smite an other with an instrument of yron that he dye, he is a mur-
therer, & the murderer shal dye * death.

17 Also if he smite him by casting a * stone, wherewith he may be slaine, and he

shal dye the death.

18 Or if he smite him with an hād weapon
of wood, wherewith he may be slaine, if he dye, he is a murderer, and the murderer
shal dye the death.

19 The reuenger of the blood him selfe

him, he shal slay him.

hand, that he dye, he that smote him shal
dye the death: for he is a murderer: the reuenger of the blood shal slay the murderer when he meteth him.

according to these lawes.

him vnto the citie of his refuge, whither
he was fled: and he shal abide there vnto

CHAPTER XXXVI.

4 An ordre for the mariage of the daughters of Zelophehad. 7 The inheritance coulde not be given from one tribe to another.

THEN the chief fathers of the familie of the sonnes of Gileád, the sonne of Machir the sonne of Manasséh, of the families of the sonnes of Ioséph, came, and spake before Moses, and before the princes, the chief fathers of the children of Israël,

And said, *The Lord commanded <sup>b</sup> my lord to giue the land to inherite by lot to the children of Iſraél: and my lord was commanded by the Lord, to giue the inheritance of Zelophehad our brother vnto his daughters,

3 If they be married to anie of the sonnes
of the other tribes of the childre of Israël

then ſhal their inheritance be taken away
from the inheritance of our fathers, & ſhal
be put vnto the inheritance of the tribe
whereof they ſhal be: ſo ſhal it be taken away from the lot of our inheritance.

4 Also when the Iubile of the children of Iſraél commeth, then ſhal their inheritance be put vnto the inheritance of the tribe whereof they ſhal be. ſo ſhal their inheritance be takē away from the inheritance of the tribe of our fathers.

5 Then Moſes commanded the children of Iſrael, according to the worde of the Lord, ſaying, The tribe of the ſonnes of Joſeph haue ſayd a wel.

6 This is the thing that the Lord hath commanded, concerning the daughters of Zelophehad, saying, They shal be wiues, to whome they thinke best, onely to the familie of the tribe of their father shal they mary:

7 So shal not the inheritance of the children of Israél remoue from tribe to tribe, for euerie one of the children of Israél shal ioyne him selfe to the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers.

8 And euerie daughter that possesseth anie inheritance of the tribes of the children of Israel, shalbe wife vnto one of the familie of the tribe of her father: that the children of Israel may enioye euerie man the inheritance of their fathers.

9. Neither shal the inheritance go about from tribe to tribe : but euerie one of the tribes of the children of Israël shal sticke
to his owne inheritance.

10 As the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo did the daughters of Zelophehad.

11 For* Mahláh, Tirzáh, and Hogláh, and Milcáh, and Noáh the daughters of Zelophehád were married vnto their fathers brothers sonnes.

12 They were wyues to certeine of the families of the sonnes of Manasséh the sonne of Ioséph : so their inheritance remained in the tribe of the familie of their father.

13 These are the 8 commandements and lawes which the Lord commanded by the

rael in the plaine of Moab, by Iorden

THE ARGUMENT.

THe wonderful loue of God to ward his Church is lively set forth in this boke. For albeit through their ingratitude and sundry rebellions against God, for the space of forty yeres, Deu. 9, 7, they had deserued to haue bene cut of from the nōber of his people, and for euer to haue bene deprived of the vse of his holy worde, & sacraments; yet he did euer preserve his Church euen for his owne mercies sake, and wolde stil haue his Name called vpon among them. Wherefore he bringeth them into the Land of Canaan, destroyeth their enemies, gineth them their countrey, townes, and goodes, and exhortieth them by the example of their fathers (whof infidelitie, idolatrie, adulteries, murmurings and rebellion, he had moste sharply punished) to feare and obey the Lord, to embrace and kepe his lawe without adding thereto or diminishing therefrom. For by his worde he wolde be knowē to be their God, and they his people: by his worde he wolde gouerne his Church, and by the same they shoulde learne to obey him: by his worde he wolde discerne the false Prophet from the true, light from darknes, error from knollage, and his owne people from all other nations and infidels: teaching them thereby to refuse and detest, destroy and abolish whatsoener is not agreeable to his holy wil, seme it otherwise neuer so good or precious in the eyes of man. And for this cause God promised to raise vp Kings and gouernours, for the setting forth of this worde and preseruacion of his Church: giuing vnto them an especial charge for the executing thereof: whome therefore he willett to exercise them selues diligently in the continual studie and meditation of the same: that they might learne to feare the Lord, loue their subiects, abhorre couctousnes and vice, and whatsoener offendeth the maiestie of God. And as he had to fore instructed their fathers in all things apperteyning, bothe to his spiritual sermice, and also for the maintenance of that societie which is betwene men: so he prescribeth here anewe, all suche lawes and ordinances, which either concerne his Diuine sermice, or els are necessarie for a comon weale: appointing vnto euerie estate and degre their charge and duetie: as wel, how to rule and lue in the feare of God, as to norriſh friendship toward their neighbours, and to preserve that ordre which God hathe established among men: threatening with all moste horrible plagues to them that transgresse his commandements, and promising all blessings & felicitie to suche as observe and obey them.

CHAP. I.

A breue rehearsal of things done before frō Horé vnto Kadés-barnéa. 32 Moyses reproveth the people for their incredulitie. 44 The Israēlites are ouer come by the Amorites because they fought against the commandement of the Lord.

THESE be y wordes which Moyses spake vnto all Israël, on this side Iorden in the wildernes, in the plaine, ouer against y red Sea, betwene Parán & Tóphel, and Labán, and Hazeróth, and Di-zaháb.

There are eleuē daies journey from Horé vnto Kadés-barnéa, by the way of mount Seir.

And it came to passe in the first day of the eleuenth moneth, in the fortieth yere, that Moyses spake vnto the children of Israël according vnto al that the Lord had giue him in commandement vnto them,

After that he had slaine <sup>at</sup> Sihón the King of y Amorites which dwelt in Heshibón, and Og King of Bashán, which dwelt at Ashtaróth in Edréi.

On this side Iorden in the land of Moab began Moyses to declare this Law, saying, The Lord our God spake vnto vs in Horé, saying, Ye haue dwelt long ynough in this mount,

Turne you and departe, and go vnto the

mountaine of the Amorites, and vnto all places nere therunto: in the plaine, in the mountaine, or in the valley: bothe South ward, and to the sea side, to the land of y Canaanites, and vnto Lebanon: euen vnto the great riuer, the riuer Peráth.

Beholde, I haue set the land before you: go in and * possesse that land which the Lord sware vnto your fathers, Abraham, Izhák, and Iaakób, to giue vnto thé and to their sēde after them.

¶ And I spake vnto you the same time, saying, I am not able to beare you my selfe alone:

The Lord your God hathe multiplied you: & beholde, ye are this day as the starres of heauen in number:

(The Lord God of your fathers make you a thousand times so manie mo as ye are, and blesse you, as he hathe promised you)

How cá I alone beare your cumbrance and your charge, and your stiffe?

Bring you men of wisdome and of vnderstanding, and * knowen among your tribes, and I wil make them rulers ouer you:

Then ye answered me & said, The thing is good that thou hast cōmanded vnto do.

So I toke the chief of your tribes 1 wise and knowen mé, and made thé rulers ouer

you, captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundreds, & captaines ouer fifty, and captaines ouer ten, and officers among your tribes.

16 And I charged your iudges that same time, saying, Hear the controversies betweene your brethren, in iudge righteously betweene euery man and his brother, and the stranger that is with him.

17 Ye shal haue no respect of persone in iudgement, * but shal heare the small as wel as the great: ye shal not feare the face of man: for the iudgemēt is <sup>m</sup> Gods: and the cause that is to hard for you, bring vnto me, and I wil heare it.

18 Also I commanded you the same time all the things which ye shulde do.

19 ¶ Then we departed from Horēb, and went through all that great and terrible wildernes, (as ye haue sene) by the way of y<sup>e</sup> mounteine of the Amorites, as the Lord our God commanded vs: and we came to Kadesh barnēa.

20 And <sup>a</sup> I said vnto you, ye are come vnto the mounteine of the Amorites, which the Lord our God doeth giue vnto vs.

21 Beholde, the Lord thy God hath layed y<sup>e</sup> lād before thee: go vp & possesse it, as y<sup>e</sup> Lord y<sup>e</sup> God of thy fathers hath said vnto thee: feare not, neither be discouraged.

22 ¶ Then ye came vnto me euery one, & said, We wil sēd mē before vs, to searche vs out the land and to bring vs worde againe, what way we must go vp by, and vnto what cities we shal come.

23 So the saying pleased me wel, and I toke twelue men of you, of euery tribe one.

24 * Who departed, and went vp into the mouēteine, & came vnto the <sup>r</sup>iuier Eshcōl, and searched out the land.

25 And toke of the frute of the lād in their hands, and broght it vnto vs, and broght vs worde againe, and <sup>r</sup> said, It is a good land, which the Lord our God doeth giue vs.

26 Notwithstanding, ye wolde not go vp, but were disobedient vnto the commandement of the Lord your God,

27 And murmured in your tentes, and said, Because the Lord <sup>r</sup> hated vs, therefore hath he broght vs out of the land of Egypt, to deliuer vs out of the hand of the Amorites, and to destroy vs.

28 Whether shal we go vp? our <sup>r</sup> brethrē haue discouraged our hearts, saying, The people is greater, and taller then we: the cities are great and walled vp to heauen: and moreover we haue sene the sonnes of the <sup>r</sup> Anakims there.

29 But I said vnto you, Dread not, nor be afraid of them.

30 The Lord your God, <sup>r</sup> who goeth before you, he shal fight for you, according to all that he did vnto you in Egypt before your eyes,

31 And in the wildernes, where thou hast sene how the Lord thy God bare thee, as a man doeth beare his sonne, in all the way which ye haue gone, vntil ye came vnto this place.

32 Yet for all this ye did not beleue the Lord your God,

33 * Who went in the way before you, to searche you out a place to pitch your tentes in, in fire by night, y<sup>e</sup> ye might se what way to go, and in a cloude by day.

34 Then the Lord heard the voyce of your wordes, and was wroth, and sware, saying,

35 * Surely there shal not one of these me of this froward generation, s<sup>e</sup> y<sup>e</sup> good land, which I sware to giue vnto your fathers, 36 Saue Caleb the sonne of Iephūnch: he shal se it, * and to him wil I giue the land that he hath troden vpon, and to his children, because he hath constantly followed the Lord.

37 * Also the Lord was angry with me for your sakes, saying, * Thou also shalt not go in thither,

38 But Ioshua the sonne of Nun which I sware before thee, he shal go in thither: I encourage him: for he shal cause Israel to inherit it.

39 Moreover, your <sup>r</sup> children, which ye said shulde be a pray, and your sonnes, which in that day had no knowledge betweene good and euil, they shal go in thither, and vnto them wil I giue it, and they shal possesse it.

40 But as for you, turne backe, & take your journey into the wildernes by the way of the red Sea.

41 Thē ye answered and said vnto me, We haue sinned against the Lord, * we wil go vp, and fight, according to all that y<sup>e</sup> Lord our God hath commanded vs: and ye armed you euery man to the warre, & were ready to go vp into the mounteine.

42 But the Lord said vnto me, Say vnto the, Go not vp, neither fight, (for I am <sup>r</sup> not among you) lest ye fall before your enemies.

43 And whē I tolde you, ye wolde not heare, but rebelled against the commandement of the Lord, and were presumptuous, and went vp into the mounteine.

44 Then the Amorites which dwelt in that mounteine came out against you, & chased you (as bees vsē to do) and destroyed you in Scir, <sup>euen</sup> vnto Hormah.

45 And when ye came againe, ye wept before the Lord, but the Lord wolde not heare your voyce, nor incline his eares vnto you.

46 So ye abode in Kadesh a long time, according to the time that ye had remained before.

5 Ye shal not prouoke them: for I wil not giue you of their land so muche as a fote breadth, * because I haue giue mount Seir vnto Esāu for a possession.

6 Ye shal bye meat of them for money to eat, and ye shal also procure water of the for money to drinke.

8 And when we were departed frō our brethren the children of Esāu which dwell in Seir, through the way of the <sup>f</sup> plaine, from Elāth, & from Ezion-gāber, we turned and went by the way of the wilderness of Moāb.

9 Then the Lord said vnto me, Thou shalt not <sup>g</sup> vex Moab, neither prouoke them to battel: for I wil not giue thee of their lād for a possession, because I haue giuen Ar to the children <sup>h</sup> of Lot for a possession.

10 The <sup>i</sup> Emims dwell therein in times past, a people great, & many, and tall, as the Anakims.

11 They also were taken for gyantes as the Anakims: whome the Moabites call Emims.

12 The Horims also dwell in Seir before time, whome the children of Esāu chased out and destroyed them before them, and dwell in their stede: as Israel shal do vnto the land of his possession, which the Lord hathe giuen them.

13 Now rise vp, said I, and get you ouer the riuier * Zerēd: and we went ouer the riuier Zerēd.

14 The <sup>k</sup> space also wherein we came from Kadesh-barnea vntil we were come ouer the riuier Zerēd, was eight and thirtie yeres, vntil all the generation of the men of warre were wasted out from among the hoste, as the Lord sware vnto them.

15 For in dede the <sup>l</sup> hand of the Lord was against them, to destroy them frō amōg the hoste, til thei were consumed.

16 ¶ So when all the men of warre were consumed and dead frō among the people:

17 Then the Lord spake vnto me, saying, <sup>m</sup> Thou shalt go through Ar the coast of Moāb this day:

19 And thou shalt come nere ouer against the children of Ammōn: <sup>n</sup> but shalt not lay siege vnto them, nor moue warre against them: for I wil not giue thee of the land of the children of Ammōn <sup>o</sup> any possession: for I haue giuen it vnto the children of Lot for a possession.

20 That also was taken for a land <sup>p</sup> of gyants: for gyants dwell therein a fore time, whome the Ammonites called Zamzumims:

21 A people <sup>q</sup> that was great, & many, & tall, as the Anakims: but the Lord destroyed them before them, & thei succeded them in their inheritance, and dwell in their stede:

22 As he did to the children of Esāu which dwell in Seir, when he destroyed the Horims before them, & thei possessed them, and dwell in their stede vnto this day.

23 And the Auims which dwell in Hazerim <sup>r</sup> euen vnto * Azzāh, the Caphtorims which came out of Caphtor destroyed them, and dwell in their stede.

24 ¶ Rise vp therefore, said the Lord: take your iourney, and passe ouer the riuier Arnon: beholde, I haue giuen into thy hand Sihōn: the <sup>s</sup> Amorite, King of Heshbōn, and his land: begin to possesse it and prouoke him to battel.

25 This day wil I <sup>t</sup> begin to send thy feare & thy dread, vpon all people vnder the heauens, which shal heare thy fame & shal tremble and quake before thee.

26 Then I sent messengers out of the wilderness of Kedemōth vnto Sihōn King of Heshbōn, with wordes of peace, saying,

27 ¶ Let me passe through thy land: I wil go by the hie way: I wil nether turne vnto the right hand nor to the left.

28 Thou shalt sel me meat for money, for to eat, and shalt giue me water for money for to drinke: onely I wil go through on my fote,

29 (As the <sup>u</sup> children of Esāu which dwell in Seir, and the Moabites which dwell in Ar, did vnto me) vntil I be come ouer Iordēn, into the land which y<sup>e</sup> Lord our God giueth vs.

30 But Sihōn the King of Heshbōn wolde not let vs passe by him: for the Lord thy God had <sup>v</sup> hardened his spirit, and made his heart obstinat, because he wolde deliuer him into thine hands, as appeareth this day.

And the Lord said vnto me, Beholde, I

An exhortacion to obserue the Lawe without adding

image ought to be made to worship. 26 Threatenings against them that forsake the Lawe of God. 37 God chose the seds because he loued their fathers. 43 The three cities of refuge.

NOW therefore hearken, o Israél, vnto
the ordinances and to the lawes w I teache you to a do, that ye may liue and go in, & possesse the land, which the Lord
God of your fathers giueth you.

Ye shal b put nothing vnto the worde
which I commande you, neither shal ye take ogh there from, that ye may kepe the commandements of the Lord your God
which I commande you.

Your d eyes haue sene what the Lord did because of Baal-Peór, for all the men that followed Baal-Peór, the Lord thy God
hath destroyed euerie one frō amōg you.

But ye that did cleaue vnto y Lord your God, are alie euerie one of you this day.

Beholde, I haue taught you ordinances,
and lawes, as the Lord my God commanded me, that ye shulde do euen so with in the land whither ye go to possesse it.

Kepe them therefore, and do them: for
that is your i wisdom, and your vnder-
standing in the sight of the people, which
shal heare all these ordinances, and shal
say, * Onely this people is wise, and of vnder-
standing and a great nacion.

For what nacion is so great, vnto whome
the gods come so neie vnto them, as the Lord our God is s nere vnto vs, in all that we call vnto him for?

And what nacion is so great, that hath ordinances and lawes so righteous, as all this Lawe, which I set before you this day?

But take hede to thy selfe, and b kepe thy soule diligently, that thou forget not the things which thine eyes haue sene, & that they departe not out of thine heart, all the

daies of thy life: but teache the thy son-
nes, and thy sonnes sonnes:

Forget not the day that thou stodest before the Lord thy God in Horéb, when y Lord said vnto me, Gather me the people together, and I wil cause them heare my wordes, that they may learne to feare me
all the dayes that they shal liue vpon the earth, and that they may teache their
children:

Then came you nere & stode vnder the mountaine & the mountaine i burnt with fire vnto the middes of heauen, and there was darcknes, cloudes and mist.

And the Lord spake vnto you out of the middes of the fire, and ye heard the voyce
of the wordes, but sawe no similitude, saue
a voyce.

Then he declared vnto you his couenant
which he commanded you to k do, euen
the ten commandements, and wrote them
vpon two tables of stone.

And the Lord commanded me that same time, that I shulde teache you ordinances and lawes, which ye shulde obserue in the land, whither ye go, to possesse it.

Take therefore good hede vnto your selues: for ye sawe no i image in the day
that the Lord spake vnto you in Horéb
out of the middes of the fire:

That ye corrupt not your selues, & make you a grauen image or representation of anie figure: whither it be the likenes of male or female,

The likenes of anie beast that is on earth
or the likenes of anie feathered foule: that flicth in the aire:

Or the likenes of anie thing that creepeth
on the earth, or the likenes of anie fish
that is in the waters beneath the earth,

And lest thou lift vp thine eyes vnto heauen, and when thou seest the sunne and the moone and the starres with all the hoste
of heauen, shuldest be driuen to worship
them and serue them, which the Lord thy God hath distributed to all people vnder
the whole heauen.

But the Lord hath take you and brought you out of the yron furnace: out of Egypt to be vnto him a people and inheritance, as appeareth this day.

And the Lord was angry with me for your wordes, and sware that I shulde not go ouer Iordén, & that I shulde not go in vnto that good land, which the Lord thy God giueth thee for an inheritance.

For I must dye in this land, and shal not go ouer Iordén: but o ye shal go ouer, and possesse that good land.

Take hede vnto your selues, lest ye forget the couenant of the Lord your God w

The Lord a made not this couenât with our fathers, onely, but with vs, euen with vs
all here alie this day.

The Lord talked with you b face to face in the mount, out of the middes of the fire.

(At that time I stode betwene the Lord and you, to declare vnto you the worde of the Lord: for ye were afraide at the sight of the fire, & went not vp into the mount)
and he said,

I am the Lord thy God, which haue brought thee out of the land of Egypt, fro
the house of bondage.

Thou shalt haue none c other gods before my face.

Thou shalt make thee no grauen image,
or anie likenes of that y<sup>e</sup> is in heauen aboue,
or which is in the earth beneth, or that is in the waters vnder the earth.

Thou shalt nether bowe thy self vnto
them, nor serue them: for I the Lord thy God am a ielous God, visiting the in-iquitie of the fathers vpon the children,
euen vnto the third and fourth generations
of them that hate me:

And shewing mercie vnto thousands of them that e loue me, and kepe my comandements.

Thou shalt not take the Name of the Lord thy God in vaine: for the Lord wil
not holde him gilty, that raketh his Name in vaine.

Kepe the Sabbath day, to sanctifie it, as
the Lord thy God hath commanded thee.

Six daies f thou shalt labour, and shalt
do all thy worke:

But the seuenth day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God: y<sup>e</sup> shalt not do anie worke therein, thou, nor thy sonne, nor thy daughter, nor thy man seruante, nor thy mai-
de, nor thine oxe, nor thine asse, nether anie of thy cattel, nor the stranger that is within thy gates: that thy man seruât and thy maide may rest aswel as thou.

For, remember that thou wast a seruant in the lād of Egypt, and that the Lord the God brought thee out thence by a mighty hand and a stretched out arme: therefore the Lord thy God commanded thee to ob-serue the Sabbath day.

Honour thy father & thy mother, as
the Lord thy God hath commanded thee
that thy daies may be prolonged, and that it may go wel with thee vpon the land,
which the Lord thy God giueth thee.

Thou shalt not kil.

Nether shalt thou commit adulterie.

Nether shalt thou steale.

Nether shalt thou beare false witnes against thy neighbour.

Nether shalt b thou couet thy neighbours wife, nether shalt thou desire thy neighbours house, his field, nor his man

seruant, nor his maid, his oxe, nor his asse,
nor ought that thy neighbour hath.

These wordes the Lord spake vnto all your multitude in the mount out of the middes of the fire, the cloude & the dar-kenes, with a great voyce, and i added no-
more thereto: and wrote them vpon two tables of stone, and deliuered them vnto
me.

And when ye heard the voyce out of the middes of the darkenes, (for y<sup>e</sup> mountaine
did burne with fire,) then ye came to me,
all the chief of your tribes, and your Elders:

And ye said, Beholde, the Lord our God
hath shewed vs his glorie & his greatnes, & we haue heard his voyce out of y<sup>e</sup> mid-des of the fire: we haue sene this day that God doeth talke with man, and he* li-ueth.

Now therefore, why shulde we dye: for this great fire wil consume vs: if we heare
the voyce of the Lord our God anie more, we shal dye.

For what* flesh was there euer, that heard the voyce of the liuing God speaking out of the middes of the fire as we haue, &
liued?

Go thou nere and heare all that y<sup>e</sup> Lord
our God saith: and declare thou vnto vs
all that the Lord our God sayeth vnto
thee* and we wil heare it, and do it.

Then the Lord heard the voyce of your wordes, when ye spake vnto me: and the Lord said vnto me, I haue heard the voyce of the wordes of this people, which they haue spoken vnto thee: they haue wel
said, all that they haue spoken.

Oh k that there were such an heart in them to feare me, and to kepe all my co-
mandementes alway: that it might go wel
with them, and with their children for e-uer.

Go, say vnto them, Returne you into
your tentes.

But stand thou here with me, & I wil tel thee all the commandements, and the ordinances, and the lawes, which thou shalt teache them: that they may do them in the land which I giue them to possesse it.

Take hede therefore, that ye do as the Lord your God hath commanded you:
turne not aside to the right hand nor to
the left,

But walke in all the wayes which the Lord your God hath commanded you,
that ye may liue, and that it may go wel
with you: & that ye may prolong your dayes in the land which ye shal possesse.

And he wil loue thee, and bleſſe thee, &

Thou ſhalt not feare them: for the Lord

And the Lord thy God wil roote out

But the Lord thy God ſhal giue them

17 Beware lest thou say in thine heart, My power, and the strength of mine owne hād hath prepared me this abundance.

18 But remember the Lord thy God: for it is he which giueth thee power to get substance to establish his couenāt which he sware vnto thy fathers, as appeareth this day.

19 And if thou forget the Lord thy God, and walke after other gods, & serue them, and worship them, I<sup>k</sup> reftifie vnto you this day that ye shal surely perish.

20 As the naciōs which the Lord destroyeth before you, so ye shal perish, because ye wolde not be obedient vnto the voyce of the Lord your God.

3 Vnderstand therefore that this day the Lord thy God is he which goeth ouer before thee as a consuming fire: he shal destroy them, and he shal bring them downe before thy face: so thou shalt cast the out and destroy them sodenly, as y<sup>e</sup> Lord hath said vnto thee.

4 Speake not thou in thine heart (after that the Lord thy God hath cast them out before thee) saying, For my righteousness y<sup>e</sup> Lord hath brought me in, to possesse this land: but for y<sup>e</sup> wickednes of these nacions the Lord hath cast them out before thee.

24 Therefore thou shalt not eat it, but power it vpon the earth as water.

25 Thou shalt not eat it, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee, when thou shalt do that which is right in the sight of the Lord:

26 But thine <sup>a</sup> holy things which thou hast,
and thy vowes thou shalt take vp, and come vnto <sup>f</sup> place which <sup>f</sup> Lord shall chofe.

27 And thou shalt make thy burnt offerings
of the flesh, and of the blood vpon the altar of the Lord thy God, and the blood of thine offerings shall be powred vpon the altar of the Lord thy God, & thou shalt eat the flesh.

28 Take hede, and heare all these wordes
which I command thee, <sup>f</sup> it may go <sup>w</sup> well
with thee, and with thy children after thee
for euer, when <sup>f</sup> doest that which is good & right in the sight of the Lord thy God.

29 When the Lord thy God shall destroy the nations before thee, whether thou goest to possesse them, & thou shalt possesse
them and dwell in their land,

30 Beware, lest thou be taken in a snare after thee, after that they be destroyed before thee, & lest thou aske after their gods,
saying, How did these nations serue their gods, that I may do so likewise?

31 Thou shalt not do so vnto the Lord thy God: for all abomination, which the Lord hateth, haue they done vnto their gods: for they haue burned both their sonnes and their daughters with fire to their gods.

32 Therefore whatsoeuer I commande you,
take hede you do it: thou shalt put no-

A T the terme of seven yeres thou shalt make a freedome.

2 And this is the maner of y freedome: eue-rie a creditour shal quite the lone of his had w he hath lent to his neighbour: he
shal not aske it againe of his neighbour,
nor of his brother: for the yere of y Lords
freedome is proclaimed.

3 Of a stranger thou maist require it: but
y which thou hast with thy brother, thine
hand shal remit:

4 Saue when there shalbe no poore with thee: for the Lord shal blesse thee in the lad, which the Lord thy God giueth thee,
for an inheritance to possesse it:

5 So that thou hearken vnto the voyce of y Lord thy God to obserue & do all these commandments, which I commande thee
this day.

6 For y Lord thy God hath blessed thee,
as he hath promised thee: & thou shalt
lend vnto manie nations, but thou thy sel-
fe shalt not borrowe, & thou shalt reigne
ouer manie nations, and they shal not reigne
ouer thee.

7 ¶ If one of thy brethre with thee be poore
within anie of thy gates in thy land, w
the Lord thy God giueth thee, thou shalt not harden thine heart, nor shut thine had
from thy poore brother:

8 ¶ But thou shalt open thine had vnto him,
and shalt lend him sufficient for his nede
which he hath.

9 Beware y there be not a wicked thoght
in thine heart, to say, The seventh yere, y
yere of freedome is at hand: therefore y
grieveth thee to loke on thy poore brother, and thou giuest him nought, & he cri-
vnto the Lord against thee, so that sinne
be in thee:

10 Thou shalt giue him, & let it not grieue

thine heart to giue vnto him: for because of this y Lord thy God shal blesse thee in all thy workes, & in all that thou puttest
thine hand to.

11 ¶ Because there shalbe euer some poore
in the land, therefore I commande thee,
saying, Thou shalt open thine hand vnto thy brother, to thy nedie, and to thy poore in thy land.

12 ¶ If thy brother an Ebrewe sel him selfe
to thee, or an Ebrewe esse, and serue thee six yere, euē in the seventh yere thou shalt let him go free from thee.

13 And when thou sendest him out free fro
thee, y shalt not let him go away empty,
but shalt giue him a liberal rewarde
of thy shepe, & of thy corne, & of thy wine: thou shalt giue him of that wherewith
the Lord thy God hath blessed thee.

14 And remember that thou wast a seruant in the land of Egypt, and the Lord thy God deliuered thee: therefore I commande
thee this thing to day.

15 And if he say vnto thee, I will not go a-

thine house, & because he is wel with thee,
then shalt thou take a naule, and perce
his eare through against the dore, and he shal be thy seruant for euer: and vnto thy mayd seruant thou shalt do like wise.

16 Let it not grieue thee, when thou lettest
him go out free: for he hath serued thee
six yeres, which is the double wor-
the of an hired seruant: & the Lord thy God shal blesse thee in all y thou doest.

17 ¶ All the first borne males that come of thy cattel, & of thy shepe, thou shalt sanctifye vnto the Lord thy God. Thou shalt do no worke with thy first borne bul-
locke, nor sheare thy first borne shepe.

18 Thou shalt eat it before the Lord thy

Lord shal chose, both y, & thine household.

19 ¶ But if there be anie blemish therein, as if

1 WHē the Lord thy God * shal roo-

in the middes of thy land which the Lord
thy God giueth thee to possesse it.

3 Thou shalt <sup>a</sup> prepare thee the waie, & deuide the coastes of the land, which the Lord thy God giueth thee to inherit, into three partes, that euerie <sup>b</sup> manslayer may flee thether.

4 * This also is y cause wherefore the māslaier shal flee thether, and liue: who so killeth his neighbour ignorantly, & hated
him not in time passed:

5 As he that goeth vnto the wood with his neighbour to hewe wood, and his hand striket with the axe to cut downe the tre, if the head slip from the helue, and hitte his neighbour that he dyeth, y same

7 Wherefore I cōmande thee, sayig, Thou shalt appoint out three cities for thee.

8 And when the Lord thy God <sup>d</sup> enlargeth thy coastes (as he hathe sworne vnto thy fathers) and giueth thee all the land
which he promised to giue vnto thy fa-

to do them, which I commande thee this day: <sup>to wis</sup>, that thou loue the Lord thy God, and walke in his waies for euer) * the shalt thou adde three cities mo for thee
besides those three,

10 That innocent blood be not shed within thy land, which the Lord thy God gi-

thee.

11 * But if a man hate his neighbour, and laie waite for him, and rise against him, &
smite any man that he dye, and flee vn-
to any of these cities,

12 Then the <sup>f</sup> Elders of his citie shal send and fet him thence, and deliuer him into the hands of the auenger of the blood,
that he may dye.

13 Thine <sup>g</sup> eie shal not spare him, but thou shalt put away the crye of innocent blood
from Israël, that it may go wel with thee.

14 * Thou shalt not remove thy neighbours marke, which thei of olde time haue set in thine inheritance, that thou shalt inherit in the lād, which the Lord thy God
giueth thee to possesse it.

15 * One witness shal not rise against a mā
for any trespass, or for any sinne, or for any faute that he offendeth in, * but at the mouth of two witnesses or at the mouth of three witnesses shal the matter be sta-

shal be in those daies,

18 And the Iudges shal make diligent in-

When thou shalt go forth to warre against thine enemies, & shalt be horses and charrets, and people more than thou, be not afraid of them: for the Lord thy God is with thee, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt.

And whē ye are come nere vnto the battel, then the Priest shall come forth to speake vnto the people,

And shall say vnto them, Heare, O Israel: ye are come this day vnto battel against your enemies: * let not your hearts faint, neither feare, nor be amazed, nor adread of them.

For the Lord your God <sup>b</sup> goeth with you, to fight for you against your enemies, and to saue you.

And let the officers speake vnto y<sup>e</sup> people, saying, What man is there that hath bought a new house, and hath not dedicated it? let him go and returne to his house lest he dye in the battel, and another man dedicate it.

And what man is there that hath platted a vineyard, and hath not eaten of the frute? let him go and returne againe vnto his house, lest he dye in the battel, & another eat the frute.

And what man is there that hath betrothed a wife, and hath not taken her? let him go and returne againe vnto his house, lest he dye in the battel, and another man take her.

And let the officers speake further vnto the people, & say, * Whosoeuer is afraid and faint hearted, let him go and returne vnto his house, lest his brethrens heart faint like his heart.

And after y<sup>e</sup> the officers haue made an end of speaking vnto the people, thei shall make capitaines of the armie to gouerne the people.

When thou comest nere vnto a citie to fight against it, * thou shalt offer it peace.

And if it answer thee againe peaceably, and open vnto thee, then let all the people that is founde therein, be tributaries vnto thee, and serue thee.

But if it wil make no peace with thee, but make warre against thee, then thou shalt besiege it.

And the Lord thy God shall deliuer it into thine hands, and thou shalt smite all the males thereof with the edge of the sword.

Onely the women, and the children, * and the cattel, and all that is in the citie, euen all the spoile thereof shalt thou take vnto thy self, and shalt eat the spoile of thine enemies, which the Lord thy God hath giuen thee.

Thus shalt thou do vnto all the cities, which are a great way off from thee, which are not of the cities of these nations here.

But of y<sup>e</sup> cities of this people, which the Lord thy God shall giue thee to inherit, thou shalt saue no person aliue,

But shalt utterly destroye them: to wit, the Hittites, and the Amorites, the Canaanites, & the Perizzites, the Hiuities, and the Iebusites, as the Lord thy God hath commanded thee,

That they teache you not to do after all their abominations, which they haue done vnto their gods, and so ye shulde sinne against the Lord your God.

When thou hast besieged a citie long time, and made warre against it to take it, destroye not the trees thereof, by smiting an axe into them: for thou maiest eat of them: therefore thou shalt not cut them downe to further thee in the siege (for the tree of the field is mans life)

Onely those trees, which thou knowest are not for meat, those shalt thou destroye & cut downe, and make fortres against the citie that maketh warre with thee, vntil thou subdue it.

land of Egypt, and how we passed through the middes of the nations, which ye pas-

17 And ye haue sene their abominacions &
their idoles (wood, and stone, siluer & gol-

nor woman, nor familie, nor tribe, which shulde turne his heart away this day from the Lord our God, to go & serue the gods
of these naciōs, & that there shulde not be among you <sup>i</sup> anie roote that bringeth fourth
gall and wormewood,

19 So that when he heareth the wordes of this curse, he <sup>h</sup> blesse him selfe in his heart, saying, I shal haue peace, although I wal-ke according to the stubbernes of mine owne heart, thus adding <sup>k</sup> dronkenness to thirkt.

20 The Lord wil not be merciful vn̄to him,
but then the wrath of the Lord and his iellousie shal smoke against that man, and euerie curse that is written in this boke, shal light vpon him, and the Lord shal put
out his name from vnder heauen,

21 And the Lord shal separate him vn̄to euil out of all the tribes of Israël, according vn̄to all the curses of the cōuenant,
that is written in the boke of this Lawe.

22 So that the <sup>l</sup> generacion to come, <sup>m</sup> enen your children, that shal rise vp after you,
and the stranger that shal come from a far
land, shal say, when they shal se the pla-

wherewith the Lord shal smite it:

23 (For all that lād shal burne with brimstone and salt: it shal not be sowed, nor bring fourth, nor anie grasses shal growe therein,
like as in the ouerthrowing of <sup>n</sup> Sodom, & Gomoráh, Admáh, & Zeboim, which the Lord ouerthrewe in his wrath and in his angre)

24 Then shal all naciōs say, *Wherefore
hathe the Lord done thus vn̄to this land?
how feare is this great wrath

25 And they shal answer, Because they haue forsaken the cōuenant of the Lord God
of their fathers, which he had made with them, when he broght them out of the lād
of Egypt,

26 And went and serued other gods & worshipped them: <sup>o</sup> enen gods which they kne-
we not, & which had giuen them nothing,

27 Therefore the wrath of the Lord waxed hote against this land, to bring vpon it e-uerie curse that is written in this boke.

28 And the Lord hathe rooted them out of their land in angre, and in wrath, and in great indignacion, and hahe cast them in-
to another land, as appeareth this day.

29 The <sup>p</sup> secret things belong to the Lord our God, but <sup>q</sup> things reueiled belong vn̄to vs, and to our children for euer, that we may do all the wordes of this Lawe.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Mercie shewed when they repent. 6 The Lord doeth
circumcise the heart. 21 All excuse of ignorance is taken away. 29 Life and death is set before the. 30 The Lord is their life which obey him.

1 NOW whē all these things shal come vpon thee, ether the blessing or the curse which I haue set before thee, and <sup>r</sup> shalt <sup>a</sup> turne into thine heart, among all <sup>s</sup>
naciōs whether the Lord thy God hathe
driuen thee,

2 And shalt returne vn̄to <sup>t</sup> Lord thy God,
and obey his voyce in all that I commāde thee this day: thou, & thy children with all thine <sup>b</sup> heart and with all thy soule,

3 Then <sup>t</sup> Lord thy God wil cause thy cap-
tiues to returne, and haue compassion vpon
thee, & wil returne, to gather thee out of all the people, where <sup>t</sup> Lord thy God had scattered thee.

4 Though thou werest cast vn̄to the vtmost parte of <sup>c</sup> heauen, from thence wil <sup>t</sup> Lord thy God gather thee, & from thence wil
he <sup>d</sup> take thee,

5 And the Lord thy God wil bring thee
into the land which thy fathers possessed,
and thou shalt possesse it, and he wil shew
thee fauour, and wil multiplie thee aboue thy fathers.

6 And the Lord thy God wil <sup>e</sup> circumcise thine heart, and the heart of thy sēd, that thou maist loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, that thou maist liue.

7 And the Lord thy God wil lay all these curses vpon thine enemies, and on them,
that hate thee, and that persecute thee.

8 <sup>f</sup> Returne thou therefore, & obey the voyce of the Lord, & do all his cōmandements, which I commande thee this
day.

ous in euerie worke of thine hand, in <sup>g</sup>
frute of thy body, and in the frute of thy catel, and in the frute of the land for thy welth: for <sup>t</sup> Lord wil turne againe & <sup>h</sup> reioyce ouer thee to do thee good, as he re-
ioyed ouer thy fathers,

10 Because thou shalt obey the voyce of the Lord thy God, in keeping his cōmandements, & his ordināces, which are written in the boke of this Lawe, when thou shalt returne vn̄to the Lord thy God with all thine heart & with all thy soule.

to him in the sight of all Israël, Be of a good courage and strong: for thou shalt go with this people vnto the land which the Lord hath sworn vnto their fathers, to giue them, and thou shalt giue it them to inherit.

8 And the Lord him selfe doeth <sup>d</sup> go before thee: he wil be <sup>w</sup> thee: he wil not fayle thee, nether forsake thee: feare not therefore, nor be discomfited.

9 ¶ And Moses wrote this Lawe, and deliuered it vnto the Priestes <sup>y</sup> sonnes of Leui (which bare the Arke of the couenant of the Lord) and vnto all the Elders of Israël,

10 And Moses commanded them, saying, * Euerie seuenth yere * whē <sup>y</sup> yere of freedom shal be in the feast of the Tabernacles:

17 Wherefore my wrath wil waxe hote against them at <sup>y</sup> day, & I wil forsake them, & wil <sup>b</sup> hide my face frō them: then they shal be consumed, and many aduersities & tribulations shal come vpon them: so then they wil say, Are not these troubles come vpon me, because God is not with me?

Now therefore write ye this song for you, and teache it the children of Israël:
put it in their mouthes, that this song may be my witnes against the children of Is
raël.

For I wil bring them into the lād (which I sware vnto their fathers) that sheweth
with milke and honie, and they shal eat,
and fill them selues, and waxe fat: then
shal they turne vnto other gods, and ser ue them, and contemne me, & breake my covenant.

And then when manie aduersities and tribulations shal come vpon them, this song shal answer them to their face as a witness: for it shal not be forgotten out of the mouthes of their posteritie: for I
knowe their imagination, which they go about euen now, before I haue brought the
into the land which I sware.

Mosés therefore wrote this song the sa me day and taught it the children of Is
raël.

And God gaue Ioshua the sonne of Nun
a charge, and said, Be strong, and of a go od courage: for thou shalt bring the chil dren of Israël into the land, which I swa
re vnto them, and I wil be with thee.

And when Mosés had made an end of writing the wordes of this Lawe in a bo
ke vntil he had finished them,

Then Mosés commanded the Leuites,
which bare the Arke of the couenant of y Lord, saying,

Take the boke of this Law, and put ye
it in the side of the Arke of the couenant
of the Lord your God, that it may be the re for a witness against thee.

For I knowe thy rebellion and thy stiffe
necke: beholde, I being yet aliuie with you
this day, ye are rebellious against the Lord: how muche more then after my death?

Garther vnto me all the Elders of your tribes, and your officers, that I may speak these wordes in their audience,
and call heauen and earth to recorde a gainst them.

For I am sure that after my death ye wil utterly be corrupt and turne from the way, which I haue commanded you: the fore euil wil come vpon you at the length, because ye wil commit euil in the sight of y Lord, by prouoking him to angr through the worke of your hādes.

Thus Mosés spake in the audice of all the Congregation of Israël the wordes
of this song, vntil he had ended them.

CHAP. XXXII.

The song of Mosés concerning Gods benefites toward the people. 1 And their ingratitude toward him. 20 God menaceth them 21 And speaketh of the vocation of the Gentiles. 26 Mosés commandeth to teache the Lawe

to the childrē. 49 God forewarneth Mosés of his death.

Hearken, ye heauē, and I wil speake:
and let the earth heare the wordes of
my mouth.

My doctrine shal drop as the raine, and my speache shal fill as doeth the dewe, as the showre vpon the hebes; and as the great raine vpon the grasse.

For I wil publish the Name of y Lord:
giue ye glorie vnto our God.

Perfect is y worke of the mighty God:
for all his wayes are iudgement. God is true, and without wickednes: iust, & righ teous is he.

They haue corrupted them selues toward
him by their vice, not being his children,
but a frowarde and crooked generation.

Do ye so rewarde y Lord, o foolish peo ple and vnwise: is not he thy father, that hath bought thee? he hath made thee,
and proportioned thee.

Remember the dayes of olde: consider
the yeres of so manie generaciōs: aske thy father, and he wil shewe thee: thine Elders,
and they wil tel thee.

Whē the most hie God deuided to the na tions their inheritance, when he separated
y sonnes of Adām, he appointed the bor ders of the people according to the nom
ber of the children of Israël.

For the Lords porciō is his people: Iaa
kōb: the lot of his inheritance.

He founde him in the land of the wil
dernes, in a waste, and roaring wildernes:
he led him about, he taught him, and kept
him as the apple of his eye.

As an eagle stretcheth vp her nest, flotereth
ouer her birdes, stretcheth out her wings, taketh them, and beareth them on her
wings,

So the Lord alone led him and there was no strange god with him.

He caried him vp to the hie places of the earth, that he might ear y frutes of the fields, and he caused him to sucke hony
out of the stone and oyle out of the hard

Moses before his death blest all the tribes of Israël.
22 There is no God like to the God of Israël. 23 Nor any people like vnto his.

Now this is the * blessing wherewith the childre of Israël before his death, & said, The Lord came from Sinai, and rose vp from Seir vnto them, and appeared clearly from mount Parán, and he came with ten thousands of Saintes, and at his right hand a fiery Lawe for them.

Though he loue the people, yet all thy Saintes are in thine hands: & they are humbled at thy fete, to receiue thy wordes.

24 Moses commaded vs a Lawe for an inheritance of the Cōgregation of Iakób.

25 The he was among the righteous people, as King, when the heades of the people, and the tribes of Israël were assembled.

26 Let Reubén liue, and not dye, though his men be a small number.

27 And thus he blest Iudah, & said, Heare, O Lord, the voice of Iudah, & bring him vnto his people: his hands shalbe sufficient for him, if thou heipe him against his enemies.

28 And of Leui he said, Let thy * Thumím & thine Vrim be w thine holy one, whome thou didst proue in Malláh, and didst cause him to triue at y waters of Meribáh.

29 Who said vnto his father and to his mother, I haue not sene him, neither knewe he his brethren, nor knewe his owne children: for they obserued thy wordes, & kept thy couenant.

30 They shal teach Iakób thy iudgemets, and Israël thy Lawe: they shal put incens before thy face, & the burnt offering vpon thine altar.

31 Bless, O Lord, his substance, and accept the worke of his hands: smite through the loines of thē that rise against him, and of them that hate him, that they rise not againe.

32 Of Beniamín he said, The beloued of the Lord shal dwell in safety by him: the Lord shal couer him all the day long, and dwell betwene his shulders.

33 And of Ioseph he said, Blessed of the Lord is his land for the sweetenes of heauē, for the dewe, and for the depth lying beneth,

34 And for the swete increase of the sunne, and for the swete increase of the moone,

35 And for the sweetenes of the top of the ancient mountaines, and for the sweetenes of the olde hilles,

16 And for the sweetenes of the earth, & abundance thereof: & the good wil of him that dwelt in the bulke, shal come vpon the head of Ioseph, and vpon the top of the head of him that was separated from his brethren.

17 His beautie shalbe like his first borne bullocke, and his hornes as the hornes of an unicorn: with them he shal smite the people together, euen the ends of the worlde: these are also the ten thousands of Ephráim, and these are the thousands of Manasséh.

18 And of Zebulún he said, Reioyce, Zebulún, in thy going out, and thou, Issachár, in thy tentes.

19 They shal call the people vnto the mountaine: there they shal offer the sacrifices of righteousness: for they shal sucke of the abundance of the sea, and of the treasures hid in the land.

20 Also of Gad he said, Blessed be he that enlargeth Gad: he dwelleth as a lion, that catcheth for his pray arme w the head.

21 And he looked to him selfe at the beginning, because there was a portion of the Lawe giuer hid: yet he shal come with the heads of the people, to execute the iustice of the Lord, & his iudgements with Israël.

22 And of Dan he said, Dan is a lions whelp: he shal leape f om Bashán.

23 Also of Naphtali he said, O Naphtali, satisfied with fauour, an filled with the blessing of the Lord, possesse the West and the South.

24 And of Ashér he said, Ashér shalbe blessed with children: he shalbe acceptable vnto his brethren, and shal dip his fote in oyle.

25 Thy shooes shalbe yron and brasse, and thy strength shal continue as long as thou liuest.

26 There is none like God, O righteous people, which rideth vpon the heauens for thine helpe, & on cloudes in his glorie.

27 The eternal God is thy refuge, and vnder his armes thou arte for euer: he shal cast out the enemy before thee, and wil say, Destroy them.

28 The Israël the founteine of Iakób shal dwell alone in safety in a land of wheat & wine: also his heauē shal drop the dewe.

29 Blessed art thou, O Israël: who is like vnto thee, O people saued by the Lord, & shylde of thine helpe, & which is thy sworde of thy glorie: therefore thine enemies shalbe in subiection to thee, & thou shalt tread vpon their hie places.

THE BOKE OF IOSHUA.

THE ARGUMENT.

In this boke the holy Ghost setteth moste liuely before our eyes the accomplishment of Gods promises, who as he promised by the mouthe of Mofes, that a Prophet shulde be raised vp vnto the people like vnto him, whome he willeth to obey, Deut. 18. 15. so he sheweth him selfe here true in his promises, as at all other times, and after the death of Mofes his faithfull seruāt, he raiseth vp Ioshua to be ruler and gouernour ouer his people, that neither they shulde be discouraged for lacke of a captain, nor haue occasion to distrust Gods promises hereafter. And because that Ioshua might be confirmed in his vocation, and the people also might haue none occasion to grudge, as though he were not approved of God: he is adorned with moste excellent giftes and graces of God, to be to gouerne the people with counsell, and to defend them with strength, that he lacked nothing which either belonged to a valiant captaine or a faithfull minister. So he overcometh all difficulties and bringeth them in to the land of Canaan: the which according to Gods ordinance he deuidenth among the people & appointeth their borders: he establiseth lawes and ordinances, and putteth them in remembrance of Gods manifolde benefites, assuring them of his grace and fauour, if they obey God, and contrarie wise of his plagues and vengeance, if they disobey him. This historie doeth represent I. Iesu Christ the true Ioshua, who leadeth vs into eternal felicitie, which is signified vnto vs by this land of Canaan. From the beginning of the Genesis to the end of this boke are contained 2597 yerres. For from Adam vnto the flood are 1656. from the flood vnto the departure of Abraham out of Caldea, 323. and from thence to the death of Ioseph 290. So that the Genesis containeth 2390. Exodus 140. the other thre bokes of Mofes 40. Ioshua 27. So the whole maketh 2597 yerres.

Now after y death of Mofes the seruāt of the Lord, y Lord spake vnto Ioshua the sonne of Nun, Mofes minister, saying, <sup>2</sup> Mofes my seruāt is dead: now therefore arise, go ouer this Iordan, thou, and all this people, <sup>16</sup> And she said vnto them, Go you into the mountaine, lest the pursuers mete with you, & hyde your selues there thre daies, vntill the pursuers be returned: the afterward may ye go your way.

<sup>7</sup> ¶ Then the Lord said vnto Ioshua, This day wil I begin to magnifie thee in the sight of all Israël, which shal knowe, that <sup>1</sup> as I was with Moses, so wil I be with thee.

<sup>9</sup> ¶ Then Ioshua said vnto the children of Israël, Come hether, and heare the wordes of the Lord your God.

<sup>10</sup> And Ioshua said, <sup>1</sup> Hercby ye shal knowe that the liuing God is among you, & that he wil certainly cast out before you the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Hiuites, and the Perizzites, and the Gergasites, and the Amorites, and the Iebusites.

But the Priests that bare the Arke of the

CHAP. IIII.

God comaded Ioshúa to set vp twelue stones in Iordén.
18 The waters returne to their olde course. 20 Other twelue stones are set up in Gilgál. 21 This miracle
must be declared to the posteritie.

And when all the people were wholly gone ouer Iordén, (after the Lord
had spoken vnto Ioshúa, saying,

Take you twelue men out of the people,
out of euerie tribe a man,

And commande you them, saying, Take
you hence out of the middes of Iordén,
out of the place where the Priests stode
in a readines, twelue stones, which ye shal take away with you, and leaue them
in the lodging, where you shal lodge
this night)

Then Ioshúa called the twelue mē, who-me he had prepared of the children of Israél, out of euerie tribe a man,

And Ioshúa said vnto them, Go ouer before the Arke of the Lord your God, euē
through the middes of Iordén, & take vp euerie man of you a stone vpō his shulder
according vnto the number of the tribes
of the children of Israél,

That this may be a signe among you,
that when you children shal aske their fathers in time to come, saying, What meane you by these stones?

Then ye may answer them, That the waters of Iordén were cut of before the Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for whē
it passed through Iordén, the waters of Iordén were cut of: therefore these stones are a memorial vnto the children of Israél for euer.

Then the children of Israél did euē so, as Ioshúa had comanded, & toke vp twelue stones out of the middes of Iordén, as the Lord had said vnto Ioshúa, according to the nōber of the tribes of the children of Israél, & caried the away with them vnto
the lodging, and layed them downe there.

And Ioshúa set vp twelue stones in the middes of Iordén, in the place where the fete of the Priests, which bare the Arke of the couenant, stode, and there haue they continued vnto this day.

So the Priests, w bare the Arke, stode
in the middes of Iordén, vntill euerie thing
was finished that the Lord had comanded Ioshúa to say vnto the people, according to all that Moses charged Ioshúa: then the people halted and went ouer.

When all the people were cleane passed
ouer, the Arke of the Lord went ouer also,
and the Priests before the people.

* And the sonnes of Reubén, & the son-nes of Gad, and halfe the tribe of Manasséh went ouer before the children of Is-raél armed, as Moses had charged them.

Euen fourty thousand prepared for war-
re, went before the Lord vnto battel
into the plaine of Ierichó.

That day the Lord magnified Ioshúa in
the sight of all Israél, & they feared him,
as they feared Moses all dayes of his life.

And the Lord spake vnto Ioshúa, saying,
Commande the Priests that beare the Arke of the Testimonie, to come vp out of Iordén.

Ioshúa therefore comanded the Priests,
saying, Come ye vp out of Iordén.

And when the Priests that bare the Arke
of the couenant of the Lord were come vp out of the middes of Iordén, and as-sone as y soles of the Priests fete were set on the drye land, the waters of Iordén returned vnto their place, and flowed ouer all
the bankes thereof, as they did before.

So the people came vp out of Iordén
the tenth day of the first moneth, and pitched in Gilgál, in the Eastside of Ie-richó.

Also the twelue stones, which they toke
out of Iordén, did Ioshúa pitche in Gilgál.

And he spake vnto the children of Is-raél, saying, When your children shal aske
their fathers in time to come, and say,
What meane these stones?

The ye shal shewe your childre, and say,
Israél came ouer this Iordén on drye lād:

For y Lord your God dried vp the waters of Iordén before you, vntill ye were gone ouer, as the Lord your God did the red Sea, * which he dried vp before vs, till
we were gone ouer,

That all the people of the world may know that the hād of the Lord is mightie,
that ye might feare the Lord your God continually.

returne, and circumsise the sonnes of Israel the second time.

3 Then Ioshua made him sharpe kniues & circumsised the sonnes of Israel in the hil of the foreskinnes.

4 And this is the cause why Ioshua circumsised all the people, even the males that came out of Egypt; because all the men of warre were dead in the wildernes by the way after they came out of Egypt.

5 For all the people that came out were circumsised; but all the people that were bo ne in the wildernes by the way after they came out of Egypt, were not circumsised.

6 For the children of Israel walked forty yeres in the wildernes, til all the people of the men of warre that came out of Egypt were consumed, because they obeyed not the voyce of the Lord: vnto whome the Lord sware, that he wolde not shewe the land, * which the Lord had sworn vnto their fathers, that he wolde giue vs, even a land that floweth with milke and honie.

7 So their sonnes whome he raised vp in their steade, Ioshua circumsised: for they were vncircumsised, because they circumsised them not by the way.

8 And when they had made an end of circumsising all the people, they abode in the places in the cape til they were whole.

9 After, the Lord said vnto Ioshua, This day I haue taken away the shame of Egypt from you: wherefore he called the name of that place Gilgal, vnto this day.

10 ¶ So the childre of Israel abode in Gilgal, and kept the feast of the Passeouer the fourteenth day of the moneth at euen in the plaine of Iericho.

11 And they did eat of the corne of the lād, on the morow after the Passeouer; vnleauened bread, and parched corne in the same day.

12 And the MAN ceased on the morowe after they had eaten of the corne of the land, neither had the children of Israel MAN anie more, but did eat of the frute of the land of Canaan that yere.

13 ¶ And when Ioshua was by Iericho, he lift vp his eyes and looked: and beholde, there stode a * man against him, hauing a sword drawn in his hand: and Ioshua went vnto him, & said vnto him, Art thou on our side, or on our aduersaries?

14 And he said, Nay, but as a capitaine of the hoste of the Lord am I now come: the Ioshua fel on his face to the earth, and s did worship, and said vnto him, What saith my Lord vnto his seruante?

15 And the capitaine of the Lords hoste said vnto Ioshua, * Lose thy shooe of thy foete: for the place whereon thou standest, is holy: and Ioshua did so.

NOW Iericho was shut vp, & besieged, because of the children of Israel: none might go out nor entre in.

2 And the Lord said vnto Ioshua, Beholde, I haue giuen into thine hand Iericho and the King thereof, and the strong men of warre.

3 All ye therefore that be men of warre, shal compass the citie, in going round about the citie: once: thus shal you do six dayes:

4 And seven Priests shal beare seven trumpets of rams hornes before the Arke: and the seventh day ye shal compass the citie seven times, and the Priests shal blowe with the trumpets.

5 And when they make a lōg blast with the rams horne, & ye heare the sounde of the trompet, all the people shal shoute with a great shoute: then shal the wall of the citie fall downe flat, and the people shal ascend vp, euerie man straight before him.

6 ¶ Then Ioshua the sonne of Nun called the Priests & said vnto them, Take vp the Arke of the covenant, & let seven Priests beare seven trumpets of rams hornes before the Arke of the Lord.

7 But he said vnto the people, Go and compass the citie: and let him that is armed, go forthe before the Arke of the Lord.

8 ¶ And when Ioshua had spoken vnto the people, the seven Priests bare the seven trumpets of rams hornes, and went forthe before the Arke of the Lord, and blew with the trumpets, and the Arke of the covenant of the Lord followed them.

9 ¶ And the men of armes went before the Priests, that blew the trumpets: then they gathered hoste came after the Arke, as they went and blew the trumpets.

10 ¶ (Now Ioshua had commaded the people, saying, Ye shal not shoute, neither make anie noyse with your voice, neither shal a worde procede out of your mouth, vntil the day that I say vnto you, Shoute, then shal ye shoute.)

11 So the Arke of the Lord compassed the citie, and went aboute it: once: then they returned into the hoste, and lodged in the campe.

15 And when the seventh day came, they rose early, euē with the dawning of the day, and compassed the citie after the same manner <sup>k</sup> seven times: onely that day they compassed the citie seven times.

16 And when the Priests had blown the tromperts the seventh time, Ioshua said vnto the people, Shoute: for the Lord hath giuen you the citie.

17 And <sup>l</sup> the citie shal be an execrable thing, bothe it, and all that are therein, vnto the Lord: onely Rahab the harlot shal liue, she, and all that are with her in the house: for she <sup>m</sup> hid the messengers that we sent.

21 And they vterly destroyed all that was in the citie, bothe man and woman, yong, and olde, and oxe, and shepe, and asse, with the edge of the sworde.

22 But Ioshua had said vnto the two men that had spied out the cuntry, Go into the harlots house, and bring out thence the woman, and all that she hath, <sup>q</sup> as ye sware to her.

23 So the yong men that were spies, <sup>r</sup> went in, and brought out Rahab, and her father and her mother, and her brethren, and all that she had: also they brought out all her familie, and put them <sup>s</sup> without the hoste of Israël.

24 After they burnt the citie with fire, and all that was therein: onely the silver and the golde, and the vessels of brasle and yron, they put vnto the treasure of the house of the Lord.

25 So Ioshua saved Rahab the harlot, and her fathers household, & all that she had, & she <sup>t</sup> dwelt in Israël euē vnto this day, because she had hid the messengers; which Ioshua sent to spie out Jericho.

26 ¶ And Ioshua sware at <sup>u</sup> y time, saying, Cursed be the man be fore the Lord, that riseth vp, and buyldeth this citie Jericho:

he shal lay the fundacion thereof in his eldest sonne, & in his yōgest sonne shal he set vp the gates of it.

17 So the Lord was with Ioshua, and he was famous through all the worlde.

10 And Ioshúa rose vp early in y morning,
and nombred the people: and he and the Elders of Israël went vp before the people against Aí.

11 Also all the men of warre that were with him wét vp & drue nere, and came against the citie, & pitched on the Northside of Aí: and there was a valley betwene them
and Aí.

12 And he toke about fise thousand men, & set them to lie in wayt betwene Bethél & Aí, on the Westside of the citie.

13 And the people set all the hoste that was on the Northside against the citie, & the liers in waye on the West, against the ci-tie: & Ioshúa went the same night into y
midde of the valley.

14 ¶ And whē the King of Aí sawe it, then
the men of the citie hastē & rose vp early, and went out against Israël to battel, he & all his people at the time appointed, before the plaine: for he knewe not that arie
lay in waite against him on the backside
of the citie.

15 Then Ioshúa and all Israël & as beaten before thē, fled by the way of the wildernes.

16 And all the people of the citie were called together, to pursue after them: & they pursued after Ioshúa, and were drawn away out of the citie,

17 So that there was not a man left in Aí, nor in Beth-él, that went not out after Israël: and they left the citie open, & pursued after Israël.

18 Thē the Lord said vnto Ioshúa, h Stretche out the speare that is in thine hand
towards Aí: for I wil giue it into thine
hand: and Ioshúa stretched out the speare
that he had in his hand, towards the ci-tie.

19 And thei that lay in waite, arose quickly
out of their place, & ran asone as he had stretched out his hand, and they entred into the citie, and toke it, and hastē, and set
the citie on fire.

20 And the men of Aí looked behinde thē, & sawe it: for lo, the smoke of the citie ascended vp to heauen, and they had no
power to flee this way or that way: for y
people that fled to the wildernes, turned backe vpon the pursuers.

21 When Ioshúa and all Israël sawe that they that lay in wait, had takē the citie, &
that the smoke of the citie mounted vp,
then they turned againe and slewe the mē
of Aí.

22 Also the i other issued out of the citie
against thē: so were they in the middes of Israël, thesē being on y one side, & y rest on y other side: & they slewe thē, so that they let none of them remaine nor escape.

23 And the King of Aí they toke aliue, &

brought him to Ioshúa.

24 And when Israël had made an end of slaying all the inhabitāts of Aí in y field,
that is, in y wildernes, where they chased
them, and when they were all fallen on the edge of the sword, vntil they were confu-med, all the Israelites returned vnto Aí, &
smote it with the edge of the sworde.

25 And all that fel that day, bothe of men and women, were twelue thousand, euen
all the men of Aí.

26 For Ioshúa drewē not his hand backe againē which he had stretched out with the speare, vntil he had vtterly destroyed all y
inhabitāts of Aí.

27 *Onely the cattel & the spoyle of this citie, Israël toke for a pray vnto them sel-
ues, according vnto the worde of y Lord,
which he commanded Ioshúa.

28 And Ioshúa burnt Aí, and made it an heape for euer, & a wildernes vnto this
day.

29 And y King of Aí he hanged on a tre,
vnto the euening. And asone as y sunne was downe, Ioshúa cōmandēd that they
shulde take his carkeis downe frō the tre,
and cast it at the entring of the gate of the citie, and lay thereon a great heape of stones, that remaineth vnto this day.

30 ¶ Then Ioshúa buylt an altar vnto the Lord God of Israël, in mount Ebál,

31 As Moēs the seruāt of the Lord had commanded the children of Israël, as it is written in y boke of the Lawe of Moēs,
an altar of whole stone, ouer which no mā
had lift an yron: and they offred thereon burnt offrings vnto the Lord, & sacrificed
peace offrings.

32 Also he wrote there vpon the stones,
a rehearsal of the Lawe of Moēs, which he wrote in the presence of the children of Israël.

33 And all Israël (and their Elders, and officers & their iudges stode on this side of the Arke, and on that side, before the Priests of the Leuites, which bare the Arke of the couenant of the Lord) aswel the stranger, as he that is borne in the coun-trei: halfe of them were ouer against mount Gerizim, and halfe of them ouer
against mouēt Ebál, *as Moēs the seruāt
of the Lord had commanded before, that they shulde blesse the people of Israël.

34 Then afterward he red all the wordes
of the Lawe, the blessings and cursings, according to all that is written in the boke
of the Lawe.

35 There was not a worde of all that Mo-ēs had commanded, which Ioshúa red
not before all the Congregation of Isra-él, *aswel before the women and the children, as the stranger that was conuer-
sant among them.

k For the fire

citie, was not

vnto Ioshúa y
they were ca-

And when all the Kings <sup>a</sup> were beyond Iordan, in the mountaines & in the valles, and by all the coastes of the great Sea, ouer against Lebanón (as the Hittites, & the Amorites, the Canaanites,
the Perizzites, the Hivites, & the Iebusi-
tes) heard thereof,

They gathered them selves together, to fight against Ioshua, & against Israél with one accord.

¶ But the inhabitants of Gibeón heard what Ioshua had done vnto Ierichó, and to Ai.

And therefore they wrought craftely: for
they went, and fained them selves embassa-dours, and toke olde sackes vpon their af-
ses, and olde bottels for wine, bothe rent & bounde vp,

And olde shooes and clouted vpon their feet: also the raiment vpon them was olde,
& all their prouision of bread was dried,
& moulded.

So they came vnto Ioshua into the hoste
to Gilgál, & said vnto him, and vnto the men of Israél, We be come from a farre
countrie: now therefore make a league
with vs.

¶ The men of Israél said vnto the Hiv-ites, It may be that thou dwellest among vs, how then can I make a league with
thee?

And they said vnto Ioshua, We are thy seruants. Then Ioshua said vnto the, Who are ye? & whence come ye?

And they answered him, From a very far countrie thy seruants are come for the Name of the Lord thy God: for we haue hearde his fame & all that he hath done
in Egypt,

And all that he hath done to the two Kings of the Amorites that were beyond Iordan, to Sihón King of Hesbón, & to Og King of Bashán, which were at Ashtaróth.

¶ Wherefore our Elders, and all the inhabitants of our countrie spake to vs, saying,
Take vitailles with you for the iourney, &
go to mete them, & say vnto them, We are your seruants: now therefore make ye a league with vs.

This our bread we toke it hot with vs
for vitailles out of our houses, the day we departed to come vnto you: but now be-holde, it is dried, and it is moulded.

Also these bottels of wine which we filled, were new, and lo, they be rent, and these our garments and our shooes are olde, by reason of the exceeding great iourney.

¶ And the me accepted their tale cōcer-ning their vitailles, & counseled not with the mouth of the Lord.

So Ioshua made peace with them, & made a league with the, that he wolde suffer
them to liue: also the Princes of the Congregation sware vnto them.

¶ But at the end of thre daies, after they had made a league with them, they heard that they were their neighbours, and that they dwelt among them.

And the children of Israél toke their iourney, and came vnto their cities the third day, and their cities were Gibeón, & Chephith, & Beeróth & Kiriathearim.

And the children of Israél slewe them
not, because the Princes of the Congrega-cion had sworne vnto them by the Lord God of Israél: wherefore all the Congregacion murmured against the Princes.

¶ Then all the princes said vnto all the Congregation, We haue sworne vnto the
by the Lord God of Israél: now therefore we may not touche them.

¶ But this we wil do to them, & let them
liue, lest the wrath be vpon vs because of the othe which we sware vnto them.

¶ And the Princes said vnto them againe,
Let them liue, but they shall hewe wood, &
drawe water vnto all the Congregation,
as the Princes appoint them.

Ioshua then called them, and talked w
them, and said, Wherefore haue ye beguile
d vs, saying, We are verie farre from
you, when ye dwell among vs?

¶ Now therefore ye are curs'd, and there
shal none of you be freed, being bond-men, and hewers of wood, and drawers of water for the house of my God.

¶ And they answered Ioshua and said, Because it was tolde thy seruants, that the Lord thy God had commanded his seruant Moses to giue you all the land, and
to destroy all the inhabitants of the land
out of your sight, therefore we were exceeding sore afraid for our liues at the presence of you, & haue done this thing:

¶ And beholde now we are in thine hand:
do as it seemeth good & right in thine eyes
to do vnto vs.

¶ Euen so did he vnto them, and deliue-
red them out of the hand of the children of Israél, that they slewe them not.

¶ And Ioshua appointed them that same daie to be hewers of wood, & drawers of water for the Congregation, & for the altar of the Lord vnto this day, in the place
which he shulde chuse.

¶ And there was no day like that before it, nor after it, that the Lord heard the voyce of a man: for the Lord <sup>e</sup> fought for Israël.
¶ After, Ioshúa returned, and all Israël with him vnto the campe to Gilgál:

And it was tolde Ioshua, saying, The five Kings are founde hyd in a caue at Makkedah.

But stand ye not still: followe after your enemies, and smite all the hindmost,

for the Lord your God hath giuen them

Then all the people returned to the camp, to Ioshua at Makkedah in peace: no man moved his tongue against the children of Israel.

And they did so, and brought out those
five Kings vnto him forth of the caue,
euen the King of Ierusalém, the King of Hebrón, the King of Iarmúth, the King

And Ioshua said vnto them, Feare not,

¶ And when he had taken it, & the King thereof, and all the cities thereof, they smote them with the edge of the sword, & utterly destroyed all the soules were therein, he let none remaine: as he did to Hebron, so he did to Debir, & to the King thereof, as he had also done to Libnah, & to the King thereof.

¶ So Ioshua smote all the hyl countreys, and the Southcountreys, and the valleys, and the hill sides, & all their Kings, & let none remaine, but utterly destroyed euery soule, as the Lord God of Israel had commanded.

¶ And Ioshua smote them from Kadesh-

¶ And all these Kings, and their land did Ioshua take at one time, because the Lord God of Israel fought for Israel.

¶ Afterwarde, Ioshua and all Israel with him returned vnto the campe in Gilgal.

CHAP. XI.

¶ Diuers Kings and cities, and countreys overcome by Ioshua. 15 Ioshua did all that Moses had commanded him. 20 God hardeneth the enemies heartes that they might be destroyed.

¶ And when Iabim King of Hazor had heard this, then he sent to Iobab King of Madon, and to the King of Shimron, and to the King of Achshaph,

And all the spoyle of these cities and the cattel the children of Israel toke for their praye, but they smote euerie man with the edge of y sword vntil they had destroyed them, not leauing one a liue.

As the Lord* had commanded Moses his seruāt, so did Moses* comāde Ioshúa, & so did Ioshúa: he left nothing vndone of all that the Lord had commanded Moses.

So Ioshúa toke all this land of the mountaines, and all the South, and all the lād of Goshen, and the lowe cōuntry, and the plaine, & the mountaine of Israel, and the lowe cōuntry of the same.

From the mount* Halák, that goeth vp to Seir, euen vnto Baal-gád in y valley of Lebanón, vnder mount Hermón: and all their Kings he toke, and smote them, and slew them.

For it came of the Lord, to harden their heartes that they shulde come against Israel in batrel to the intent that they shulde destroy them vterly, and shewe them no mercy, but that they shulde bring them to nought: as the Lord had commanded Moses.

There was no Anakim left in the land of the children of Israel: onely in Azázah, in Gath, and in Ashdód were they left.

These are the heritages, which Moses did distribute in the plaine of Moab beyonde Iorden, towards Iericho Eastward.
But vnto the tribe of Leui Moses gaue none inheritance: for the Lord God of Israel is their inheritance, as he said vnto them.

CHAP. XVIII.

The land of Canaan was deuided among the nine tribes and the halfe. Calb requieth the heritage that was promised him. Hebron was giuen him.
These also are the places which the children of Israel inherited in the land of Canaan, which Eleazar the Priest, and Ioshua the sonne of Nun and the chief fathers of the tribes of the children of Israel, distributed to them,
By the lot of their inheritance, as the Lord had commanded by the hand of Moses, to giue to the nine tribes, and the halfe tribe.

For Moses had giuen inheritance vnto two tribes and an halfe tribe, beyonde Iorden: but vnto the Leuites he gaue none inheritance among them.

For the children of Ioseph were two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim: therefore they gaue no parte vnto the Leuites in the land, save cities to dwell in, with the suburbs of the same for their beastes and their substance.

As the Lord had commanded Moses, so the children of Israel did whē they deuied the land.

Then the children of Iudah came vnto Ioshua in Gilgal: and Calb the sonne of Iephuneh the Kenezite said vnto him, Thou knowest what the Lord said vnto Moses the man of God, concerning me and thee in Kadesh-barnea.

Fourty yere olde was I, when Moses the seruant of the Lord sent me from Kadesh-barnea to espy the land, & I broght him worde againe, as I thought in mine heart.

But my brethren that went vp with me, discouraged the heart of the people: yet I followed still the Lord my God.

Wherefore Moses sware the same day, saying, Certainly the land whereon thy feet haue troden, shalbe thine inheritance, and thy childrens for euer, because thou hast followed constantly the Lord my God.

Therefore beholde now, the Lord hath kept me aliue, as he promised: this is the fourty and fift yere since the Lord spake this thing vnto Moses, while the children of Israel wandred in the wilderness: and now lo, I am this day fourscore and fye yere olde:

And yet am I strong at this time, as I was whē Moses sent me: as strong as I was then, so strong am I now, either for warre, or for gouernement.

Now therefore giue me this mountaine whereof the Lord spake in y day (for thou heardst in that daie, how the Anakims were there, and the cities great and walled) if so be the Lord wil be with me, that I may driue them out, as the Lord said.

Then Ioshua blessed him, and gaue vnto Calb the sonne of Iephuneh, Hebron for an inheritance.

Hebron therefore became inheritance of Calb the sonne of Iephuneh the Kenezite, vnto this day: because he followed constantly the Lord God of Israel.

And the name of Hebron was beforetime, Kiriath-arba: which Arba was a great man among the Anakims: thus the land ceased from warre.

And their Southborder was the salt Sea coast, from the point that loketh Southward.

And it went out on the Southside toward Maaleth-akrabbim, and went along to Zin, and ascended vp on the Southside vnto Kadesh barnea, and went along to Hezron, and went vp to Adar, and set a compasse to Kaikaa.

From thence went it a long to Azmon, & reached vnto the riuer of Egypt, and the end of that coast was on the Westside: this shalbe your Southcoast.

Also the Eastborder shalbe the salt Sea, vnto the end of Iorden: and the border on the North quarter from the point of the Sea, and from the end of Iorden.

And this border goeth vp to Beth hogla, and goeth along by the Northside of Beth-arabah: so the border from thence goeth vp to the stone of Bohan the sonne of Reuben.

Then this border compaſſeth from Baaláh

And the Weſtborder is to the great Sea:

¶ And vnto Caléb the ſonne of Iephúnéh

time was Kiriath-ſépher.

The Caléb ſaid, He y ſmiteth Kiriath-

And Othniél, the ſonne of Kenáz, the

The lot or parte of Ephraim. 40 The Canaanite dwelled among them.

And the lot fel to the children of Ioseph fró Iordén by Ierichó vnto the water of Ierichó Eastwarde, & to the wilderness that goeth vp from Ierichó by the mount Beth-él:

- 2 And goeth out from Beth-él to *Luz, and runneth alóg vnto the borders of Archiatároth,

4 So the children of Ioseph, Manasséh and Ephraim <sup>c</sup> toke their inheritance.
5 Also the borders of the children of Ephraim according to their families, euen the borders of their inheritance on y Eastside, were Atróth addár, vnto Beth-horón the vpper:

7 And goeth downe from Ianóhah to A-tároth, and Naaráth, and cometh to Ierichó, <sup>d</sup> and goeth out at Iordén.
8 And this border goeth from Tappúah Westward vnto the riuer Kanáh, and the ends thereof are at the Sea: this is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Ephraim by their families.

- 9 And the <sup>e</sup> separate cities for the childré of Ephraim were among the inheritance of the children of Manasséh: all the cities with their villages.
10 And they cast not out the Canaanite that dwelt in Gézer, but the Canaanite dwelleth amog the Ephraimites vnto this day, and serue vnder tribute.

CHAP. XVII.

The porcion of the halfe tribe of Manasséh. 3 The daughters of Zelophehad. 13 The Canaanites are become tributaries. 14 Manasseh and Ephraim require a greater porcion of heritage.

This was also the lot of the tribe of Manasséh: for he was the * first borne of Ioseph, to wit, of Machir y first borne of Manasséh, and the father of Gileád: now because he was a man of warre, he had Gileád and Bashán.

2 And also * of the <sup>a</sup> rest of the sonnes of Manasséh by their families, <sup>euen</sup> of the sonnes of Abiézer, and of the sonnes of Hélek, and of the sonnes of Azriél, and of the sonnes of Shéchem, and of the sonnes of Hépher, and of the sonnes of Shemidá: these were the males of Manasséh, the sonne of Ioseph according to their families.

¶ But Zelophehad the sonne of Hépher, the sonne of Gileád, the sonne of Machir, the sonne of Manasséh, had no sonnes, but daughters: and these are the names of his daughters, Malháh, and Noáh, Hógláh, Milcháh and Tirzáh:

4 Which came before Eleazár the Priest, and before Ioshúa the sonne of Nun, and before the princes, saying, The Lord commanded Mosés to giue vs an inheritance among our <sup>b</sup> brethren: therefore according to the comandement of the Lord he gaue them an inheritance among the brethren of their father.

5 And there fel ten porcions to <sup>c</sup> Manasséh, beside the land of Gileád and Bashán, which is on the other side Iordén,

6 Because the daughters of Manasséh did inherit among his sonnes: and Manasséh's other sonnes had the land of Gileád.

7 ¶ So the borders of Manasséh were from Ashér to Michmetháh y lieth before Shéchem, & this border goeth on y right hád, euen vnto the inhabitants of En-tappúah.

8 The land of Tappúah belonged to Manasséh, but <sup>d</sup> Tappúah beside the border of Manasséh belongeth to the sonnes of Ephraim.

9 Also this border goeth downe vnto the riuer Kanáh Southward to the riuer: these cities of Ephraim are among the cities of Manasséh: and the border of Manasséh <sup>e</sup> on the Northside of the riuer, and the ends of it are at the <sup>e</sup> Sea,

10 The South pertaineth to Ephraim, and the North to Manasséh, and the Sea is his border: and they met together in <sup>f</sup> Ashér Northward, and in Issachár Eastward.

11 And Manasséh had in Issachár and in Ashér, Beth-sheán, & her townes, & Ibleám, & her townes, & the inhabitants of Dor with the townes thereof, and the inhabitants of En-dór with the townes thereof, & the inhabitants of Thaanách with her townes, & the inhabitants of Megiddó w the townes of the same, <sup>en</sup> in thre countreys.

12 Yet the childré of Manasséh <sup>g</sup> colde not destroy those cities, but the Canaanites dwelled stil in that land.

13 Neuertheles, when the children of Israél were it ong, they put the Canaanites vnder tribute, but cast the not out wholly.

<sup>3</sup> Therefore Ioshua said vnto the children of Israel, How long are ye so slacke to entre and possesse the land which the Lord God of your fathers hath giuen you?

<sup>4</sup> Giue from among you for euery tribe thre men, that I may send them, and that they may rise, and walke through the land, and distribute it according to <sup>c</sup> their inheritance, and returne to me.

¶ Then the children of Reuben and the children of Gad, & halfe the tribe of Manasseh answered, and said vnto the heades
ouer the thousandes of Israël,

21 The Lord God of gods, y Lord God of gods, he knoweth, and Israël him selfe shal
knowe: if by rebellio, or by transgression
against the Lord we haue done it, saue thou vs not this day.

22 If we haue buylt vs an altar to returne
away from the Lord, ether to offer thereto
burnt offring, or meat offring, or to offer
peace offerings thereon, let y Lord a him
selfe require it:

23 And if we haue not rather done it for fea-
re of this thing, saying, In time to come
your children might say vnto our childre,
What haue ye to do with the Lord God
of Israël?

24 For y Lord hath made Iordén a border
betwene vs and you, ye children of Reuben, & of Gad: therefore ye haue no parte
in the Lord: so shal your children make our children o cease from fearing the Lord.

25 Therefore we said, We wil now go about to make vs an altar, not for burnt offing, nor for sacrifice,

26 But for a * witness betwene vs and you,
and betwene our generacions after vs,
to execute the seruice of the Lord before him in our burnt offerings, and in our sacrifices, and in our peace offerings, and that your children shulde not say to our children in time to come, Ye haue no parte in the Lord.

27 Therefore said we, If so be that they
shuldeso say to vs or to our p generacions
in time to come, the wil we answer, Behol-
de the facion of the altar of the Lord,
which our fathers made, not for burnt offing nor for sacrifice, but it is a witness betwene vs and you.

28 God forbid, that we shulde rebel against the Lord, and turne this day away from the Lord to buylde an altar for burnt offing, or for meat offring, or for sacrifice,
saue the altar of the Lord our God,
that is before his Tabernacle.

29 ¶ And when Phineas the Priest, and the princes of the Congregation and heades ouer the thousandes of Israël which were
with him, heard the wordes, that the children of Reuben, and children of Gad, and the children of Manasseh spake, " they were wel content.

30 And Phineas the sonne of Eleazar the Priest said vnto the children of Reuben
and to y children of Gad, & to the childre
of Manasseh, This day we perceiue, that y Lord is among vs, because ye haue not done this trespas against the Lord: now

ye haue deliuered the children of Israël
out of the hand of the Lord.

31 ¶ Then Phineas the sonne of Eleazar the Priest, with the princes returned from the childre of Reuben, and from the children of Gad, out of the land of Gilead,
vnto the land of Canaan, to the children
of Israël, and broght them answer.

32 And the saying pleased the children of Israël: and the children of Israël blessed God, and " minded not to go against the
in battel, for to destroy the land, wherein
the children of Reuben, and Gad dwelt.

33 Then the children of Reuben, and the children of Gad called the altar " Ed: for it
shalbe a witness betwene vs, that the Lord

the people to feare God. 25 The league renewed be-pursued after your fathers with charretts

and horsemen vnto the red Sea.

7 Then they cryed vnto the Lord, and he put a darcknes betwene you & the Egyptians, and brought the Sea vpon them, and couered them: so your eyes haue seene what I haue done in Egypt: also ye dwelt in the wilderness a long season.

8 After I brought you into the land of the Amorites, which dwelt beyonde Iordén,
and they fought with you: but I gaue the
into your hand, and ye possessed their coun-trei, and I destroyed them out of your sight.

9 Also Balak the sonne of Zippór, King
of Moab arose and warred against Israël, and sent to call Balaám the sonne of Beór for to curse you.

10 But Ewoldenot heare Balaám: therefore he blessed you, and I deliuered you out of his hand.

11 And ye went ouer Iordén, and came vnto Ierichó, and the me of Ierichó fought against you, the Amorites, & the Perizites, & the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Girgashites, the Huites and the Iebu-sutes, and I deliuered them into your hand.

12 And I sent hotnets before you, which cast them out before you, euen the two Kings of the Amorites, & not with thy sworde, nor with thy bowe.

13 And I haue giuen you a land, wherein ye did not labour, and cities which ye buyld not, & ye dwel in them, & eat of the vineyardes and oliue trees, which ye planted not.

14 Now therefore feare the Lord, & ser-ue him in vprightenes and in truerth, and put away the gods, which your fathers ser-ued beyöde the flood and in Egypt, and serue ye the Lord.

15 And if it seme euil vnto you to serue the Lord, chuse you this day whome ye will serue, whether gods which your fathers serued (that were beyöde the flood) or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land
ye dwel: but I and mine house will serue
the Lord.

16 Then the people answered and said, God forbid, that we shulde forsake the Lord, to serue other gods.

17 For the Lord our God, he brought vs and our fathers out of the land of Egypt,
from the house of bondage, and he did
those great miracles in our sight, and preserued vs in all the way that we went, and among all the people through whome we came.

18 And the Lord did cast out before vs all the people, euen the Amorites which dwelt in the land: therefore wil we also serue the Lord, for he is our God.

19 And Ioshúa said vnto

he is a ielous God: he

THE BOKE OF IVDGES.

THE ARGUMENT.

Albeit there is nothing that more prouoketh Gods wrath, then mans ingratitude, yet is there nothing so displeasing and heinous that can turne backe Gods love from his Church. For now when the Israelites were entred into the land of Canaan, and sawe the trueth of Gods promes performed, in stead of acknowledging his great benefites and giuing thanks for the same, they fell to moste horrible obliuion of Gods graces, contrarie to their solemne promes made vnto Ioshua, and so prouoked his vengeance (as muche as in them stode) to their utter destruction. Whereof as they had moste euident signes by the mutabilitie of their state: for he suffered them to be moste cruelly vexed and tormented by tyrants: he pulled them from libertie, and cast them into slauerie, to the intent they might fele their owne miseries and so call vnto him and be deliuered. Tet to shewe that his mercies indure for euer, he raised vp from time to time suche as shulde deliuer them and assure them of his fauour and grace, if they wolde turne to him by true repentance. And these deliuerers the Scripture calleth Iudges, because they were executors of Gods iudgements, not chosen of the people nor by succession, but raised vp, as it semed best to God, for the gouernance of his people. They were twelue in number besides Ioshua, and gouerned from Ioshua vnto Saül the first King of Israel. Ioshua and these vnto the tyme of Saül ruled 336 yerres. In this boke are manie notable points declared, but two especially: first, the battel that the Church of God hath for the maintenance of true religion against idolatrie and superstition: next, what great danger that commune wealth is in, when as God giueth not a magistrate to reiteine his people in the purues of religion and his true seruice.

CHAP. II.

The Angel rebuketh the people, because thei had made peace with the Canaanites. 11 The Israelites fel to idolatrie after Ioshuas death. 14 Thei are deliuered
into the enemies hands. 16 God deliuereth them by Iudges. 22 Why God suffred idolaters to remaine among them.

¶ And <sup>a</sup> Angel of the Lord came vp from Gilgál to Bochim, & said,
I made you to go vp out of Egypt, & haue brought you vnto the land which I had sworne vnto your fathers, and said, I wil
neuer breake my couenant with you:

* Ye also shal make no couenant with the inhabitants of this land, * but shal breake
downe their altars: but ye haue not obeyed
my voyce. Why haue ye done this?

Wherefore, I said also, I wil not cast the out before you, but thei shalbe <sup>as</sup> thornes
vnto your sides, and their gods shalbe
your destruction.

And when the Angel of the Lord spake
these wordes vnto all the children of Is-raél, the people list vp their voyce, and wept.

Therefore thei called the name of that place, <sup>o</sup> Bochim, and offred sacrifices there vnto the Lord.

¶ Now when Ioshúa had <sup>b</sup> sent the people away, the children of Israël went eue-rie mā into his inheritance to possesse the
land.

And the people had serued the Lord all the daies of Ioshúa, and all the daies of the Elders that outliued Ioshúa, which had sene all the great <sup>c</sup> workes of the Lord that he did for Israël.

8 But Ioshúa the sonne of Nun the seruāt
of the Lord dyed, when he was an hūdreth
and ten yeres olde:

9 And thei buried him in the coastes of his inheritance, in <sup>d</sup> Timnath-héres in mount Ephráim, on the Northside of mount Gáash.

10 And so all that generacion was gathered
vnto their fathers, and an other generaci-
on arose after them, which nether knewe
the Lord, nor yet the workes, which he had done for Israël.

¶ The children of Israël did wickedly in the sight of the Lord, and serued
<sup>e</sup> Baalim,

12 And forsoke the Lord God of their fathers, which broght them out of the land of Egypt, & followed other gods, <sup>e</sup>ne the gods of the people that were round about them, and bowed vnto them, & prouoked
the Lord to angre.

13 So thei forsoke the Lord, & serued Báal
and <sup>f</sup> Ashtaróth.

14 And the wrath of the Lord was hote against Israël, and he deliuered them into the háds of spoilers, that spoiled them, &
he <sup>g</sup> solde them into the hands of their enemies rōud about the, so that thei colde
no longer stand before their enemies.

15 Whether soeuer thei went out, the <sup>h</sup> had
of the Lord was fore against them, as the Lord had said, & as the Lord had sworne
vnto them: so he punished them fore.

¶ Notwithstanding, the Lord raised vp Iudges, which <sup>i</sup> deliuered them out of the hands of their oppressers.

17 But yet thei wolde not obey their Iudges: for thei went a whoring after other gods, & worshipped them, & turned quickly out of the <sup>j</sup> way, wherein their fathers walked, obeying the commande-
ments of the Lord: thei did not so.

18 And when the Lord had raised them vp Iudges, the Lord was with the Iudge, and deliuered them out of the hand of their enemies all the daies of the Iudge (for the Lord <sup>k</sup> had compassion of their gronings,

* because of them that oppressed them, &
tormented them)

19 Yet <sup>l</sup> whē the Iudge was dead, thei returned, and <sup>m</sup> did worse then their fathers, in following other gods to serue them and worship them: thei ceased not from their owne inuencions, nor from their rebellious way.

20 Wherefore the wrath of the Lord was kindled against Israël, & he said, Because this people hath transgressed my couenant, which I commanded their fathers, &
hath not obeyed my voyce,

21 Therefore wil I no more cast out befo-

4 And these remained to proue Israël by them, to wit, whether thei wolde obey the commandements of the Lord, which he commanded their fathers by the hand of Moses.

5 And the children of Israël dwelt among the Canaanites, the Hittites, & the Amo-

warre: & the Lord deliuered Chushān ri-

his hand preuailed against Chushān ri-

So the land had rest <sup>f</sup> fourtie yeres, and Othniel the sonne of Kenāz dyed.

11 THEse the children of Israël againe cō-mitted wickednes in y sight of the Lord:
& the Lord <sup>g</sup> strengthened Eglon King of Moab against Israël, because thei had committed wickednes before the Lord.

12 And he gathered vnto him the children of Ammon, and Amalek, and went and smote Israël, and thei possessed the citie of palmētrees.

13 So the children of Israël serued Eglon
King of Moab eightene yeres.

14 But when the children of Israël cryed
vnto the Lord, the Lord stirred them vp a sauiour, Ehud the sonne of Gerā the sonne of Iemini, a man lame of his right hand: and the children of Israël sent a present by him vnto Eglon King of Moab.

15 And Ehud made him a dagger with two edges of a cubite length, and he did girde
it vnder his raymēt vpon his right thigh.

16 And he presented the gift vnto Eglon
King of Moab (and Eglon was a very fat man)

17 And whē he had now presented the present, he sent away the people that bare the present,

18 But he turned againe from the <sup>b</sup> quar-
ris, that were by Gilgal, and said, I haue a secret errand vnto thee, o King. Who said, Kepe <sup>c</sup> silence: and all that stode about
him went out from him.

19 Then Ehud came vnto him, ( & he sat alone in a former parler, which he had ) &
Ehud said, I haue a message vnto thee fro
God. Then he arose out of his throne,

20 And Ehud put forth his left hand, and toke the dagger from his right thigh, and
thrust it into his belly,

21 So that the haste went in after the blade:
and the fat closed about the blade, so that he coulde not drawe the dagger out of his belly, but the dirt came out.

22 Then Ehud gate him out into the por-che, and shut the dores of the parler vpon
him, and locked them.

23 And when he was gone out, his seruants
came: who seeing that y<sup>e</sup> dores of the parler
were locked, thei said, Surely he doeth
his easie man in his former chambre.

24 And thei taryed til thei were ashamed:
and seeing he opened not the dores of the
parler, thei toke the keye, and opened thei,
and beholde, their lord was fallen dead
on the earth.

25 So Ehud escaped (while thei taryed) and was pacified the quarris, and escaped vnto Seirath.

26 And when he came home, he blew a trumpet in mount Ephraim, and the children of Israël went downe with him
from the mountaine, and he went before
them.

27 Then said he vnto them, Followe mee

Israel sime and are giue into the hands of Iabin. A Deborah iudgeth Israel and exhorteth Barak to deliuer
the people. 15 Siferá sleeth, 17 And is killed by Lael.

And the children of Israel began againe to do wickedly in the sight of the Lord when Ehud was dead.

2 And the Lord solde them into the hand of Iabin King of Canaan, that reigned in Hazor, whose chief captaine was called Siferá, which dwelt in Harosheth of the Gentiles.

Then the children of Israel cryed vnto
the Lord: (for he had nine hundred charets
of yron, and twentie yerres he had vexed
the children of Israel very sore)

4 And at that time Deborah a Prophe-tesse the wife of Lapidoth iudgeth Israel.

5 And this Deborah dwelt vnder a palme
tre, betwene Ramah and Beth-el in mount Ephraim, & the children of Israel came vp
to her for iudgement.

6 Then she sent and called Barak the sonne of Abinóam out of Kédesh of Naph-tali, and said vnto him, Hathe not y Lord God of Israel commanded, saying, Go,
and drawe toward mount Tabór, & take
with thee ten thousand men of the children of Naphtali and of the children of Zebulun?

7 And I wil drawe vnto thee to the riuer
Kishón Siferá, the captaine of Iabins armie with his charets, and his multitude, &
wil deliuer him into thine hand.

8 And Barak said vnto her, If thou wilt go with me, I wil go: but if thou wilt not go with me, I wil not go.

9 Then she answered, I wil surely go with thee, but this iourney that thou takest, shal
not be for thine honour: for y Lord shal sel Siferá into y had of a womā. And Deborah arose and went w Barak to Kédesh.

10 And Barak called Zebulun and Naph-tali to Kédesh, & he went vp on his fete
with ten thousand men, and Deborah wēt
vp with him.

11 (Now Héber the Kenite, which was of the children of Hobab the father in law
of Moses, was departed from the Keni-

tes, and pitched his tent vntil the plaine
of Zaanaím, which is by Kédesh)

12 The they shewed Siferá, y Barak y sonne
of Abinóá was gone vp to mount Tabór.

13 And Siferá called for all his charets, euen nine hundred charets of yron, & all the people that were with him fró Harosheth
of the Gentiles, vnto the riuer Kishón.

14 Then Deborah said vnto Barak, 8 Vp:
for this is y day that the Lord hathe deli-uered Siferá into thine hand. Is not the Lord gone out before thee? so Barak went downe from mount Tabór, and ten thousand men after him.

15 And the Lord destroyed Siferá and all his charets, & all his hoste with the edge of the sworde, before Barak, so that Siferá lighted downe of his charet, and fled away on his fete.

16 But Barak pursued after the charets, & after the hoste vnto Harosheth of the Gentiles: & all y host of Siferá fel vpon y
edge of y sworde: there was not a má left.

17 Howbeit, Siferá fled away on his fete to the tent of Lael the wife of Héber the Kenite: (for peace was betwene Iabin the King of Hazor, and betwene the house of Héber the Kenite)

18 And Lael wēt out to mete Siferá, & said
vnto him, Turne in, my Lord, turne into me: feare not. And when he had turned in vnto her into her tent, she couered him
with a mantel.

19 And he said vnto her, Giue me, I pray
thee, a litle water to drinke: for I am thirstie.
And she opened a bottle of milke & ga-
ue him drinke, and couered him.

20 Againe he said vnto her, Stande in the dore of the tent, and when anie man doeth come and enquire of thee, saying, Is anie man here? thou shalt say, Nay.

21 Then Lael Hébers wife toke a knayle of the tent, and toke an hammer in her hand,
and went softly vnto him, and smote the naile into his temples, and fastened it into the ground, (for he was fast asleepe, and wearie) and so he dyed.

22 And beholde, as Barak pursued after Siferá, Lael came out to mete him, and said
vnto him, Come, and I wil shewe thee the mā, whome thou seekest: and whē he came into her tent, beholde, Siferá lay dead, and the naile in his temples.

23 So God broght downe Iabin the King of Canaan that day before the children of Israel.

24 And the hand of the children of Israel prospered, and preuailed against Iabin
the King of Canaan, vntil they had destroyed Iabin King of Canaan.

14 Of Ephráim their roote arose against Amalek: & after thee, Ben-iámin shal fight against thy people, & Amalek: of Machir came rulers, and of Zebulún they that handle the penne of the writer.

15 And the Princes of Issachár were with Deborah, & Issachár, and also Barák: he was set on his fete in the valley: for the diuisions of Reubén were great in thoghtes of heart.

16 Why abodest thou among the shepfoldes, to heare the bleatings of the flockes? for the diuisions of Reubén were great thoghtes of heart.

21 The riuer Kishón swept them away, that ancient riuer the riuer Kishón. & my soule, thou hast marched valiantly.

22 Then were the horsehouses broken with the oft beating together of their mighty men.

23 Curse ye Meró: (said the Angel of the Lord) curse the inhabitants thereof, because they came not to helpe the Lord, to helpe the Lord against the mightie.

24 Iaél the wife of Heber the Kenite shal be blessed aboute other women: blessed shal she be aboute women dwelling in tents.

27 He bowed him downe at her fete, he fel downe, & lay still: at her fete he bowed him downe, and fel: and when he had soken downe, he lay there dead.

28 The mother of Sisera looked out at a windowe, and cryed through the lattise, Why is his chariot so long a coming? why tary the wheles of his chariots?

29 Her wife ladies answered her, Yea. She answered her selfe with her owne wordes, were without number: and they came into the land to destroye it.

So was Israel exceedingly impouerished
by the Midianites: therefore the children of Israel cryed vnto the Lord.

¶ And when the children of Israel cryed
vnto the Lord because of the Midianites,

The Lord sent vnto the children of Israel a Prophet, who said vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, I haue brought you vp fro Egypt & haue brought
you out of the house of bondage,

And I haue deliuered you out of the had
of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all that oppressed you, and haue cast them
out before you, and giuen you their
land.

And I said vnto you, I am the Lord your God: * feare not the gods of the Amorites in whose land you dwell: but you haue
not obeyed my voyce.

¶ And the Angel of the Lord came, and sate vnder the oke which was in Ophrah,
that perreined vnto Ioash the father of the Ezrites, and his sonne Gideon threashed wheat by the wine presse, to hide it
from the Midianites.

Then the Angel of the Lord appeared
vnto him, and said vnto him, The Lord is
with thee, thou valiant man.

To whome Gideon answered, Ah my Lord, if the Lord be with vs, why then is all this come vpon vs? and where be
all his miracles which our fathers tolde vs of, and said, Did not the Lord bring vs out of Egypt? but now the Lord hathe forsaken vs, and deliuered vs into the hand of the Midianites.

And the Lord looked vpon him, and said, Go in this thy might, & thou shalt saue Israel out of the hands of the Midianites: haue not I sent thee?

And he answered him, Ah my Lord, whereby shal I saue Israel? beholde, my father is poore in Manasseh, and I am the least in my fathers house.

Then the Lord said vnto him, I wil therefore be with thee, and thou shalt smite
the Midianites, as one man.

And he answered him, I pray thee, if I
haue founde fauour in thy sight, shew

me a signe, that thou talkest with me.

Depart not hence, I pray thee, vntil I come vnto thee, and bring mine offering, & lay it before thee. And he said, I wil tary vntil thou come againe.

¶ Then Gideon went in, & made ready
a kid, & vnleauened bread of an Ephah
of flour, and put the flesh in a basket, and put the broth in a pot, and brought it out
vnto him vnder the oke, and presented it.

And the Angel of God said vnto him,
Take the flesh and the vnleauened bread,
and lay them vpon this stone, and powre
out the broth: and he did so.

¶ The Angel of the Lord put forth
the end of the staffe that he held in his hand, and touched the flesh & the vnleau-
ened bread: and there arose vp fire out of the stone, and consumed the flesh & the vnleauened bread: so the Angel of the Lord departed out of his sight.

And when Gideon perceiued that it was an Angel of the Lord, Gideon then said, Alas, my Lord God: * for because I haue sene an Angel of the Lord face to face, I shal dye.

And the Lord said vnto him, Peace be
vnto thee: feare not, thou shalt not dye.

Then Gideon made an altar there vnto
the Lord, and called it, Iehouah shalom:
vnto this day it is in Ophrah, of the father of the Ezrites.

¶ And the same night the Lord said vnto him, Take thy fathers yong bullocke, &
another bullocke, of seuen yeres olde,
and destroy the altar of Baal that thy father hath, and cut downe the groue that is by it,

And buyld an altar vnto the Lord thy God vp the top of this rocke, in a plaine place: and take the seconde bullocke, and offer a burnt offering with the wood of the groue, which thou shalt cut downe.

Then Gideon toke ten men of his ser-uants, and did as the Lord bade him: but because he feared to do it by day for his fathers householde and the men of the ci-
tie, he did it by night.

¶ And when the men of the citie arose
early in the morning, beholde, the altar of Baal was broken, and the groue cut downe
that was by it, and the seconde bullocke
offred vpon the altar that was made.

Therefore they said one to another,
Who hath done this thing? & when they inquired and asked, they said, Gideon the sonne of Ioash hath done this thing.

Then the men of the citie said vnto Io-
ash, Bring out thy sonne, that he may dye:
for he hath destroyed the altar of Baal,
& hath also cut downe the groue that was
by it.

And Ioash said vnto all that stode by

18 When I blowe with a trumpeter and all that are with me, blowe ye with trumpets
also on euerie side of the holste, and say,
For the Lord, and for Gideón.

19 So Gideón and the hundred men that were with him, came vnto the outside of the holste in the beginning of the middle watche, and they raised vp the watchemē,
and they blew with their trumpets, and
brake the pitchers that were in their hāds.

20 And the thre companies blew with trumpets and brake the pitchers, and held
the lampes in their left hands, and the trū-
pets in their right hands to blowe withall:
and they cryed, The sworde of the Lord
and of Gideón.

21 And they stode, euerie man in his place
rounde about the holste: and all the holste
ranne, and cryed, and fled.

22 And the thre hundred blew with trumpets, & the Lord set euerie mans sworde
vpon his neighbour, and vpon all the holste: so the holste fled to Beth-hashittāh
in Zererāh, and to the border of Abēl
meholāh vnto Tabbāth.

23 Then the men of Israel being gathered together out of Naphtali, & out of Asher, and out of all Manassēh pursued after the Midianites.

24 And Gideón sent messengers vnto all mount Ephraim, saying, Come downe against the Midianites, and take before the
the waters vnto Beth-barāh, and Ior-dēn. Then all the men of Ephraim gathered together and toke the waters vnto
Beth-barāh, and Iordēn.

25 And they toke two princes of the Mi-dianites, Orēb and Zeēb, and slewe Orēb vpon the rocke Orēb, and slewe Zeēb at the winepresse of Zeēb, and pursued the Midianites, and broght the heades of O-rēb & Zeēb to Gideón beyonde Iordēn.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Ephraim murmurēth against Gideón. 2 Who appea-seth them. 4 He passeth the Iordān. 16 He reuēgeth him selfe on them of Succoth and Penuel. 27 He mak-eth an Ephod vnto him: was the cause of idolatrie. 30 Of Gideons sonnes and of his death.

Then the men of Ephraim said vnto
him, Why hast thou serued vs thus that thou calledst vs not, when thou went-est to fight with the Midianites: and they
chode with him sharply.

To whome he said, What haue I now done in comparison of you? is not the gleaning of grapes of Ephraim better, the vintage of Abiezer?

God hathe deliuered into your hands the princes of Midian, Orēb and Zeēb: and what was I able to do in comparison of you: and when he had thus spoken, then

their spirits abated toward him.

4 And Gideón came to Iordēn to passe ouer, he, and the thre hundred men that were with him, weary, yet pursuing them.

5 And he said vnto the men of Succoth,
Giue, I pray you, morsels of bread vnto
the people: that followe me, for they be weary: that I may followe after Zēbah, & Zalmunnā Kings of Midian.

6 And the princes of Succoth said, Are the hands of Zēbah and Zalmunnā now in thine hāds, that we shulde giue bread vnto
thine armie?

7 Gideón then said, Therefore when the Lord hathe deliuered Zēbah & Zalmun-nā into mine hand, I wil teare your flesh
with thornes of the wildernes and with breers.

8 And he went vp thence to Penuel, and spake vnto them likewise, and the men of Penuel answered him, as the men of Succoth answered.

9 And he said also vnto the men of Penuel, When I come againe in peace, I wil breake downe this towre.

10 Now Zēbah and Zalmunnā were in Karkor, and their hostes with them, about fiftene thousand, all that were left of all y hostes of them of the East: for there was slayne an hundredth and twentie thousand men, that drew swordes.

11 And Gideón went through them that dwelt in tabernacles on the Eastside of Nobah & Iogbehah, and smote the holste:
for the holste was careless.

12 And when Zēbah and Zalmunnā fled, he followed after them, & toke the two Kings of Midian, Zēbah and Zalmunnā, and discomfited all the holste.

13 So Gideón y sonne of Ioāsh returned from battel, the sunne being yet hie,

14 And toke a seruant of the men of Suc-
cōth, and inquired of him: and he wrote to him the princes of Succoth & the Elders thereof, euen seuentie and seven men.

15 And he came vnto the men of Succoth,
and said, Beholde Zēbah and Zalmunnā,
by whome ye vpbraided me, saying, Are y hands of Zēbah & Zalmunnā al ready in thine hāds, that we shulde giue bread vnto
thy wea y men?

16 Then he toke the Elders of the citie, &
thornes of the wildernes & breers, & did teare the men of Succoth with them.

17 Also he brake downe the towre of Penuel, and slewe the men of the citie.

18 Then said he vnto Zēbah & Zalmun-nā, What maner of mē were they, whome ye slaw at Tabor: and they answered, As thou art, so were they: euerie one was like

Then he said vnto Iether his first borne sonne, Vp, and slay them: but the boy drewe not his sword: for he feared, because he was yet yong.

Then Zebah and Zalmunná said, Rise thou, and fall vpon vs: for as the man is, so is his strength. And Gideon arose and slew Zebah and Zalmunná, & toke away the ornaments, that were on their camels neckes.

Then the men of Israël said vnto Gideon, Reigne thou ouer vs, bothe thou, & thy sonne, & thy sonnes sonne: for thou hast deliuered vs out of the hand of Midian.

And Gideon said vnto them, I wil not reigne ouer you, neither shal my childre reigne ouer you: but the Lord shal reigne ouer you.

Againe Gideon said vnto them, I wolde desire a request of you, that you wolde giue me euery man the earrings of his praye (for they had golden earrings because they were Ismaelites)

And they answered, We wil giue them. And they spread a garment, & did cast therein euery man the earrings of his praye.

And the weight of the golden earrings that he required, was a thousand and seuen hundred shekels of golde, beside collers, and iewels, and purple raiment that was on the Kings of Midian, and beside the chaines, that were about their camels neckes.

And Gideon made an Ephod thereof, and put it in Ophrah his citie: & all Israël wēt a whoring there after it, which was the destruction of Gideon and his house.

Thus was Midian brought lowe before the children of Israël, so that they lift vp their heads nomore: and the countrey was in quietnes forty yeres in the dayes of Gideon.

Then Ierubbáal the sonne of Ioásh wēt, and dwelt in his owne house.

And Gideon had seuentie sonnes begottē of his body: for he had manie wiues.

And his concubine that was in Shechem, bare him a sonne also, whose name he called Abimelech.

So Gideon the sonne of Ioásh dyed in a good age, and was buried in the sepulchre of Ioásh his father in Ophrah, of the father of the Ephraim.

But when Gideon was dead, the children of Israël turned away and wēt a whoring after Baalim, and made a Baal-berith their god.

And the children of Israël remembered

not the Lord their God, which had deliuered them out of the hands of all their enemies on euery side.

Nether shewed they mercie on the house of Ierubbáal, or Gideon, according to all the goodnes which he had shewed vnto Israël.

CHAP. IX.

Abimelech usurpeth the kingdom, and putteth his brethren to death. Iotham propoeth a parable. Harred betwene Abimelech & the Shechemites. Gaal conspireth against him, and is overcome. Abimelech is wounded to death by a woman.

Then Abimelech the sonne of Ierubbáal went to Shechem vnto his mothers brethren, and comuned with them, and with all the familie, and house of his mothers father, saying,

Say, I pray you, in the audience of all the men of Shechem, whether is better for you, that all the sonnes of Ierubbáal, which are seuentie persones, reigne ouer you, ether that one reigne ouer you? Remember also, that I am your bone, and your flesh.

Then his mothers brethren spake of him, in the audiēce of all the men of Shechem, all these wordes: and their heartes were moued to followe Abimelech: for said they, He is our brother.

And they gaue him seuentie pieces of siluer out of the house of Baal-berith, wherewith Abimelech hired vaine and light fellows which followed him.

And he went vnto his fathers house at Ophrah, and slew his brethren, the sonnes of Ierubbáal, about seuentie persones: vpon one stone: yet Iotham the yongest sonne of Ierubbáal was left: for he hid him selfe.

And all the men of Shechem gathered together with all the house of Milló, and came and made Abimelech King in the plaine, where the stone was erected in Shechem.

And when they tolde it to Iotham, he went and stode in the top of mount Gerizim, and lift vp his voyce, and cryed, and said vnto them, Hearken vnto me, ye men of Shechem, that God may hearken vnto you.

and if not, the fire shal come out of the 16 Now therefore, if ye do truly and vn-

ye haue dealt wel with Ierubbáal & with his house, & haue done vnto him accord-

dren, about seuentie persones vpon one stone, & haue made Abimelech the sonne
of his maide seruant, King ouer the men of Shechem, because he is your brother)

19 If ye then haue delt truly and purely with Ierubbáal, and with his house this day, then & reioyce ye with Abimelech,
and let him reioyce with you.

20 But if not, let a fire come out from Abimelech, and consume the men of Shechem and the house of Milló: also let a fire come forth fro the men of Shechem, & from the house of Milló, and consume
Abimelech.

21 And Iotham ranne away, and fled, & wēt
to Beér and dwelt there for feare of Abimelech his brother.

22 So Abimelech reigned thre yere ouer
Israél.

23 But God sent an euil spirit betwene Abimelech, and the men of Shechem: and the me of Shechem brake their promes to Abimelech,

24 That the crueltie towards the seuentie
sonnes of Ierubbáal & their blood might come and be laide vpon Abimelech their brother, which had slayne them, and vpon
men of Shechem, which had aided him
to kil his biethren.

25 So men of Shechem set men in waite
for him in the tops of the mountaines:
who robbed all that passed that way by
them: and it was tolde Abimelech.

26 Then Gál the sonne of Ebéd came with his brethren, and thei went to Shechem: and the men of Shechem put their confidence in him.

27 Therefore thei went out into the field, & gathered in their grapes & troade
them, and made mery, and went into the house of their gods, and did eat & drinke,

and cursed Abimelech.

28 The Gál the sonne of Ebéd said, Who is Abimelech? and who is Shechem, that we shulde serue him? Is he not the sonne of Ierubbáal? & Zebúl is his officer? Ser-ue rather the men of Hamór the father of Shechem: for why shulde we serue him?

29 Now wolde God this people were vnder mine hád: then wolde I put away Abimelech. And he said to Abimelech, Increase thine armie, and come out.

30 And when Zebúl the ruler of the citie
heard the wordes of Gál the sonne of E-béd, his wrath was kindled.

31 Therefore he sent messengers vnto Abimelech priuely, saying, Beholde, Gál
the sonne of Ebéd and his brethren be come to Shechem, and beholde, thei fortifie
the citie against thee.

32 Now therefore arise by night, thou and thy people that is with thee, & lie in wayte
in the field.

33 And rise early in the morning as soone
as the sunne is vp, and assalt the citie: and when he and the people that is with him,
shal come out against thee, do to him what thou canst.

34 So Abimelech rose vp, & all the people
that were with him by night: and thei laie
in waite against Shechem in foure bandes.

35 Then Gál the sonne of Ebéd went out and stode in the entring of the gate of the citie: and Abimelech rose vp, and the fol-
ke that were with him, fró liying in waite.

36 And when Gál sawe the people, he said
to Zebúl, Beholde, there come people
downe from the tops of the mountaines:
and Zebúl said vnto him, The shadowe
of the mountaines seme men vnto thee.

37 And Gál spake againe, & said, Se, there come folke downe by the middle of the land, & an other-band cometh by the way of the plaine of Meonenim.

38 Then said Zebúl vnto him, Where is now thy mouth, that said, Who is Abimelech, that we shulde serue him? Is not this the people that thou hast despised? Go out

Shechem, and fought with Abimelech.

40 But Abimelech pursued him, & he fled
before him, and many were ouerthrowen
and wounded, euen vnto the entring of the gate.

41 And Abimelech dwelt at Arumáh: and Zebúl thrust out Gál and his brethren
that thei shulde not dwel in Shechem.

42 And on the morowe, the people went out into the field: which was tolde A-

44 And Abimélech, and the bandes that were with him, rushed forward, & stode in the entering of the gate of the citie, and two other bandes ranne vpon all the people that were in the field and slewe them.

45 And whē Abimélech had fought against the citie all that day, he toke the citie, and slewe the people that was therein, & destroyed the citie and sowed salt in it.

46 ¶ And when all the men of the towre of Shechem heard it, thei entred into an holde of the house of the god Berith.

47 And it was tolde Abimélech, that all the men of the towre of Shechem were gathered together.

48 And Abimélech gate him vp to mount Zalmon, he and all the people that were with him: and Abimélech toke axes with him and cut downe boughes of trees and toke them, and bare them on his shulder, and said vnto the folke that were with him, What ye haue sene me do, make haste, and do like me.

49 Thē all the people also cut downe euery man his bough, and followed Abimélech, & put them to the holde, and set the holde on fire wth them: so all the men of the towre of Shechem dyed also, about a thousand men and women.

50 ¶ Then went Abimélech to Tebéz, and besieged Tebéz, and toke it.

51 But there was a strong towre within the citie, and therher fled all the men and women, and all the chief of the citie, and shut it to them, and went vp to the top of the towre.

52 And Abimélech came vnto the towre & fought against it, and went hard vnto the dore of the towre to set it on fire.

53 But a certaine woman * cast a piece of a millstone vpon Abimélechs head, & brake his braine pan.

54 Thē Abimélech called hastily his page that bare his harness, and said vnto him, Drawe thy sworde & slay me, that mé say not of me, A woman slewe him. And his page thrust him through, and he dyed.

55 And when the men of Israël sawe that Abimélech was dead, thei departed euery man vnto his owne place.

56 Thus God rendred the wickednes of Abimélech, which he did vnto his father, in slaying his secenty brethren.

57 Also all the wickednes of the mé of Shechem did God bring vpon their heades. So vpon thē came the curse of Iothám the sonne of Ierubbáal.

Tolá dyeth. 1. Iair also dyeth. 17 The Israelites are punished for their sinnes. 10 They crye vnto God, 16 And he hath pittie on them.

After Abimélech there arose to defend Israël, Tolá, the sonne of Púsh, the sonne of Dodó, a man of Ifsachár which dwelt in Shamír in mount Ephráim.

5 And Iair dyed, & was buried in Kamón.

6 ¶ And the childre of Israël wrought wickednes againe in the sight of the Lord, & serued Baalím and Ashtaróth, and the gods of Arám, and the gods of Zidon, and the gods of Moáb, and the gods of the children of Ammón, and the gods of the Philistims, and forsoke the Lord and serued not him.

10 Then the children of Israël cryed vnto the Lord, saying, We haue sinned against thee, euē because we haue forsaken our owne God, and haue serued Baalím.

11 And the Lord said vnto the children of Israël, did not I deliuer you from the Egyptiás & frō the Amorites, frō the children of Ammón & from the Philistims?

12 The Zidonians also, and the Amalekites, and the Maobites did oppresse you, & ye cryed to me and I sauēd you out of their hands.

13 Yet ye haue forsaken me, and serued other gods: wherefore I wil deliuer you nomore.

14 Go, and crye vnto the gods which ye haue chosen: let them saue you in the time of your tribulation.

15 And the children of Israël said vnto the Lord, We haue sinned: do thou vnto vs whatsoeuer please thee: onely we pray thee to deliuer vs this day.

1 Iphthah being chased away by his brethren, was after made captaine ouer Israel. 30 He maketh a raffe vowe. 32 He vauquisheth the Ammonites. 39 And sacrificeth his daughter according to his vowe.

1 Then Gileád begate Iphtháh, & Iphtháh
the Gileadite was a valiant man,
but the sonne of an harlot.

2 And Gileads wife bare him sonnes, and
when y womas childré were come to age,
they thrust out Iphtháh, and said vnto him,
Thou shalt not inherit in our fathers house: for thou art y sonne of a strange woma.
3 Then Iphtháh fled from his brethren, and dwelt in the land of b Tob: and there gathered ydle fellowes to Iphtháh, and c went out with him.

4 And in proceffe of time the children of Ammón made warre with Israel.

5 And whé the children of Ammón fought with Israel, d the Elders of Gileád went to fet Iphtháh out of the land of Tob.

6 And they said vnto Iphtháh, e Come and be our captaine, that we may fight with the children of Ammón.

7 Iphtháh then answered the Elders of Gi-leád, Did not ye hate me, and f expel me
out of my fathers house: how then come
you vnto me now in time of your tribulation?

8 Then the Elders of Gileád said vnto
Iphtháh, Therefore we turne againe to thee
now, that thou maiest go with vs, & fight against the children of Ammón, & be our head ouer all the inhabitants of Gileád.

9 And Iphtháh said vnto the Elders of Gi-leád, If ye bring me home againe to fight against y children of Ammón, if the Lord
giue them before me, shal I be your head?

10 And y Elders of Gileád said to Iphtháh,
The Lord g be witnes betwene vs, if we do not according to thy wordes.

11 Then Iphtháh went with the Elders of Gileád, and the people made him head
and captaine ouer them: and Iphtháh rehearsed all his wordes before the Lord in Mizpéh.

12 ¶ Then Iphtháh sent messengers vnto the King of the children of Ammón, saying,
What hast thou to do with me, that thou
art come against me, to fight in my land?

13 And the King of the children of Ammón answered vnto the messengers of Iphtháh, * Because Israel toke my lād, whé
they came vp fró Egypt, from Arnón vnto Iabbók, and vnto Iordén: now therfore
restore those lands quietly.

14 Yet Iphtháh sent messengers againe vn-
to the King of the children of Ammón,

15 And said vnto him, Thus saith Iphtháh, * Israel toke not the land of Moáb, nor the land of the children of Ammón.

16 But when Israel came vp from Egypt,
and walked through the wildernes vnto
the red Sea, then they came to Kadés.

17 * And Israel sent messengers vnto the King of Edóm, saying, Let me, I pray thee, go through thy lād: but the King of Edóm would not consent: and also they sent vnto the King of Moáb, but he wolde
not: therfore Israel abode in Kadés.

18 Then thei went through the wildernes,
and compassed the land of Edóm, and the land of Moáb, and came by the Eastside of
y lād Moáb, and pitched on the other side of Arnón, * and came not within y coast of Moáb: for Arnón was y border of Moab.

19 Also Israel sent messengers vnto Sihón, King of the Amorites, the King of He-shbón, & Israel said vnto him, Let vs passe, we pray thee, by thy lād vnto our place.

20 But Sihón e consented not to Israel, that he shulde go through his coast: but Sihón
gathered all his people together, and pyched in Iaház, and fought with Israel.

21 And the Lord God of Israel gaue Sihón
and all his folke into the hands of Israel,
and they smote thé: so Israel possessed all
the land of the Amorites, the inhabitants
of that countrey:

22 And they possessed * all the coast of the Amorites, from Arnón vnto Iabbók, and from the wildernes euen vnto Iordén.

23 Now therefore the Lord God of Isra-él hath cast out the Amorites before his people Israel, & shuldest thou possesse it?

24 Woldest not thou possesse that which Chemósh thy god giueth thee to possesse?
So whomesoever the Lord our God driueth out before vs, them wil we possesse.

25 * And art thou now farre better then Ba-lák the sonne of Zippór King of Moáb:
did he not striue with Israel and fight against them,

her townes, and in Aroér & in her townes,
and in all the cities that are by the coasts

not then recover them in that space?

27 Wherefore, I haue not offēded thee: but thou doest me wróg to warre against me.
The Lord the Iudge * be iudge this day

children of Ammón.

Ammón hearkened not vnto the wordes

<sup>18</sup> And when he sawe her, he <sup>19</sup> rent his clothes, and said, Alas my daughter, thou hast brought me low, & art of thē that trouble me: for I haue opened my mouth vnto the Lord, and can not go backe.

of Ammón, and when I called you, ye deliuered me not out of their hands.

So when I sawe <sup>9</sup> ye deliuered me not, I put my life in mine hāds, & went vpon the children of Ammón: so <sup>10</sup> ye Lord deliuered them into mine hands. Wherefore thē are ye come vpō me now to fight against mee?

<sup>13</sup> Also the Giliadites toke the passages of Iordan before the Ephraimites, and when the Ephraimites that were escaped, said, Let me passe, then the men of Gilead said vnto him, Art thou an Ephraimite? If he said, Nay,

For lo, thou shalt conceiue and beare a

for the childe shal be a <sup>b</sup> Nazarite vnto God from his birth: and he shal begin to

¶ Then the wife came, & tolde her hous-

me, and the facion of him was like the fac-cion of y<sup>e</sup> Angel of God exceding * fear-

¶ Then Manóah <sup>d</sup> prayed to the Lord and said, I pray thee, my Lord, let the man of God, whome thou sentest, come againe
now vnto vs, and teache vs what we shal

¶ And God heard the voyce of Manóah, &
the Angel of God came againe vnto the wife, as she sate in the field, but Manóah
her housband was not with her.

¶ And the wife made haste & ranne, and shewed her housband and said vnto him,
Beholde, the man hath appeared vnto me,
that came vnto me * to day.

¶ And Manóah arose and went after his wife, and came to the <sup>f</sup> man, and said vnto
him, Art thou the man that spakest vnto
the woman: and he said, Yea.

¶ Then Manóah said, Now let thy saying come to passe: but how shal we orde the childe, and do vnto him?

¶ And y<sup>e</sup> Angel of the Lord said vnto Ma-nóah, The woman must beware of all that I said vnto her.

¶ She may eat of nothing that cometh of the vine: she shal not drinke wine nor strong drinke, nor eat anie <sup>s</sup> vnclane
thing: let her obserue all that I haue commanded her.

¶ Manóah then said vnto the Angel of the Lord, I pray thee, let vs retaine thee,
vntil we haue made ready a kid for thee.

¶ And the Angel of the Lord said vnto Manóah, Though thou make me abide, I will not eat of thy bread, and if thou wilt make a burnt offering, offer it vnto the Lord: for Manóah knewe not that it was an Angel of the Lord.

¶ Again Manóah said vnto y<sup>e</sup> Angel of y<sup>e</sup>

Lord, What is thy name, y<sup>e</sup> whē thy saying is come to passe, we may honour thee?
¶ And y<sup>e</sup> Angel of the Lord said vnto him, Why askest y<sup>e</sup> thus after my name, which is secret?

¶ Then Manóah toke a kid with a meat of-firing, and offered it vpon a stone vnto the Lord: and the Angel did <sup>wonderously</sup>, whiles Manóah and his wife looked on.

¶ For when the flame came vp towarde
heauen from the altar, the Angel of the Lord ascended vp in the flame of the altar, and Manóah and his wife beheld it, &
fel on their faces vnto the ground.

¶ (So the Angel of the Lord did no more appeare vnto Manóah and his wife) Thē Manóah knewe that it was an Angel of y<sup>e</sup>
Lord.

¶ And Manóah said vnto his wife, * We shal
surely dye, becaufe we haue sene God.

¶ But his wife said vnto him, If the Lord
wolde kil vs, he wolde not haue receiued
a burnt offering, and a meat offering of our hands, nether wolde he haue shewed vs all these things, nor wolde now haue tolde vs
anie siche.

¶ And the wife bare a sonne, and called his name Samson: and the childe grewe, &
the Lord blessed him.

¶ And the Spirit of y<sup>e</sup> Lord began to strēg-thē him in the hoste of Dan, betwene Zo-

7 And he went downe, and talked with the woman which was beautiful in the eyes of Samson.

8 ¶ And within a few dayes, whē he returned to receiue her, he went aside to fe the carkeis of the lyon: and beholde, there was a swarme of bees, and hony in the body of the lyon.

9 And he toke thereof in his hands, and went eating, and came to his father and to his mother, and gaue vnto them, and they did eat: but he tolde not them, that he had taken the hony out of the bodie of y<sup>e</sup> lyon.

10 So his father went downe vnto the woman, and Samson made there a feast: for so vsed the yong men to do.

11 And when they saue him, they brought thirtie companions to be with him.

12 Then Samson said vnto them, I wil now put forthe a riddle vnto you: & if you can declare it me within seuen dayes of the feast, and finde it out, I wil giue you thirtie shetes, and thirtie change of garmets.

13 But if you can not declare it me, then shal ye giue me thirtie shetes and thirtie change of garments. And they answered him, Put forthe thy riddle, that we may heare it.

14 And he said vnto them, Out of the eater came meat, and out of the strong came sweetenes: & they coulde not in thre dayes expounde the riddle.

15 And when the seuenth day was come, they said vnto Samsons wife, Entise thyne housband, that he may declare vs the riddle, lest we burne thee and thy fathers house with fire. Haue ye called vs, to possesse vs is it not so?

16 And Samsons wife wept before him, and said, Surely thou hatest me and louest me not: for thou hast put forthe a riddle vnto the children of my people, and hast not tolde it me. And he said vnto her, Beholde, I haue not tolde it my father, nor my mother, and shal I tel it thee?

17 Then Samsons wife wept before him seuen dayes, while their feast lasted: and when the seuenth day came, he tolde her, because she was importunate vpon him: so she tolde the riddle to the children of her people.

18 And the men of the citie said vnto him the seuenth day before the sonne went downe, What is sweeter, then hony: and what is stronger then a lyon? Then said he vnto them, If ye had not plowed wth my heiffer, ye had not founde out my riddle.

19 And the Spirit of the Lord came vpon him, and he went downe to Ashkelon, and slewe thirtie men of them & spoiled thes, and gaue change of garments vnto them, which expounded the riddle: & his wrath was kindled, and he went vp to his fathers house.

20 The Samsons wife was giuen to his companion, whome he had vsed as his friend.

Samson carieth away the gates of Azgāb. 18 He was deceiued by Delilah. 30 He pulleth downe the house
vpon the Philistims, and dyeth with them.

T H N went Samson to Azzah, & sawe
there an harlot, & went in vnto her.

2 And it was tolde to the Azzathites, Samson is come hether. And they went about, & layed wait for him all night in the gate
of the citie, and were quiet all the night,
saying, Abide til the morning early, and
we shal kil him.

3 And Samson slept til midnight, & arose
at midnight, and toke the dōres of the gates of the citie, and the two postes and lift
them away with the barres, and put them
vpon his shulders, and caried them vp to the top of the mountaine that is before Hebron.

4 And after this he loued a woman by ȝ
riuer of Sorék, whose name was Delilah:

5 Vnto whome came the princes of ȝ Philistims, and said vnto her, Entise him, and se wherein his great strength lieth, and by what meane we may ouercome him, that we may binde him, and punish him, and euerie one of vs shal giue thee eleuen hundredth * shekels of siluer.

6 And Delilah said to Samson, Tel me, I pray thee, wherein thy great strength lieth,
and wherewith thou mightest be bounde,
to do the hurt.

7 Samson then answered vnto her, If they

binde me with seuen<sup>g</sup> greene cordes that were neuer dried, thē shal I be weake, and
be as an other man.

8 And the princes of ȝ Philistims broght
her seue greene cordes that were not drye,
and she bound him therewith.

9 (And she had 4 men lying in wayte w her in ȝ chāber.) Then she said vnto him, The Philistims be vpon thee, Samson. And he brake the cordes, as a thread of tow is broken, when<sup>e</sup> it feleth fire: so his strength
was not knownen.

10 ¶ After Delilah said vnto Samson, Se, ȝ hast mocked me and tolde me lies. I pray thee now, tel me wherewith ȝ mightest
be bound.

11 Then he answered her, If they binde me
with newe ropes ȝ neuer were occupied,
then shal I be weake, and be as another
man.

12 Delilah therefore toke newe ropes, and bound him therewith, and said vnto him,
The Philistims be vpon thee, Samson: (8 men lay in wait in the chāber) & he brake
them from his armes, as a thread.

13 ¶ Afterward Delilah said to Samson, Hetherto thou hast beguiled me, and tolde
melies: tel me how thou mightest be bound. And he said vnto her, If thou plat-redst seuen lockes of mine head with the threades of the woufe.

14 And she fastened it with a pinne, & said
vnto him, The Philistims be vpon thee, Samson. And he awoke out of his slepe,
and went away with the pinne of ȝ webbe
and the woufe.

15 Again she said vnto him, How canst thou say, I loue thee, when thine heart is not with me? thou hast mocked me these thre times, and hast not tolde me wherein thy great strength lieth.

16 And because she was importunate vpon
him with her wordes continually, and vexed him, his soule was peined vnto ȝ death.

17 Therefore he tolde her all his heart, &
said vnto her, There neuer came rasor
vpon mine head: for I am a Nazarite vnto
God frō my mothers wombe: therefore if
I be shauen, my strength wil go from me,
& I shal be weake, & be like all other men.

18 And whē Delilah sawe that he had tolde
her all his heart, she sent, & called for the Princes of ȝ Philistims, saying, Come vp once againe: for he hath shewed me all his heart. Then the princes of the Philistims came vp vnto her, and broght the money
in their hands.

19 And she made him slepe vpō her knees,
& she called a man, & made him to shau
of ȝ seuen lockes of his head, & she begā to
vexe hī, & his strength was gone frō hī.

20 Then she said, The Philistims be vpō

now, <sup>h</sup> and humble them, and do with the
what semeth you good: but to this man
do not this vilenie.

29 But the men wolde not hearken to him:
therefore the man toke his concubine, and
brought her out vnto them: and they knewe
her and abused her all the night vnto the morning: & whē the day began to spring,
they let her go.

30 So <sup>y</sup> woman came in the dawning of the day, & <sup>e</sup> fel downe at the dore of the mā

opened the dores of the house, and went out to go his way, and beholde, the wo-

of the house and her hands lay vpon the thresholde.

32 And he said vnto her, Vp and let vs go:
but she answered not. Then he toke her vp vpon the asse, and the man rose vp, and went vnto his <sup>k</sup> place.

33 And when he was come to his house, he toke a knife, and laid hand on his concu-bine, and deuided her in pecies with her bones into twelue partes, and sent her through all quarters of Israël.

34 And all that sawe it, said, There was no

uite declareth his wrong. 13 They sent for them that did the vilenie. 25 The Israelites are swife ouercome, 46 And as length get the victorie.

1 THEN * all the childre of Israël wēt out and the Congregation was gathered together as <sup>e</sup> one man, from Dan to Beér sheba, with the land of Gilead, vnto the Lord in Mizpēh.

2 And the <sup>e</sup> chief of all the people and all the tribes of Israël assembled in the Congregaciō of the people of God foure hū-dredth thousand foremen <sup>y</sup> e drewe sword.
(Now the children of Beniamín heard that the childre of Israël were gone vp to Mizpēh) Then the children of Israël said, How is this wickednes committed?

4 And the same Leuite, the womans houlband that was slaine, answered and said, I came vnto Gibeáh that is in Beniamín
with my concubine to lodge,

5 And the <sup>e</sup> mē of Gibeáh arose against me,
and beset the house round about vpon me
by night, thinking to haue slaine me, and haue forced my concubine that she is dead.

6 Then I toke my concubine, and cut her in pecies, and sent <sup>e</sup> her through out all the countrey of the inheritance of Israël:
for they haue committed abominacion
and vilenie in Israël.

7 Beholde, ye are all children of Israël: gi-
ue your aduise, and counsel herein.

8 Thē all <sup>y</sup> people arose as one mā, saying,
There shal not a man of vs go to his tent,
nether anie turne into his <sup>e</sup> house.

9 But now this is that thing which we wil
do to Gibeáh: we wil go vp by lot against it,

10 And we wil take ten men of the hūdreth
throughout all the tribes of Israël, and an hundredth of the thousand, and a thousand of ten thousand to bring <sup>e</sup> vitale
for the people that they may do (when they come to Gibeáh of Beniamín) according to all the vilenie, that it hath done
in Israël.

11 ¶ So all the men of Israël were gathered
against the cite, knit together, as one mā.

12 And the tribes of Israël sent mē through-all the <sup>h</sup> tribe of Beniamín, saying, What wickednes is this <sup>y</sup> is committed amōg you?

13 Now therefore deliuer vs those wicked men which are in Gibeáh, that we may put them to death, and put away euil
from Israël: but the children of Beniamín
wolde not obey the voyce of their brethren the children of Israël.

14 But the children of Beniamín gathered them selues together out of the cities vnto Gibeáh, to come out and fight against the children of Israël.

15 ¶ And the children of Beniamín were nombred at that time out of the cities six
and twentie thousand men that drewe
sworde, beside the inhabitants of Gibeáh,
which were nombred seven hundredth chosen men.

16 Of all this people were seven hundredth chosen men, being * left handed: all these colde sling stones at an heere breadth,
and not faile.

17 ¶ Also <sup>y</sup> men of Israël, beside Bēiāmín,
were nombred foure hundredth thousand mē
that drewe sworde, euen all men of warre.

18 And the children of Israël arose, & wēt
vp * to the house of God, & asked of God,
sayig, Which of vs shal go vp first to fight against the children of Beniamín? And the Lord said, Judáh shal be first.

19 Then the childre of Israël arose vp early and camped against Gibeáh.

20 And the men of Israel went out to battel against Beniamin, and the men of Israel put the felues in array to fight against them beside Gibeah.

21 And the children of Beniamin came out of Gibeah, & slewe downe to the grounde of the Israelites that day: two and twentie thousand men.

22 And the people, the men of Israel plucked vp their hearts, and set their battel againe in array in the place where they put them in array the first day.

23 (For the children of Israel had gone vp and wept before the Lord vnto y<sup>e</sup> euening, and had asked of the Lord, saying, Shal I go againe to battel against the children of Beniamin my brethren? & the Lord said, Go vp against them.)

24 ¶ Then the children of Israel came nere against the children of Beniamin the seconde day.

25 Also the seconde day Beniamin came forth to mete the out of Gibeah, & slewe downe to the groude of the childre of Israel againe eightene thousand men: all they colde handle the sworde.

26 Then all the children of Israel went vp & all the people came also vnto the house of God, & wept and faste there before the Lord & fasted that day vnto the euening, and offred burnt offrings & peace offrings before the Lord.

27 And the children of Israel asked the Lord (for <sup>m</sup> there was the Arke of the covenant of God in those dayes, 28 And Phinehas the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron <sup>n</sup> stode before it at that time) saying, Shal I yet go anie more to battel against the childre of Beniamin my brethren, or shal I cease? And the Lord said, Go vp: for tomorrow I wil deliuer them into your hand.

29 And Israel set men to lye in wait round about Gibeah.

30 And the children of Israel went vp against the children of Beniamin the third day, and put them felues in array against Gibeah, as at other times.

31 Then the children of Beniamin coming out against the people, were <sup>o</sup> drawe from the citie: and they began to smite of the people and kil as at other times, <sup>o</sup> when by the wayes in the field (whereof one goeth vp to the house of God, & the other to Gibeah) vpon a thirtie men of Israel.

33 And all the men of Israel rose vp out of their place, & put them felues in array at Baal tamar: and the men that lay in waite of the Israelites came forth of their place, <sup>o</sup> euen out of the medowes of Gibeah,

34 And they came ouer against Gibeah, ten thousand chosen men of all Israel, & the battel was fore: for they knewe not that the euil was nere them.

35 ¶ And y<sup>e</sup> Lord smote Beniamin before Israel, and the children of Israel destroyed of the Beniamites the same day fise and twentie thousand and an hundred men: all they colde handle the sworde.

36 So the childre of Beniamin sawe that they were stricken downe: for the men of Israel gaue place to the Beniamites, because they trusted to the men that lay in waite, which they had laid beside Gibeah.

37 And they that lay in waite fasted, and brake forth towards Gibeah, and the embushment drew them felues along, and smote all the citie with the edge of the sworde.

38 Also the men of Israel had appointed a certaine time with the embushments, that they shulde make a great flame, and smoke rise vp out of the citie.

39 And when the men of Israel retired in the battel, Beniamin began to smite and kill of the men of Israel about thirtie persons: for they said, Surely they are stricken downe before vs, as in the first battel.

40 But when the flame began to arise out of the citie, as a pillar of smoke, the Beniamites looked backe, and beholde, the flame of the citie began to ascende vp to heauen.

41 Then y<sup>e</sup> men of Israel turned <sup>o</sup> againe, and the men of Beniamin were astonished: for they saw that euil was nere vnto the

42 Therefore they fled before the men of Israel vnto the way of the wilderness: but the battel oertoke them: also they which came out of the cities, slewe them among them.

43 Thus they compassed the Beniamites about, and chased them <sup>o</sup> at ease, and overran them, euen ouer against Gibeah on the Eastside.

44 And there were slaine of Beniamin eightene thousand men, which were all men of warre.

CHAP. XXI.

The Israelites sweare that they wil not marry their daughters to the Beniamites. 10 They slay them of Iabesh Gilead, and giue their virgines to the Beniamites. 21 The Beniamites take the daughters of Shiloh.

Moreouer the men of Israel sware in Mizpéh, saying, None of vs shal giue his daughter vnto the Beniamites to wife.

And the people came vnto the house of God & abode there til euen before God, and lift vp their voices; and wept with great lamentacion,

And said, O Lord God of Israel, why is this come to passe in Israel, that this day one tribe of Israel shulde want?

And on the morowe the people rose vp and made there an altar, and offered burnt offrings and peace offrings.

Then the children of Israel said, Who is he amog all y tribes of Israel, that came not vp with the Congregation vnto the Lord: for they had made a great othe concerning him that came not vp to the Lord to Mizpéh, saying, Let him dye the death.

And the children of Israel were sory for Beniamin their brother, & said, There is one tribe cut of from Israel this day.

How shal we do for wiues to them: that remaine, seing we haue sworne by y Lord, that we wil not giue them of our daughters to wiues?

Also they said, Is there anie of the tribes of Israel that came not vp to Mizpéh to the Lord: and beholde, there came none of Iabesh Gilead vnto the holte and to the Congregation.

For when the people were viewed, beholde, none of the inhabitants of Iabesh Gilead were there.

Therefore the Congregation sent thither twelue thousand men of the moste valiant, and commanded them, saying, Go, and smite the inhabitants of Iabesh Gilead with the edge of the sworde, bothe women and children.

And this is it that ye shal do: ye shal utterly destroy all the males and all the women that haue lien by men.

And they founde among the inhabitants of Iabesh Gilead foure hundred maidens, virgins that had knowen no man by lying with anie male: and they brought them vnto the holte to Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.

Then the whole Congregation sent & spake with the children of Beniamin that were in the rocke of Rimmón, and called peaceably vnto them:

And Beniamin came againe at y time, & they gaue them wiues which they had sauéd ahué of the women of Iabesh Gilead: but they had not so ynough for the

And the people were sory for Beniamin, because the Lord had made a breache in the tribes of Israel.

Therefore the Elders of the Congregation said, How shal we do for wiues to the remnant: for the women of Beniamin are destroyed.

And they said, There must be an inheritance for them that be escaped of Beniamin, that a tribe be not destroyed out of Israel.

Howbeit we may not giue them wiues of our daughters: for the children of Israel had sworne, saying, Cursed be he, that giueth a wife to Beniamin.

Therefore they said, Beholde, there is a feast of the Lord euery yere in Shiloh in a place, which is on the Northside of Beth-él, and on the Eastside of the way that goeth vp from Beth-él to Shechem, and on the South of Lebonah.

Therefore thei commanded the childre of Beniamin, saying, Go, and lye in waite in the vineyardes.

And when ye se that the daughters of Shiloh come out to dance in dances, then come ye out of the vineyardes, and cathe you euery man a wife of the daughters of Shiloh, & go into the land of Beniamin.

And when their fathers or their brethren come vnto vs to complaine, we wil say vnto them, Haue pitie on the for our sakes, because we referued not to eche mā his wife in the warre, and because ye haue not giuen vnto them hether to, ye haue sinned.

And the children of Beniamin did so, and toke wiues of them that dāced according to their number: which they toke, and went away, and returned to their inheritance, and repaired the cities & dwelt in them.

So the childre of Israel departed thence at that time, euery man to his tribe, and to his familie, and went out from thence euery man to his inheritance.

In those dayes there was no King in Israel, but euery man did that which was good in his eyes.

THE BOKE OF RVTH.

THE ARGUMENT.

This boke is intituled after the name of Ruth: which is the principal persone spoken of in this treatise. Wherein also figuratively is set forth the state of the Church which is subject to manifold afflictions, and yet at length God giveth good and ioyful issue: teaching vs to abide with patience til God deliver vs out of troubles. Herein also is described howe Iesus Christ, who according to the flesh ought to come of David, proceeded of Ruth, of whome the Lord Iesus did vouchefine to come, notwithstanding she was a Moabite of base condicion, and a stranger from the people of God: declaring vnto vs thereby that the Gentiles shoulde be sanctified by him and ioyned with his people, and that there shoulde be but one shepfold, and one shepherde. And it semeth that this historie apperteineth to the time of the Iudges.

CHAP. I.

Elimélech goeth with his wife and childre into the land of Moab. 3 He and his sonnes dye. 19 Naomi and Ruth come to Beth-léhem.

IN the time that the iudges ruled, there was a dearth in the land, and a mā of Beth-léhem Iudáh went for to sojourn in the countrei of Moab, he, and his wife, and his two sonnes.

And the name of the mā was Elimélech, and the name of his wife, Naomi: and the names of his two sonnes, Mahlón, & Chilion, Ephrathites of Beth-léhem Iudáh: and when they came into the land of Moab, they continued there.

Then Elimélech the housbād of Naomi dyed, & she remained with her two sonnes.

Which toke them wiues of the Moabites: the ones name was Orpah, and the name of the other Ruth: and they dwelled there about ten yerres.

And Mahlón and Chilion dyed also bothe twaine: so the woman was left destitute of her two sonnes, & of her housbād.

Then she arose with her daughters in lawe, and returned from the countrey of Moab: for she had heard say in the countrei of Moab, that the Lord had visited his people, and giuen them bread.

Wherefore she departed out of the place where she was, and her two daughters in lawe with her, and they wēt on their way to returne vnto the land of Iudáh.

Thē Naomi said vnto her two daughters in lawe, Go, returne eche of you vnto her owne mothers house: for the Lord shewe fauour vnto you, as ye haue done with the dead, and with me.

The Lord grante you, that you may finde rest, ether of you in the house of her housband. And when she kisse d them, they lift vp their voyce and wept.

And they said vnto her, Surely we will returne with thee vnto thy people.

But Naomi said, Turne againe, my daughters: for what cause wil you go with me: are there anie mo sonnes in my wom-

be, that they may be your housbands?

Turne againe, my daughters: go your way: for I am to olde to haue an housbād, if I shulde saie, I haue hope, or if I had an housband this night: yea, if I had borne sonnes,

Wolde ye tary for them, til they were of age? wolde ye be differred for them from taking of housbands? nay my daughters: for it grieveth me muche for your sakes, for the hād of the Lord is gone out against me.

Then they lift vp their voyce, and wept againe, and Orpah kisse d her mother in lawe, but Ruth abode stil with her.

And Naomi said, Beholde, thy sister in lawe is gone backe vnto her people & vnto her gods: so returne y after thy sister in lawe.

And Ruth answered, Intreat me not to leave thee, nor to departe from thee: for whither thou goest, I wil go: and where thou dwellest, I wil dwell: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God.

Where y dyest, wil I dye, and there wil I be buryed: the Lord do so to me & more also, if eght but death departe thee & me.

When she sawe that she was stedfastly minded to go with her, she left speaking vnto her.

So they went bothe vntil they came to Beth-léhé: & whē they were come to Beth-léhé, it was noised of them through all the cite, and thei said, Is not this Naomi?

And she answered the, Call me not Naomi, but call me Mará: for the Almighty hathe giuen me muche bitternes.

I wēt out ful, & y Lord hathe caused me to returne empty: why call ye me Naomi, seing the Lord hath hūbled me, & the Almighty hathe broght me vnto aduersitie.

So Naomi returned and Ruth y Moabite, her daughter in law with her, when she came out of the countrei of Moab: & they came to Beth-léhé in the beginning of barley haruest.

¶ And she said vnto vs, I pray you, let me glean and gather after the reapers among the sheaues: so she came, and hath continued from that time in the morning vnto
now, saue y she taried a litle in the house.

¶ Then said Bóaz vnto Ruth, Hearrest
thou, my daughter? go to none other field
to gather, neither go from hence: but abide here by my maidens.

¶ Let thine eyes be on the field that they do reape, and go thou after the maidens. Haue I not charged the seruants, that they touche thee not? Moreouer when thou art
a thirsk, go vnto the vessels and brinke of that which the seruants haue drawn.

¶ Then she felon her face, and bowed her self to the ground, & said vnto im, How haue I found fauour in thine eyes, that y
shuldest knowe me, seeing I am a stranger?

¶ And Bóaz answered, and said vnto her,
All is tolde and shewed me that y hast
done vnto thy mother in law, since y death
of thine housbād, and how thou hast left
thy father and thy mother, and the land
where thou wast borne, and art come vnto
a people w thou knewest not in time past.

¶ The Lord recompence thy worke and a ful reward be giuen thee of the Lord God
of Israël, vnder whose wings thou art
come to trust.

¶ Then she said, Let me finde fauour in thy sight, my lord: for y hast cōforted me,
and spoken comfortably vnto thy maid,
though I be not like to one of thy maids.

¶ And Bóaz said vnto her, At y meale time come thou hither, and eat of the bread, &
dip thy morsel in y vinegre. And she sat beside the reapers, and he reached her parched corne: and she did eat, and was sufficient, and left thereof.

¶ And when she arose to glean, Bóaz cōmided his seruants, saying, Let her gather among y sheaues, and do not rebuke her.

¶ Also let fall some of the sheaues for her,

& let it lie, that she may gather it vp, and rebuke her not.

¶ So she gleaned in the field vntil euening,
and she threshed that she had gathered,
and it was about an Ephāh of barley.

¶ And she toke it vp, & went into the ci-tie, and her mother in lawe sawe what she had gathered: also she toke forth, and gaue
to her that which she had referred, when she was sufficed.

¶ Then her mother in lawe said vnto her,
Where hast thou gleaned to day? & where wroughtest thou? blessed be he, that knewe thee. And she shewed her mother in lawe, with whome she had wrought, & said, The mans name with whome I wrought to day,
is Bóaz.

¶ And Naomé said vnto her daughter in lawe, Blessed be he of the Lord: for he cea-seth not to do good to the liuing and to the dead. Again Naomé said vnto her, The mā is nere vnto vs, & of our affinitie.

¶ And Ruth the Moabitesse said, He said
also certainly vnto me, Thou shalt be w
my seruāts, vntil they haue ended all mine
haruest.

¶ And Naomé answered vnto Ruth her daughter in lawe, It is best, my daughter,
that thou go out with his maids, that thei
mete thee not in another field.

¶ The she kept her by the maids of Bóaz,
to gather vnto the end of barley haruest, &
of wheat haruest, and dwelt with her mother in lawe.

CHAP. III.

¶ Naomé giueth Ruth counsel. She steept at Bóaz fete.
¶ He acknowledged him selfe to be her kinsman.

¶ Forward Naomé her mother in law.

¶ A said vnto her, My daughter, shal not
I seeke rest for thee, that y maist prosper?
¶ Now also is not Bóaz our kinsman, with whose maids y wast? beholde, he winow-
eth barley to night in the floore.

¶ Wash thy selfe therefore, & anoint thee,
& put thy raiment vpō thee, & get thee
downe to y floore: let not y mā knowe of thee, vntil he haue left eating & drinking.

¶ And when he shal slepe, marke the place
where he layeth him downe, & go, & vn-
couer the place of his fete, and lay thee
downe, & he shal tel thee what y shalt do.

¶ And she answered her, All that thou biddest me, I wil do.

¶ So she went downe vnto the floore, &
did according to all y her mother in lawe
bade her.

¶ And when Bóaz had eaten, and dronke, &
cheared his heart, he went to lie downe at the end of the heape of corne, & she came softely, & vncouered the place of his fete, & lay downe.

¶ And at midnight the man was afraid &
caught holde: & lo, a womā lay at his fete.

THE FIRST BOKE OF Samuél.

THE ARGUMENT.

According as God had ordeined Deut. 17. 14. that when the Israelites shoulde be in the land of Canaan, he wold appoint them a King: so here in this first boke of Samuel is declared the state of this people vnder their first King Saül, who not content with that ordre, which God had for a time appointed for the gouernement of his Church, demanded a King, to the intent they might be as other nations & in a greater assurance as they thought: not because they might the better thereby serue God, as being vnder the safe-garde of him, which did represent Iesus Christ the true deliuerer: therefore he gaue them a tyrant and an hypocrite to rule over them, that they might learne, that the persone of a King is not sufficient to defend them, except God by his power pre-serue and kepe them. And therefore he punisheth the ingratitude of his people & sendeth the continual warres bothe at home and abroad. And because Saül, whome of nothing God had preferred to the honour of a King, did not acknowledge Gods mercie towards him, but rather disobeyed the words of God and was not zealous of his glorie, he was by the voyce of God put downe from his state, and Dauid the true figure of Messiah placed in his steade, whose pacience, modestie, constancie, perfection by open enemies, fauined friends, and dissembling flatterers are left to the Church and to euery member of the same, as a paterne and example to beholke their state ad vocation.

CHAP. I.

- 1 The genealogie of Elkanáh father of Samuél. 2 He two wiues. 3 Hannáh was barren and praied to the Lord. 15 Her answer to Eli. 20 Samuél is borne.
24 She doeth dedicate him to the Lord.

Here was a man of one of the two Ramathaim Zophim, of moué Ephraim, whose name was El-
kanáh the sonne of Iero-hám, the sonne of Elihu,
the sonne of Tóhu, the

- sonne of Zuph, an Ephrathite:
2 And he had two wiues: the name of one
was Hannáh, and the name of the other Peninnáh: and Peninnáh had childre, but Hannáh had no children.

- 3 And this man went vp out of his citie
euery yere, to worship & to sacrifice vnto
the Lord of hostes in b Shiloh, where were the two sonnes of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas Priests of the Lord.

- 4 And on a day, when Elkanáh sacrificed, he gaue to Peninnáh his wife and to all her
sonnes and daughters porcions,

- 5 But vnto Hannáh he gaue a worthy por-cion: for he loued Hannáh, and the Lord
had made her barren.

- 6 ¶ And her aduersarie vexed her fore, for
asmuch as she vpbraided her, because the Lord had made her barren.

- 7 (And so did he yere by yere) & as oft as she wēt vp to the house of y Lord, thus she vexed her, that she wept and did not eat.

- 8 Then said Elkanáh her housbād to her,
Hannáh, why wepest thou? and why eatest
thou not? & why is thine heart troubled:
am not I better to thee then ten sonnes?

- 9 So Hannáh rose vp after that they had eaten and dronke in Shiloh (and Eli the Priest sate vpo a stole by one of y postes
of the Temple of the Lord)

- 10 And she was troubled in her minde, and
praied vnto the Lord, and wept fore:

- 11 Also she vowed a vowe, & said, O Lord
of hostes, if thou wilt loke on the trouble
of thine handmayd, and remeber me, and
not forget thine handmayd, but giue vnto
thine handmayd a manchild, then I wil
giue him vnto the Lord all the daies of his life, & there shal no raser come
vpon his head.

- 12 And as she cōtinued praying before the Lord, Eli marked her mouth.

- 13 For Hannáh spake in her heart: her lippes
did moue onely, but her voyce was not heard: therefore Eli thought she had bene drunken.

- 14 And Eli said vnto her, How long wilt thou be drunken? Put away thy drunkenes from thee.

- 15 Then Hannáh answered and said, Nay
my lord, but I am a woman troubled in spirit: I haue drōke neither wine nor strōg
drinke, but haue powred out my soule
before the Lord.

13 ¶ Now Samuél being a yong childe mi-

14 And his mother made him a litle coate,
and brought it to him from yere to yere,
when she came vp with her housband, to 15 And Eli blessed Elkanáh and his wife, & said, The Lord giue thee sede of this woman, for the petition that she asked of the Lord: and they departed vnto their place.

16 And the Lord visited Hannáh, so that she conceiued, and bare thre sonnes, and two daughters. And the childe Samuél grew before the Lord.

17 ¶ So Eli was very olde, & heard all that his sonnes did vnto all Israël, & how they laye with the women that assembled at the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

18 And he said vnto the, Why do ye suche
things? for of all this people I heare euil
reportes of you.

19 Do no more, my sonnes: for it is no good reporte that I heare, which is that ye make the Lords people to trespasse.

20 If one man sinne against an other, the iudge shal iudge it: but if a man sinne against the Lord, who wil pleade for him?
Notwithstanding they obeyed not the voyce of their father, because y Lord wolde
slaye them.

21 ¶ (Now the childe Samuél profited and grew, and was in fauour bothe with the Lord, and also with men)

22 And there came a ma of God vnto Eli
and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord,
Did not I plainly appeare vnto y house
of thy father, when they were in Egypt in Pharaohs house?

23 And I chose him out of all the tribes of Israél to be my Priest, to offer vpon mine
altar, and to burne incense, and to weare
an Ephód before me, and I gaue vnto
the house of thy father all the offerings made by fire of the children of Israël.

24 Wherefore haue you * kiked against my sacrifice and mine offering, which I comanded in my Tabernacle, and honorest
thy children about me, to make your sel-
ues fat of the first frutes of all the offerings
of Israël my people?

25 Wherefore y Lord God of Israël sayth,
I said y thine house & the house of thy father shoulde walke before me for euer: but nowe the Lord sayth, * It shal not be so:
for them that honour me, I wil honour,
and they that despise me, shal be despised.

26 Beholde, the dayes come, that I wil cut of thine * arme, and the arme of thy fathers

house, that there shal not be an olde man
in thine house.

32 And thou y shalt se thine enemy in the habitation of the Lord in all things where-
with God shal blese Israël, and there shal not be an olde man in thine house for euer.

33 Neuertheles, I wil not destroy enery one of thine fró mine altar, to make thine eyes
to faile, & to make thine heart sorowful:
and all the multitude of thine house shal
dye when they be men.

34 And this shalbe a signe vnto thee, that shal come vpon thy two sonnes Hophni
and Phinehas: in one day they shal dye
bothe.

35 And I wil sterre me vp a faithful Priest,
that shal do according to mine heart and
according to my minde: and I wil buylde
him a sure house, and he shal walke before
mine Anoynted for euer.

36 And all that are left in thine house,
shal come and bowe downe to him for a piece of siluer and a morfel of bread, and shal say, Appoint me, I pray thee, to one of the Priests offices, that I may eat a morfel
of bread.

CHAP. III.

There was no manifest visio in the time of Eli. 4 The Lord calleth Samuél thre times, 11 And sheweth what shal come vpon Eli and his house. 18 The same declareth Samuél to Eli.

NOW the childe Samuél ministred
vnto the Lord before Eli: and the worde of the Lord was precious in those
dayes: for there was no manifest visio.
And at that time, as Eli laye in his place,
his eyes began to waxe dimme that he colde not se.

And yet the light of God went out, Sa-muél slept in the temple of the Lord, where the Arke of God was.

¶ Then the Lord called Samuél: and he said, Here I am.

And he ran vnto Eli, and said, Here am I,
for thou calledst me. But he said, I called thee not: go againe and slepe. And he went and slept.

¶ And the Lord called once againe, Sa-muél. And Samuél arose, and went to Eli, & said, I am here: for thou didest call me.
And he answered, I called the not, my son:
go againe and slepe.

¶ Thus did Samuél, before he knewe the Lord, and before the worde of the Lord
was reueiled vnto him.

¶ And the Lord called Samuél againe the third time: and he arose, and went to Eli,
and said, I am here: for thou hast called me. Then Eli perceived that the Lord
had called the childe.

¶ Therefore Eli said vnto Samuél, Go and slepe: and if he call thee, then say, Speake

And Samuël spake vnto all Israel: & Israel went out against the Philistims to battel and pitched beside Eben ezer: and the Philistims pitched in Aphck.

And the Philistims put them selues in array against Israel: and when they ioyned the battel, Israel was smitten downe before the Philistims: who slewe of the armie in the field about foure thousand men.

p For it may seme that this warre was vnderaken by Samuels com- mandement.

So when the people were come into the campe, the Elders of Israel said, Wherefore hath the Lord smitten vs this day before the Philistims? let vs bring the Arke of the couenant of the Lord out of Shiloh vnto vs, that when it commeth among vs, it may saue vs out of the hand of our enemies.

4 The people sent to Shiloh, & brought from thence the Arke of the couenant of the Lord of hostes, who dwelleth betwene the Cherubims: and there were the two sonnes of Eli, Hophni, & Phinehas, with the Arke of the couenant of God.

5 And when the Arke of the couenant of the Lord came into the holte, all Israel showed a mighty showte, so that the earth rag againe.

6 And when the Philistims heard the noise of the showte, they said, What meaneth the founde of this mighty showte in the holte of the Ebrewes? & they vnderstande, that the Arke of the Lord was come into the holte.

7 And the Philistims were afraid, and said, God is come into the holte: therefore said thei, Wo vnto vs: for it hath not bene so heretofore.

8 Wo vnto vs, who shal deliuer vs out of the hand of these mighty Gods? these are the Gods that smote the Egyptians with all the plagues in the wilderness.

9 Be strong and play the men, o Philistims, that ye be not seruants vnto the Ebrewes, as they haue serued you: be valiant therefore, and fight.

10 And the Philistims fought, and Israel was smitten downe, and fled euerie man into his tent: and there was an exceeding great slaughter: for there fel of Israel thirtie thousand footemen.

11 And the Arke of God was taken, and the two sonnes of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas dyed.

12 And there ran a man of Beniamin out of the armie, and came to Shiloh the same day with his clothes rent, and earth vpon his head.

13 And when he came, lo, Eli sat vpon a seate by the way side, waiting: for his heart feared for the Arke of God: and when the man came into the citie to tel it, all the citie cryed out.

14 And when Eli heard the noise of the crying, he said, What meaneth this noise of the tumult? and the mā came in hastily, and tolde Eli.

15 (Now Eli was fourescore and eighene yere olde, and his eyes were dimme that he coulde not see.)

¶ And about the time of her death, the wo-

she answered not, nor regarded it.

¶ And she named the childe Ichabod, saying, The glorie is departed from Is-

& because of her father in law and her

CHAP. V.

¶ The Philistims bring the Arke into the house of Dagón, which idole set downe before it. ¶ The men of Ashdod are plagued. ¶ The Arke is caried into Gath and after to Ekrón.

¶ Then the Philistims toke the Arke of God and caried it from Eben-ézer vnto Ashdod.

¶ Euen the Philistims toke the Arke of God, and brought it into the house of Dagón, and set it by Dagón.

¶ And when they of Ashdod rose the next day in the morning, beholde, Dagón was fallen vpon his face on the grounde before the Arke of the Lord, and they toke vp Dagón, and set him in his place againe.

¶ Also they rose vpearly in the morning
the next day, & beholde, Dagón was falle
vpon his face on the grounde before the Arke of the Lord, and the head of Dagón
and the two palmes of his hands were cut off vpon the thresholde: onely the stumpe
of Dagón was left to him.

¶ Therefore the Priests of Dagón, and all that come into Dagon's house, treade
not on the thresholde of Dagón in Ashdod, vnto this day.

¶ But the hand of the Lord was heauy vpon them of Ashdod, and destroyed them, and smote them with emerods, as the Ashdod,
and the coastes thereof.

¶ And when the men of Ashdod sawe this,
they said, Let not the Arke of the God of Israél abide with vs: for his hand is sore
vpon vs and vpon Dagón our god.

¶ They sent therefore and gathered all the princes of the Philistims vnto them, and said, What shal we do with the Arke of the God of Israél? And they answered, Let the Arke of the God of Israél be caried

about vnto Gath: & thei caried the Arke
of the God of Israél about.

¶ And when they had caried it about,
the hand of the Lord was against the ci-tie with a very great destruction, and he smote the men of the citie bothe small
and great, & they had emerods in their secret partes.

¶ Therefore they sent the Arke of God
to Ekrón: and as sone as the Arke of God
came to Ekrón, the Ekronites cryed out, saying, They haue brought the Arke of God of Israél vs to slay vs and our people.

¶ Therefore they sent, and gathered together all the princes of the Philistims and said, Send away the Arke of the God of Israél, and let it returne to his owne place,
that it slay vs not and our people: for there was a destruction & death through out all the citie, & the hād of God was very sore
there.

¶ And the men that dyed not, were smitten with the emerods: and the crye of the ci-
tie went vp to heauen.

looking into the Arke.

¶ So the Arke of the Lord was in the coun-treys of the Philistims seven monethes.

¶ And the Philistims called the Priestes &
the sothsaiers, saying, What shal we do with the Arke of the Lord? tel vs wherewith
we shal send it home againe.

¶ And they said, If you send away the Arke
of God of Israél, send it not away emp-tie, but giue vnto it a sinne offering: then shal ye be healed, and it shalbe knowne to you, why his hand departeth not from

they answered, Five golden emerods and five golden mice, according to the number of Princes of the Philistims: for one plague was on you all, & on your princes.

of your emerods, and the similitudes of your mice that destroye the lād: so ye shal giue glorie vnto the God of Israél, that he may take his hād from you, and from 7 Now therefore make a newe carter, and take two melche kine, on whome there hath come no yoke: & tye the kine to the carter, and bring the calves home from them.

Meaning of goldé emerods and the goldé mice.

8 Then take the Arke of the Lord, and set it vpon the carter, and put the <sup>d</sup> jewells of golde which ye giue it for a sinne offering in a coffer by the side thereof, and send it away, that it may go.

The God of Israél.

9 And take hede, if it go vp by the way of his owne coast to Beth-shémesh; it is <sup>e</sup> he that did vs this great euil: but if not, we shal knowe then, that it is not his hád that smote vs, but it was a <sup>f</sup> chance that happened vs.

The wicked attribute almost all things to fortune and chance, whereas in a deede there is nothing done without Gods providence & decree.

10 And the men did so: for they toke two kine that gaue milke, and tyed them to the carter and shut the calves at home.

11 So they set the Arke of the Lord vpon the carter, and the coffer with the mice of golde, and with the similitudes of their emerods.

For the trial of the matter.

12 And the kine went the streight way to Beth-shémesh; & kept one path and lowed as they went, & turned neither to the right hand nor to the left: also the princes of the Philistims went after <sup>g</sup> the, vnto the borders of Beth shémesh.

13 Now they of Beth-shémesh were reaping their wheat harvest in the valley, & they lift vp their eyes, and spied the Arke, and reioyced when they sawe it.

To wit, the men of Beth-shémesh, who were Israélites.

14 ¶ And the carter came into the felde of Ioshúa a Bethshemite, & stode stil there: there was also a great stone, and <sup>h</sup> they claued the wood of the carter and offered the kine for a burnt offering vnto the Lord.

15 And the Levites toke downe the Arke of the Lord, and the coffer that was with it, wherein the jewells of golde were, & put them on the great stone, and the men of Beth-shémesh offered burnt offering, and sacrificed sacrifices that same day vnto the Lord.

16 And when the five princes of the Philistims had sene it, they returned to Ekrón the same day.

These were the five principall cities of the Philistims which were not all conquered vnto the time of Dauid.

17 ¶ So these are the goldé emerods, which the Philistims gaue for a sinne offering to the Lord: for Ashdod one, for Gazá one, for Askelón one, for Gath one, & for Ekrón one.

On the plaine, or in the open field.

18 And goldé mice, according to the number of all the cities of the Philistims, belonging to the five princes, bothe of walled townes and of townes vnwalled, vnto the great stone of <sup>i</sup> Abel, whereon they set the Arke of the Lord: which stone remaineth vnto this day in the field of Ioshúa the Bethshemite.

19 And he smote of the men of Beth-shémesh, because they <sup>j</sup> had looked in the Arke of the Lord: he slewe euen among the people fiftie thousand men and thre score and ten men, and the people lamented, because the Lord had slaine <sup>k</sup> people with so great a slaughter.

20 Wherefore the men of Beth-shémesh said, Who is able to stand before this holy Lord God? and to whome shal he go from vs?

21 And they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kiriath-earim, saying, The Philistims haue brought againe the Arke of the Lord: come ye downe & take it vp to you.

CHAP. VII.

1 The Arke is brought to Kiriath-earim. 3 Samuél reboreth the people to forsake their sinnes and turne to the Lord. 10 The Philistims fight against Israél & are overcome. 16 Samuél iudgeth Israél.

1 Then the men of <sup>a</sup> Kiriath-earim came, and toke vp the Arke of the Lord, and brought it into the house of Abinadáb in the hill: and they sanctified Eleazar his sonne, to kepe the Arke of the Lord.

2 (For while the Arke abode in Kiriath-earim, the time was long, for it was twentie yeres) and all the house of Israél lamented <sup>b</sup> after the Lord.

4 Then the children of Israél did put away <sup>c</sup> Baalim and Ashtaróth, and serued the Lord onely.

5 And Samuél said, Gather all Israél to Mizpéh, and I wil pray for you vnto the Lord.

6 And they gathered together to Mizpéh, and <sup>d</sup> drew water and powred it out before the Lord, and fasted the same day, & said there, We haue sinned against the Lord. And Samuél iudgeth the children of Israél in Mizpéh.

7 When the Philistims heard that the children of Israél were gathered together to Mizpéh, the princes of the Philistims went vp against Israél: and when the children of Israél heard that, they were afraid of the Philistims.

8 And the children of Israél said to Samuél, Cease not to <sup>e</sup> crie vnto the Lord our God for vs, that he may saue vs out of the hand of the Philistims.

9 Then Samuél toke a sucking lambe, and offered it all together for a burnt offering

vnto the Lord, and the Lord for Israél him.

10 And as Samuél of the Philistims came: but the Lord <sup>f</sup> thundred that day, and feared them: so the raél.

18 WHē Samuël was now become old,
he made his sonnes iudges ouer
Israél.

19 (And the name of his eldest sonne was Ioel, and the name of the seconde Abiáh)
euen iudges in Beer-shéba.

20 And his sonnes walked not in his waies
but turned aside after lucre, & toke re-

21 ¶ Wherefore all the Elders of Israél gathered them together, & came to Samuël
vnto Ramáh,

22 And said vnto him, Beholde, thou art old,
and thy sonnes walke not in thy waies:
* make vs now a King to iudge vs like all nacions.

23 But the thing displeased Samuël, when they said, Giue vs a King to iudge vs: and Samuël prayed vnto the Lord.

24 And the Lord said vnto Samuël, Heare
the voice of the people in all that they shal

say vnto thee: for they haue not cast thee away, but they haue cast me away, that I shulde not reigne ouer them.

25 As thei haue euer done since I broght thé

26 Now therefore hearkē vnto their voyce:
howbeit yet * testifie vnto them & shewe
thé the maner of the King that shal reig-

27 ¶ So Samuël tolde all the wordes of the Lord vnto the people that asked a King
of him.

28 And he said, This shalbe the maner of the King that shal reigne ouer you: he wil
take your sonnes, and appoint them to his charters, and to be his horsmen, and some shal runne before his charet.

29 Also he wil make them his captaines o-
uer thousandes and captaines ouer fifties,
and to eare his grounde, and to reape his
haruest, & to make instruments of warre,
and the things that serue for his charets.

30 He wil also take your daughters and make them apoticaries, and cookies and bakers.

31 And he wil take your fieldes, and your vineyardes, and your best oliue trees, and
giue them to his seruants.

32 And he wil take the tenth of your fede,
and of your vineyardes, and giue it to his Eunuches, and to his seruants.

33 And he wil take your men seruants and your maid seruants, and the chief of your yong men, and your asses, and put them
to his worke.

34 He wil take the tenth of your shepe, and
ye shalbe his seruants.

35 And ye shal crye out at that day, because of your King, whome ye haue chosen
you, and the Lord wil not heare you at that day.

36 But y people wolde not heare the voyce
of Samuël, but did say, Nay, but there
shalbe a King ouer vs.

37 And we also wil be like all other naciōs,
and our King shal iudge vs, & go out before vs, and fight our battels.

38 Therefore when Samuël heard all the wordes of the people, he rehearsed them
in the eares of the Lord.

39 And the Lord said to Samuël, <sup>Hear-</sup>

There was now a man of Beniamín
a mightie in power named Kish the sonne of Abiel, the sonne of Zerór, y sonne of Bechoráth, the sonne of Aphiah, the sonne of a man of Iemini.

And he had a sone called Saúl, a goodly young man and a faire: so that among the children of Israël there was none good-lier then he: from the shulders vpward he was hier then anie of the people.

And the asses of Kish Saules father were lost: therefore Kish said to Saúl his sonne,
Take now one of the seruants with thee,
and arise, go, and seke the asses.

So he passed through mount Ephraím & went through the land of Shalisháh, but they found them not. Then they went through the land of Shalim, and there they were not: he went also through the land of Iemini, but they found them not.

When they came to the land of Zuph, Saúl said vnto his seruant that was with him, Come and let vs returne, lest my father leaue the care of asses, and take thoght
for vs.

And he said vnto him, Beholde now, in this citie is a man of God, and he is an honorable man: all that he saith commeth
to passe: let vs now go thither, if so be that he can shewe vs what way we may go.

Then said Saúl to his seruant, Wel then,
let vs go: but what shal we bring vnto the man? For the bread is spent in our vessels, and there is no present to bring to the mā
of God: what haue we?

And the seruant answered Saúl againe, &
said, Beholde, I haue found about me the fourth parte of a sheke of silver: that wil
I giue the man of God, to tel vs our way.

(Beforetime in Israël when a man went to seke an answer of God, thus he spake, Come, & let vs go to the Seer: for he that is called now a Prophet, was in y olde time
called a Seer.)

The said Saúl to his seruant, Wel said,
come, let vs go: so they went into the ci-
tie where the man of God was.

And as thei were going vp the hie way
to the citie, they founde maydes that came out to drawe water, and said vnto the,
Is there here a Seer?

And they answered them, and said, Yea:
lo, he is before you. make haste now, for he came this day to the citie: for there is an offring of the people this day in the hie
place.

When ye shal come into the citie, ye shal
finde him straight way yer he come vp to the hie place to eat: for the people wil not eat vntill he come, because he wil blesse y
sacrifice: and then eat they that be biddn
to the feast: now therefore go vp: for euē
now shal ye finde him.

Then they went vp into the citie, and when they were come into the middes of the citie, Samuél came out against them
to go vp to the hie place.

But the Lord had reueiled to Samuél secretly (a day before Saúl came) say-
ing,

Tomorowe about this time I wil send thee a man out of the land of Beniamín:
him shalt thou anoint to be gouernour ou-er my people Israël, y he may faue my people out of the hands of the Philistims:
for I haue looked vpon my people, & their
crye is come vnto me.

When Samuél therefore sawe Saúl, the Lord answered him, Se, this is the man
whome I spake to thee of, he shal rule
my people.

Then went Saúl to Samuél in the mid-des of the gate, and said, Tel me, I pray thee, where the Seers house is.

And Samuél answered Saúl, and said, I am the Seer: go vp before me vnto the hie place: for ye shal eat with me to day. and tomorowe I wil let thee go, & wilt tel thee
all that is in thine heart.

And as for thine asses y were lost three dayes ago, care not for them: for they are founde, and on whome is set all the deliuery of Israël: is it not vpon thee and on all thy fathers house?

But Saúl answered, and said, Am not I
the sonne of Iemini of the smallest tribe of Israél? & my familie is the least of all the families of y tribe of Beniamín. Wherefore then speakest thou so to me?

And Samuél toke Saúl and his seruant,
and broght them into the chamber, and made them sit in the chiefest place among them that were bidden: which were about thirtie persones.

And Samuél said vnto the cooke, Bring forthe the portion which I gaue thee, & whereof I said vnto thee, Kepe it with
thee.

And the cooke toke vp the shoulder, &
that w was vpon it, & set it before Saúl.
And Samuél said, Beholde, that which is left, set it before thee & eat: for hitherto hath it bene kept for thee, saying, Also I haue called the people. So Saúl did eat with Samuél that day.

And whē they were come downe from the
hie place into y citie, he communed with Saúl vpon the top of the house:

And whē they arose early about y spring
of y day, Samuél called Saúl to the top of the house, saying, Vp, that I may send thee away. And Saúl arose, and they went

6 Saül is anointed King by Samuël. 9 God changeth Sauls heart and he prophecieith. 17 Samuël assemblith
the people, and sheweth them their finnes. 21 Saül is chofen King by lot. 25 Samuël writeth the Kings of-

Then Samuël toke a vial of a oyle
and powred it vpon his head, & kiffed him, and said, Hathe not the Lord anointed thee to be gouernour ouer his in-

2 When thou shalt departe from me this day, thou shalt finde two men by * Rahels

asses which y wentest to seke, are founde:
& lo, thy father hathe left the care of the asses, and soroweth for you, saying, What shal I do for my sonne?

3 Then shalt thou go forth from thence
and shalt come to the plaine of Tabör,
and there shalt mete thee thre mē going vp
to God to Beth-el: one caryig thre kiddes, & another carying thre loaves of bread,
and another carying a bottle of wine:

4 And thei wil aske thee "if all be wel, and wil giue thee the two loaves of bread, which thou shalt receiue of their hands.

5 After that shalt thou come to the hil
of God, where is the garisons of the Philistims: and when thou art come the-ther to the citie, thou shalt mete a compa-nie of Prophets comming downe from
the hie place with a vial, and a tymbrel,
and a pipe, and an harpe before them, and thei shal prophecie.

6 Then the Spirit of the Lord wil come vpon thee, and thou shalt prophecie with thē, & shalt be turned into another man.

7 Therefore when these signes shal come vnto thee, do as occasion shal serue: for God is with thee.

8 And thou shalt go downe before me to Gilgäl: and I also wil come downe vnto
thee to offer burnt offerings, & to sacrifice
sacrifices of peace. * Tay for me seuen
daies, til I come to thee and shewe thee
what thou shalt do.

9 And whē he had turned his "backe to go from Samuël, God gaue him another heart: & all those tokens came to passe
that same day.

10 And whē thei came thither to the hil,
beholde, the companie of Prophets met him, and the Spirit of God came vpon
him, and he "prophecied among them.

11 Therefore all the people that knewe him
before, when thei sawe that he prophecied
among the Prophets, said echē to other,
What is come vnto the sonne of Kish? "is Saül also among the Prophets?

12 And one of the same place answered, and said, But who is their father? Therefore it was a proueibe, Is Saül also among the Prophets?

13 And when he had made an end of pro-
phceyng, he came to the hie place.

14 And Sauls vnclē said vnto him, and to his seruāt, Whether went ye? And he said,
To seke the asses: and when we saue that
thei were no where, we came to Samuël.

15 And Sauls vnclē said, Tel me, I pray thee, what Samuël said vnto you.

16 Then Saül said to his vnclē, He tolde vs plainly that the asses were founde: but concerning the kingdome whereof Samuël spake, tolde he him nor.

17 And Samuël assembled the people
vnto the Lord in Mizpēh,

18 And he said vnto the children of Israēl,
Thus saith the Lord God of Israēl, I haue broght Israēl out of Egypt, and deli-uered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, & out of the hands of all kingdomes
that troubled you.

19 But ye haue this day cast away your God, who onely deliuereth you out of all your aduersities and tribulations: and ye
said vnto him, No, but appoint a King ouer vs. Now therefore stand ye before the Lord according to your tribes and according to your thousands.

20 And when Samuël had gathered together all the tribes of Israēl, the tribe of Benjamin was taken.

21 Afterwarde he assembled the tribe of Benjamin according to their families, &
the familie of Matri was taken. So Saül the sonne of Kish was taken, and when
thei fought him, he colde not be founde.

22 Therefore thei asked the Lord againe, if that man shulde yet come thither. And the Lord answered, Beholde, he "hathe hid him selfe among the stuffe.

23 And thei ranne, and broght him thence,
and when he stode among the people, he was hier then any of the people from the shoulders vpwarde.

24 And Samuël said to all the people, Se ye
not him, whose the Lord hathe chofen,
that there is none like him among all the people? And all the people showed and said, "Go I saue the King.

25 Then Samuël tolde the people the duetie of the kingdome, and wrote it in a booke, and layed it vp before the Lord, & Samuël sent all the people away euery
man to his house.

26 Saül also went home to Gibeāh, & there followed him a band of men, whose heart
God had touched,

27 But the wicked men said, How shal he saue vs? So thei despised him, and broght him no presentes: but he "held his tōgue.

Then Samuél called vnto the Lord, and the Lord sent thundre and raine the same

Samuél exceedingly.

And all the people said vnto Samuél,
Pray for thy seruants vnto the Lord thy

The Philistims are smitten of Saul & Ionathán. 13 Saul being des beaten to G ds commandment is shewed of Samuél that he shal not reigne. 19 The great slauerie
wherein the Philistims kept the Israelites.

Saul now had bene King a one yere, &
he reigned b two yeres ouer Ihaéi.

Then Saul chof him thre thousand of Israél: & two thousand were with Saul in Michmásh, and in mount Beth él, and a thousand were with Ionathán in Gibeah of Benjamin: and the rest of the people he sent euerie one to his tent.

And Ionathán smote the garison of the Philistims, that was in the hill: and it came to the Philistims eares: and Saul blew
the trumpet throughout all the land,
saying, Heare, o ye Ebrewes.

And all Israél heard say, Saul hath de stroyed a garison of the Philistims: whe refo:e Israél was had in abominaciō with the Philistims: and the people gathered together after Saul to Gilgál.

The Philistims also gathered them sel
ues together to fight with Israél, thirtie
thousand charets and six thousand horse men: so the people was like the sand which is by the seas side in multitude, and came vp, and pitched in Michmásh Eastwarde

And whē the men of Israél sawe that they were in a strait: (for the people were in distres

And some of the Ebrewes went ouer Ior

Saul was yet in Gilgál, and all the people
for feare followed him.

And he taried seuen dayes, according vn
to the time that Samuél had appointed:
but Samuél came not to Gilgál, therefore
the people were s feared from him.

And Saul said, Bring a burnt offering to me and peace offerings: and he offered a burnt offering.

And as soone as he had made an end of offering the burnt offering, beholde, Samuél
came: and Saul went forth to meete him,
to salute him.

And Samuél said, What hast thou done?
Then Saul said, Because I sawe that the

thou camest not within the dayes appoin

selues together to Michmásh,

Therefore said I, The Philistims wil

27 And there came out of the hoste of the Philistims <sup>o</sup> three bádes to destroy, one báde turned vnto the way of Ophráh vnto the land of Shuál,

28 And another bande turned toward the way to Beth-horón, and the <sup>m</sup> thirde báde turned toward the way of the coast that loketh toward the valley of Zeboim, toward the wilderness.

29 Thêre was no smith founde through out all the land of Israël: for the Philistims said, Lest the Ebrewes make them swordes or speares.

20 Wherefore all the Israelites wêt downe to the Philistims, to sharpen cuerie man his share, his mattocke, & his axe and his weding hooke.

21 Yet they had a file for the shares, and for the mattockes, and for the pickeforkes, & for the axes and for to sharpen the goades.

22 So when the day of battel was come, there was nether <sup>n</sup> sworde nor speare founde in the hands of anie of the people that were with Saúl & with Ionathán: but onely with Saúl and Ionathán his sonne was there founde.

23 And the garison of the Philistims came out to the passage of Michmásh.

CHAP. XIII.

24 Ionathán and his armour bearer put the Philistims to flight. 24 Saúl bindeth the people by an othe, not to eat til evening. 32 The people eat with the blood. 38 Saúl would put Ionathán to death. 45 The people deliuer him.

1 Then on a day Ionathán the sonne of Saúl said vnto the yong man that bare his armour, <sup>a</sup> Come and let vs go ouer toward the Philistims garison, that is yonder on the other side, but he tolde not his father.

2 And Saúl taryed in the border of Gibeáh vnder a pomegranate tre, which was in Migrón, and the people that were with him, were about six hundred men.

3 And Abiáh the sonne of Ahitúb, <sup>o</sup> Ichabods brother, the sonne of Phinchás, the sonne of Eli, was the Lords Priest in Shiloh, and ware an Ephód: and the people knewe not that Ionathán was gone.

4 ¶ Now in the way whereby Ionathán sought to go ouer to <sup>y</sup> Philistims garison, there was a <sup>a</sup> sharpe rocke on the one side, and a sharpe rocke on the other side: the name of the one was called Bozéz, & the name of the other Séneh.

5 The one rocke stretched fró the North toward Michmásh, & the other was from the South toward Gibeáh.

6 And Ionathán said to the yong man that bare his armour, Come, and let vs go ouer vnto the garison of these <sup>b</sup> vncircumcised: it may be that the Lord wil worke with vs: for it is <sup>c</sup> not hard to the Lord to saue with manie, or with fewe.

7 And he that bare his armour, said vnto him, do all that is in thine heart: go where it please thee: beholde, <sup>c</sup> I am with thee, as thine heart desireth.

8 Then said Ionathán, Beholde, we go ouer vnto those men, and wil shewe our selues vnto them.

9 ¶ If they say on this wise to vs, Tarie vntil we come to you, then we wil stand still in our place, and not go vp to them.

10 But if they say, Come vp vnto vs, then we wil go vp: for <sup>a</sup> the Lord hathe deliuered them into our hand: and this shal be a signe vnto vs.

11 So they bothe shewed them selues vnto the garison of the Philistims: and the Philistims said, Se, the Ebrewes come out of <sup>c</sup> holes wherein they had hid the selues.

12 And the men of the garison answered Ionathán, & his armour bearer, and said, Come vp to vs: for we wil shewe you a thing. Then Ionathán said vnto his armour bearer, Come vp after me: for the Lord hathe deliuered them into the hand of Israël.

13 So Ionathán went vp vpon <sup>f</sup> his hands and vpon his fete, and his armour bearer after him: and some fel before Ionathán, & his armour bearer slewe others after him.

14 So the first slaughter which Ionathán and his armour bearer made, was about twentie mé within that cōpasse, as it were within halfe an acre of land which two oxen plowe.

15 And there was a feare in the hoste, and in the field, and amög all the people: the garison also, and they that went out to spoile, were afrayed them selues: and the earth trembled: for it was stricken with feare by God.

16 ¶ Thê the watchmen of Saúl in Gibeáh of Beniamín sawe: and beholde, the multitude was discomfited, and smitten: as they went.

17 Therefore said Saúl vnto the people that were with him, is gone from vs. And behold, Ionathán and his armour bearer were not there.

18 And Saúl said vnto the Arke of God (for that time with it)

19 ¶ And while Saúl and the noise, that was in the Philistims, spread farthe: therefore Saúl withdrewe thine.

20 And Saúl was all people that were with him to the battel: & beholde, the sword was against him: it was a very great discomfiture.

21 Moreover <sup>y</sup> Ebrewes Philistims before time them into all parties also turned to be with Saúl and him.

22 Also all the men hid them selues in the field, that they heard, that the Lord had wrought a great thing for Israël.

23 And so the Lord fought the battel against Saúl and the battel continued.

24 ¶ And at that time he pressed with hunger the people with an othe, that they should not eat: be the man <sup>y</sup> eateth.

25 I may be auenged of none of the people that followed after them.

26 And all they of the where hony lay vpon the trees.

27 And the people came, beholde, the hony comoured his had to his people feared the <sup>m</sup> other.

28 But Ionathán heard, and charged the people, before he put forth the sword, was in his had, and deliuered his hand.

29 Then answered one of the people, saying, Thy father made saying, Cursed be the man that eateth of this day: and he was faint.

30 Then said Ionathán, troubled the land: if we are made cleare, becometh this hony.

31 How much more, it to day of the spoile of them they founde: for had greater slaughter among them.

32 ¶ And they smote <sup>y</sup> from Michmásh to Azekah, the people were exceeding faint.

33 So the people turned

as the Lords Priest in Shiloh Ephod: and the people Jonathán was gone.

the way whereby Ionathan came to the Philistims garison, as the rock on the one side, and the rock on the other side: the rock was called Bozéz, and the rock was stretched from the North to the South, and the other was from Gibeah.

And Saul said to the young man that was with him, Come, and let vs go out on these vncircumcised men, that the Lord wil work with them, or with fewe.

And he answered him, as his armour, said vnto him, is in thine heart: go where thou beholdest, I am with thee, as thou seest.

And Jonathán, Beholde, we go down, and wil shewe our selfe.

And he answered him, this wise to vs, Tarie vnto the morning, then we wil stand still, and not go vp to them.

And he answered him, Come vp vnto vs, then we wil shewe our selfe, for the Lord hathe deliuered our hand: and this shal be a testification vnto the Philistims: and the Philistims shal come out of the wood, and shewe their felues.

And he answered him, of the garison answered him, we wil shewe you our armour bearer, and said, we wil shewe you our armour bearer.

And Jonathán said vnto his armour bearer, for the Lord hathe deliuered our hand into the hand of the Lord.

And he answered him, went vp vpon his hands, and shewe our selfe before Jonathán, and shewe others after him.

And he answered him, our daughter which Ionathán made, was about in that copasse, as it were a acre of land, which two

the men of Saul in Gibeah: and beholde, the multitude, and smitten as the

Saul vnto the people: that that were with him, Search now & see, who is gone from vs. And when they had nombred, beholde, Ionathan and his armour bearer were not there.

18 And Saul said vnto Ahiáh, Bring hither the Arke of God (for the Arke of God was at that time with the children of Israel)

19 ¶ And while Saul talked vnto the Priest, the noise, that was in the hoste of the Philistims, spread farther abroad, & encreased: therefore Saul said vnto the Priest, Withdrawe thine hand.

20 And Saul was assembled with all the people that were with him, and they came to the battell: & beholde, euery mans sword was against his fellowe, and there was a very great discomfiture.

21 Moreover the Ebrewes that were with the Philistims before time, & were come with them into all partes of the hoste, euen they also turned to be with the Israelites that were with Saul and Ionathán.

22 Also all the men of Israel which had hid them selues in mount Ephraim when they heard, that the Philistims were fled, they followed after them in the battell.

23 And so the Lord saued Israel that day: and the battell continued vnto Beth-áuen.

24 ¶ And at that time the men of Israel were pressed with hunger: for Saul charged the people with an othe, saying, Cursed be the man that eateth: for he hath deliuered his hand: I may be auenged of mine enemies: so none of the people tasted any sustenance.

25 And all they of the land came to a wood, where hony lay vpon the ground.

26 And the people came into the wood, & beholde, the hony dropped, and no man moued his hand to his mouth: for the people feared the othe.

27 But Ionathán heard not when his father charged the people with the othe: wherefore he put forth the end of the rod that was in his hand, and dipt it in an hony cōbe, and put his hand to his mouth, and his eyes receiued sight.

28 Then answered one of the people, and said, Thy father made the people to sweare, saying, Cursed be the man that eateth sustenance this day: and the people were faint.

29 Then said Ionathán, My father hathe troubled the land: for now how mine eyes are made cleare, because I haue tasted a litle of this hony:

30 How much more, if the people had eate to day of the spoile of their enemies which they founde: for had there not bene now a greater slaughter among the Philistims?

31 ¶ And they smote the Philistims that day, from Michmash to Aialón: and the people were exceeding faint.

32 So the people turned to the spoyle, and

toke sheepe, & oxen, and calues, & slewe them on the ground, and the people did eat the blood.

33 Then men told Saul, saying, Beholde, the people sinne against the Lord, in that they eat with the blood. And he said, Ye haue trespassed: for ye haue a great stone vnto me this day.

34 Again Saul said, Go abroade among the people, & bid them bring me euery man his ox, and euery man his sheepe, and slaye them here, and eate and sinne not against the Lord in eating with the blood. And the people brought euery man his ox in his hand that night, and slewe them there.

35 Then Saul made an altar vnto the Lord, & that was the first altar that he made vnto the Lord.

36 ¶ And Saul said, Let vs go downe after the Philistims by night, and spoyle them vntill the morning shine, and let vs not leaue a man of them. And they said, Do whatsoeuer thou thinkest best. Then said the Priest, Let vs draw nere hither vnto God.

37 So Saul asked of God, saying, Shall I go downe after the Philistims: wilt thou deliuer them into the hands of Israel? But he answered him not at that time.

38 ¶ And Saul said, All ye chief of the people, come ye hither, and knowe, and see by whome this sinne is done this day.

39 For as the Lord liueth, which saueth Israel, though it be done by Ionathán my sonne, he shal dye the death. But none of all the people answered him.

40 Then he said vnto all Israel, Be ye on one side, & I and Ionathán my sonne wil be on the other side. And the people said vnto Saul, Do what thou thinkest best.

41 Then Saul said vnto the Lord God of Israel, Giue a perfect losse. And Ionathán & Saul were taken, but the people escaped.

42 And Saul said, Cast betwene me and Ionathán my sonne. And Ionathán was taken.

43 Then Saul said to Ionathán, Tel me what thou hast done. And Ionathán told him, and said, I tasted a litle hony with the end of the rod, that was in mine hand, & lo, I must dye.

44 Again Saul answered, God do so and more also, vnles thou dye this day, Ionathán.

45 And the people said vnto Saul, Shall Ionathán dye, who hath so mightily deliuered Israel? God forbid. As the Lord liueth there shal not one heere of his head fall to the ground: for he hath wrought wth God this day. So the people deliuered Ionathán that he dyed not.

46 Then Saul came vp from the Philistims: & the Philistims went to their owne place.

47 ¶ So Saul helde the kingdome ouer Israel, and fought against all his enemies on

CHAP. XV.

3 Saul is commanded to slay Amalek. 9 He spareth Agag & the best things. 19 Samuël reproveth him. 28 Saul is reuelled of the Lord, and his kingdom given to another. 33 Samuël beweth Agag in pieces.

1 Afterwarde Samuël said vnto Saul, *The Lord sent me to anoint thee King ouer his people ouer Israel: nowe therefore obey the voyce of the wordes of the Lord.

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I remember what Amalek did to Israel, *how they layed wait for them in the way, as they came vp from Egypt.

3 Nowe therefore go, and smite Amalek; & destroye ye all that pertaineth vnto them, and haue no compassion on them, but slay bothe man and woman, bothe infant and suckeling, bothe oxe, and sheepe, bothe camel, and asse.

4 And Saul assembled the people, and nombred them in Telaim, two hundred thousand footemen, and ten thousand men of Iudah.

5 And Saul came to a citie of Amalek; and set watch at the riuier.

6 And Saul said vnto the Kenites, Go, departe, and get you downe from among the Amalekites, lest I destroy you with them: for ye shewed mercy to all the children of Israel, when they came vp from Egypt: and the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites.

7 So Saul smote the Amalekites from Hailah as thou comest to Shur, that is before Egypt;

8 And toke Agag the King of the Amalekites aliue, and destroyed all the people with the edge of the sword.

9 But Saul and the people spared Agag, & the better sheepe; and the oxen, and the fat beastes, and the lambes, and all that was good, & they wolde not destroye the: but euery thing that was vile & noght worthe, that they destroyed.

10 ¶ The came the worde of the Lord vnto Samuël, saying,

11 It repenteth me that I haue made Saul King: for he is turned from me, & hath not performed my commandments. And Samuël was moued, & cryed vnto the Lord all night.

12 And when Samuël arose early to mete Saul in the morning, one tolde Samuël, saying, Saul is gone to Carmel: and behold, he hath made him there a place, from whence he returned, and departed, and is gone downe to Gilgal.

13 ¶ The Samuël came to Saul, & Saul said vnto him, Blessed be the Lord, I haue fulfilled the commandement of the Lord.

14 But Samuël said, What meaneth then the bleating of the shepe in mine eares, & the lowing of the oxen which I heare?

15 And Saul answered, Thei haue broght thee from the Amalekites: for the people spared the best of the shepe, and of the oxen to sacrifice them vnto the Lord thy God: and the remnant haue we destroyed.

16 Againe Samuël said to Saul, Let me tell thee what the Lord hath said to me this night. And he said vnto him, Say on.

17 Then Samuël said, When thou wast little in thine owne sight, wast thou made the head of the tribes of Israel: for the Lord anointed thee King ouer Israel.

18 And the Lord sent thee on a iourney; said, Go, and destroye those sinners the Amalekites, and fight against them, vntill thou destroye them.

19 Now wherefore hast thou not obeyed the voyce of the Lord, but hast turned to the praye, and hast done wickedly in the sight of the Lord?

20 And Saul said vnto Samuël, Yea, I haue obeyed the voyce of the Lord, & haue gone the way which the Lord sent me, and haue broght Agag the King of Amalek, & haue destroyed the Amalekites.

21 But the people toke of the spoyle, sheepe, & oxen, & the chiefeest of the things which shulde haue bene destroyed, to offer vnto the Lord thy God in Gilgal.

22 And Samuël said, Hathe the Lord as great pleasure in burnt offerings & sacrifices, as when the voyce of the Lord is obeyed? behold, *to obey is better then sacrifice, and to hearken is better then the fat of rammes.

23 For rebellion is as the sinne of witchcraft, and transgression is wickednes & idolatrie. Because thou hast cast away the worde of the Lord, therefore he hath cast away thee from being King.

24 Then Saul said vnto Samuël, I haue sinned: for I haue transgressed the commandment of the Lord, & I feared the people.

25 Now therefore, I pray thee, pitty my sinne, and turne away from me, that I may worship the Lord.

26 But Samuël said, Thou shalt not turne with thee: for the worde of the Lord hath said, I will cast away thee, that thou shalt ouer Israel.

27 And as Samuël turned away, he caught by the beard of Saul, & said, Thou shalt not be my king: for thou hast rejected the word of the Lord.

28 Then Samuël said, I haue rent the kingdome from thee this day, & haue giuen it to thy neighbour, that is to David.

I feared the people, & obeyed their voyce.

Now therefore, I pray thee, take away my sinne, and turne againe with me, that I may worship the Lord.

But Samuél said vnto Saúl, I wil not returne with thee: for thou hast cast awaye
the worde of the Lord, & the Lord hathe cast away thee, that thou shalt not be King
ouer Israël.

And as Samuél turned him selfe to go away, he caught y lap of his coat, & it rét.

Then Samuél said vnto him, The Lord hathe rent the kingdom of Israël from thee this day, & haue giuen it to thy neighbour, that is better then thou.

For in dede the strength of Israël wil
not lie nor repent: for he is not a man that he shulde repent.

Then he said, I haue sinned: but honour
me, I pray thee, before the Elders of my people, & before Israël, & turne againe w
me, that I may worship the Lord thy God.

So Samuél turned againe, and followed
Saúl, and Saúl worshipped the Lord.

Thé said Samuél. Bring ye hither to me
Agag y King of the Amalekites: & Agag
came vnto him p'leasantly, and Agag said,
Truely the bitterness of death is passed.

And Samuél said, As thy sword haue
made women childles, so shal thy mother
be childles among other womē. And Sa-muél hewed Agag in pieces before the Lord in Gilgál.

So Samuél departed to Ramáh, and Saúl went vp to his house to Gibeáh of Saúl.

And Samuél came nomore to se Saúl
vntil y day of his death: but Samuél mourned for Saúl, and the Lord a repented that he made Saúl King ouer Israël.

CHAP. XVI.

Samuél is reproofed of God, & is sent to anoint Dauid.
7 God regardeth the heart. 13 The Spirit of the Lord commeth vpon Dauid. 14. The wicked spirit is sent vpon Saul. 19 Saul sendeth for Dauid.

The Lord said vnto Samuél, How long wilt y mourne for Saúl, a seing
I haue cast him away from reigning ouer
Israël: fil thine home with oyle and come,
I wil send thee to Ishaí the Bethlehemit:
for I haue prouided me a King among his sonnes.

And Samuél said, How can I go? for if Saúl shal heare it, he wil kil me. Then the Lord answered, Take an heifer w thee, &
say, I am come to do sacrifice to y Lord.

And call Ishaí to the sacrifice, and I wil
shewe thee what y shalt do, & y shalt anoint vnto me him whome I name vnto thee.

So Samuél did y the Lord bade him, & came to Beth-lehem, and the Elders of the

towne were astonished at his comming, &
said, Commeth thou peaceably?

And he answered, Yea: I am come to do sacrifice vnto the Lord: sanctifie your sel-ues, & come with me to the sacrifice. And he sanctified Ishaí and his sonnes, and called them to the sacrifice.

And when they were come, he looked on Eliáb, and said, Surely the Lords Anointed is before him.

But the Lord said vnto Samuél, Loke not on his countenance, nor on the height of his stature, because I haue refused him: for God seeth not as man seeth: for man loketh
on the outward appearance, but the Lord
beholdeth the heart.

Then Ishaí called Abinadab, & made hi come before Samuél. And he said, Nether hathe the Lord chosen this.

Thé Ishaí made Shamáh come. And he said, Nether yet hathe y Lord chosen bi.

Againe Ishaí made his seuen sonnes to come before Samuél: & Samuél said vnto Ishaí, Thé Lord hath chose none of these.

Finally Samuél said vnto Ishaí, Are there no more children but these? And he said, There remaineth yet a little one be-hinde, y kepeth the shepe. Then Samuél said vnto Ishaí, Send and fet him: for we wil not sit downe; til he be come hither.

And he sent, and broght him in: and he was ruddie, and of a good countenance, & comelie visage. And y Lord said, Arise, &
anoint him: for this is he.

Then Samuél toke the horne of oyle, &
anointed him in the middes of his brethren. And the Spirit of the Lord came vpon Dauid, from that day forward: the Samuél rose vp, and went to Ramáh.

But the Spirit of the Lord departed from Saúl, and an euil spirit sent of the Lord vexed him.

And Sauls seruants said vnto hi, Beholde
now, y euil spirit of God vexeth thee.

Saúl then said vnto his seruants, Prouide

CHAP. XVII.

The Philistims make warre against Israël. 10 Goliath defieth Israël. 17 David is sent to his brethren. 34 The strength and boldnes of David. 47 The Lord saueh not by sword nor speare. 50 David killeth Goliath and the Philistims flee.

Now the Philistims gathered their armies to battel, and came together to Shochóh, which is in Iudáh, & pitched betwene Shochóh and Azkáh, in the coast of Dammím.
 2 And Saül, and the men of Israël assembled, and pitched in the valley of Elah, & put them selues in battel array to meete the Philistims.

3 And the Philistims stode on a mountaine on the one side, and Israël stode on a mountaine on the other side: so a valley was betwene them.

4 ¶ Then came a mā betwene them: bothe out of the tentes of the Philistims, named Goliath of Gath: his height was six cubits and an hand breadth,

5 And had an helmet of brasse vpō his head, and a brigandine vpon him: and the weight of his brigandine was fīue thousand shekels of brasse.

6 And he had bootes of brasse vpō his legges, & a shilde of brasse vpō his shoulders.

7 And the fraste of his speare was like a weauers beam: and his speare head weyed six hundred shekels of yron: and one bearing a shilde went before him.

8 And he stode, and cryed against the hoste of Israël, and said vnto them, Why are ye come to set your battel in array? am not I a Philistim, and you seruāts to Saül: chose you a mā for you, & let him come downe to me.

9 If he be able to fight with me, and kill me, then wil we be your seruāts: but if I ouercome him, and kill him, then shal ye be our seruāts, and serue vs.

10 Also the Philistim said, I defie the hoste of Israël this day: giue me a man, that we may fight together.

11 When Saül and all Israël heard those wordes of the Philistim, they were discouraged, and greatly afrayed.

12 ¶ Now this David was the sonne of an Ephraimite of Beth-lehem Iudáh, named

Ishai, which had eight sonnes: and this was taken for an olde man in the dayes of Saül.

13 And the thre eldest sonnes of Ishai went and followed Saül to the battel: and the names of his thre sonnes that went to battel, were Eliab the eldest, & the next Abinadab, and the third Shammah.

14 So David was the least: and the thre eldest went after Saül.

15 David also went, but he returned from Saül to fede his fathers shepe in Beth-lehem.

16 And the Philistim drewe nere in the morning, and euening, and continued founte dayes.

17 And Ishai said vnto David his sonne, Take now for thy brethren an Ephā of this parched corne, and these ten cakes, and runne to the hoste to thy brethren.

18 Also cary these ten fresh cheeses vnto the capitaine, and loke how thy brethren fare, and receiue their pledge.

19 (Then Saül and they, and all the men of Israël were in the valley of Elah, fighting with the Philistims)

20 ¶ So David rose vp early in the morning, and left the shepe with a keeper, and toke and went as Ishai had commanded him: and came within the compasse of the hoste, & the hoste went out in array, and stood in the battel.

21 For Israël and the Philistims had put them selues in array, armie against armie.

22 And David left the things, which were bare, vnder the hands of the keeper of the baggage, and ran into the hoste, & came, and asked his brethren how they did.

23 And as he talked with them, beholde a man that was betwene the two armies, came vp, (whose name was Goliath the Philistim of Gath) out of the armie of the Philistims, and spake these wordes, & David heard them.

24 And all the men of Israël, when they sawe the man, ran away from him, & were sore afrayed.

25 For every man of Israël said, Sawe ye not this man that cometh vpeuen to reuile Israël: he come vp: and to him that killeth him, wil the King giue great riches, and wil giue him his daughter, yea, and make his fathers house a free in Israël.

26 ¶ Then David spake to the men that stode with him, and said, What shal be done to the man that killeth this Philistim, and taketh away the shame from Israël: for who is this vncircumcised Philistim, that he shulde reuile the hoste of the Lord?

done? Is there not a cause?

30 And he departed from him into the presence of another, and spake of the same maner, and the people answered him according to the former wordes.

31 ¶ And thei that heard the wordes which Dauid spake, rehearsed them before Saul,
which caused him to be brought.

32 So Dauid said to Saul, Let not mā's heart
faile him, because of him: thy seruant wil
go, and fight with this Philistim.

33 And Saul said to Dauid, Thou art not able to go against this Philistim to fight with him: for thou art a boye, and he is a man of warre from his youth.

34 And Dauid answered vnto Saul, Thy seruant kept his fathers shepe, and there came a lyon and likewise a beare, and
toke a shepe out of the flocke,

35 And I went out after him & smote him, & toke it out of his mouth: and when he arose against me, I caught him by the beards, and smote him, and slewe him.

36 So thy seruant slewe bothe the lyon, and
the beare: therefore this vncircumcised Philistim shalbe as one of them, seeing he hath railed on y<sup>e</sup> hoste of the liuing God.

37 ¶ Moreouer Dauid said, The Lord that deliuered me out of the pawe of the lyon,
and out of the pawe of the beare, he wil
deliuer me out of the hand of this Philis-
tim. Then Saul said vnto Dauid, Go,
and the Lord be with thee.

38 And Saul put his rayment vpon Dauid,
and put an helmet of brasse vpon his head,
and put a brigandine vpon him.

39 Thei girded Dauid his sworde vpon his rayment, and began to go: for he neuer proued it: and Dauid said vnto Saul, I can not go with these: for I am not accustomed wherefore Dauid put them of him.

40 Then toke he his staffe in his hand,
and chose him five smother stones out of a brooke, and put them in his shepherdes
bag or skrippe, & his sling was in his hand,
and he drew nere to the Philistim.

41 ¶ And the Philistim came & drew nere vnto Dauid, and the man that bare the shield went before him.

42 Now when the Philistim looked about and sawe Dauid, he despised him: for he was but yong, ruddy & of a comely face.

43 And the Philistim said vnto Dauid, Am

I a dog, that thou comest to me with stones? And the Philistim cursed Dauid
by his gods.

44 And y<sup>e</sup> Philistim said to Dauid, Come to me, and I wil giue thy flesh vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the field.

45 ¶ The said Dauid to y<sup>e</sup> Philistim, Thou comest to me with a sworde, and with a speare, and with a shield, but I come to thee in the Name of the Lord of hostes,
the God of the hoste of Israel, whome
thou hast railed vpon.

46 This day shal the Lord close thee in mine hand, and I shal smite thee, and take thine head from thee, and I wil giue the carcasses of the hoste of the Philistims
this day vnto the foules of the heauen, &
to the beastes of the earth: y<sup>e</sup> all the worlde
may knowe that Israel hath a God,

47 And that all this assemblie may knowe,
that the Lord saeth not with sworde nor
with speare (for the battel is the Lords) &
he wil giue you into our hands.

48 And when the Philistim arose to come and drawe nere vnto Dauid, Dauid hast-ned & ran to fight against the Philistim.

49 And Dauid put his hand in his bag, and toke out a stone, & slang it and smote the Philistim in his forehead, that the stone
sticked in his forehead, and he fel grouel-
ling to the earth.

50 So Dauid ouercame the Philistim with a sling and with a stone, & smote the Philistim, & slewe him, when Dauid had no sworde in his hand.

51 Then Dauid ran, and stode vpon the Philistim, and toke his sworde & drew it out of his sheath, and slewe him, & cut
of his head therewith. So whē the Philistims sawe, that their champion was dead, they fled.

52 And the men of Israel and Iudah arose,
and showed, and followed after the Philistims, vntil thei came to the valley, and vnto the gates of Ekron: and the Philistims fel downe wounded by the way of Shaaraim, euen to Gath and to Ekron.

53 And the children of Israel remained pursuing the Philistims, and spoiled their tents.

54 And Dauid toke the head of the Philistim, and brought it to Ierusalem, and put his armour in his tent.

55 ¶ When Saul sawe Dauid go for the
against the Philistim, he said vnto Abner
the captaine of his hoste, Abner, whose sonne is this yong man? and Abner answered,

CHAP. XVIII.

The amitie of Ionathan and Dauid. 1. Saúl enuieeth Dauid for the praise that the womē gaue him. 11 Saúl wolde haue slayne Dauid. 17 He promisseth him Michal to wife, but giueth him Michal. 27 Dauid deliuereth to Saúl two hundred foreskinnes of the Philistims. 29 Saúl feareth Dauid, seeing that the Lord is with him.

His affection was fully bent toward him.

1 And when he had made an end of speaking vnto Saúl, the soule of Ionathan was knit with the soule of Dauid, and Ionathan loued him, as his owne soule.

2 And Saúl toke him that day, and wolde not let him returne to his fathers house.

3 Then Ionathan and Dauid made a covenant: for he loued him as his owne soule.

4 And Ionathan put of the robe that was vpon him, and gaue it Dauid, and his garments, euen to his sworde, & to his bowe, and to his girdle.

That is, he prospered in all his doings.

5 And Dauid went out whether soeuer Saúl sent him, & behaued him selfe wisely: so that Saúl set him ouer the me of warre, and he was accepted in the sight of all the people, and also in the sight of Sauls seruants.

He to wit, Goliath.

6 ¶ When thei came againe, and Dauid returned from the slaughter of the Philistim, the women came out of all cities of Israël, singing and dancing to mete King Saúl, with timbrels, with instruments of ioye, and with rebeckes.

For as a certified playe. Chap. 21. vs. 29. f. eccles. 47. 7.

7 And the women sang by cours in their playe, & said, Saúl hateth Dauid, because he hath slayned his thousand, and Dauid his ten thousand.

8 Therefore Saúl was exceeding wrath, and the saying displeased him, & he said, Thei haue ascribed vnto Dauid tenthousand, & to me thei haue ascribed but a thousand, & what can he haue more saue the kigdome?

Because he bare him euill & hatred.

9 Wherefore Saúl had an eye on Dauid from that day forward.

10 ¶ And on the morowe, the euil spirit of God came vpon Saúl, & he prophesied in the middes of the house: and Dauid played with his hand like as at other times, and there was a speare in Sauls hand.

That is, speake as a man beside him selfe for so the people abused this worde, when thei tolde not vnderstand.

12 And Saúl was afraied of Dauid, because the Lord was with him, and was departed from Saúl.

Meaning, he was captaine ouer y people.

13 Therefore Saúl put him from him, and made him a captaine ouer a thousand, and he went out and in before the people.

14 And Dauid behaued him selfe wisely in all his waies: for the Lord was with him.

15 Wherefore when Saúl sawe that he was very wise, he was afraied of him.

16 For all Israël and Iudáh loued Dauid, because he went out and in before them.

17 ¶ The Saúl said to Dauid, Beholde mine eldest daughter Merab, her I will giue thee to wife: onely be a valiant sonne vnto me, and fight the Lords battels: for Saúl thought, Mine hand shal not be vpon him, but the hand of the Philistims shal be vpon him.

18 And Dauid answered Saúl, What am I, and what is my life, or the familie of my father in Israël, that I shulde be sonne in lawe to the King?

19 Howbeit when Merab Sauls daughter shulde haue bene giue to Dauid, she was giue vnto Adriel a Meholahite to wife.

20 ¶ Then Michal Sauls daughter loued Dauid: and thei shewed Saúl, & the thing pleased him.

21 Therefore Saúl said, I wil giue him her, that she may be a snare to him, and that the had of the Philistims may be against hi. Wherefore Saúl said to Dauid, Thou shalt this day be my sonne in lawe in the one of the twaine.

22 And Saúl comanded his seruants, Speake with Dauid secretly, and say, Beholde, the King hathe a fauour to thee, and all his seruants loue thee: be now therefore the Kings sonne in lawe.

23 And Sauls seruants spake these wordes in the eares of Dauid. And Dauid said, Semeth it to you a light thing to be the Kings sonne in lawe, seeing that I am a poore man and of small reputation?

24 And then Sauls seruants broght him worde againe, saying, Sache wordes spake Dauid.

25 And Saúl said, This wife shal ye say to Dauid, The King desireth no dowrie, but an hundred foreskinnes of the Philistims, to be auenged of the Kings enemies: for Saúl thought to make Dauid fall into the hands of the Philistims.

26 And when his seruants tolde Dauid these wordes, it pleased Dauid wel, to be the Kings sonne in lawe: and the daies were not expired.

27 Afterwarde Dauid arose with his men, and went and slewe of the Philistims two hundred men: and Dauid broght their foreskinnes, and thei gaue them wholly to the King that he might be the Kings sonne in lawe: therefore Saúl gaue him Michal his daughter to wife.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Jonathán declareth to Dauid the wicked purpose of Saúl. 11 Michal his wife saueth him. 18 Dauid cometh to Samuél. 23 The Spirit of prophecie commeth on Saúl.

1 Then Saúl spake to Jonathán his sonne, and to all his seruants, that they shulde kill Dauid: but Jonathán Sauls
sonne had a great fauour to Dauid.

2 And Jonathán tolde Dauid, saying, Saúl
my father goeth about to slaye thee: now therefore, I pray thee, take hede vnto thy selfe vnto the morning, and abide in a secrete place, and hide thy selfe.

3 And I wil go out, and stand by my father
in the field where thou art, and wil commune with my father of thee, and I wil se
what he saith and wil tel thee.

4 ¶ And Jonathán spake good of Dauid
vnto Saúl his father, and said vnto him,
Let not the King sinne against his seruant, against Dauid: for he hath not sinned against thee, but his workes haue bene to thee very good.

For he did put his life in danger, and slew the Philistin, and the Lord wrought
a great saluation for all Israel: thou sawest
it, and thou reioysist: wherefore then wilt thou sinne against innocent blood, &
slaye Dauid without a cause?

6 Then Saúl hearkened vnto the voyce of Jonathán, and Saúl sware, As the Lord
liueth, he shal not dye.

So Jonathán called Dauid, and Ionathán shewed him all those wordes, & Ionathán brought Dauid to Saúl, and he was in his presence as in times past.

8 ¶ Again the warre began, and Dauid wot out and fought with the Philistims, and slew them with a great slaughter, & they fled from him.

9 ¶ And the euil Spirit of the Lord was vpon Saúl, as he sate in his house hauing his speare in his hand, and Dauid played with his hand.

10 And Saúl entended to smite Dauid to the wall with the speare: but he turned aside out of Sauls presence, and he smote
the speare against the wall: but Dauid fled,
and escaped the same night.

11 Saúl also sent messengers vnto Dauids house, to watche him, and to slaye him in the morning: & Michal Dauids wife tolde
it him, saying, If thou saue not thy selfe
this night, tomorrow thou shalt be slaine.

12 So Michal let Dauid downe through a windowe: and he went, and fled, and escaped.

13 Then Michal toke an image and layed
it in the bed, and put a pillowe stuffed with goates heere vnder the head of it, and co-
uered it with a cloth.

14 And when Saúl sent messengers to take
Dauid, she said, He is sicke.

15 And Saúl sent the messengers againe to se Dauid, saying, Bring him to me in the bed, that I may slaye him.

16 And when the messengers were come in beholde, an image was in the bed, with a pillowe of goates heere vnder the head
of it.

17 And Saúl said vnto Michal, Why hast thou mocked me so, and sent away mine enemy, that he is escaped? And Michal answered Saúl, He said vnto me, Let me go,
or els I wil kil thee.

18 ¶ So Dauid fled, and escaped, and came to Samuél to Ramáh, and tolde him all that Saúl had done to him: and he and Sa-muél went an dwelt in a Naióth.

19 But one tolde Saúl, saying, Beholde, Da-
uid was at Naióth in Ramáh.

20 And Saúl sent messengers to take Da-uid: and when they sawe a companie of Prophets prophecying, and Samuél standing as appointed ouer them, the Spirit of God fel vpon the messengers of Saúl, and they also prophecied.

21 And whē it was tolde Saúl, he sent other messengers, and they prophecied likewise:
againe Saúl sent the third messengers, and they prophecied also.

22 Then went he him selfe to Ramáh, and came to a great wel that is in Sechú, and he asked, and said, Where are Samuél and Dauid? and one said, Beholde, they be at Naióth in Ramáh.

23 And he went thither, vnto Naióth in Ramáh, and the Spirit of God came vpon him also, and he went prophecying
vntil he came to Naióth in Ramáh.

24 And he stript of his clothes, and he prophecied also before Samuél, and fel downe naked all that day and all that night: therefore they say, ¶ Is Saúl also among the Prophets?

nothing great nor small, but he wil shew it me: and why shulde my father hide this thing from me? he wil not do it.

3 And David sware againe and said, Thy father knoweth that I haue founde grace in thine eyes: therefore he thinketh, Ionathán shal not knowe it, lest he be fory: but in dede, as the Lord liueth, and as thy soule liueth, there is but a steppe betwene me and death.

I am in great danger of death.

Mr. sayeth.

4 Then said Ionathán vnto Dauid, Whatsoever thy soule requireth, that I wil do vnto thee.

He what is it that he shulde be a solent sacrifice, Nób. 28. 11. to the w they added peace offerings and feasts.

5 And Dauid said vnto Ionathán, Beholde, tomorrow is the first day of the moneth, and I shulde sit with the King at meat; but let me go, that I may hide my selfe in the fields vnto the third day at euen.

Read Chap. 21.

6 If thy father make mention of me, then say, Dauid asked leaue of me, y he might go to Beth-léhé to his owne citie: for there is a yereley sacrifice for all that familie.

7 And if he say thus, It is wel, thy seruant shal haue peace: but if he be angry, be sure that wickednes is concluded of him.

Chap. 12. 3. & 23. 16.

8 So shalt thou shewe mercy vnto thy seruant: * for thou hast ioyned thy seruant into a covenant of the Lord with thee, & if there be in me iniquitie, slaye thou me: for why shuldest thou bring me to thy father?

e That he were fully determined. f If thy father do fauour me.

9 ¶ And Ionathán answered, God kepe y from thee: for if I knewe that wickednes were concluded of my father to come vpon thee, wolde not I tel it thee?

10 Thē said Dauid to Ionathán, Who shal tel me? how shal I knowe, if thy father answer thee cruelly?

11 And Ionathán said to Dauid, Come and let vs go out into the field: and they twaine went out into the field.

12 Then Ionathán said to Dauid, O Lord God of Israël, when I haue groped my fathers minde tomorrow at this time, or with in this thre dayes, & if it be wel with Dauid, and I then send not vnto thee, and shewe it thee,

The Lord punish me moe grievously.

13 The Lord do so & muche more vnto Ionathán: but if my father haue minde to do thee euil, I wil shewe thee also, & send thee away, that thou mayest go in peace: and the Lord be with thee as he hath bene with my father.

14 Likewise I require not whiles I liue: for I doubt not but thou wilt shewe me the mercy of the Lord, that I dye not.

h I knowe y if thou werest now preferred to y kyngdome, thou woldest not destroy me, but shewe thy selfe friendly to my posteritie.

15 But I require that thou cut not of thy mercie from mine house for euer: no, not whē the Lord hath destroyed the enemies of Dauid, euerie one from the earth.

16 So Ionathán made a bonde with the house of Dauid, saying, Let the Lord require it at the hands of Dauids enemies.

17 And againe Ionathán sware vnto Dauid, because he loued him (for he loued him as his owne soule)

18 Thē said Ionathán to him, Tomorrow is y first day of the moneth: and thou shalt be looked for, for thy place shal be empty.

19 Therefore thou shalt hide thy selfe thre dayes, then thou shalt go downe quickly and come to the place where thou diddest hide thy selfe, when this matter was in hand, & shalt remaine by the stone.

20 And I wil shoote thre arrowes on the side thereof, as thogh I shot at a mark.

21 And after I wil send a boy, saying, Go, seke the arrowes. If I say vnto the boy, Se y arrowes are on this side thee, bring them, and come thou: for it is wel with thee, and no hurt, as the Lord liueth.

22 But if I say thus vnto the boy, Beholde, the arrowes are beyonde thee, go thy way: for the Lord hath sent thee away.

23 As touching the thing which thou and I haue spoken of, beholde, the Lord be betweene thee and me for euer.

24 ¶ So Dauid hid him selfe in the field: & when the first day of the moneth came, the King sate to eat meat.

25 And the King sate, as at other times vpon his seat, euen vpon his seat by the wall: & Ionathán arose, and Abner sate by Saúls side, but Dauids place was empty.

26 And Saúl said nothing that day: for he thought, Something hath befallen him, thogh he were cleane, or els because he was not purified.

27 But on the morowe which was the second day of the moneth, Dauids place was emptye againe: and Saúl said vnto Ionathán his sonne, Wherefore commeth not the sonne of Ishái to meate, nether yesterday nor to day?

28 And Ionathán answered vnto Saúl, Dauid required of me, that he might go to Beth-léhém.

29 For he said, Let me go, I pray thee: for our familie offreth a sacrifice in the citie, and my brother hath sent for me: therefore now if I haue found fauour in thine eyes, let me go, I pray thee, & se my brethre: this is the cause that he cometh not vnto the Kings table.

30 Then was Saúl angry with Ionathán, & said vnto him, Thou sonne of the wicked rebellious woman, do not I knowe, that thou hast chosen the sonne of Ishái to thy confusion and to the confusion and shame of thy mother?

31 For as long as the sonne of Ishái liueth vpon the earth, thou shalt not be stablished, nor thy kingdom: wherefore now send and fet him vnto me, for he shall surely dye.

32 And Ionathán answered vnto Saúl his father,

Work were great by this, for one with and to shewe cause why.

He shew was a day, it was a day, yon.

By these words he had said what he thought to do.

He shew was a day, it was a day, yon.

And Saul cast a spear at him to hit him, whereby Ionathán knewe, that it was determined of his father to slaye Dauid.

So Ionathán arose from the table in a great angre, and did eat no meat the second day of the moneth: for he was sory for Dauid, and because his father had reui

led him.

On the next morning therefore Ionathán went out into the field, & at the time appointed with Dauid, and a little boy with him.

And he said vnto his boy, Runne now, seeke the arrowes which I shoute, & as the boy ran, he shot an arrowe beyonde him.

And when the boy was come to the place where the arrowe was that Ionathán had shot, Ionathán cryed after the boy, & said, Is not the arrowe beyonde thee?

And Ionathán cryed after the boy, Make speede, haste and stand not still: and Ionatháns boy gathered vp the arrowes, and came to his master.

But the boy knewe nothing: onely Ionathán and Dauid knewe the matter.

Then Ionathán gaue his bowe and arrowes vnto the boy that was with him, & said vnto him, Go, carie them into the citie.

As soon as the boy was gone, Dauid arose out of a place that was towards the South, and fel on his face to the ground, and bowed him selfe thre times: and they kyssed one another, and wept bothe twaine, til Dauid exceeded.

Therefore Ionathán said to Dauid, Go in peace: that which we haue sworn bothe of vs in the Name of the Lord, saying, The Lord be betwene me & thee, and betwene my seede and betwene thy seede, let it stand for euer.

And he arose and departed, and Ionathán went into the citie.

CHAP. XXI.

Dauid fleeth to Nob to Ahimélech the Priest. He getteth of him the shewbread to satisfie his hunger. 7 Doeg Sauls seruante was present. 10 Dauid fleeth to King Achish. 13 And there saith him selfe mad.

Then came Dauid to a Nob, to Ahimélech the Priest, and Ahimélech was astonied at the meeting of Dauid, and said vnto him, Why art thou alone, and no mā with thee?

And Dauid said to Ahimélech the Priest, The King hathe commanded me a certeine thing, and hathe said vnto me, Let no man knowe whereabout I send thee, & what I haue commanded thee, and I haue appointed my seruants to such and such places.

Now therefore if thou hast ought vnder thine hand, giue me five cakes of bread, or what commeth to hand.

And the Priest answered Dauid, & said, There is no commune bread vnder mine hand, but here is halowed bread, if yong men haue kept them felues, at least from women.

Dauid then answered the Priest, and said vnto him, Certeinly women haue bene separate fro vs these two or thre dayes since I came out: and the vessels of yong men were holy, though the way were prophane, & how muche more then shal euery one be sanctified this day in the vessels?

So the Priest gaue him halowed bread: for there was no bread there, saue the shewbread that was take from before the Lord, to put hote bread there, the day that it was taken away.

(And there was the same day one of the seruants of Saul abiding before the Lord, named Doeg the Edomite, the chiefest of Sauls herdemen)

And Dauid said vnto Ahimélech, Is there not here vnder thine hand a speare, or a sword? for I haue nether broght my sword nor mine haues with me, because the Kings busines required haste.

And y Priest said, The sword of Goliath the Philistim, whome thou slewest in the valley of Eláh, beholde, it is wrapt in a clothe behinde the Ephód: if thou wilt take that to thee, take it: for there is none other saue that here, & Dauid said, There is none to that, giue it me.

And Dauid arose & fled the same day from the presence of Saul, & went to Achish the King of Gath.

And the seruants of Achish said vnto him, Is not this Dauid the King of the land? did they not sing vnto him in dances, saying, Saul hathe slaine his thousand, & Dauid his ten thousand?

And Dauid considered these wordes, & was sore afraid of Achish the King of Gath.

And he chaged his behaiour before the, and fained him selfe mad in their hands, & scrabled on the dores of the gate, & let his spetle fall downe vpon his beard.

Then said Achish vnto his seruants, Lo, ye se the mā is beside him selfe, wherefore haue ye broght him to me?

4 Then Dauid asked counsel of the Lord again. And the Lord answered him, and said, Arise, go downe to Keilah: for I wil
deliuer the Philistims into thine hand:

5 So Dauid and his men went to Keilah,
and fought with the Philistims, and broght
away theyr cattel, and smote them with a great slaughter: thus Dauid saued the in habitants of Keilah:

6 (And when Abiathar the sonne of Ahime
lech fled to Dauid to Keilah, he broght
an Ephod with him)

7 And it was tolde Saul that Dauid was come to Keilah, and Saul said, God hath deliuered him into mine hand: for he is shut in, seeing he is come into a citie that hath gates and barres.

8 The Saul called all the people together to warre, for to go downe to Keilah, and to besiege Dauid and his men.

9 And Dauid hauing knowlege that Saul imagined mischief against him, said to Abiathar the Priest, Bring the Ephod.

10 Then said Dauid, O Lord God of Is rael, thy seruant hath heard, that Saul is about to come to Keilah to destroy the ci
tie for my sake.

11 Wil the lords of Keilah deliuer me
vp into his hand: and wil Saul come downe,
as thy seruant hath heard? O Lord God
of Israel, I beseeche thee, tel thy seruant.
And the Lord said, He wil come downe.

12 The said Dauid, Wil the lords of Kei
lah deliuer me vp and the men that are with me, into the hand of Saul? And the Lord said, They wil deliuer thee vp.

13 Then Dauid and his men, which were about six hundred, arose, and departed out of Keilah, and went whither they colde.
And it was tolde Saul, that Dauid was fled
from Keilah, and he left of his journey.

14 And Dauid abode in the wilderness in holdes, and remained in a mountaine in the wilderness of Ziph. And Saul fought him euerie day, but God deliuered him
not into his hand.

15 And Dauid sawe that Saul was come out for to seke his life: & Dauid was in the wil
dernes of Ziph in the wood.

16 And Ionathan Sauls sonne arose and went to Dauid into the wood, and comfort
ed him in God,

17 And said vnto him, Feare not: for the
had of Saul my father shal not finde thee,
and thou shalt be King ouer Israel: and I shal be next vnto thee: and also Saul my father knoweth it.

18 So they twaine made a couenant before the Lord: and Dauid did remaine in the wood: but Ionathan went to his house.

19 Then came vp the Ziphims to Saul to Gibeath, saying, Doeth not Dauid hide him

selfe by vs in holdes in the wood in the hil of Hachilah, which is on the right side of Ieshimon?

20 Now therefore O King, come downe ac cording to all that thine heart can desire,
& our parte shalbe to deliuer him into the Kings hands.

21 Then Saul said, Be ye blessed of the Lord: for ye haue had compassion on
me.

22 Go, I pray you, and prepare yet better
knowe and se his place where he hatheth,
and who hath se him there: for it is said to me, He is subtil, and crafty.

23 So therefore, and knowe all the secret
places where he hideth him selfe, & come ye againe to me with the certentie, and I wil go with you: and if he be in the land,
I wil searche him out throughout all the thousands of Iudah.

24 The they arose and went to Ziph before Saul, but Dauid and his men were in the wildernes of Maon, in the plaine on the right hand of Ieshimon.

25 Saul also and his men went to seke him,
and they tolde Dauid: wherefore he came
downe vnto a rocke, and abode in the wil dernes of Maon. And when Saul heard that, he followed after Dauid in y wilder nes of Maon.

26 And Saul and his men went on the one side of the mountaine, and Dauid and his men on the other side of the mountaine:
and Dauid made haste to get from the presence of Saul: for Saul and his men co passed Dauid & his men round about, to take them.

27 But there came a messenger to Saul, saying, Haste thee, and come: for the Phi
listims haue invaded the land.

28 Wherefore Saul returned from pur suing Dauid, and went against the Phi listims. Therefore they called that place, Sela-hammahlekoth.

Dauid is in the wilderness of Engedi.

3 Then Saul toke thre thousand chosen men out of all Israel, and went to seke Da uid and his men vpon the rockes among the wilde goates.

4 And he came to the shepecoates by the way where there was a cave and Saul wet
in to do his easement: and Dauid and his men sate in the inward partes of the cave.

3 Stridged.

f Though he was a more
cruel enemy
to Dauid, yet
by his great gentleness his conscience co-
pelled him to yelde.

5 And the men of Dauid said vnto him, Se,
the day is come, where of the Lord said
vnto thee, Beholde, I wil deliuer thine e-nemie into thine hand, and thou shalt do to him as it shal seme good to thee. Then Dauid arose and cut of the lappe of Sauls
garment priuily.

6 And afterward Dauid was touched in his heart, because he had cut of the lappe
which was on Sauls garment.

7 And he said vnto his me, The Lord kepe
me from doing that thing vnto my master the Lords Anointed, to lay mine hand vpon him: for he is the Anointed of the Lord.

8 So Dauid ouercame his seruants & these wordes, & suffred them not to arise against Saul: so Saul rose vp out of the caue & wet away.

9 Dauid also arose after ward, & went out of the caue, and cryed after Saul, saying,
O my Lord 3 King, And when Saul looked behinde him, Dauid inclined his face to the earth, and bowed him selfe.

10 And Dauid said to Saul, Wherefore gi-
uest thou an eare to mens wordes, that say,
Beholde, Dauid seeketh euil against thee?
Beholde, this day thine eyes haue sene,
that the Lord had deliuered thee this day
into mine hand in the caue, and some bade
me kil thee, but I had compassiō on thee,
and said, I wil not lay mine hand on my master: for he is the Lords Anointed.

11 Moreover my father, beholde: beholde, I say, the lappe of thy garmēt in mine hād:
for whē I cut of the lappe of thy garmēt,
I killed thee not. Vnderstand and se, that there is neither euil nor wickednes in me,
neither haue I sinned against thee, yet thou
huntest after my soule to take it.

12 The Lord be iudge between thee & me,
and the Lord auenge me of thee, and let
not mine hand be vpon thee.

13 According as the olde prouerbe saith,
Wickednes procedeth from the wicked,
but mine hand be not vpon thee.

14 After whome is the King of Israel come out, after whome doest thou pursue? after
a dead dog, & after a fly?

15 The Lord therefore be iudge, & iudge
between thee and me, and se, and pleade
my cause, and deliuer me out of thine
hand.

16 When Dauid had made an end of speaking these wordes to Saul, Saul said, Is this thy voyce, my sonne Dauid? and Saul lift vp his voyce, and wept.

17 And I said to Dauid, Thou art more righteous then I: for thou hast rendred me
good, and I haue rendred thee euil.

18 And thou hast shewed this day, that thou hast dealt wel with me: forasmuch as whē
the Lord had closed me in thine hands,

thou killedst me not.

20 For who shal finde his enemy, and let him departe? wherefore the Lord redre thee good for that thou hast done vnto
me this day.

21 For now beholde, I knowe that 3 thou be King, and that the kingdome of Israel
shal be stablished in thine hand.

22 Swear now therefore vnto me by the Lord, that 3 wilt not destroy my seed: alter me, and that thou wilt not abolish my name out of my fathers house.

23 So Dauid swore vnto Saul, and Saul home: but Dauid and his men went vp
to the holde.

1 Then Samuel dyed, and all Israel afsembled, and mourned for him, & bu-
ryed him in his owne house at Ramā.
And Dauid arose and went downe to the wildernes of Parān.

2 Now in Maōn was a man, who had his possession in Carmel, and the man was exceeding mighty and had thre thousand shepe, and a thousand goates: and he was sheping his shepe in Carmel.

3 The name also of the man was Nabal, &
the name of his wife Abigail, and she was a woman of singular wisdom, and beautiful, but the man was churlish, and euil coditioned, and was of the familie of Ca-lōb.

4 And Dauid heard in the wildernes, that
Nabal did there his shepe.

5 Therefore Dauid sent ten yong men, &
Dauid said vnto the yong men, Go vp to Carmel, and go to Nabal, and aske him in my name how he doeth.

6 And thus shal ye say 3 for salutation,
Bothe 3, and thine house, and all that thou hast, be in peace, welth, and prosperitie.

7 Beholde, I haue heard, that thou hast sherers: now thy shepherds were with vs, and we did them no hurt, neither did they mis-se anie thing all the while they were in Carmel.

8 Aske thy seruants & they wil shewe thee.
Wherefore let these yōg mē finde fauour
in thine eyes: (for we come in a good season) giue, I pray thee, whatsoever commeth to thine hand vnto thy seruants, &
to thy sonne Dauid.

9 And when Dauids yong men came,
they tolde Nabal all those wordes in the name of Dauid, and helde their peace.

10 Then Nabal answered Dauids seruants, and said, Who is Dauid? and who is the sonne of Ishai? there is manie seruants
now a dayes, that breake away euery
from his master.

11 Shal I then take & my flesh that I
rears, and giue it vnto
thee, nor whence thei be-

12 So Dauids seruants
and went againe, and
all those things.

Parán was a man, who had his

11 Shal I then take my bread, & my water, & my flesh that I haue killed for my she-

not whence thei be?

12 ¶ So Dauid's seruants turned their way,
and went againe, and came, and tolde him
all those things.

13 And Dauid said vnto his men, Girde eue y<sup>e</sup> man his sworde about him. And they girded euery man his sworde: Dauid also girded his sworde. And about foure hundred men went vp after Dauid, and two hundred abode by the cariage.

14 Now one of the seruants tolde Abigail Nabal's wife, saying, Beholde, Dauid sent messengers out of the wildernes to salute
our master, and he rayled on them.

15 Notwithstanding the men were very good vnto vs, and we had no displeasure,
nether misde we any thing as long as we were conuersant with them, when we were in the fields.

16 Thei were as a wall vnto vs bothe by night and by day, all the while we were
with them keeping shepe.

17 Now therefore take hede, and se what thou shalt do: for euil wil surely come
vpon our master, and vpon all his familie:
for he is so wicked y<sup>e</sup> a man can not speake
to him.

18 ¶ Then Abigail made haste, and toke
two hundred cakes, and two bottles of wine, and five shepe ready dressed, & five measures of parched corne, and an hundred frailes of raisins, and two hundred of figges, and laded them on asses.

19 Then she said vnto her seruants, Go ye
before me: beholde, I wil come after you:
yet the tolde s<sup>r</sup> not her husband Nabal.

20 And as she rode on her asse, she came
downe by a secret place of the mountaine,
and beholde, Dauid and his men came
downe against her, and she met them.

21 And Dauid said, In dede I haue kept all in vaine that this fellowe had in the wil-dernes, so that nothing was misde of all that pertained vnto him: for he hath required me euil for good.

22 So and more also do God vnto the enimies of Dauid: for surely I wil not leaue of all that he hath, by the dawning of the day, any that is p<sup>r</sup>iseth against the wall.

23 And when Abigail sawe Dauid, she hat-
ted and lighted of her asse, & fel before Dauid on her face, and bowed her selfe to
the grounde,

24 And fel at his fete, & said, Oh, my lord,
I haue committed the iniquitie, and I pray
thee, let thine handmaid speake to thee, &
heare thou the wordes of thine handmaid.

25 Let not my lord, I pray thee, regarde
this wicked man Nabal: for as his name is, so is he: Nabal is his name, and folly is

with him: but I thine handmayd sawe not the yong men of my lord whome y<sup>e</sup> sentest.

26 Now therefore my lord, as the Lord li-ueth, and as thy soule liueth (the Lord, I say), that hath withholden thee from com-
ming to shed blood, and that thine hand
shulde not saue thee (so now thine enemies shal be as Nabal, and thei that intende to do my lord euil.

27 And now, this blessing which thine
handmayd hath broght vnto my lord,
let it be giuen vnto the yong men, that fol-
lowe my lord.

28 I pray thee, forgie the trespass of thine handmayd: for the Lord wil make my lord a sure house, because my lord figh-
teth the battels of the lord and none euil
hath bene founde in thee in all thy life.

29 Yet a man hath risen vp to persecute thee, and to seke thy soule, but the soule of my lord shal be bounde in the bundel of life with the Lord thy God: and the soule
of thine enemies shal God cast out, as out of the midle of a sling.

30 And when the Lord shal haue done to my lord all the good that he hath promised thee, and shal haue made thee ruler
ouer Israél,

31 Then shal it be no grief vnto thee, nor offence of minde vnto my lord, that he hath not shed blood causes, nor that my lord hath not preserved him selfe: &
when the Lord shal haue dealt wel with my lord, remember thine handmayd.

32 Then Dauid said to Abigail, Blessed be the Lord God of Israél, which sent thee
this day to meet me.

33 And blessed be thy counsel, and blessed be thou, which haste kept me this day f<sup>r</sup>o
comming to shed blood, and that mine
hand hath not saued me.

34 For in dede, as the Lord God of Israél liueth, y<sup>e</sup> who hath kept me backe from hurting thee, except thou haddest halted
and met me, surely there had not bene left vnto Nabal by the dawning of the day,
any that is p<sup>r</sup>iseth against the wall.

35 Then Dauid receiued of her hand that which she had broght him, & said to her, Go vp in peace to thine house: beholde, I
haue heard thy voyce, and haue granted
thy petition.

36 ¶ So Abigail came to Nabal, & beholde,
he made a feast in his house, like the festi-
of a King, and Nabals heart was merry
within him, for he was very drunken: wherefore she tolde him nothing, nether
lesse nor more, vntill the morning arose.

37 Then in the morning when the wine
was gone out of Nabal, his wife tolde

15 Then Saúl said to Dauid, Blessed art

great things, and also preuaile. So Dauid went his way, and Saúl returned to his place.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Dauid fleeth to Achish King of Gath, who giueth him
Ziklag. 2 Dauid destroyeth certine of the Philistines. 3 Achish is deceyued by Dauid.

1 And Dauid said in his heart, I shal
now perish one day by the hand of Saúl: is it not better for me that I saue
my selfe in the land of the Philistims, and that Saúl may haue no hope of me to seke
me anie more in all the coastes of Israél,
and so escape out of his hand?

2 Dauid therefore arose, and he, and the fix hundred men that were with him, wēt vnto Achish the sonne of Maóch King of Gath.

3 And Dauid dwelt with Achish at Gath,
he, and his men, euerie man with his hou-
sholde, Dauid with his two wiues, Abi-nóam the Izreelite, and Abigail Nabals wife the Carmelite.

4 And it was tolde Saúl that Dauid was fled to Gath: so he sought nomore for him.

5 And Dauid said vnto Achish, If I haue
now founde grace in thine eyes, let them
giue me a place in some other citie of the countrey, that I may dwell there: for why shuldesthy seruant dwell in the head citie
of the kingdome with thee?

6 Then Achish gaue him Ziklag that same day: therefore Ziklag pertaineth vnto the Kings of Iudah vnto this day.

7 And the time that Dauid dwelt in the countrey of the Philistims, was foure mo-
neths and certine dayes.

8 Then Dauid and his men went vp, and inuaed the Geshurites, and the Girzi-tes and the Amalekites: for they inhabited the land from the beginning, from the way, as thou goest to Shur, euen vnto the
land of Egypt.

9 And Dauid smote the land, & left nether man nor woman aliue, and toke shepe, &
oxen, and asses, and camels, and apparel,
and returned and came to Achish.

10 And Achish said, Where haue ye bene
a rousing this day? And Dauid answered, Against the Southe of Iudáh, and against y<sup>e</sup> Southe of the Terameelites, & against the Southe of the Kenites.

11 And Dauid saued nether man nor woman aliue, to bring them to Gath, saying,
Lest they shulde tel on vs, and say, So did Dauid, and so wil be his maner all the while that he dwelleth in the countrey of the Philistims.

12 And Achish beleued Dauid, saying, He hath made his people of Israél vtterly to abhorre him: therefore he shalbe my seruant for euer.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Dauid hathe the chief charge promised about Achish.
2 Saul consultieth with a witch, and she caryeth him
to speake with Samuél. 3 Who declareth his ruine.

1 Now at that time the Philistims afsembled their bandes and armie to-fight with Israél: therefore Achish said to Dauid, Be sure, thou shalt go out with me to the bartell, thou, and thy men.

2 And Dauid said to Achish, Surely thou shalt knowe what thy seruant can do. And Achish said to Dauid, Surely I wil make thee keper of mine head for euer.

3 * (Samuél was then dead, and all Israél
had lamented him, and buryed him in Ramah his owne citie: and Saúl had put away the forcerers, and the sothesayers
out of the land.)

4 Then the Philistims assembled them
selues, and came, and pitched in Shuném:
and Saúl assembled all Israél, & they pitched in Gilboa.

5 And when Saúl sawe the hoste of the Philistims, he was afraied, and his heart was fore astonied.

6 Therefore Saúl asked counfel of y<sup>e</sup> Lord,
& the Lord answered him not, neither by dreames, nor by Vrim, nor yet by Prophetes.

7 ¶ Then said Saúl vnto his seruants, Seke

Bring me vp. 12 Samuël.

13 And when the woman sawe Samuël, she cryed with a loude voyce, and the woman spake to Saül, saying, Why hast thou de-ceiued me for thou art Saül.

14 And the King said vnto her, Be not afraid: for what sawest thou? And the woman said vnto Saül, I sawe gods ascēding
vp out of the earth.

15 Then he said vnto her, What facion

cometh vp lapped in a mantel: and Saül
knewe that it was Samuël, and he enclined
his face to the ground, & bowed him
selfe.

16 ¶ And Samuël said to Saül, Why hast thou disquieted me, to bring me vp? Then Saül answered, I am in great distresse: for the Philistines make warre against me, & God
is departed frō me, and answereth me no-more, nether by Prophetes nether by dreames: therefore I haue called thee, that thou mayest tel me, what I shal do.

17 Then said Samuël, Wherefore the doest
thou aske of me, seeing the Lord is gone
from thee, and is thine enemye?

18 Euen the Lord hath done to s him, as he spake by mine hand: for the Lord wil rent the kingdome out of thine hand, and giue it thy neighbour Danid.

19 Because thou obeyedst not the voyce of the Lord, nor executedst his searce wrath
vpon the Amalekites, therefore hath the Lord done this vnto thee this day.

20 Moreover the Lord wil deliuer Israël
with thee into the hāds of the Philistines:
and to morowe shalt thou and thy sonnes
be with me, & the Lord shal giue the hoste
of Israël into the hands of the Philistines.

21 Then Saül fel streyght way all along on the earth, and was sore afraid because of the wordes of Samuël, so that there was no strength in him: for he had eaten no
bread all the day nor all the night.

22 Then the woman came vnto Saül, and
sawe that he was sore troubled, and said
vnto him, Se, thine hand mayd harbe obeyed thy voyce, & I haue put my soule
in mine hand, and haue obeyed thy wor-
des which thou saidest vnto me.

23 Now therefore, I pray thee, hearken
thou also vnto the voyce of thine hand-maid, and let me set a morfel of bread before thee, that thou mayest eat & get thee
strength, and go on thy iourney.

24 But he refused, and said, I wil not eat but his seruants and the woman together cō-pelled him, & he obeyed their voyce: so he arose from the earth, and sate on the bed.

25 Now the woman had a fat calfe in the house, and she hasted, and killed it, and toke floure and kneaded it, and baked of it vneleavened bread.

26 Then he broght them before Saül, and before his seruants: and when they had eaten, they stode vp, and went away the same night.

CHAP. XXX.

The Amalekites burne Ziklág. 1 Dauids two vi-
ues are taken prisoners. 2 The people wolde stone
him. 3 He asketh counsel of the Lord and pursuing his enemies, recouereth the praye. 24 He deuadeth it equally. 26 And sendeth parte to his friends.

1 BY when David and his men were come to Ziklág the third day, the A-malekites had invaded vpon the South,
euen vnto Ziklág, and had b smitten Zik-
lág, and burnt it with fire,

2 And had taken the women that were therein prisoners, bothe small and great, and slewe not a man, but caryed them away,
and went their wayes.

3 So David and his men came to the ci-tie, and beholde, it was burnt with fire, and their wiuues, and their sonnes, and their daughters were taken prisoners.

4 Then David & the people that was with him, lift vp their voyces and wept, vntil
they cold wepe nomore.

5 Dauids two wiuues were taken prisoners
also, Ahinóam the Izreelite, and Abigail
the wife of Nabál the Carmelite.

6 And David was in great sorowe: for the people entened to stone him, because the heartes of all the people were vexed
euerie má for his sonnes and for his daughters: but David comforted him selfe in the Lord his God.

7 And David said to Abiathár the Priest
Ahimelechs sonne, I pray thee, bring me
the Ephód. And Abiathár brought the E-phód to David.

8 Then David asked counsel at the Lord,
saying, Shal I followe after this compa-
nie? shal I ouertake them? And he answered him, Followe: for thou shalt surely ouertake them, and recouer all.

9 So David and the six hundredth mé that were with him, wét, and came to the riu-
er Besór, where a parte of them abode:

10 But David and foure hundredth men followed (for two hundredth abode behinde,
being to wearye to go ouer y riu-er Besór)

11 And they founde an Egyptiá in the field,
and brought him to David, and gaue him
bread and he did eat, and they gaue him
water to drinke.

12 Also they gaue him a fewe figs, and two
clusts of raisins: and when he had eaten,
his spirit came againe to him: for he had eaten no bread, nor dronke anie water in thre dayes, and thre nights.

13 And David said vnto him, To whome belongest thou: and whence art thou? And he said, I am a yong má of Egypt, and seruant to an Amalekite: and my matter left me thre daies ago, because I fell sicke.

14 We roused vpon the South of Chéreth, & vpon the coast belonging to Iudáh, and vpon the South of Caléb, and we burnt Ziklág with fire.

15 And David said vnto him, Canst thou bring me to this companie? And he said, & Swear vnto me by God, that thou wilt neither kil me, nor deliuer me into the hands of my master, and I wil bring thee
to this companie.

16 And when he had brought him thither,
beholde, they lay scatered abroad vpon
all the earth, eating and drinking, & dan-
sing, because of all y great pray that thei
had taken out of the land of y Philistims,
and out of the land of Iudáh.

17 And David smote them from the twilight, euen vnto the euening of the next morowe, so that there escaped not a man
of them, saue foure hundredth yong men,
which rode vpon camels, and fled.

18 And David recouered all that y Amalekites had taken: also David rescued his two wiuues.

19 And thei lacked nothing, small or great,
sonne or daughter, or of the spoyle of all that they had taken away: David recou-ered them all.

20 David also toke all the shepe, and the
oxé, & they draue them before his cattel,
and said, This is Dauids praye.

21 And David came to the two hundredth mé that were to wearie for to followe Da-uid: whome they had made also to abide
at the riu-er Besór: and they came to meete David, and to mete the people that were
with him: so when David came nere to the people, he saluted them.

22 Then answered all the euil and wicked
of the mé that went with David, and said,
Because they went not with vs, therfore
wil we giue them none of the paye,
that we haue recouered, saue to euery man
his wife and his children: therefore let them cary them away and departe.

23 Then said David, Ye shal not do so, my brethren, with that which the Lord hath giuen vs, who hath preserved vs, and deli-
uered the companie that came against vs,
into our handes.

24 For who wil obey you in this matter? but
as his parte is that goeth downe to the bat-tel, so shal his parte be, that tarieth by the stuffer: they shal parte alike.

CHAP. XXXI.

¶ Saúl killeth him selfe. 6 His children are slaine in the battel. 12 The men of Iabesh toke downe his body, which was hanged on the wall.

1 Now the Philistims foght against Israel, and the men of Israel fled away from the Philistims, & thei fel downe wounded in mount Gilboa.
2 And the Philistims preassed fore vpon Saúl and his sonnes, and slewe Ionathán, and Abinadáb, and Malchishúa Saúls sonnes.
3 And when the battel went fore against Saúl, the archers and bowemen hit him, and he was fore wounded of the archers.
4 Then said Saúl vnto his armour bearer, Drawe out thy sworde, and thrust me through therewith, lest the vncircumcised come and thrust me through and mocke me: but his armour bearer wolde not, for he was fore afrayed. Therefore Saúl toke a sworde and fel vpon it.

5 And when his armour bearer sawe that Saúl was dead, he fel likewise vpon his sworde, and dyed with him.

6 So Saúl dyed, and his thre sonnes, and his armour bearer, and all his men that same day together.

7 ¶ And when the me of Israel that were on the other side of the valley, and they of the other side of Iordén sawe that the men of Israel were put to flight, and that Saúl and his sonnes were dead, thei thei left the cities, and ran away: & the Philistims came and dwelt in them.

8 ¶ And on the morowe when the Philistims were come to spoyle them that were slaine, they founde Saúl and his thre sonnes lying in mount Gilboa.

9 And they cut of his head, and stripped him out of his armour, and sent into the land of the Philistims on euerie side, that they shulde publish it in the temple of their idoles, and among the people.

THE SECONDE BOKE of Samuél.

THE ARGUMENT.

THIS boke and the former beare the title of Samuel, because they containe the conception, natiuitie and the whole course of his life, and also the liues and actes of two Kings, to wit, of Saúl and Dauid, whome he anointed and consecrated Kings by the ordinance of God. And as the first boke containeth those things, which God brought to passe among this people vnder the gouernement of Samuel and Saúl: so this seconde boke declareth the noble actes of Dauid, after the death of Saúl, when he began to reigne, vnto the end of his kingdome: and how the same by him was wonderfully augmented: also his great troubles & dangers, which he sustained bothe within his house and without: what horrible & dangerous insurrections, vprores, & treasons were wrought against him, partly by false counsellers, flattered friends & flatterers, and partly by some of his owne children and people: and how by Gods assistance he overcame all difficulties, and enioyed his kingdome in rest and peace. In the person of Dauid the Scripture seeth forth the Christ Iesus the chief King, who came of Dauid according to the flesh, and was persecuted on euery side with outward and inward enemies, as wel in his owne persone, as in his members, but at length he overcometh all his enemies and giueth his Church victorie against all power bothe spiritual & temporal: and so reigneth with them, King for evermore.

It was told Dauid of Saúl him to be slaine that brought with the death of Saúl and

CHAP. I.

It was tolde Dauid of Sauls death. 15 He causeth him to be slaine that brought the vydyngs. 19 He lamenteth the death of Saul and Ionathán.

After the death of Saúl, when Dauid was returned from the slaughter of the Amalekites and had bene two dayes in Ziklág, Beholde, an an came the third day out of the hoste from Saúl with his clothes rét, and earth vpon his head: & when he came to Dauid, he fel to the earth, and did obeisance.

Then Dauid said vnto him, Whence comest thou? And he said vnto him, Out of the hoste of Israël I am escaped.

And Dauid said vnto him, What is done? I pray thee, tel me. Thē he said, y the people is fled from the battel, and many of y people are ouerthrowen, and dead, and also Saúl and Ionathán his sonne are dead.

And Dauid said vnto the yong man, that tolde it him, How knowest thou that Saúl and Ionathán his sonne be dead?

Then the yong man that tolde him, answered, As I came to mount Gilbóa, beholde, Saúl leane vpon his speare. and lo, the charrets and horsenmen followed hard after him.

And whē he loked backe, he sawe me, and called me: And I answered, Here am I.

And he said vnto me, Who art thou? And I answered him, I am an Amalekite.

Then said he vnto me, I pray thee, come vpon me, and slaye me: for anguish is come vpon me, because my life is yet whole in me.

So I came vpon him, and slewe him, & because I was sure that he colde not liue, after that he had fallen, I toke the crowne that was vpon his head, and the bracelet that was on his arme, and broght thē hither vnto my lord.

Then Dauid toke holde on his clothes, & rent them, and likewise all the men that were with him.

And they mourned and wept, and fasted vntil euen, for Saúl and for Ionathán his sonne, and for the people of the Lord, and for the house of Israël, because they were slaine with the sword.

Afterward Dauid said vnto the yong man that tolde it him, Whence art thou? And he answered, I am the sonne of a stranger an Amalekite.

And Dauid said vnto him, How wast thou not afrayed to put forthe thine hand to destroy the Anoynted of the Lord?

Then Dauid called one of his yong mē, & said, Go nere, and fall vpō him. And he smote him that he dyed.

Thē said Dauid vnto him, Thy blood be vpon thine owne head: for thine owne mouth hath testified agaiſt thee, saying, I haue slaine the Lords Anoynted.

Then Dauid mourned with this lamentation ouer Saúl, and ouer Ionathán his sonne,

(Also he bade them teache the children of Iudá to shoote, as it is written in y boke of Iasher)

O noble Israël, he is slaine vpon thy hie places: how are the mighty ouerthrowen?

Tel it not in Gath, nor publish it in the stretes of Ashkelón, lest the daughters of the Philistims reioyce, lest the daughters of the vncircumcised triumphe.

Ye mountaines of Gilbóa, vpon you benether dewe nor raine, nor be there fields of offrings: for there the shield of the mighty is cast downe, the shield of Saúl, as thogh he had not bene anoynted with oyle.

The bowe of Ionathán neuer turned backe, neither did the sworde of Saúl returne empty from the blood of the slaine, and from the fat of the mighty.

Saúl and Ionathán were louely and pleasant in their liues, and in their deathes they were not deuided: they were swifter the negles, they were stronger then lions.

Ye daughters of Israël, wepe for Saúl, which clothed you in skarlet, with pleasures, and hanged ornaments of golde vpon your apparel.

How were the mighty slaine in the middes of the battel? Ionathán, thou wast slaine in thine hie places.

Wo is me for thee, my brother Ionathán: very kinde hast thou bene vnto me: thy loue to me was wonderful, passing y loue of m women: how are the mighty ouerthrowen, and the weapons of warre destroyed?

After this Dauid asked counsel of the Lord, saying, Shal I go vp into anie of the cities of Iudá? And the Lord said vnto him, Go vp. And Dauid said, Whither shal I go? He thē answered, Vnto Hebrón.

So Dauid went vp thither & his two wiues also, Ahinóam the Izreelite, and Abigail Nabals wife the Camelite.

4 ¶ Then the men of Iudáh came, and there they anointed Dauid King ouer the house of Iudáh. And they tolde Dauid, saying, that the men of Iabésh Gileád buried Saúl.

5 And Dauid sent messengers vnto the me of Iabésh Gileád, & said vnto them, Blesfed are ye of y Lord, that ye haue shewed suche kindenes vnto your lord Saúl, that you haue buried him.

6 Therefore now the Lord shewe mercie and a trueth vnto you: and I wil recompence you this benefite, because ye haue done this thing.

7 Therefore now let your hands be fröög, and be you valiant: albeit your master Saúl be dead, yet neuertheless the house of Iudáh hath anointed me a King ouer them.

8 ¶ But Abnér the sonne of Ner that was captaine of Sauls hoste, toke Ish-bósheth the sonne of Saúl, and broght him to Mahanaim,

9 And made him King ouer Gileád, and ouer the Ashurites, and ouer Izreél, and ouer Ephráim, and ouer Benjamin, and ouer all Izreél.

10 Ish-bósheth Sauls sonne was fourty yere olde when he began to reigne ouer Izreél, and reigned two yere: but the house of Iudáh followed Dauid.

11 (And the time which Dauid reigned in Hebrón ouer the house of Iudáh, was seué yere and six monethes)

12 ¶ And Abnér the sonne of Ner, and the seruants of Ish-bósheth the sonne of Saúl went out of Mahanaim to Gibeón.

13 And Ioáb the sonne of Zeruiáh, and the seruants of Dauid went out and met one an other by the poole of Gibeón: and they fate downe, the one on the one side of the poole, and the other on the other side of the poole.

14 Then Abnér said to Ioáb, Let the yong men now arise, and b playe before vs. And Ioáb said, Let them arise.

15 Then there arose, and went ouer twelue of Benjamin by number, which pertained to Ish-bósheth the sonne of Saúl, and twelue of the seruants of Dauid.

16 And euerie one caught his fellowe by the head, & thrust his sworde in his fellowes side, so they fel downe together: wherefore the place was called Helkath-hazurim which is in Gibeón.

17 And the batrel was exceeding sore that same day: for Abnér and the men of Izreél fel before the seruants of Dauid.

18 And there were thre sonnes of Zeruiáh there, Ioáb, and Abishai, and Afahél. And Afahél was as light on foote as a wilde roe.

19 And Afahél followed after Abnér, & in going he turned nether to the right hand nor to the left from Abnér.

20 Then Abnér loked behinde him, & said, Art thou Afahél? And he answered, Yea.

21 Then Abnér said, Turne thee ether to the right hand or to the left, and take one of the yong men, and take thee his weapons: but Afahél wolde not departe from him.

22 And Abnér said to Afahél, Departe fro me: wherefore shulde I smite thee to the grounde? how the shulde I be able to hold vp my face to Ioáb thy brother?

23 Any when he wolde not departe, Abnér with the hindre end of the speare smote him vnder the fifth rib, that the speare came out behinde him: and he fel downe there and dyed in his place. And as man as came to the place where Afahél stode downe and dyed, stode stil.

24 Ioáb also and Abishai pursued after Abnér: and the sunne went downe, when they were come to y hil Ammah, that lieth before Giah, by the way of the wildernes of Gibeón.

25 And the children of Benjamin gathered them selues together after Abnér, & were on an heape and stode on the top of a hil.

26 Then Abnér called to Ioáb, and said, Shal the sworde deuoure for euere? knowest thou not, that it wil be bitternes in the latter end: how long the shal it be, or thou bid the people returne frö following their brethren?

27 And Ioáb said, As God liueth, if thou haddest not spoken, surely euen in the morning the people had departed euery one backe from his brother.

28 ¶ So Ioáb blew trumpet, and all the people stode stil, and pursued after Izreél nomore, nether foght they anie more.

29 And Abnér and his men walked all that night through the plaine, & wet ouer Iordan, & pait through all Bithrón til they came to Mahanaim.

30 Ioáb also returned backe from Abnér: whé he had gathered all the people together, there lacked of Dauids seruants ninetene men and Afahél.

31 But the seruats of Dauid had smitten of Benjamin, and of Abners men, so that thre hundred and threscore men dyed.

32 And they toke vp Afahél, and buried him in the sepulchre of his father, which was in Beth-léhem: and Ioáb and his men were all night, and when they came to Hebrón the daie arose.

And his secôde, was<sup>b</sup> Chileab of Abigail

And the sixth, Ithreám by Eglah Dauids

Now while there was warre betwene
the house of Saul and the house of Da-uid, Abner made all his power for the house of Saul.

And Saul had a concubine named Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah. And Ish-bôsheth said to Abner, Wherefore hast thou gone
in to my fathers concubine?

Ther was Abner very wrothe for the wordes of Ish-bôsheth, & said, Am I a dogs head, which against Iudah do shewe mercy this day vnto the house of Saul thy father, to his brethren, & to his neighbours,
and haue not deliuered thee into the hand

with a fault concerning this woman?

So do God to Abner, and more also, ex-

euen so I do to him,

To remoue the kingdome fro the house
of Saul, that the throne of David may be established ouer Israel, and ouer Iudah,
euen from Dan to Beer sheba.

And he durst nomore answer to Abner:
for he feared him.

Then Abner sent messengers to Da-uid on his behalfe, saying, Whose is the land: Who shulde also say, Make couenant
with me, & beholde, mine hand shal be
with thee, to bring all Israel vnto thee.

Who said, Wel, I wil make a couenant
with thee: but one thing I require of thee,
that is, that thou shouldest not my face
except thou bring Michal Sauls daughter
when thou comest to se me.

Then David sent messengers to Ishbôsheth Sauls sonne, saying, Deliuer me
my wife Michal, which I married for an hundred foreskinnes of the Philistines.

And Ish-bôsheth sent, and toke her from her houshold: Phaltiel the sonne of Laius.

And her housband went with her, and
came weeping behinde her, vnto Bahurim:
then said Abner vnto him, Go, & returne.
So he returned.

And Abner had communicaciō with the Elders of Israel, saying, Ye sought for

David in times past, that he might be your King.

Now then do it: for the Lord hath spoken of David, saying, By the hand of my seruant David I wil saue my people Israel out of the hands of the Philistines, and out of the hands of all their enemies,

Also Abner spake to Benjamin, and afterwarde Abner went to speake with Da-

was content with, and the whole house of Benjamin.

So Abner came to David to Hebron, hauing twenty men with him, and David
made a feast vnto Abner, and to the men
that were with him.

Then Abner said vnto David, I wil rise
vp, and go gather all Israel vnto my lord
the King, that they may make a couenēt
with thee, & that thou maiest reigne ouer
all that thine heart desireth. Then David let Abner departe, who went in peace.

And beholde, the seruants of David and Ioab came from the campe, & broght
a great pray with them (but Abner was not with David in Hebron: for he had set him away, and he departed in peace)

When Ioab, and all the holte that was with him were come, men tolde Ioab, saying, Abner the sonne of Ner came to the King, and he hath sent him away, and he is gone in peace.

Then Ioab came to the King, and said,
What hast thou done? beholde, Abner came vnto thee, why hast thou sent him
away, and he is departed?

Thou knowest Abner the sonne of Ner:
for he came to disceiue thee, & to knowe
thy outgoing and ingoing, and to knowe
all that thou doest.

And when Ioab was gone out fro Da-uid, he sent messengers after Abner, which broght him againe fro the well of Siriah
vnknowing to David.

And when Abner was come againe to Hebron, Ioab toke him aside in the gate
to speake with him peaceably, and smote
him vnder the fifth rib, that he dyed, for
the blood of Ashbel his brother.

And when afterwarde it came to Da-uids eare, he said, I and my kingdome are guiltles before the Lord for euere, concerning the blood of Abner the sonne of Ner.

Let the blood fall on the head of Ioab,
and on all his fathers house, that the house of Ioab be neuer without some

37 For all the people and all Israël vnderstode that day, how that it was not the Kings dede that Abnér the sonne of Ner was slayne.

38 And the King said vnto his seruants, Knowe ye not, that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israël?

And whē Sauls sonne heard y Abnér was dead in Hebrón, then his hands were feble, and all Israël was afrayed.

And Sauls sonne had two men that were captaines of bands: the one called Baanáh, and the other called Recháb, the sonnes of Rimmón a Beerothite of the children of Benjamin. (for Beeróth was reckened to Benjamin,

Because the Beerothites fled to Gittáim, and sojourned there, vnto this day)

And Ionathán Sauls sonne had a sonne that was lame on his feete: he was five yere olde when the tidings came of Saul and Ionathán out of Israël: then his nourfe toke him, and fled away. And as she made halte to flee, the childe fell, and began to halt, and his name was Mcphibósheth.

5 And the sonnes of Rimmón the Beerothite, Recháb and Baanáh went and came in the heate of the day to the house of Ish-bósheth (who slept on a bed at noone)

6 And beholde, Recháb and Baanáh his brother came into the middes of the house, as they wolde haue wheat, and they smote him vnder the fifth rib, and fled.

7 For when they came into the house, he slept on his bed in his bedchamber, and they smote him, and slewe him, and beheaded him, and toke his head, and gateth way through the plaine all the night.

8 And they broght the head of Ish-bósheth vnto Dauid to Hebrón, and said to the King, Beholde the head of Ish-bósheth Sauls sonne thine enemy, who fought against thy life: and the Lord hath auenged my lord the King this day of Saul and of his seed.

9 Then Dauid answered Recháb and Baanáh his brother, the sonnes of Rimmón the Beerothite, and said vnto them, As the Lord liueth, who hath deliuered my soule out of all aduersitie,

10 When one tolde me, and said that Saul was dead, (thinking to haue broght good tidings) I toke him and slewe him in Ziklág, who thought that I wolde haue giuen him a rewarde for his tidings:

11 How much more, when wicked men haue slayne a righteous persone in his owne house, & vpon his bed: shal I not now therefore require his blood at your hand, and take you from the earth?

12 Then Dauid commanded his yong men, and they slewe them, and cut of their hands and their feete, & hanged them vpon the poole in Hebrón: but they toke the head of Ish-bósheth, and buryed it in the sepulchre of Abnér in Hebrón.

Nathán, saying,
Serauá David, Thus saith
the Lord God, thou buydest me an house
for ever.

It is in no house since the time
that the children of Israel
came into this day, but have wanted a tabernacle.

Wherein I have walked
the children of Israel, spake I one of the tribes of Israel, and said the judges to fedge me
said I, Why buydest thou cedars
for ever?

For I say unto my servant
David, the Lord of hosts, I
the Shepecore following the Lord, thou mightest be ruler
over Israel.

And thou wheresoever thou hast destroyed all things
thy fight, and have made a name, lyke unto the name
that are in the earth.

And I will appoint a place for my people, and I will plant it, that they may know their own, and more of their wicked people trouble them as before time.

And I will set judges over Israel, and I will give thee
thine enemies; also the Lord
will make thee an house.
And thy days be fulfilled, thou thy fathers, & I will set up thee, which shall proceed
and will stablish his kingdom.

And I will build an house for my Name,
and thou shalt sit upon the throne of his kingdom.

And he shall be my son,
and I will chasten him with the rod, and with the plagues of men.

And thou shalt not departe away from me, and thou shalt be as mine house, that thou
shalt build.

And I will stablish thee,
and thou shalt be as
mine house, that thou
shalt build.

And I will stablish thee,
and thou shalt be as
mine house, that thou
shalt build.

And I will stablish thee,
and thou shalt be as
mine house, that thou
shalt build.

And I will stablish thee,
and thou shalt be as
mine house, that thou
shalt build.

20 And what can David say more unto thee?
for thou, Lord God, knowest thy servant.

21 For thy wordes sake, and according to thine owne heart hast thou done all these great things, to make them knowne unto thy servant.

22 Wherefore thou art great, O Lord God:
for there is none like thee, neither is there any god besides thee, according to all that we have heard with our eares.

23 * And what one people in the earth is like thy people, like Israel, whose God was: & redeemed thee to him selfe, that they might be his people, and that he might make him a name, & do for you great things,
and terrible for thy *lad, O Lord, even for thy people, whome thou redeemest to thee
out of Egypt, from the nations, and their gods?

24 For thou hast ordeined thy people
Israel to be thy people for ever: and thou
Lord art become their God.

25 Now therefore, O Lord God, confirme
for ever the word that thou hast spoken concerning thy servant and his house, and
do as thou hast said.

26 And let thy Name be magnified for ever by them that shall say, The Lord of hosts is the God over Israel: and let the house of thy servant David be stablished
before thee.

27 For thou, O Lord of hosts, God of Israel,
hast reuiled unto thy servant, saying, I will buyld thee an house: therefore haue
thy servant bene bolde to pray this prayer unto thee.

28 Therefore now, O Lord God, (for thou art God, and thy wordes be true, and thou hast tolde this goodnes unto thy seruāt)

29 Therefore now let it please thee to bles-
se the house of thy servant, that it may continue for ever before thee: for thou, O Lord God, hast spoken it: and let the house of thy servant be blessed for ever, with thy blessing.

CHAP. VIII.

1 David overcometh the Philistines, and other strange nations, and maketh them tributaries to Israel.

2 After this now, David smote the Philistines, and subdued them, & David toke the bridle of bondage out of the hand of the Philistines.

3 And he smote Moab, and measured them with a corde, and cast them downe to the ground: he measured them with two cordes to put them to death, & with one ful corde to kepe them aliuē: so became the Moabites Davids seruants, and brought gifts.

4 David smote also Hadadézer the sonne of Rehób King of Zobáb as he went to recouer his border at the river Euphrates.

5 And David toke a thousand and seven hundred horsemen, and twentie thousand footemen, and destroyed all the charrets, but he reserved an hundred charrets of them.

6 Then came the Aramites of Dam-
més, to succour Hadadézer King of Zo-báb, but David slewed of the Aramites two
and twentie thousand men.

7 And he put a garison in Arám of Dámé-sk: and the Aramites became seruants to David, and brought gifts. And the Lord saued David wheresoeuer he went.

8 And David toke the shields of golde
that belonged to the seruants of Hadadé-zer, and brought them to Ierusalem.

9 And out of Bérá, and Beróthai (cities of Hadadézer) David brought exceeding much brasse.

10 Then Tóí King of Hamáth heard how David had smitten all the hoste of Hadadé-zer,

11 Therefore Tóí sent Iorám his sonne unto King David, to salute him, and to reioyce with him because he had fought against Hadadézer, and beaten him (for Hadadézer had warre with Tóí) who brought with him vessels of silver, and vessels of golde & vessels of brasse.

12 And King David did dedicate them unto the Lord with the silver and golde that he had dedicate of all the nations, which he had subdued:

13 Of Arám, & of Moab, and of the children of Ammón, & of the Philistines, and of Amalek, and of the spoyle of Hadadé-zer the sonne of Rehób King of Zo-báb.

14 So David gate a name after that he returned, and had slaine of the Aramites in the valley of salt eightene thousand men.

15 And he put a garison in Edóm: throughout all Edóm put he foldiers, and all they
of Edóm became Davids seruants: and David kept David wheresoeuer he went.

16 Thus David reigned ouer all Israel, and executed iudgement and iustice vnto all
his people.

17 And Ioab the sonne of Zeruiáh was ouer
the hoste, and Ioshaphát the sonne of Ahilud was recorder.

18 And Zadók the sonne of Abiathár, and Ahimélech the sonne of Abiathár were Priests, and Seraiah the scribe.

19 And Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiadá & the Cherethites & the Pelethites, & Da-

1 After this, the <sup>h</sup> King of the children of Ammōn dyed, & Hanún his sonne reigned in his steed.

2 Then said Dauid, I wil shewe kindenes vnto Hanún the sonne of Nabásh, as his father <sup>i</sup> shewed kindenes vnto me. And Dauid sent his seruants to cōsole him for his father. So Dauids seruants came into the land of the children of Ammōn.

3 And the princes of the children of Ammōn said vnto Hanún their lord, Thinkest thou the King Dauid doeth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters to thee, hath he not Dauid rather sent his seruants vnto thee, to searche the citie, and to spy it out, and to ouerthrowe it?

1 Dauid reproveth by Nathán confesseth his sinne 12 The childe conceived in adulterie dyeth. 24 Salomón is borne. 26 Rabab is taken 31 The citizens are grievously punished.

a Because Dauid lay lowe drowned in sinne, the long mercie of God, which suffraeth not his to perish, wa- keth his conscience by this fault, and bringeth him to repentance.

Then the Lord sent Nathán vnto Dauid, who came to him, and said vnto him, There were two men in one cite, the one riche, and the other poore.

The riche man had exceeding many shepe and oxen:

But the poore had none at all, save one little shepe which he had bought, & nourished vp: and it grewe vp with him, and with his children also, and did eat of his owne morsels, & dranke of his owne cup, and slept in his bosome, and was vnto him as his daughter.

Now there came a stranger vnto the riche mā, who refused to take of his owne shepe, and of his owne oxen to dresse for the stranger that was come vnto him, but toke the poore mans shepe, and dilled it for the man that was come to him.

3 The "Dauid was exceeding wrothe with the mā, and said to Nathán, As the Lord liueth, the man that hath done this thing, shall surely dye,

7 Then Nathán said to Dauid, Thou art the man. Thus sayth the Lord God of Israël, * I anointed thee King ouer Israël, and deliuered thee out of the hand of Saul,

8 And gaue thee thy lords houses, and thy lords wiues into thy bosome, and gaue thee the house of Israël, and of Iudáh, & wolde moreouer (if thou had bene to little) haue giuen thee a siche and siche things.

9 Wherefore hast thou despised the commandement of the Lord, to do euil in his sight? thou hast killed Vriah the Hittite with the sword, and hast taken his wife to be thy wife, and hast slaine him with the sword of the children of Ammón.

10 Now therefore the sword shall neuer depart from thine house, because thou hast despised me, and taken the wife of Vriah the Hittite to be thy wife.

11 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will raise vp euil against thee out of thine owne house, and wil take thy wiues before thine eyes, & giue them vnto thy neighbours: and he shall lye with thy wiues in the sight of this sunne.

12 For thou didest it secretly: but I will do this thing before all Israël, and before the sunne.

13 Then Dauid said vnto Nathán, I haue sinned against the Lord. And Nathán said vnto Dauid, The Lord also hath sinned away thy sinne, thou shalt not dye.

14 Howbeit because by this dede thou haue caused the enemies of the Lord to blaspheme, the childe that is borne vnto thee, shall surely dye.

15 ¶ So Nathán departed vnto his house, and the Lord stroke the childe that Vriahs wife bare vnto Dauid, and it was sicke.

16 Dauid therefore besought God for the childe, and fasted and went in, and lay all night vpon the earth.

17 Then the Elders of his house arose to come vnto him, and to cause him to rise from the ground: but he wolde not, neither did he eat meate with them.

18 So on the seventh day the childe dyed: the seruants of Dauid feared to tell him, that the childe was dead: for they feared, beholde, while the childe was alieue, we spake vnto him, and he wolde not hearken vnto our voyces: how then shall we say vnto him, The childe is dead, to vex him more?

19 But when Dauid sawe that his seruants whispered, Dauid perceived that his childe was dead: therefor "Dauid said vnto his seruants, Is the childe dead? And they said, He is dead.

20 Then Dauid arose from the earth, & washed and anointed him selfe, and changed his apparel, and came into the house of the Lord, and worshipped, & afterwards came to his owne house, and bade that there shulde set bread before him, and he did eat.

21 Then said "his seruants vnto him, What thing is this, that thou hast done? thou didest fast and wepe for the childe, while it was alieue, but while the childe was dead, thou didest rise vp, and eat meate.

22 And he said, While the childe was yet alieue, I fasted, and wept: for I said, What canel whether God wil haue mercie on me, that the childe may liue?

23 But now being dead, wherefore shuldest thou fast? Can I bring him againe and more? I shal go to him, but he shal not returne to me.

24 ¶ And Dauid comforted Bath-Sheba his wife, and went in vnto her, and lay with her, and she bare a sonne, & he called his name Salomón: also "the Lord loued him.

CHAP. XIII.

Amnon Davids some defleth his sister Tamar.
Tamar is consorted by her brother Absalom.
Absalom therefore killeth Amnon.

Now after this so it was, that Absalom the sonne of David hauing a faire sister, whose name was Tamar,
Amnon the sonne of David loued her.

And Amnon was so fore vexed, that he fellicke for his sister Tamar: for she was a virgin, & it seemed haide to Amnon
to do any thing to her.

But Amnon had a friend called Ionadab, the sonne of Shimeah Davids brother: and Ionadab was a very subtile man.

Who said vnto him, Why art thou the Kings sonne so leane fro day to day? wilt thou not tel me? Then Amnon answered him, I loue Tamar my brother Absaloms sister.

And Ionadab said vnto him, Lye downe
on thy bed, and make thy selfe sicke: and when thy father shal come to se thee, say vnto him, I pray thee, let my sister Tamar come, and giue me meat, and let her dresse meat in my sight, that I may se it,
and eat it of her hand.

So Amnon laye downe, & made him
selfe sicke: and when the King came to se him, Amnon said vnto the King, I pray thee, let Tamar my sister come, & make me a couple of cakes in my sight, that I may receiue meat at her hand.

Then David sent home to Tamar, saying, Go now to thy brother Ammons house, and dresse him meat.

So Tamar went to her brother Ammons house; and he laye downe: and she toke flour, and knead it, and made cakes
in his sight, and did bake the cakes.

And she toke a panne, & powdered them out before him, but he wolde not eat. The Amnon said, Cause ye euery man to go out from hence: euery man went out fro
him.

Then Amnon said vnto Tamar, Bring
the meat into the chamber, that I may eat
of thine hand. And Tamar toke the cakes which she had made, and brought them into the chamber to Amnon her brother.

And when she had set them before him
to eat, he toke her, and said vnto her, Come, lye with me, my sister.

But she answered him, Naye, my brother, do not force me: for no such thing ought to be done in Israel: commit not this folie.

And I, whether shal I cause my shame
to go: and thou shalt be as one of the fooles in Israel: now therefore, I pray thee, speake to the King, for he will not denye me vnto thee.

Howbeit he wolde not heare vnto her voyce, but being stronger then she, forced her, and lay with her.

Then Amnon hated her exceedingly, so that the hatred wherewith he hated her,
was greater then the loue, wherewith he had loued her: and Amnon said vnto her,
Vp, get thee hence.

And she answered him, There is no
cause: this euil (to put me away) is greater
then the other that thou didest vnto me:
but he wolde not heare her,

But called his seruant that serued him,
and said, Put this woman now out from
me, and locke the dore after her.

( And she had a garment of diuers
coulers vpon her: for with suche garmets
were the Kings daughters that were vir-gins, appareled ) Then his seruant brought her out, and locked the dore after her.

And Tamar put ashes on her head & rent the garment of diuers coulers which was on her, and layed her hand on her head, & went her way crying.

And Absalom her brother bome with thee: Now yet be styll, my sister: he is thy brother: let not this thing grieue thine heart. So Tamar remained desolate in her brother Absaloms house.

But when King David heard all these things, he was very wrothe.

And Absalom said vnto his brother
Amnon neither good nor bad: for Absalom hated Amnon, because he had forced his sister Tamar.

23 ¶ And after the time of two yeres, Absalóm had shepsephers in Baal-hazór,
which is beside Ephraím, and <sup>k</sup> Abfalóm
called all the Kings sonnes.
24 And Abfalóm came to the King & said,
Beholde now, thy seruant hathe shepse-

seruants wolde go with thy seruant.
25 But the King answered Abfalóm, Naye
my sonne, I pray thee, let vs not go all, lest
we be chargeable vnto thee. Yet Abfalóm laye fore vpó him: howbeit he wolde not go, but <sup>1</sup> thanked him.
26 The said Abfalóm, But, I pray thee, shal
not my brother <sup>1</sup> Amnón go with vs?
And the King answered him, Why shulde
he go with thee?
27 But Abfalóm was instant vpon him and he sent Amnón with him, & all the Kings
children.
28 ¶ Now had Abfalóm commanded his seruants, saying, Make now when Amnóns
heart is merry with wine, and when I say
vnto you, Smite Amnón, kil him, feare
not, for haue not <sup>1</sup> I commanded you
be bolde therefore, and play the men.
29 And the seruants of Abfalóm did vnto Amnón, as Abfalóm had commanded: &
all the Kings sonnes arose, and euery man
gate him vp vpon his mule, and fled.
30 ¶ And while they were in the way, tidings
came to Dauid, saying, Abfalóm hathe slayne all the Kings sonnes, and there is not one of them left.
31 Then the King arose, and tare his garments, and lay on the <sup>a</sup> grounde, and all his seruants stode by with their clothes
rent.
32 And Ionadáb the sonne of Shimeáh Dauids brother answered and said, Let not my lord suppose that they haue slayne
all the yong men the Kings sonnes: for Amnón onely is dead, <sup>1</sup> because Abfalóm
had reported so, since he forced his suster Tamar.
33 Now therefore let not my lord <sup>1</sup> King
take <sup>1</sup> thing so grieuouly, to thinke that all the Kings sonnes are dead: <sup>1</sup> for Am-nón onely is dead.
34 ¶ Then Abfalóm fled: & the yong man that kept the watche, lift vp his eyes, and looked, & beholde, there came muche people by the way of the hill side <sup>1</sup> behinde
him.
35 And Ionadáb said vnto the King, Be-holde, the Kings sonnes come: as thy seruant said, <sup>1</sup> so it is.
36 And asone as he had left speaking, be-holde, the Kings sonnes came, and lift vp their voyces, and wept: and the King also
and all his seruants wept exceedingly sore.
37 But Abfalóm fled away, and went to <sup>2</sup> Talmái the sonne of Ammihúr King of -

Geshúr: and Dauid mourned for his sonne euery day.
38 So Abfalóm fled, and went to Geshúr,

the King. And he said, Say on.

Then the woman said, Wherefore then halt thou? thought such a thing against the people of God? or why doest thou King, as one which is faurie, speake this thing, that he wil not bring againe his banished?

For we must needs dye, & we are as water spilt on the ground, which can not be gathered up againe: neither doeth God spare anie persone, yet doeth he appoint means, not to cast out from him him that is expelled.

Now therefore that I am come to speake of this thing vnto my lord the King, the cause is that the people have made me afraide: therefore thine handmaid said, Now wil I speake vnto thy King: it may be that the King wil performe the request of his handmaid.

For the King wil heare, to deliuer his handmaid out of the hand of the man that wolde destroy me; and also my sonne from the inheritance of God.

Therefore thine handmaid said, The worde of my lord the King shal now be comfortable: for my lord the King is euen as an Angel of God in hearing of good & bad: therefore the Lord thy God be with thee.

Then the King answered, and said vnto the woman, He cometh from me, I pray thee, the thing that I shal aske thee. And thy woman said, Let my lord thy King now speake.

And the King said, Is not this the hand of Ioab with thee in all this? Then the woman answered, & said, A thy soul liueth, my lord the King, I wil not turne to the right hand nor to the left: from ought that my lord the King hath spoken: for euen thy seruant Ioab bad me, & he put all these wordes in my mouth of thine handmaid.

For to the intent that I shoulde change the forme of speache, thy seruant Ioab hath done this thing: but my lord is wise according to the wisdom of an Angel of God: to vnderstand all things that are in the earth.

¶ And thy King said vnto Ioab, Beholde now, I haue done this thing: go then, & bring the young man Absalom againe.

And Ioab set to the grounde on his face, and bowed him selfe, and thanked the King. Then Ioab said, This day thy seruant knoweth, that I haue founde grace in thy sight, my lord the King, in that the King hath fulfilled the request of his seruant.

¶ And Ioab arose, and went to Geshur, and brought Absalom into Ierusalem.

And the King said, Let him turne to his owne house, and not see my face. So Absalom turned to his owne house, and saw not the Kings face.

Now in all Israel there was none to be so muche praised for beautie as Absalom; from the sole of his foote euen to the top of his head there was no blemish in him.

And when he polled his head, (for at euery yere end he polled it: because it was to heauy for him, therefore he polled it) he weighed the hie of his head at two hundredth shekels by the Kings weight.

And Absalom had thre sonnes, and one daughter named Tamar, which was a faire woman to loke vpon.

¶ So Absalom dwelt in space of two yeres in Ierusalem, & sawe not the Kings face.

Therefore Absalom sent for Ioab to send him to the King, but he wolde not come to him: and when he sent againe, he wolde not come.

Therefore he said vnto his seruants, Beholde, Ioab hath a field by my place, & hath barley therein: go, & set it on fire: & Absaloms seruants set the field on fire.

Then Ioab arose, and came to Absalom vnto his house, and said vnto him, Wherefore haue thy seruants burnt my field with fire?

And Absalom answered Ioab, Beholde, I sent for thee, saying, Come thou hither, and I wil send thee to the King for to say, Wherefore am I come from Geshur? It had bene better for me to haue bene there still: now therefore let me see thy Kings face: and if there be anie trespass in me, let him kill me.

Then Ioab came to the King, and tolde him: and he called for Absalom, who came to the King, and bowed him selfe to the grounde on his face before the King, and the King kissed Absalom.

The praesises of Absalom to aspire to the kingdom. 14 David and his flee, 31 Davids prayer. 34 Absalom is sent to Absalom to discover his counsel.

¶ For this, Absalom prepared him chariots and horses, and fiftie men to runne before him.

And Absalom rose vp early, and stood hard by the entering in of the gate: & euery man that had anie matter, & came to the King for iudgment, him did Absalom call vnto him, and said, Of what citie art thou? And he answered, Thy seruant is of one of the tribes of Israel.

¶ Then Absalom said vnto him, Se thy matters are good & righteous, but there is no man deputed of the King to heare thee.

¶ Absalom said moreouer, O why I were made iudge in the land, that euery man which hath anie matter or controuersie, might come to me, that I might do him iustice. And when anie man came nere to him, and did him obeisance, he put forth his hand, and toke him, and kissed him.

6 And on this maner did Absalom to all Israël, that came to the King for iudgement: so Absalom stole the heartes of the men of Israël.

7 ¶ And after forty yeres, Absalom said vnto the King, I pray thee, let me go to Hebrón, and rendre my vow which I haue vowed vnto the Lord.

8 For thy seruant vowed a vow when I remained in Geshúr, in Arám, saying, If the Lord shal bring me againe in dede to Ierusalem, I wil serue the Lord.

9 And the King said vnto him, Go in peace. So he arose, and went to Hebrón.

10 ¶ Then Absalom sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israël, saying, When ye heare the founde of the trumpet, ye shal say, Absalom reigneth in Hebrón.

11 ¶ And with Absalom went two hundred men out of Ierusalem, that were called: and they wet in their simplicitie, knowing nothing.

12 Also Absalom sent for Ahithóphel the Gilonite Davids counseller, from his citie Gilóh, while he offered sacrifices: and the treason was great for the people increased still with Absalom.

13 ¶ Then came a messenger to David, saying, The heartes of the men of Israël are turned after Absalom.

14 Then David said vnto all his seruants that were with him at Ierusalem, Vp, and let vs flee: for we shal not escape fro Absalom: make speede to departe, lest he come sodenly and take vs, & bring euil vpon vs, and smite the citie with the edge of the sword.

15 And the Kings seruants said vnto him, Beholde, thy seruants are ready to do according to all that my lord the King shal appoint.

16 So the King departed and all his household after him, and the King left ten concubines to kepe the house.

17 And the King went forth and all the people after him, and taryed in a place farre of.

18 And all his seruants went about him, and all the Cherethites and all the Pelethites and all the Gittites, euen sixe hundred men which were come after him fro Gath, went before the King.

19 Then said the King to Ittai the Gittite, Wherefore comest thou also with vs? Returne and abide with the King, for thou art a stranger: departe thou therefore to thy place.

20 Thou camest yesterday, and shuldest I cause thee to wander to day and go with vs? I wil go whither I can: therefore returne thou, and cary againe thy brethren: mercie and truth be with thee.

21 And Ittai answered the King, and said,

As the Lord liueth, & as my lord the King liueth, in what place my lord the King shalbe, whether in death or life, euen there surely wil thy seruant be.

22 Then David said to Ittai, Come, & go forward. And Ittai the Gittite went, and all his men, and all the children that were with him.

23 And all the countrey wept with a loud voyce, and all the people went forward: but the King passed ouer the brooke Kidrón: and all the people wet ouer towards the way of the wilderness.

24 ¶ And lo, Zadók also was there, and all the Leuites with hym, bearing the Arke of the covenant of God: & they set downe the Arke of God, and Abiathar wet vnto the people were all come out of the citie.

25 Then the King said vnto Zadók, the Arke of God againe into the citie: I shal finde fauour in the eyes of the Lord, he wil bring me againe, & shewe me his it, and the Tabernacle thereof.

26 But if he thus say, I haue no delite in thee, beholde, here am I, let him do to me as semeth good in his eyes.

27 The King said againe vnto Zadók the Priest, Art not thou a Ser? returne into the citie in peace, & your two sonnes with you: wit, Ahimáaz thy sonne, and Ionathán the sonne of Abiathar.

28 Beholde, I wil tarie in the fieldes of the wilderness, vntil there come some worde from you to be tolde me.

29 Zadók therefore and Abiathar caryed the Arke of God againe to Ierusalem, and they taried there.

30 And David went vp the mount of olives and wept as he went vp, and had his head couered, and wet barefooted: and all the people that was with him, had euerie man his head couered, and as they went vp, they wept.

31 Then one tolde David, saying, Ahithóphel is one of them that haue conspired with Absalom: and David said, O Lord, I pray thee, turne the counsel of Ahithóphel into foolishnes.

32 ¶ Then David came to the toppe of the mount where he worshiped God: and beholde, Hushái the Archite came against him with his coate torne, & hauing earth vpon his head.

33 Vnto whome David said, If thou go with me, thou shalt be a burthen vnto me:

34 But if thou returne to the citie, and say vnto Absalom, I wil be thy seruant, O King, (as I haue bene in time past thy fathers seruant, so wil I now be thy seruant) then thou maiest bring me the counsel of Ahithóphel to noght.

35 And hast thou not there with thee Zadók and Abiathar the Priests: therefor whatsoever thou shalt he Kings house, thou shalt shew and Abiathar the Priests.

36 Beholde, there are with thee sonnes: Ahimáaz Zadoks sonne, and Abiathars sonne: by the send me euerie thing that thou shalt heare.

37 So Hushái Davids friend, the Gilonite, and Absalom came in to the citie: and Absalom came in to the citie.

3 And the King said, But whaters sonne? The Zibá answered, Beholde, he remaineth in the wilderness, he remaineth in the wilderness, he remaineth in the wilderness.

4 Then said the King to Zibá, Beholde, he remaineth in the wilderness, he remaineth in the wilderness, he remaineth in the wilderness.

CHAP. XVI.

The infidelitie of Ziba. Shimei curseth Dauid.
Hushai cometh to Absalom. The counsel of Ahithophel for the concubines.

When Dauid was a litle past the toppe of the hill, beholde, Ziba the seruant of Mephibosheth met him with a couple of asses saddled, and vpon them two hundredth cakes of bread, and one hundredth bushels of raisins, & an hundredth of drye
ed figges, and a bottel of wine.

And y King said vnto Ziba, What meanst thou by these? And Ziba said, They be asses for the Kings household to ride
on, and bread and dryed figges for the yong men to eat, and wine, that the faint
may drinke in the wilderness.

And the King said, But where is thy mas ters sonne? The Ziba answered the King, Beholde, he remaineth in Ierusalem: for
he said, This day shal the house of Israel
restore me the kingdome of my father.

Then said the King to Ziba, Beholde,
thine are all that pertained vnto Mephibosheth.
And Ziba said, I beseeche thee, let me finde grace in thy sight, my lord, o King.

And when King Dauid came to Ba
hurim, beholde, thence came out a man of the familie of the house of Saul, named Shimei the sonne of Gerai: and he came out, and cursed.

And he cast stones at Dauid, and at all the seruants of King Dauid: and all the people, and all the men of warre were on his right hand, and on his left.

And thus said Shimei when he cursed,
Come forthe, come forthe thou * murder
er, and * wicked man.

The Lord hath brought vpon thee all the blood of the house of Saul, in whose stead
thou hast reigned: and the Lord hath de liuered the kingdome into the band of Absalom thy sonne: and beholde, thou art taken in thy wickednes, because thou art a murderer.

Then said Abishai the sonne of Neriah
vnto the King, Why doest this * dead
dogge curse my lord the King? let me go,
I pray thee, and take away his head.

But the King said, What haue I to do with you, ye sonnes of Neriah: for he curseth, euen, because the Lord hath bidden him curse Dauid: who daure then

say, Wherefore hast thou done so?

And Dauid said to Abishai, & to all his seruants, Beholde, my sonne & came out of mine owne bowels, sekech my life: then how muche more now may this sonne of Iemima Suffre him to curse: for the Lord hath bidden him.

It may be that the Lord wil loke on mine affliction, and do me good for his curfing this day.

And as Dauid and his men went by the way, Shimei went by the side of the mou
taine ouer against him, and cursed as he went, and threwe stones against him, and cast dust.

Then came y King & all the people that were with him weary, and refreshed them
selues there.

And Absalom, and all the people, the men of Israel came to Ierusalem, & Ahitho phel with him.

And when Hushai the Archite Dauids
friend was come vnto Absalom, Hushai
said vnto Absalom, God saue the King,
God saue the King.

Then Absalom said to Hushai, Is this thy kindenes to thy friend? Why wentest thou not with thy friend?

Hushai then answered vnto Absalom,
Nay, but whome the Lord, & this people,
and all the men of Israel chuse, his wil I
be, and with him wil I dwell.

And moreouer vnto whome shal I do
seruice, not to his sonne? as I serued befo re thy father, so wil I before thee.

Then spake Absalom to Ahithophel,
Giue counsel what we shal do.

And Ahithophel said vnto Absalom, Go in to thy fathers concubines, which he hath left to kepe the house: and when all Israel shal heare, that thou art abhorred of thy father, the hands of all that are
with thee, shal be strong.

So they spread Absalom a tent vpon the top of the house, and Absalom went in to his fathers concubines in the sight of all Israel.

And the counsel of Ahithophel which he counseled in those dayes, was like as one
had asked * counsel at the oracle of God:
so was all the counsel of Ahithophel bothe
with Dauid and with Absalom.

3 And I wil bring againe all the people vnto thee, and when all shall returne, <sup>b</sup> the man whome thou sekest being slaine) all the people shall be in peace.

4 And the saying <sup>c</sup> pleased Absalom wel, and all the Elders of Israel.

5 The said Absalom, Call now Hushai the Archite afo, and let vs heare likewise what he sayeth.

6 So when Hushai came to Absalom, Absalom spake vnto him, saying, Ahithophel hath <sup>d</sup> spoken thus: shal we do after his saying, or not? tell thou?

7 Hushai then answered vnto Absalom, The counsel that Ahithophel hath giue, is not <sup>e</sup> good at this time.

8 For, said Hushai, thou knowest thy father, and his men, that they be strong me, and are chafed in minde as a beare robbed of her whelpes in the field: also thy father is a valiant warrior, and wil not lodge with the people.

9 Beholde, he is hid now in some caue, or in some place: and though some of them be ouerthrowen at the first, yet the people shall heare, and say, The people that followe Absalom, be <sup>f</sup> ouerthrowen.

10 Then he also that is valiant whose heart is as the heart of a lion, shal <sup>g</sup> shrink and faint: for all Israel knoweth, that thy father is valiant, and they watch be with him, how he men.

11 The counsel my counsel is, that all Israel be gathered vnto thee, from Dan euen to Beersheba as the sand of the sea in number, and that thou go to battell in thine own person.

12 So shewe come vpon him in some place, where we shal finde him, and we wil vpon him as the dew falleth on the ground: and of all the men that are with him, we wil not leaue him one.

13 Moreover if he be gotten into a citie, then shal all the men of Israel bring ropes to that citie, and we wil drawe it into the riuer, vntill there be not one stone, stone found there.

14 ¶ Then Absalom and all the men of Israel said, The counsel of Hushai the Archite is better, then the counsel of Ahithophel: for the Lord had <sup>h</sup> determined to destroy the good counsel of Ahithophel, that the Lord might <sup>i</sup> bring euil vpon Absalom.

15 Then said Hushai vnto Zadok and to Abiathar the Priests, Of this and that manner did Ahithophel and the Elders of Israel counsel Absalom: and thus and thus haue I counseled.

16 Now therefore send quickly, and shewe

Dauid, saying, Tarry not this night in the fieldes of the wilderness, but rather get thee <sup>j</sup> ouer, least the King be deuoured, and all the people that are with him.

17 ¶ Now Ionathan and Ahimaz abode by En-rogel: (for they might not be seen to come into the citie) and a maid went, and tolde them, and they went and shewed King Dauid.

18 Nowe theles a yong man sawe them, and tolde it to Absalom. therefore they both departed quickly, & came to a mas house in Bahurim, who had a well in his court, into the which they went downe.

19 And the wife toke and spred a covering ouer the welles mouth, and in spere grounde come thereon, that the thing shulde not be knowne.

20 And when Absaloms seruants came to the wife into the house, they said, Where is Ahimaz and Ionathan? And the woman answered them, They be gone ouer the brooke of water. And when they had sought them, and coulde not finde them, they returned to Ierusalem.

21 And allone as they were departed, the other came out of the well and went and tolde King Dauid, and said vnto him, Vpon and get you quickly ouer the water: for the counsel hath Ahithophel giuen against you.

22 Then Dauid arose, and all the people that were with him, and they went out Iordan: vntill the dawning of the day, so that there lacked not one of them, that was not come ouer Iordan.

23 ¶ Now when Ahithophel sawe that his counsel was not followe, he fasted himself, and arose, and he went home vnto his citie, and put his house in order, and hanged himself, and dyed, and was buried in his fathers graue.

24 ¶ Then Dauid came to Mahanaim. And Absalom passed ouer Iordan, he, and all the men of Israel with him.

25 And Absalom made Amasa captain of the hoste in the stead of Ioab: who Amasa was a mans sonne, named Ithra an Israelite, that was in to Abigail the daughter of Nahash, sister to Zeruiah Iobabs mother.

26 So Israel and Absalom pitched in the land of Gilead.

27 ¶ And when Dauid was come to Mahanaim, Shobi the sonne of Nethai, cur of Rabbah of the countie of Ammon, and Machir the sonne of Ammiel out of Lobdabar, and Barzilai the Gileadite out of Rogel

28 brought beds, and basens, and earthen vessels, and wheat, and barley, and pulses, and parched corne, & beanes, and lentils, and parched corne.

29 And they brought honie, shepe, and cheefe of kine for the people that were with them for they said, The people were weary, and thirsty in the way.

CHAP. XVI

Dauid deuiderh his armie into thre partes, and cast in a pit, the death of Absalom.

Then Dauid and nobred were with him, & set raines of thousands and carriages.

And Dauid sent for the thre people vnder the hande the third parte vnder the hande of Iabs brother the sonne of the other third parte vnder the hande of the Gittite. & the King said, I wil go with you.

But the people answered, go for the for if we flee awaie, regarde vs, nether wil the though halfe of vs were slaine, are now worthe the thousands: for now it is better that thou shouldest be out of the citie.

Then the King said vnto Iabs brother, I wil go with you, I shal be by the gate side, and came out by hundreds and thousands.

And the King commanded bishai, and Ictai, saying, Emman Absalom gently for me, the people hearde when the captaines charge comen.

So the people went out in thre meetes Israel, & the battell was in Ephraim.

Where the people of Israel before the seruants of Dauid, a great slaughter that day, of thousands.

For the battell was skattered in the country, and the wood deuoured more people that day, more de.

Now Absalom met the seruants of Dauid, and Absalom rode vpon the mule came vnder a greene olive tree, and his head caught holde in the olive tree, and he was taken vpon the earth: & the mule that was vnder him went away.

And one that sawe it, tolde Absalom, I sawe Absalom on the ground.

Then Ioab said vnto the men with him, And hast thou in deed slaine Absalom? then thou shalt be free from guilt, and I wolde haue a reward of thee, and a girl.

He sat in

26 And the watchman sawe an other man running, and the watchman called vnto the porter, and said, Beholde, another man runneth alone. And the King said, He also bringeth tidings.

27 And the watchman said, Me thinketh the running of the foremost is like the running of Ahimáaz the sonne of Zadók. Then the King said, He is a good man, & commeth with good tidings.

28 And Ahimáaz called, and said vnto the King, Peace be with thee: and he fel downe to the earth vpon his face before y King, and said, Blessed be the Lord thy God, who hather shut vp the men that lift vp their hands against my lord the King.

29 And the King said, Is the yong man Absalom safe? And Ahimáaz answered, While Iobab sent the Kings seruants and me thy seruants, I sawe a great tumulte, but I knewe not what.

30 And the King said vnto him; Turne aside, & stand here: so he turned aside and stood still.

31 And beholde, Cushí came, and Cushí said, Tidings; my lord the King: for the Lord hather deliuered thee this day out of the hand of all that rose against thee.

32 Then the King said vnto Cushí, Is the yong man Absalom safe? And Cushí answered, The enemies of my lord y King, & all that rise againt thee to do thee hurt, be as that yong man is.

33 And the King was moued, and went vp to the chamber ouer the gate, and wept: & as he went, thus he said, O my sonne Absalom, my sonne, my sonne Absalom: wolde God I had dyed for thee, O Absalom, my sonne, my sonne.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Iobab encourageth the King: 2 Dauid is restored. 3 Shimei is pardoned. 4 Mephíbosheth meeteth the King. 5 Barzillai departeth. 6 Israel stirreth with Iudah.

And it was tolde Iobab, Beholde, the King wepeth and mourneth for Absalom.

Therefore the victorie of that day was turned into mourning to all the people: for the people heard say that day, The King sorroweth for his sonne.

And the people wēt that day into the citie secretly, as people confounded hide their selues when they flee in battel.

So the King hid his face, and the King cryed with a lowde voyce, My sonne Absalom, Absalom my sonne, my sonne.

Then Iobab came into the house to the King & said, Thou hast shamed this day the faces of all thy seruants, which this day haue saued thy life, and the liues of thy sonnes and of thy daughters, and the liues of thy wiues, and the liues of thy concubines,

In that thou louest thine enemies, & hastest thy friendes: for thou hast declared this day, that thou regardest neither thy princes nor seruants: therefore this day perceiue, that if Absalom had liued, as we all had dyed this day, that the it would haue pleased thee well.

Now therefore vp, come out, and speake comfortably vnto thy seruants: for I sweare by the Lord, except thou come out, thou wilt not tary one man with thee this night: and that wil be worse vnto thee, then all euil that fel on thee from thy youthe letherto.

Then the King arose, & sate in the gate, and they rold euen to all the people, saying, Beholde, the King doeth sit in the gate: & all the people came before the King: for Israel had fled euerie man to his tent.

Then all the people were at a strike throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, The King saued vs out of the hand of our enemies, & he deliuered vs out of the hand of the Philistims, and now he is fled out of the land for Absalom.

And Absalom, whom we anointed ouer vs, is dead in battel: therefore why are ye so slowe to bring the King againe?

But King Dauid sent to Zadók and to Abiathár the Priests, saying, Speake vnto the Elders of Iudáh and say, Why are ye slowe to bring y King againe to his house, (for the saying of all Israel is come vnto the King, euen to his house).

Ye are my brethren: my bones and my flesh are ye: wherefore then are ye thus, that bring the King againe?

Also say ye to Amasá, Art thou not my bone and my flesh? God do so, to me and more also, if thou be not capitaine of the hoste to me for euer in y roume of Iobab.

So he bowed the heartes of all the men of Iudáh, as of one man: therefore they sent to the King, saying, Returne thou with all thy seruants.

So the King returned, & came to Iordén. And Iudáh came to Gilgál, for to go to meete the King, & to conduct him ouer Iordén.

And Shimei y sonne of Gerá, the sonne of Iemini, which was of Bahurim, halloed & came downe with the men of Iudáh to meete King Dauid,

And there wēt ouer a bote to carie ouer the Kings housholde, and to do him pleasure. Then Shimei the sonne of Gerá came before the King, when he was come ouer Iordén,

For thy seruants doeth knowe, that thou hast done amisse: therefore be first this day of all the ho that am come to go downe lord the King.

But Abishai the sonne of Neri answered, and said, Shal not this, because he cursed the King?

And Dauid said, What haue you, ye sonnes of Zeruiáh, that shulde be aduersaries vnto anie man dye this day in Iudáh? I knowe, that I am this day as a raib.

Therefore the King said, Thou shalt not dye, and t vnto him.

And Mephíbosheth the sonne of Achish came downe to meete the King, & he washed his feete, & he beard, & not washed his clothes: the King departed, & came in peace.

And when he was come to the King, the King said, Wherefore wentest not thou to meete Mephíbosheth?

And he answered, My lord the King, thy seruants disceiued me: for thou woldest haue mine asse saddle reon for to go with the King: thy seruants is lame.

And he hather accused thee to my lord the King: but my lord is as an Angel of God: do what thou wilt.

For all my fathers house is dead men before my lord the King: didest thou set thy seruants to dyd eat at thine owne table: therefore haue I yet to cry vnto the King?

And the King said vnto him, Kest thou anie more of thy men?

And Mephíbosheth said, Yea, let him take all, seing the King is come home in peace.

Then Barzillai the Gileadite came downe from Rogelim, and dwēden with the King, to conduct him ouer Iordén.

came downe to meete the King, and had nether washed his feete, nor dressed his

time the King departed, vntill he returned

25 And when he was come to Ierusalem,
& met the King, the King said vnto him,
Wherefore wentest not thou with me, Mephibósheh?

26 And he answered, My lord the King, my

30 ¶ Then Barzillai the Gilgādite came downe from Rogelim, and went ouer Ior-

Iordén.

31 Now Barzillái was a very aged man, en-

the King of sustenance, while he lay at Mahánaim: for he was a man of very great substance.

32 And the King said vnto Barzillái, Come in Ierusalem.

33 And Barzillái said vnto y King, How long haue I to lyue, that I shulde go yp

34 I am this day fourescore yere olde: and

then shulde thy seruāt be anie more a

35 Thy seruāt wil go a litle way ouer Iordén with the King, and why wil the King
recompence it me with such a rewarde?

36 I pray thee, let thy seruāt: turne backe shalt require of me, that wil I do for

thee.

38 So all the people went ouer Iordén: and the King passed ouer: and the King kissed Barzillai, and blesse him, and he returned vnto his owne place.

39 ¶ Then the King went to a Gilgál, and Chimham went with him, and all the people of Iudah conducted the King, and also halfe the people of Israël.

40 And beholde, all the men of Israël came to the King, & said vnto the King, Why
haue our brethren the men of Iudah stolen thee away, and haue broght the King
and his household, and all Dauid's men

41 And all the men of Iudah answered the men of Israël, Because the King is nere of kin to vs: and wherefore now be ye angry
for this matter? haue we earē of the Kings
cost, or haue we taken anie bribes?

42 And the men of Israël answered the mē

that our aduise shulde not be first had in wordes of the men of Israël.

b Dauid, nether haue we inheritance in the land of Iuda: euery man to his tents,
o Israél.

So euery man of Israél went from Dauid
and followed Shebá the sonne of Bichri:
but the men of Iudáh came fast vnto their King, from Iordán euen to Ierusalem.

When Dauid then came to his house
to Ierusalem, the King toke the ten women his concubines, that he had left be-hinde him to kepe the house, & put them
in ward, and fed them, but lay no more
with them: but they were enclosed vnto
the day of their death, liuing in widowhood.

The King toke Amasá, Assemble me the me of Iudáh within thre daies,
and be thou here present.

So Amasá went to assemble Iudáh, but he taried longer then the time which he had appointed him.

Then Dauid said to Abishái, Now shal Shebá the sonne of Bichri do vs more harme then did Absalóm: take thou therefore
thy lords seruants and followe after him,
lest he get him walled cities, & escape vs.
And there went out after him Ioa's me,
and the Cherethites and the Pelethites,
and all the mightie men: & thei departed
out of Ierusalem, to followe after Shebá
the sonne of Bichri.

Whé thei were at the great stone, which is in Gibéon, Amasá went before them, & Ioa's garment, that he had put on, was girded vnto him, & vpon it was a sword girded, which hanged on his loines in the sheath, & as he went, it vied to falle out.

And Ioa's said to Amasá, Art thou in health, my brother? & Ioa's toke Amasá
by the beard with his right hand to kisse him.

But Amasá toke no hede to the sword that was in Ioa's hand: for therewith he smote him in the fift rib, & shed out his bowels to the ground, & smote him not the seconde time: so he dyed. then Ioa's & Abishái his brother followed after Shebá
the sonne of Bichri.

And one of Ioa's men rode by him,
& said, He that fauoreth Ioa's, & he that is of Dauid's parte, let him go after Ioa's.

And Amasá wallowed in blood in the
middles of the way: & when the man sawe
that all the people stode stil, he remoued Amasá out of the way into a field, & cast
a cloth vpon him, because he sawe that euery one that came by him, stode stil.

When he was remoued out of the way,
euery man went after Ioa's, to followe after Shebá the sonne of Bichri.

And he went through all the tribes of Israél vnto Abél, and Bethmaacháh and all places of Beniamin: and thei gathered together, and went also after him.

So thei came, and besieged him in Abél,

and thei cast vp a mount against the citie, & the people thereof stode on the ramper, and all the people that was with Ioa's, destroyed and cast downe the wall.

Then cryed a wise woman out of the ci-
tie, I heare, heare, I pray you, say vnto Ioa's, Come thou hither, that I may speake
with thee.

And when he came nere vnto her, the woman said, Art thou Ioa's? And he answered, Yea. And she said to him, Heare the wordes of thine handmayd. And he answered, I do heare.

Then she spake thus, Thei spake in the olde time, saying, Thei shulde aske of Abé-
l, and so haue thei continued.

I am one of them, that are peaceable,
& faithful in Israél: and thou goest about
to destroye a citie, and a mother in Israél:
why wilt thou deuoure the inheritance
of the Lord?

And Ioa's answered, & said, God forbid,
God forbid me, that I shulde deuoure,
or destroye it.

The matter is not so, but a mā of moun Ephraím (Shebá the sonne of Bichri by name) hath lift vp his hand against the King, euen against Dauid: deliuer vs him onely, & I wil departe from the citie. And the woman said vnto Ioa's, Beholde, his head shalbe throwen to thee ouer the wall.

Then the woman went vnto all the people with her wisdom, and thei cut of the head of Shebá the sonne of Bichri, & caried it to Ioa's: then he blew the trumpet, &
thei retired from the citie, euery man to his tent: and Ioa's returned to Ierusalem
vnto the King.

The Ioa's was ouer all the hoste of Is-

7 But in my tribulation did I call vpon the Lord, and crye to my God, & he did heare my voice out of his temple, & my crye did enter into his eares.
8 Then the earth trembled and quaked: the fundacions of the heauens moued, and shoke, because he was angry.
9 Smoke went out at his nostrils, and cōfuming, fire out of his mouth: coles were kindled thereat.
10 He bowed the heauens also, and came downe, and darkenes was vnder his feete.
11 And he rode vpon Cherub and did flye, and he was sene vpon the wings of the winde.
12 And he made darknes a tabernacle rounde about him, euē the gatherings of waters, and the cloudes of the aire.
13 At the brightnes of his presen<sup>ce</sup>, the coles of fire were kindled.
14 The Lord thundred from heauen, & the moste hye gaue his voyce.
15 He shot arrowes also, and scatred them: to wit, lightning, and destroyed them.
16 The chanel<sup>s</sup> also of the sea appeared, euē the fundacions of the worlde were discourted by the rebuking of the Lord, and at the blast of the breath of his nostrils.
17 He sent from aboue, and toke me: he drew me out of manie waters.
18 He deliuered me from my strong enemy, and from the that hated me: for they were to strong for me.
19 They preuented me in the day of my calamitie, but the Lord was my stay,
20 And brought me forth into a large place: he deliuered me, because he fauored me.
21 The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness: according to the purenes of mine hands he recompenced me.
22 For I kept the wayes of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God.
23 For all his lawes were before me, and his statutes: I did not departe therefrom.
24 I was vpri<sup>ght</sup> also towarde him, and haue kept me from my wickednes.
25 Therefore the Lord did rewarde me, according to my righteousness, according to my purenes before his eyes.
26 With godlie thou wilt shewe thy selfe godlie: with the vpri<sup>ght</sup> man thou wilt shewe thy selfe vpri<sup>ght</sup>.
27 With the pure thou wilt shewe thy selfe pure, and with the frowarde thou wilt shewe thy selfe frowarde.
28 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people: but thine eyes are vpon the haucie to humble them.
29 Surely thou art my light, O Lord: and the Lord wil lighten my darkenes.

These also be the last wordes of Dauid, Dauid the sonne of Ishaí faith, euen the man who was set vp on hie, the Anointed of the God of Izaakób, and the swete singer of Israël faith,

The Spirit of the Lord spake by me, and his worde was in my tongue.

The God of Israël spake to me, & stréngth of Israël said, Thou shalt beare rule ouer me, being iust, and ruling in the feare of God.

Euen as the morning light when the sunne riseth, the morning, I say, without clouds, so shal mine house be, and you as the grassie of the earth by the bright raine.

For so shal not mine house be with God: for he hath made with me an euerslitting couenánt, persit in all points, and sure: therefore all mine health and whole desire is, that he wil not make it growe so.

But the wicked shal be euerie one as thornes thrust away, because they can not be taken with hands.

But the man that shal touche them, must be defended with yron, or with the shaft of a speare: & they shal be burnt with fire in the same place.

These be the names of the mighty men whome Dauid had. He that sate in the seate of wisdom being chief of the princes, was Adinó of Ezri, he slewe eight hundred at one time.

And after him was Eleazar the sonne of Dodó, the sonne of Ahohi, one of the three worthies with Dauid, when they defied the Philistims gathered there to battel, when the men of Israël were gone vp.

He arose, and smote the Philistims vntil his hand was weary, and his hand & claue vnto the sword: and the Lord gaue great victorie the same day, and the people returned after him onely to spoile.

After him was Shammáh the sonne of Agéthe Hararite: for the Philistims assembled at a towne, where was a piece of a field full of lentils, and the people fled fro the Philistims.

But he stode in the middes of the field, and defended it, and slewe the Philistims: so the Lord gaue great victorie.

Afterward thre of the thirty captaiues went downe, and came to Dauid in the harvest time vnto the caue of A Iullám, & the holste of the Philistims pitched in the valley of Rephaim.

And Dauid was then in an holde, and the garison of the Philistims was then in Beth-léhem.

And Dauid longed, and said, O that one wolde giue me to drinke of the water of the well of Beth-léhem, which is by the gate.

The three mighty brake into the holste of the Philistims, and drew water out of the well of Beth-léhem that was by the gate, and toke & brought it to Dauid, who wolde not drinke thereof, but powred it for an offering vnto the Lord,

And said, O Lord, be it far from me, that I shulde do this. Is not this the blood of the men that wet in iopardy of their liues: therefore he wolde not drinke it. These things did these three mighty men.

And Abishai the brother of Ioáb, the sonne of Zeruiáh, was chief among the three, and he lifted vp his speare against thre hundred, and slewe them, and he had the name among the three.

For he was moste excellent of the three, and was their captaine. but he attained not vnto the first thre.

And Benaiáh the sonne of Ichoiadá the sonne of a valiant man, which had done many actes, & was of Kabzeél, slewe two strong men of Moáb: he went downe also, and slewe a lion in the middes of a pit in the time of snowe.

And he slewe an Egyptian a man of great stature, and the Egyptian had a speare in his hand: but he went downe to him with a staffe, and plucked the speare out of the Egyptian hand, & slewe him with his owne speare.

These things did Benaiáh the sonne of Ichoiadá, & had the name among the three worthies.

He was honorable among thirty, but he attained not to the first thre: and Dauid made him of his counsell.

Asahél the brother of Ioáb was one of the thirty: Elhanán the sonne of Dó of Beth-léhem:

Shammáh the Harodite: Eliká the Harodite:

Hélez the Paltite: Ira the sonne of Ikésh the Tekoite:

And the wrath of the Lord was a-

he moued Dauid against them, in that he said, Go, number Israël and Iudáh.

For the King said to Ioáb the capitaine

dely now through all the tribes of Israël,
from Dan euen to Beer-sheba and num-

And Ioáb said vnto the King, The Lord

doeth my lord the King desire this thing?

they returned to Ierusalem at the end of nine moneths and twentie dayes.

9 And Ioáb deliuered the number and there were in Israël <sup>a</sup> eight hundred thousand

the men of Iudáh were <sup>b</sup> five hundred thousand

he had nombred the people: and Dauid
said vnto the Lord, I haue sinned exceedingly in that I haue done: therefore now Lord, I beseeche thee, take away the tres-passe of thy seruant: for I haue done very foolishly.

11 And when Dauid was vp in the morning, the worde of the Lord came vnto

the Prophet Gad Dauids Seer, saying, 12 Go, and say vnto Dauid, Thus sayth the Lord, I offre thee thre things, chuse thee
which of them I shal do vnto thee.

13 So Gad came to Dauid, and shewed him,
and said vnto him, Wilt thou that seven
yeres famine come vpon thee in thy land,
or wilt thou slee thre moneths before thine enemies, they following thee, or
that there be thre daies pestilence in thy land: now aduise thee, and se, what answer
I shal giue to him that sent me.

14 And Dauid said vnto Gad, I am in a wonderful straite: let vs fall now into the hand of the Lord, (for his mercies are great) and let me not fall into the had
of man.

15 So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israël,
from the morning euen to the time ap-

16 And when the Angel stretched out his hand vpon Ierusalem to destroy it, the Lord repented of the euil, and said to the Angel that destroyed the people, It is sufficient, holde now thine hand. And the Angel of the Lord was by the threshing
place of Araunáh the Iebusite.

17 And Dauid spake vnto the Lord (when he sawe the Angel that smote the people)
& said, Beholde, I haue sinned, yea, I haue
done wickedly: but these shepe, what haue

18 So Gad came the same day to Dauid,
and said vnto him, Go vp, reare an altar

Araunáh the Iebusite.

19 And Dauid (according to the saying of Gad) went vp, as the Lord had com-

20 And Araunáh looked, and sawe the King
and his seruants comming towards him,
and Araunáh went out, and bowed him
selfe before the King on his face to the grounde.

21 And Araunáh said, Wherefore is my lord the King come to his seruant? Then Dauid answered, To bye the threshing

the Lord, that the plague may cease from
the people.

22 Then Araunáh said vnto Dauid, Let my lord the King take and offer what seemeth
him good in his eyes: beholde the oxen for the burnt offering, and charrets, and the in-

THE FIRST BOKE OF the Kings.

THE ARGUMENT.

BEcause the children of God shoulde loke for a continual rest and quietnes in this worlde, the holy Gost setteth before our eyes in this booke the varietie and change of things, which came to the people of Israhel from the death of Dauid, Salomon and the rest of the Kings, vnto the death of Ahab, declaring how that flourishing kingdomes, except they be preserued by Gods protection, (who then fauoreth them when his worde is truly set forth, vertue esteemed, vice punished and concorde mainteined) fall to decay and come to naught: as appeareth by the diuiding of the king dome vnder Roboham, and Ieroboham, which before were but all one people, and now by the iuste punishment of God were made two, whereof Iudah and Beniamin claued to Roboham: and this was called the kingdome of Iudah, and the ather ten tribes helde with Ieroboham, and this was called the kingdome of Israhel. The King of Iudah had his throne in Ierusalem, and the King of Israhel in Samaria, after it was buylde by Amri Ahabis father. And because our Saviour Christ according to the flesh shoulde come of the stocke of Dauid, the genealogie of the Kings of Iudah is here described, from Salomon to Ioram the sonne of Iosaphat, who reigned ouer Iudah in Ierusalem, as Ahab did ouer Israhel in Samaria.

nished King. 30 Adonijah fleeth to the altar.

Ow when King Dauid
was a olde, and fl. iken in yeres, they couered him
w clothes, but no<sup>b</sup> heate
came vnto him.

Wherefore his seruants
said vnto him, Let there be sought for my lord the King a yong
virgin, and let her stand before the King,
and cherish him: & let her lye in thy bo
some, that my lord the King may get heate.

3 So they sought for a faire yong maid throughout all the coastes of Israhel, and founde one Abisag a Shunammite, and brought her to the King.

4 And the maid was exceeding faire, & cher ished the King, and ministred to him, but the King knewe her not.

5 ¶ Then Adonijah the sonne of Haggith
exalted him selfe, saying, I wil be King.
And he gate him charrets and horsemen, &
fifty men to runne before him.

6 And his father wolde not displease him
fro his childchode, to say, Why hast thou done so? And he was a very goodly ma, &
his mother bare him next after Absalom.

7 And he toke counsell of Ioab the sonne of Zeruiah, and of Abiathar the Priest: &

they e helped forward Adonijah.

8 But Zadok the Priest, and Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada, and Nathan the Pro phet, & Shimei, & Rei, & y men of might
w were with Dauid, were not w Adonijah.

9 Then Adonijah sacrificed shepe & oxen,
and fat cattel by the stone of Zohéleth,
which is by En-rogel, and called all his brethren the Kings sonnes, & all the men
of Iudah the Kings seruants,

10 But Nathan the Prophet, & Benaiah, and the mighty men, and Salomon his brother he called not.

11 Wherefore Nathan spake vnto Bath-she ba the mother of Salomon, saying, Hast
thou not heard, that Adonijah the sonne of Haggith doeth reigne, and Dauid our lord knoweth it not?

12 Now therefore come, & I wil now giue
thee counsell, how to saue thine owne life,
and the life of thy sonne Salomon.

13 Go, and get thee in vnto King Dauid, &
say vnto him, didest not thou, my lord,
o King, sweare vnto thine hadmaid, saying,
Assuredly Salomon thy sonne shal reigne
after me, and he shal sit vpon my throne?
why is then Adonijah King?

14 Beholde, while y yet talkest there with the King, I also wil come in after thee, &
b confirme thy wordes.

15 ¶ So Bath-sheba went in vnto the King
inro y chamber, & the King was very olde,
and Abisag the Shunammite ministred
vnto the King.

16 And Bath-sheba bowed and made obeisance vnto the King. And the King said, What is thy matter?

17 And she answered hi, My lord, thou swarest by the Lord thy God vnto thine handmaid, saying, Assuredly Salomón thy sonne shall reigne after me, and he shall sit vpon my throne.

18 And beholde, now is Adonijáh King, & now, my lord, ô King, thou knowest it not.

j The King being worne with age, could not attend to the affairs of the realme, & also Adonijáh had many flatterers which kept it from the King.

19 And he hath offered many oxen, and fat cattel, and sheeps, and hath called all the sonnes of the King, & Abiathá the Priest, & Iobab the captaine of the hoste: but Salomón thy seruant hath he not bidden.

20 And thou, my lord, ô King, knowest that the eyes of all Israël are on thee, that thou shouldest tel them, who shulde sit on the throne of my lord the King after him.

21 For els whé my lord the King shall sleepe with his fathers, I and my sonne Salomón shall be reputed vile.

k And so put to death as wicked transgressors. Esa. 10. 18.

22 And lo, while she yet talked with the King, Nathán also the Prophet came in.

23 And they tolde the King, saying, Beholde, Nathán the Prophet. And when he was come in to the King, he made obeisance before the King vpon his face to the ground.

l Acknowledging him to be true & worthy King appointed of God as the figure of his Christ.

24 And Nathán said, My lord, ô King, hast thou said, Adonijáh shall reigne after me, and he shall sit vpon my throne?

25 For he is gone downe this day, & hath slaine many oxen, and fat cattel, and sheeps, and hath called all the Kings sonnes, & the captaines of the hoste, & Abiathár the Priest, and beholde, they eat & drinke before him, and say, God saue King Adonijáh.

m Ebr. let the King Adonijáh live.

26 But me thy seruant, and Zadók the Priest, and Benaiah the sonne of Ichoiadá, and thy seruant Salomón hath he not called.

27 Is this thing done by my lord the King, & thou hast not shewed it vnto thy seruant, who shulde sit on the throne of my lord the King after him?

n Meaning, y he ought in such affaires enterprise nothing except he had consulted with the Lord.

28 ¶ Then King Dauid answered, & said, Call me Bath sheba. And she came into the Kings presence, and stode before the King.

29 And the King sware, saying, As the Lord liueth, who hath redeemed my soule out of all aduersitie.

o Mowed by the Spirit of God so to do, because he foretold that Salomón shulde be the figure of Christ.

30 That as I sware vnto thee by the Lord God of Israël, saying, Assuredly Salomón thy sonne shall reigne after me, and he shall sit vpon my throne in my place, so will I certainly do this day.

31 Then Bath sheba bowed her face to the earth & did reuerence vnto the King, & said, God saue my lord King Dauid for ever.

32 ¶ And King Dauid said, Call me Zadók the Priest, and Nathán the Prophet, and Benaiah the sonne of Ichoiadá. And they came before the King.

33 Then the King said vnto them, Take with you the seruants of your lord, and cause Salomón my sonne to ride vpon mine owne mule, & cary him downe to Gihón.

34 And let Zadók the Priest, and Nathán the Prophet anoint him there King ouer Israël, and blowe ye the trumpet, and say, God saue King Salomón.

35 Then come vp after him, that he may come and sit vpon my throne: and he shall be King in my stead: for I haue appointed him to be prince ouer Israël and ouer Iudah.

36 Then Benaiah the sonne of Ichoiadá answered the King, & said, So be it, & the Lord God of my lord the King be praised.

37 As the Lord hath bene with my lord the King, so be he with Salomón, & exalt his throne about the throne of my lord King Dauid.

38 So Zadók the Priest, and Nathán the Prophet, and Benaiah the sonne of Ichoiadá, and the Cherethites & the Pelethites wet downe, and caused Salomón to ride vpon King Dauids mule, and broght him to Gihón.

39 And Zadók the Priest toke an horne of poyl out of the Tabernacle, and anointed Salomón: and thei blew the trumpet, and all the people said, God saue King Salomón.

40 And all the people came vp after him, and the people piped with pipes & reioyced with great ioye, so that the earth was shakē with the sounde of them.

41 ¶ And Adonijáh and all the gesses that were with him, heard it: (and they had made an end of eating) and when Iobab heard the sounde of the trumpet, he said, What meaneth this noise & vprore in the citie?

42 And as he yet spake, beholde, Ionathán the sonne of Abiathár the Priest came: & Adonijáh said, Come in: for thou art a worthy man, and bringest good tidings.

43 And Ionathán answered, and said to Adonijáh, Verely our lord King Dauid hath made Salomón King.

44 And the King hath sent with him Zadók the Priest, and Nathán the Prophet, and Benaiah the sonne of Ichoiadá, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, and they haue caused him to ride vpon the Kings mule.

45 And Zadók the Priest, and Nathán the Prophet haue anointed him King in Gihón: and thei are gone vp from thence with ioye, and the citie is moued: this is the noise.

noise that ye haue heard.

46 And Salomón also stood up of the kingdome.

47 And moreover the King commanded to bleesse our lord King Salomón: God make the name of Salomón famous then thy name: for thou hast worshiped vpon the throne of the Lord.

48 And thus said the King to the Lord God of Israël, one to sit on my throne in my sight.

49 Then all the gesses that Adonijáh, were afrayed, and euery man his waye.

50 ¶ And Adonijáh fearing King Salomón, arose and went on the hornes of the altar.

51 And one tolde Salomón that Adonijáh doeth feare King Salomón, he hath caught holden the altar, saying, Let King Salomón vnto me this day, that he may be seruant with the sword.

52 The Salomón said, If I will, I will kill a worthy man, therefore of him fall to the earth, & be found in him, he shall die.

53 The King Salomón sent him from the altar, and he made obeisance vnto King Salomón: and Salomón said vnto him, Go.

1 Dauid exhorreth Salomón, and giueth charge as con-

1 Then the daies of Dauid drew nere

I go the waie of all the earth: be strong
therefore, and shewe thy selfe a man,

And take hede to y charge of the Lord

in the Lawe of Moses, that thou maicst

* prosper in all that thou doest, and in euery thing whereunto thou turnest thee,

4 That the Lord may confirme his worde
which he spake vnto me, saying, If thy son-
nes take hede to their way, that thei walke
before me in truth, with all their hearts,
and with all their soules, * thou shalt not (said he) want one of thy posteritie vpon
the throne of Israél.

5 Thou knowest also what Iob the sonne
of Zeruiah did to me, and what he did to
the two captaines of the hostes of Israél,
vnto * Abner the sonne of Ner, and vnto Amasa the sonne of Iether: whome he slew, and shed blood of battel in peace,

and e put the blood of warre vpon his girdle that was about his loynes, & in his shoes that were on his feete.

6 Do therefore according to thy wisdom,
and let thou not his hoare head go downe
to the graue in peace.

7 But shewe kindenes vnto the sonnes of * Barzillai the Gileadite, and let them be among them that eat at thy table: for so thei came to me when I fled from Absa-lóm thy brother.

8 ¶ And beholde, with thee * Shimei the sonne of Gerá, the sonne of Iemini, of Ba-hurim, which cursed me with an horrible
curse in y day when I went to Mahanaim:
but he came downe to meete me at Ior-
dén, and I sware to him by the Lord, saying, * I wil not slaye thee with the sword.

9 But thou shalt not count him innocent:
for thou art a wise man, and knowest what thou oghdest to do vnto him: therefore
y shalt cause his hoare head to go downe
to the graue with a blood.

10 So * Dauid slept with his fathers, & was buried in the cite of Dauid.

11 And the daies which Dauid * reigned vpon Israél, were fourtie yeres: seuen yeres reigned he in Hebron, and thirtie & thre
yeres reigned he in Ierusalem.

12 ¶ The sate Salomón vpon the throne of Dauid his father, and his kingdome was established mightely.

13 And Adoniiah the sonne of Haggith came to Bath-sheba the mother of Salo-món: and she said, * Comest thou peaceably? And he said, Yea.

14 He said moreover, I haue a sute vnto thee. And she said, Say on.

15 Then he said, Thou knowest that the kingdome was mine, and that all Israél set their faces on me, that I shulde reigne:
howbeit the kingdome is turned away, &
is my brothers: for it came to him by the Lord.

16 Now therefore I aske thee one request,
* refuse me not. And she said vnto him, Say on.

17 And he said, Speake, I pray thee, vnto Salomón the King, (for he wil not say thee naye) that he giue me Abishag the Shu-nammitte to wife.

18 And Bath-sheba said, Wel, I wil speake
for thee vnto the King.

19 ¶ Bath-sheba therefore went vnto King
Salomón, to speake vnto him for Adoni-ah: and the King rose to meete her, and bowed him selfe vnto her, & sate downe
on his throne: and he caused a seat to be set for the Kings mother, and she sate at his right hand.

20 Then she said, I desire a smale request of thee, say me not naye. Then the King said vnto her, Alke on, my mother: for I

CHAP. III.

Salomon taketh Pharaohs daughter to wife. 5 The Lord appeareth to him, & giveth him wisdom. 17 The pleading of the two harlots, and Salomons sentence therein.

Salomón * the made affinitie with Pharaoh King of Egypt, and toke Pharaohs daughter, and brought her into the a citie of David, until he had made an end of buylding his owne house, and the house of the Lord, and the wall of Ierusalem round about.

Onely the people sacrificed in b the hie places, because there was no house buylt vnto the Name of the Lord, until those dayes.

And Salomón loued the Lord, walking in the ordinance of David his c father: onely he sacrificed and offred incense in the hie places.

And the King wēt to d Gibeon to sacrifice there, for that was the chief hie place: a thousand burnt offerings did Salomón offer vpon that altar.

In Gibeon the Lord appeared to Salomón in a dreame by night: and God said, Alke what I shal giue thee.

And Salomón said, Thou hast shewed vnto thy seruant David my father great mercy, when he walked before thee in truth, & in righteousness, and in vprightnes of heart with thee: & thou hast e kept for him this great mercy, and hast giuen him a sonne, to sit on his throne, as appeareth this day.

And now, f Lord, my God, thou hast made thy seruant King in stead of David my father: and I am but a yong childe, and knowe not how to g go out and in.

And thy seruant is in the middes of thy people, which h hast chosen, euen a great people which cannot be tolde nor numbered for multitude.

* Giue therefore vnto thy seruant an vnderstanding heart, to iudge thy people, that I may discern betweene good & bad: for who is able to iudge this thy i mighty people?

And this pleased the Lord wel, that Salomón had desired this thing.

And God said vnto him, Because thou hast asked this thing, & hast not asked for thy selfe long life, neither hast asked riches for thy selfe, nor hast asked j life of thine enemies, but hast asked for thy selfe vnderstanding to heare iudgement,

Beholde, I haue done according to thy wordes. lo, I haue giuen thee a wife and an vnderstanding heart, so that there hath bene none like thee before thee, neither after thee shal arise the like vnto thee.

And I haue also k giuen thee that, which thou hast not asked, bothe riches and honour, so that among the Kings there shal l be none like vnto thee all thy dayes.

And if thou wilt walke in my wayes, to kepe mine ordinances and my commandments, * as thy father David did walke, Chap. 15, 5 I wil prolong thy dayes.

And when Salomón awoke, beholde, it was m a d. eame, and he came to Ierusalem, and stode before the n Ake of the covenant of the Lord, and offred burnt offerings and made peace offerings, and made a feast to all his seruants.

¶ Then came two o harlottes vnto the King, and p stode before him.

And the one woman said, Oh my lord, I & this woman dwell in one house, & I was deliuered of a childe with her in q house.

And the third day after that I was deliuered, this woman was deliuered also: and we were in the house together: no stranger was with vs in the house, saue we twaine.

And this woman's sonne dyed in the night: for she ouerlay him.

And she rose at midnight, and r toke my sonne from my side, while thine hād maid slept, & layed him in her bosome, & layed her dead sonne in my bosome.

And when I rose in the morning to giue my sonne sucke, beholde, he was dead: and when I had wel considered him in the morning, beholde, it was not my sonne, whome I had borne.

Then the other woman said, Nay, but my sonne liueth, and thy sonne is dead: againe she said, No, but thy sone is dead, & mine aliue: thus they spake before s King.

The said the King, She sayth, this that liueth is my sonne, & the dead is thy sonne: and t other saith, Naye, but the dead is thy sonne, and the liuing is my sonne.

Then u King said, Bring me a sword: & they brought out a sword before v King.

And the King said, Denide ye the liuing childe in twaine, and giue the one halfe to the one, and the other halfe to the other.

Then spake the woman, whose the liuing childe was, vnto the King, for her compassion was kindled toward her fenne, & she said, Oh my lord, giue her the liuing childe, and w slay him not: but the other said, Let it be neither mine nor thine, but denide it.

Then the King answered, & said, Giue her the liuing childe, and slay him not: this is his mother.

And all Israel heard x iudgement, which the King had iudged, and they feared the King: for they sawe that the wisdom of God was in him to do iustice.

And Salomons vitales for one day were thirtie measures of fine flour, and threescore measures of meale:

Ten fat oxen, and twentie oxen of the pastures, and an hundred shepe, besides hartes, and buckes, and bugles, and fat foule.

<sup>l</sup> And God gaue Salomón wisdome: and vnderstanding exceeding much, and a large heart, euen as the sand that is on the sea shore.

And Salomons wisdome excelled the wisdome of all the children of the East, and all the wisdome of Egypt.

For he was wiser then anie man: yea, they were Ethán the Ezrahite, then Hemán, then Chakól, then Darda the sonnes of Mahól: and he was famous throughout all nacions rounde about.

And Salomón spake thre thousand proverbes: and his songs were a thousand and fife.

And he spake of trees, from the cedartre that is in Lebanón, euen vnto the hyssope that springeth out of the wall: he spake also of beastes, and of foules, and of creeping things, and of fishes.

And there came of all people to heare the wisdome of Salomón, fro all Kinges of the earth, which had heard of his wisdome.

CHAP. V.

Hiram sendeth to Salomón, and Salomón to him, proposing to buyde the house of God. He prepares himselfe for the buyding.

A Nd Hiram King of Tyrus sent his seruants vnto Salomón, (for he had heard, that they had anoynted him King in the roume of his father) because Hiram had euer loued Dauid.

Also Salomón sent to Hiram, saying, Thou knowest that Dauid my father colde not buyde an house vnto the Name of the Lord his God, for the warres which were about him: the Lord had put them his feete.

But now the Lord my me rest on euerie side, ther aduersarie, nor euill, And beholde, I purpose to se vnto the Name of the Lord, as the Lord spake vnto saying, Thy sonne, who thy throne for thee, his house vnto my Name.

Now therefore coman me cedar trees out of Lebanón, thy seruants shalbe with thy to thee wil I giue the seruants, according to all point: for thou knowest ne amog vs, that can be to the Sidonians.

And when Hiram of Salomón, he reioyced: Blessed be the Lord this giuen vnto Dauid a wise mightie people.

And Hiram sent to Salomón, saying, I haue considered the thing thou sentest vnto me, and all thy desire, concerning and fire trees.

My seruats shal bring to Lebanón to the sea: and by sea in rafts vnto the shalt shewe me, and will discharged there, and them: now thou shalt do minister foode for me.

So Hiram gaue Salomón fire trees, euen his full dore.

And Salomón gaue Hiram <sup>m</sup> measures of wheate for his household, and twentie ten oyle. Thus muche Hiram yere by yere.

And <sup>n</sup> Lord gaue Salomón as he promised him. And ce betweene Hiram and Salomón was made a covenent.

And King Salomón sent out of all Israël, and the thousand men:

Whome he sent to Lebanón a moneth by courses, and twentie thousand men.

And Salomón had that bare burdens, and for masons in the mountain.

his figge tree, Dan, euen to Beer-

sheba, as in the dayes of Salomón.
And he had fortie thousand strong men, and twelue

And he gaue vnto his

But now the Lord my God hath given me a rest on euerie side, so that there is neither aduersarie, nor euil to resiste.

And beholde, I purpose to buylde an
house vnto the Name of the Lord my God,
as the Lord spake vnto Dauid my father,

saying, Thy sonne, whome I wil set vpon
thy throne for thee, he shal buylde an

Now therefore comande, that they hewe

thee wil I giue the hire for thy ser-

the Sidonians.

And when Hirám heard the wordes
of Salomón, he reioyced greatly, and said,
Blessed be the Lord this day, which hath given vnto Dauid a wise sonne ouer this mightie people.

And Hirám sent to Salomón, saying, I
haue considered the things, for the which thou sentest vnto me, and wil accomplish
all thy desire, concerning the cedar trees
and firre trees.

My seruants shal bring them downe from Lebanón to the sea: and I wil conueie the
by sea in rafts vnto the place that thou shalt shewe me, and wil cause them to be discharged there, and thou shalt receyue
them: now thou shalt do me a pleasure to minister foode for my familie.

So Hirám gaue Salomón cedar trees &
firre trees, euen his full desire.

And Salomón gaue Hirám twentie thousand measures of wheat for foode to his householde, and twentie measures of beaten oyle. Thus muche gaue Salomón to Hirám yere by yere.

And the Lord gaue Salomón wisdome
as he promised him. And there was peace betwene Hirám and Salomón, and they two made a covenant.

And King Salomón raised a summe
out of all Israell, and the summe was thirty thousand men:

Whome he sent to Lebanón, ten thousand a moneth by course: they were a mo-
neth in Lebanón, & two moneths at home. And Adonirám was ouer the summe.

And Salomón had seuentie thousand that were burdens, & fourescore thousand
maçons in the mountaine,

Besides the princes, whome Salomón
sent to the king of Tyre, saying, As thou hast done for me heretofore, so do thou
do for me now: for I haue builded an
house vnto the Name of the Lord my God,
for the warres

appointed ouer the worke, euen thre thou-

people that wrought in the worke.

And the King commanded them, & they brought great stones and costly stones to make the fundacion of the house, euen
hewed stones.

And Salomons workemen, & the work-

CHAP. VI.

The buylding of the Temple and the forme thereof.
The promises of the Lord to Salomón.

And in the foure hundredth and foure score yere (after the children of Israell were come out of the land of Egypt)
and in the fourth yere of the reigne of Sa-
lomón ouer Israell, in the moneth a Zif, (which is the seconde moneth) he buylt
the house of the Lord.

2. Chron. 3. 1.

And the house which King Salomón buylt
for the Lord, was thre score cubites long, & twentie broade, and thirty cubites hie.

a Which mo-neth was the part of May,
whereby is
ment the temple & the oracle.

And the porch before the Temple of the house was twentie cubites long according to the breadth of the house, and ten cu-
bites broade before the house.

c Or the court
where the people praye, &
was before the place where
the burnt
offerings stode.

And in the house he made windowes,
broade without, and narrow within.

d Or, so open
to the sun.

And by the wall of the house he made galleries rounde about, euen by the walles of the house rounde about the Temple and the oracle, and made chambres rounde about.

e Or, lesse.

The nethermost gallerie was fiue cubites
broade, and the middlemost six cubites
broade, & the thirde seuē cubites broade:
for he made restes rounde about without
the house, that the beams shulde not be fastened in the walles of the house.

f Where God
spake betwene
the Cherubims,
called also the most holy
place.

And when the house was buylt, it was
buylt of stone peulit, before it was brought,
so that there was neither hammer, nor axe,
nor any toole of yron heard in the house,
while it was in buylding.

g Which were
certaine flores coming
out of the wall,
for the beams
to rest vpon.

The dore of the middle chambre was in the right side of the house, & men went vp with winding steires into the middle-most, and out of the middlemost into the third.

h Or, gallerie.

So he buylt the house and finished it, &
cieled the house being vawted with cie-
ling of cedar trees.

i In Exodus it
is called the Tabernacle: &
the temple is
there called
the sanctuary,
and the oracle
the most holy
place.

And he buylt the galleries vpon all the wall of the house of fiue cubites height, &
they were ioyned to the house with beams
of cedar.

And the worde of the Lord came to Sa-lomón, saying,

THE TEMPLE VNCOVERED.

The cause why we re-
red and set open the
ple, without setting forth
the wall that is before
it, is, that the order of those things that are within, might be seen
more lively.

22 Concerning this house which thou buildest, if thou wilt walke in mine ordinances, and execute my iudgements, and keepe all my commandements, to walke in them, then wil I performe vnto thee my promises, which I promised to Dauid thy father.

2 Sam. 7. 13.

According as he promised vnto Moyses, Exo. 32. 2.

Meaning vnto the roof, which was also gilded.

13 And I wil dwell among the children of Israel, and wil not forsake my people Israel.

14 So Salomon built the house and finished it,

15 And built the walles of the house within, with bordes of cedre tre from the pavement of the house vnto the walles of the cieling, and within he couered them with wood and couered the floore of the house with planks of firre.

16 And he built twentie cubites in the sides of the house with bordes of cedre, from the floore to the walles, and he prepared a place within it for the oracle, and the most holy place.

17 But the house, that is, the temple before it was fourtie cubites long.

18 And the cedre of the house within was kerued with knoppes, and grauen with flowres: all was cedre, so that no stone was seen.

19 Also he prepared the place of the oracle in the middes of the house within, and set the Ark of the covenant of the Lord there.

20 And the place of the oracle within was twentie cubites long, and twentie cubites broad, and twentie cubites hie, and he couered it with pure golde, and couered the altar with cedre.

21 So Salomon couered the house within with pure golde: and he shut the place of the oracle with chaines of golde, and couered it with golde.

22 And he ouerlaid the house with golde, vntill all the house was made perfite: also he couered the whole altar, that was before the oracle, with golde.

23 And within the oracle he set two cherubims, of oliue tre, ten cubites high, and the wings of the cherubims were spread out, so that the wings of the one reached to the wings of the other, and they covered the ark of the covenant.

24 The wing also of the cherubim was five cubites: so that the most parte of one of his wings covered the most parte of the other, and they covered the ark of the covenant.

25 Also the other Cherubim was of oliue tre, and one syfe.

26 For the height of the cherubims was ten cubites, and so was the height of the house.

27 And he put the cherubims in the inner house, and the cherubims covered the ark of the covenant with their wings, so that the wings of the one reached to the wings of the other, and they covered the ark of the covenant.

28 And he ouerlaid the house with golde, vntill all the house was made perfite: also he couered the whole altar, that was before the oracle, with golde.

This figure representeth the great court separated into three partes, whose separation was made of three orders of hewn stone & one of cedar borders. In the first court towards the West was the Temple A. The second court B. was for the Priests, called the inner court. 23 And within the oracle he made two Cherubims, of olive tree, ten cubites hie.

24 The wing also of the one Cherub was five cubites, & the wing of the other Cherub was five cubites: from the uttermost parte of one of his wings vnto the uttermost parte of the other of his wings, were ten cubites.

25 Also the other Cherub was of ten cubites; bothe Cherubims were of one measure and one fyse.

26 For the height of the one Cherub was ten cubites, and so was the other Cherub.

27 And he put the Cherubims within the inner house, and the Cherubims stretched out their wings, so that the wing of y<sup>e</sup> one touched the one wall, and the wing of the other Cherub touched the other wall: and their other wings touched one another in the middes of the house.

28 And he overlaid the Cherubims with golde.

29 And he carved all the walles of y<sup>e</sup> house round about with grauen figures of Cherubims and of palme trees, and grauen flowres within and without.

30 And the floore of the house he covered with golde within and without.

31 And in the entering of the oracle he made two dores of olive tree: and the vpper poste & side postes were five square.

32 The two dores also were of olive tree, & he graued them with grauing of Cherubims and palme trees, and grauen flowres, and covered the with golde, & laied thin golde vpon the Cherubims and vpon the palme trees.

33 And so made he for the dore of the Temple postes of olive tree four square.

34 But the two dores were of firre tree, the two sides of the one dore were rounde, & the two sides of y<sup>e</sup> other dore were round.

pauement to pauement.

And in his house, where he dwelt, was an other hall more inwarde then the porche was of the same worke. Also Salomon made an house for Pharaohs daughter (*whome he had taken to wife) like vnto
this porche.

All these were <sup>f</sup> of costely stones, hew-
ed by measure, and sawed with sawes:
with in and without, from the fundacion
vnto <sup>g</sup> the stones of an hand breadth, & on the outside to the great courte.

And the fundacio was of costely stones,
& great stones, euen of stones of ten cu-
bites, and stones of eight cubites.

¶ Above also were costely stones, squared
by rule, and boordes of cedre.

¶ And the great courte round about was
with thre rowes of hewed stones, and a rowe of cedre beames: <sup>h</sup> so was it to the inner courte of the house of the Lord, &
to the porche of the house.

¶ Then King Salomon sent, and set one
Hiram out of <sup>i</sup> Tyrus.

He was a widowes sonne of the tribe of Naphtali, his father being a ma of Tyrus,
and wrought in brasse: <sup>j</sup> he was full of wis-dome, and vnderstanding, & knowledge to worke all maner of worke in brasse: who came to King Salomon, and wrought all his worke.

¶ For he cast two pillers of brasse: the height of a pillar was eighrene cubites, &
a threde of twelue cubites did compass
ether of the pillers.

And he made two <sup>k</sup> chapters of molten
brasse to set on the toppes of the pillers:
the height of one of the chapters was five cubites, and the height of the other chapter was five cubites.

¶ He made grates like networke, & <sup>l</sup> writhē worke like chaines for the chapters that were on the toppes of the pillers, euen seven for the one chapter, & seven for the other chapter.

So he made the pillers and two rowes of pomegranates rounde about in the one grate to couer the chapters that were vpon the toppes. And thus did he for the other chapter.

And the chapters that were on <sup>m</sup> y<sup>e</sup> toppes
of the pillers were after <sup>n</sup> lilye worke in
the porche, foure cubites.

And the chapters vpon the two pillers
had also aboue, <sup>o</sup> ouer against the bellie

And they drew out the barres, that the ends of the barres might appeare out of the Sanctuarie before the oracle, but they were not sene without: and there they are vnto this day.

Nothing was in the Arke, saue the two tables of stone which Moses had put there at Horeb, where the Lord made a couenāt with the children of Israel, whē he broght them out of the land of Egypt.

And when the Priests were come out of the Sanctuarie, the cloude filled the house of the Lord,

So that the Priests colde not stand to minister, because of the cloude: for the glorie of the Lord had filled the house of the Lord.

Then spake Salomōn, The Lord said, that he wolde dwel in the darcke cloude.

I haue buylt thee an house to dwel in, an habitation for thee to abide in for euer.

And the King turned his face, & blessed all the Congregation of Israel: for all the Congregation of Israel stode there.

And he said, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who spake with his mouth vnto Dauid my father, and hathe with his hād fulfilled it, saying,

Since the day that I broght my people Israel out of Egypt, I chose no citie of all y tribes of Israel, to buylde an house that my Name might be there: but I haue chosen Dauid to be ouer my people Israel.

And it was in the heart of Dauid my father to buylde an house to the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

And the Lord said vnto Dauid my father, Whereas it was in thine heart to buylde an house vnto my Name, thou didst wel, that thou wast so minded:

Neuertheles thou shalt not buylde the house, but thy sonne, that shal come out of thy loynes, he shal buylde the house vnto my Name.

And the Lord hathe made good his worde that he spake: and I am risen vp in the rounce of Dauid my father, and sit on y throne of Israel, as the Lord promised, and haue buylt the house for the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

And I haue prepared therein a place for the Arke, wherein is the couenānt of the Lord which he made with our fathers, whē he broght the out of y lād of Egypt.

Then Salomōn stode before the altar of the Lord in the sight of all the Congregation of Israel, and stretched out his hands toward heauen,

And said, O Lord God of Israel, there is no god like thee in heauen aboue, or in the earth beneath, thou that kepest couenānt & mercy with thy seruants that walke before thee with all their heart;

Thou that hast kept with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him: for thou spakest with thy mouth & hast fulfilled it with thine hand, as appeareth this day.

Therefore now, Lord God of Israel, keepe with thy seruāt Dauid my father that thou hast promised him, saying, Thou shalt not want a man in my sight to sit vpon y throne of Israel: so that thy children take hede to their way, that they walke before me, as thou hast walked in my sight.

¶ And at the end of twentie yeres, when Salomón had buylded the two houses, the house of the Lord, and the Kings palace,

(For he which Hiram the King of Tyre had brought to Salomón timber of cedre, and firre trees, and golde, and whatsoever he desired) then King Salomón gaue to Hiram twentie cities in the land of Galilee.

¶ And Hiram came out from Tyre to see the cities which Salomón had giuen him, and they pleased him not.

¶ Therefore he said, What cities are these which thou hast giuen me, my brother? And he called them the land of Canaan vnto this day.

¶ And Hiram had sent the King six talents of golde.

¶ And this is the cause of the tribute which King Salomón raised tribute, to wit, to buyld the house of the Lord, & his owne house, and Milló, and the wall of Ierusalem, Hazór, and Megiddó, and Gézer.

¶ Pharaoh King of Egypt had come vpon, and taken Gézer, and burnt it with fire, & slew the Canaanites, that dwelt in the citie, and gaue it for a present vnto his daughter Salomons wife.

¶ (Therefore Salomón buylt Gézer and Beth-horón the nether;

¶ And Baalath and Tamór in the wilderness of the land,

¶ And all the cities of store, that Salomón had, euen cities for charers, and cities for horsemen, and all that Salomón desired & wolde buyld in Ierusalem, and in Lebanon and in all the land of his dominion)

¶ Also King Salomón made shippes in Ezeon-geber, Elóth, and the brincke of the land of Edóm.

¶ And Hiram sent with him, & were mariners, & of the sea, with the seruants of Salomón.

¶ And they came to Ophir: thence foure hundred talents of golde, & brought it to Salomón.

¶ And the queene of Sabá, the same of Salomons Name of the Lord, came to him with hard questions, and she came to Ierusalem with great traine, & camels charged with spices, and golde exceeding precious stones: and she came and communed with him in her heart.

¶ And Salomón declared to her all the questions: nothing was hid from her, which he expounded not vnto her.

¶ Then the queene of Sheba, Salomons wisdom, and the things which he had sayd, and the things which he had done, were reported in her land.

¶ And the meat of his table, and the drink of his servants, and the vessels, & his apparel, and his burnt offerings, and the things which were in the house of the Lord, were greatly astonished.

¶ And she said vnto the King, I haue heard in mine

them in the land, whome the children of Israël were not able to destroye, those did Salomón make tributaries vnto this day.

21 But of the children of Israël did Salomón make no bondmen: but they were men of warre and his seruants, and his princes, and his captaines, and rulers of his charrets and his horsemen.

22 These were the princes of the officers, that were ouer Salomons worke: euen five hundred and fiftie, and they ruled ſ people that wrought in the worke.

23 And Pharaohs daughter came vp frō the citie of Dauid vnto the house which Salomón had buylt for her: the did he buyld Millō.

24 And thrise a yere did Salomón offer burnt offrings and peace offrings vpon the altar which he buylt vnto the Lord: & he burnt incense vpon the altar, that was before the Lord, when he had finished the house.

25 Also King Salomón made a nauie of shippes in Ezeon-géber, which is beside Elōth, and the brinke of the red Sea, in the land of Edóm.

26 And Hirám sent with the nauie his seruants, ſ were mariners, & had knowledge of the sea, with the seruants of Salomón.

27 And they came to Ophír and fet from thence ſ foure hundred and twenty talēt of golde, & brought it to King Salomón.

CHAP. X.

The queene of Sabá commeth to heare the wisdom of Salomón: is his royal throne 23 His power and magnificence.

ANd the ſ queene of Shebá hearing the fame of Salomón (concerning the Name of the Lord) came to proue him with hard questions,

2 And she came to Ierusalém with a very great traine, & camels that bare swete odors, and golde exceeding muche, & precious stones: and she came to Salomón, and communed with him of all that was in her heart.

3 And Salomón declared vnto her all her questions: nothing was hid frō the King, which he expounded not vnto her.

4 Then the queene of Shebá sawe all Salomons wisdom, and the house that he had buylt.

5 And the ſ meat of his table, and the sitting of his seruants, and the ordre of his ministers, & their apparel, & his drinking vessels, and his burnt offrings, that he offered in the house of the Lord, and ſ she was greatly astonied.

6 And she said vnto the King, It was a true worde that I heard in mine owne land of thy sayings, and of thy wisdom.

7 Howbeit I beleued not this reporte, til I came, and had sene it with mine eyes: but lo, the one halfe was not tolde me: for thou hast more wisdom and prosperitie, the I haue heard by reporte.

8 Happy are thy men, happy are these thy seruants, which stand euer before thee, and heare thy wisdom.

9 Blessed be the Lord thy God, which ſ lo-ued thee, to set thee on the throne of Israël, because the Lord loued Israël for euer and made thee King, to do ſ equitie and righteousness.

10 And she gaue the King six score talēts of golde, and of swete odors exceeding muche, and precious stones. There came no more suche abundance of swete odors, as the queene of Shebá gaue to King Salomón.

11 The nauie also of Hirám (that caried golde from Ophír) brought likewise great plenty of ſ Almuggim trees from Ophír and precious stones.

12 And the King made of the Almuggim trees pillars for the house of the Lord, & for the Kings palace, and made harpes & psalteries for singers. There came no more suche Almuggim trees, nor were anie more sene vnto this day.

13 And King Salomón gaue vnto the queene of Shebá, whatsoeuer she wolde aske, besides that, which Salomón gaue her ſ of his kinglie liberalitie: so she returned & went to her owne countrey, bothe she, and her seruants.

14 Also the weight of golde, that came to Salomón in one yere, was six hundred thre score and six ſ talēts of golde.

15 Besides that he had of marchant men and of the marchandises of them that solde spices, and of all the Kings of Arabia, & of the princes of the ſ countrey.

16 And King Salomón made two hundred thre targats of beaten golde, six hundred ſ shēkels of golde went to a targat:

17 And thre hundred shields of beaten golde, thre pounce of golde went to one shield: and the King put them in ſ house of the wood of Lebanon.

18 Then the King made a great throne of yuerie, and couered it with the best golde.

19 And the throne had six steps, and the top of the throne was round behinde, & there were ſ stayes on ether side on the place of the throne, and two lions standing by the ſ stayes.

20 And there stode twelue lions on the six steps on ether side: there was not the like made in any kingdome.

THE ROYAL

THRON
MON.

21 And all King Salomons drinking vessels were of golde, and all the vessels of the house of the wood of Lebanon were of pure golde, none were of silver: for it was nothing esteemed in the daies of Salomón.

22 For the King had on the sea the nauie of Tharshish with the nauie of Hirám: once in thre yere came y<sup>e</sup> nauie of<sup>h</sup> Tharshish, & brought golde and silver, yuerie, & apes and peacokes.

23 So King Salomón exceded all y<sup>e</sup> Kings of the earth bothe in riches and in wisdom.

24 And all the worlde sought to se Salomón, to heare his wisdom, which God had put in his heart,

25 And thei brought euery man his present, vessels of silver, and vessels of golde, and raiment, and armour, and sweet odors, horses and mules, from yere to yere.

2 Chron 1, 14.

26 Then Salomón gathered together chariots and horsemen: and he had a thousand and foure hundred chariots, and twelue thousand horsemen, whome he placed in the chariots, cities, and with the King at Ierusalem.

Or, he made fl<sup>ts</sup> as stones, and gaue cedres as the wilde fig-trees that growe abundantly in the plaine.

27 And the King gaue silver in Ierusalem as stones, and gaue cedres as the wilde fig-trees that growe abundantly in the plaine.

28 Also Salomón had horses bought out of Egypt, and fine linen: the Kings merchants receiued the linen for a price.

Or, for the company of the Kings merchants, did receive a number of linen.

29 There came vp and went out of Egypt:

some chariot, worth the six hundred shekels of silver: that is, one horse, an hundred and fiftie, and thus they brought horses to all the Kings of the Hittites and to the Kings of Aram by their meanes.

CHAP. XI.

1 Salomón hadde a thousand wiues and concubines, which bring him to idolatrie: 14 His God raiseth up aduersaries against him. 23 He dyeth.

1 V<sup>e</sup> King Salomón loued many of Blandish women: bothe the daughters of Pharaoh, and the women of Moab, Ammon, Edóm, Zidon and Heth,

2 Of the nations, whereof the Lord had said vnto the children of Israël, Go not ye in to them, nor let the come in to you: for surely they will turne your hearts after their gods. to them, I say, did Salomón ioine in loue.

3 And he had seven hundred wiues, that were princesses and thre hundred concubines, and his wiues turned away his heart.

4 For when Salomón was olde, his wiues turned his heart after other gods, so y<sup>e</sup> heart was not perfect with the Lord his God, as was the heart of Dauid his father.

5 For Salomón followed Astarte the goddess of y<sup>e</sup> Zidonians, & Milcom the god of the Ammonites.

6 So Salomón wrought wickednes in the sight of the Lord, but continued not to follow the Lord, as did Dauid his father.

7 Then did Salomón buyld an hie place for Chemosh the abor in the mountaine that Ierusalem, and vnto Moloch the children of Ierusalem. And so did he for all his which burnt incense and gods.

9 Therefore the Lord was angry with Salomón, because he had forsaken the Lord God of Ierusalem, and appeared vnto him twice.

10 And had giuen him a sign, saying this thing, that he should not worship other gods: but he kept the Lord had commanded.

11 Wherefore the Lord was angry with Salomón, forasmuch as he had built an hie place, and thou hadst not kept my statutes (which I commanded).

12 I will surely rent the kingdom from thee, and wil giue it to thy seruants. Notwithstanding in this do it, because of Dauid thy father, wil rent it out of the hand.

13 Howbeit I wil not rent the kingdom from thee, but wil giue ones tribe to thy seruants, because of Dauid my seruant.

14 Then the Lord stirred up against Salomón, even the spirit of Baalzebub, the prince of the demons, of the Kings of Edóm.

15 For when Dauid was old, he made the captaine of the host to be Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, the Gileadite, and he buried the king in Ierusalem, and he buried him in the sepulchre of his fathers.

16 (For six moneths did Ierusalem be without a king, and all Israël, till he had chosen a new king, the males in Edóm)

17 Then this Hadad, the son of Edom, came to Egypt with him, to go into Egypt, yet a litle childe.

18 And they arose out of Egypt, and came to Parán, and toke men of Parán, and came to Egypt, and came to Egypt, and appointed him vitall land.

19 So Hadad founde grace in the sight of Pharaoh, & he gave him a house, and he dwelt in the city of Pharaoh, and he dwelt in the city of Pharaoh, and he dwelt in the city of Pharaoh.

20 And the sister of Tahpenes the queene, Genubath his sonne, was wayned in Pharaohs house, and she was in Pharaohs house, and she was in Pharaohs house.

21 And when Hadad heard that Dauid slept with his father, he arose, and he came to Egypt, and he came to Egypt, and he came to Egypt.

22 And when Hadad heard that Dauid slept with his father, he arose, and he came to Egypt, and he came to Egypt, and he came to Egypt.

THRONE
MON.

for Chemósh the <sup>e</sup> abominació of Moáb,

lem, and vnto Mólech the abomination of the children of Ammón.

8 And so did he for all his outlādish wiues, which burnt incense and offred vnto their
gods.

9 Therefore the Lord was angry with Salomón,
because he had turned his heart
from the Lord God of Israël, <sup>e</sup> which had appeared vnto him twise,

10 And had giuen him a <sup>e</sup> charge concerning this thing, that he shulde not followe
other gods: but he kept not that, which the Lord had commanded him.

11 Wherefore the Lord said vnto Salomón, Forasmuch as <sup>e</sup> this is done of thee,
and thou hast not kept my couenant, and my statutes (which I commanded thee)

12 I wil surely rent the kingdome fró thee,
and wil giue it to thy seruant.

13 Notwithstanding in thy daies I wil not do it, because of Dauid thy father, but I wil rent it out of the hand of thy sonne:

14 Howbeit I wil not rent all <sup>e</sup> kingdome,
but wil giue ones tribe to thy sonne, because of Dauid my seruant, and because of Ierusalem, which I haue chosen.

15 Then the Lord stirred vp an aduersarie
vnto Salomón, <sup>e</sup>uen Hadad the Edomite, of the Kings <sup>e</sup> seede, which was in Edóm.

16 For when Dauid was in Edóm, & Ioáb
the capitaine of the hoste had smitten all the males in Edóm, and was gone vp to bury the <sup>e</sup> slayne,

17 (For six moneths did Ioáb remaine there,
and all Israël, til he had destroyed all the males in Edóm)

18 Then this Hadad <sup>e</sup> fled and certeine
other Edomites of his fathers seruants with him, to go into Egypt, Hadad being yet a litle childe.

19 And they arose out of Midián, & came to Parán, and toke men with them out of Parán, and came to Egypt vnto Pharaoh
King of Egypt, which gaue him an house,
and appointed him vitailles, and gaue him
land.

20 So Hadad <sup>e</sup> founde great fauour in the sight of Pharaoh, & he gaue him to wife
the sister of his owne wife, <sup>e</sup>uen the sister of Tahpenés the queene.

21 And the sister of Tahpenés bare him
Genubath his sonne, whome Tahpenés
wayned in Pharaohs house: & Genubath
was in Pharaohs house among the sonnes
of Pharaoh.

22 And when Hadad heard in Egypt, that Dauid slept with his fathers, & that Ioáb
the capitaine of the hoste was dead, Hadad
said to Pharaoh, Let me departe, that I may go to mine owne country.

22 But Pharaoh said vnto him, What hast thou lacked with me, that thou wouldest thus go to thine owne country? And he answered, Nothing, but in any wife let me go.

23 <sup>e</sup> And God stirred him vp another aduersarie, Rezon the sonne of Eliadáh, which <sup>e</sup> fled from his lord Hadadézer King of Zobáh.

24 And he gathered men vnto him, & had bene capitaine ouer the companie, when Dauid slewe them. And thei went to Damascus, and dwelt there, <sup>e</sup> and thei made him King in Damascus.

25 Therefore was he an aduersarie to Is-raél all the daies of Salomón: besides the euil that Hadad <sup>e</sup> did, he also abhorred Is-raél, and reigned ouer Arám.

26 <sup>e</sup> And Ieroboám <sup>e</sup> sonne of Nebát an Ephrathite of Zeréda Salomons seruant (whose mother was called Zerúah a widowe) lift vp his hand against the King.

27 And this was the cause that he lift vp his hand against the King, when Salomón
buyt Milló, he repared the broken places
of the citie of Dauid his father.

28 And this man Ieroboám was a man of strength and courage, and Salomón king
that the yong mã was mete for the worke,
he made him <sup>e</sup> ouersee of all the labour
of the house of Ioséph.

29 And at that time, when Ieroboám went out of Ierusalem, the Prophet Ahiaáh the Shilonite founde him in the way, hauing a newe garment on him, and thei two were alone in the field.

30 Then Ahiaáh caught the newe garment that was on him, and <sup>e</sup> rent it in twelue pieces,

31 And said to Ieroboám, Take vnto thee
ten pieces: for thus sayth the Lord God
of Israël, Beholde, I wil rét the kingdome
out of the hands of Salomón, & wil giue
ten tribes to thee.

32 But he shal haue one tribe for my seruāt
Dauids sake, and for Ierusalem the citie,
which I haue chosen out of all the tribes
of Israël,

33 Because thei haue forsaken me, and haue
worshiped Ashtaróth the god of the Zi-donians, & Chemósh the god of the Moabites, and Milcóm the god of the Ammo-nites, & haue not walked in my wayes (to do right in mine eyes, and my statutes, &
my lawes) as did Dauid his father.

34 But I wil not take the whole kingdome
out of his hād: for I wil make him prince
all his life long for Dauid my seruants sake, whome I haue chosen, & who kept
my commandments and my statutes.

35 But I wil take the kingdome out of his sonnes hand, and wil giue it vnto thee, <sup>e</sup>ue
the ten tribes.

26 And Ieroboám thoght in his heart, Now

28 Whereupon the King toke counfel, and

So did he in Beth-él and offered vnto the Beth-él the Priests of the hie places, which he had made.

33 And he offered vpon the altar, which he had made in Beth-él, the fiftēth day of the

he had forged of his owne heart) & made

Ieroboám is reprehended of the Prophet. 4 His hand

1 ANd beholde, there came <sup>a</sup> a man of a

Ieroboám stode by the altar to offer in-

2 And he cryed against the altar by the cō-

This is the <sup>e</sup> signe, that the Lord hathe

4 And whē the King had heard the sayi-

6 The altar also claued asunder, & the asshes

the man of God, <sup>e</sup> I beseeche thee, pray

- 13 And he said vnto his sonnes, Saddle me the asse: Who saddled him the asse, and he rode thereon,
- 14 And went after the man of God, and founde him sitting vnder an oke: and he said vnto him, A rt thou the man of God that camest fro Iudah? And he said, Yea.
- 15 Then he said vnto him, Come home with me, and eat bread.
- 16 But he answered, I may not returne with thee, nor go in with thee, neither wil I eat bread nor drinke water with thee in this place.
- 17 For it was charged me by the worde of the Lord, saying, Thou shalt eat no bread, nor drinke water there, nor turne againe to go by the way that thou wentest.
- 18 And he said vnto him, I am a Prophet also as thou art, and an Angel spake vnto me by the worde of the Lord, saying, Bring him againe with thee into thine house, that he may eat bread and drinke water: but he lied vnto him.
- 19 So he went againe with him, and did eat bread in his house, and dranke water.
- 20 And as they sate at the table, the worde of the Lord came vnto the Prophet, that brought him againe.
- 21 And he cryed vnto the man of God that came from Iudah, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Because thou hast disobeyed the mouth of the Lord, and hast not kept the commandment which the Lord thy God commanded thee,
- 22 But camest backe againe, and hast eaten bread & drinke water in the place (whereof he did say vnto thee, Thou shalt eat no bread nor drinke anie water) thy carkeis shal not come vnto the sepulchre of thy fathers.
- 23 And when he had eaten bread and dröke, he saddled him the asse, to wit, to the Prophet whome he had brought againe.
- 24 And when he was gone, a lyon met him by the way, and stöwe him, and his bodie was cast in the way, and the asse stode thereby: the lyon stode by the corpes also.
- 25 And beholde, men that passed by, sawe the carkeis cast in the way, and the lyon standing by the corpes: and they came and tolde it in the towne where the olde Prophet dwelt.
- 26 And when the Prophet, that brought him backe againe from the way, heard thereof, he said, It is the man of God, who hath bene disobedient vnto the commandment of the Lord: therefore the Lord hath deliuered him vnto the lyon, which hath rent him and flaine him, according to the worde of the Lord, which he spake vnto him.
- 27 And he spake to his sonnes, saying,

- Saddle me the asse. And they saddled him.
- 28 And he went and founde his body cast in the way, and the asse and the lyon stode by the corpes: and the lyon had not eaten the body, nor torne the asse.
- 29 And y Prophet toke vp the body of the man of God, and layed it vpon the asse, and brought it againe, and the olde Prophet came to the citie, to lament and bury him.
- 30 And he layed his body in his owne graue, & they lamented ouer him, saying, Alas, my brother.
- 31 And when he had buried him, he spake to his sonnes, saying, When I am dead, bury ye me also in the sepulchre, where the man of God is buried: laye my bones beside his bones.
- 32 For that thing which he cryed by the worde of the Lord against the altar that is in Beth-el, and against all the houses of the hie places, which are in the cities of Samaria, shal surely come to passe.
- 33 Howbeit alter this, Ieroboam converted not from his wicked way, but turned againe, and made of the lowest of the people Priests of the hie places. Where wolde, might cösecrate him selfe, and be of the Priests of the hie places.
- 34 And this thing turned to sinne vnto the house of Ieroboam, euen to roote it out, and destroy it from the face of the earth.

had done.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of Baashá, & Eláh, & Zimrí, & Omrí. 31 Acháb married Iezabel. 34 Ierichó is buyt againe.

1 Then the worde of the Lord came to Iehú the sonne of Hanáni against Baashá, saying,

2 Forasmuch as I exalted thee out of the dust, & made thee capitaine ouer my people Israél, and thou hast walked in the way
of Ieroboám, and hast made my people Israél to sinne, to prouoke me with their sinnes,

3 Beholde, I wil take away the posteritie of Baashá, and the posterie of his house,
and wil make a chine house like the * house
of Ieroboám the sonne of Nebát.

4 He that dyeth of Baashás stocke in the ci-
tie, him shal the dogs eat: and that man
of him which dyeth in the fields, shal the
foules of the ayre eat.

5 And the rest of the actes of Baashá and what he did, and his power, are they not written in the booke of the * Chronicles of
the Kings of Israél?

6 So Baashá slept with his fathers, & was buried in Tirzáh, & Eláh his sonne reigned in his steade.

7 And also by the hand of Iehú the sonne
of Hanáni the Prophet came the worde
of the Lord to Baashá, & to his house,
that he shulde be like the house of Iero-boám, euen for all the wickednes that he did in the sight of the Lord, in prouoking him with the worke of his hands, and because he killed a him.

8 ¶ In the six and twentie yere of Asá Kíg
of Iudáh began Eláh the sonne of Baashá
to reigne ouer Israél in Tirzáh, & reigned
two yere.

9 And his seruant Zimrí, capitaine of halfe
his charrets conspired against him, as he was in Tirzáh drinking, til he was dronken in the house of Arzá stuarde of his house in Tirzáh.

10 And Zimrí came & smote him & killed
him in the seuen and twenty yere of Asá
Kíg of Iudáh, & reigned in his steade.

11 ¶ And when he was King, and sat on his throne, he slewe all y house of Baashá, not leauing thereof one to pisse against a wall, neither of his kinfolkes nor of his friends.

12 So did Zimrí destroy all the house of Baashá, according to the worde of y Lord
which he spake against Baashá by the hád
of Iehú the Prophet,

13 For all the sinnes of Baashá, and sinnes
of Eláh his sonne, which they sinned and made Israél to sinne, and prouoked the Lord God of Israél with their vanities.

14 And the rest of the actes of Eláh, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israél?

15 ¶ In the seuen and twentie yere of Asá
King of Iudáh did Zimrí reigne seuen dayes in Tirzáh, and the people was then in the hostes besieging Gibbethón, which belonged to the Philistims.

16 And the people of the hoste heard say,
Zimrí hath conspired, & hath also slaine
the Kíg. Wherefore all Israél made Omrí the capitaine of the hoste King ouer Is-raél that same day, euen in the hoste.

17 Then Omrí went vp from Gibbethón,
and all Israél with him, and they besieged Tirzáh.

18 And whē Zimrí sawe, that the citie was taken, he went into the palace of the Kings house, and burnt him selfe and the Kings house with fire, & so dyed,

19 For his sinnes which he sinned, in doing that which is euil in the sight of the Lord, in walking in the way of Ieroboám,
and in his sinnes which he did, causing Israél to sinne.

20 And the rest of the actes of Zimrí, and his treason that he wrought, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of
the Kings of Israél?

21 Thé were y people of Israél deuided into two partes: for halfe y people followed Tibní the sonne of Gináth to make him
King, & the other halfe followed Omrí.

22 But the people that followed Omrí, preuailed against the people that followed Tibní the sonne of Gináth: so Tibní dyed, and Omrí reigned.

23 In the one and thirtie yere of Asá King of Iudáh began Omrí to reigne ouer Is-raél, & reigned twelue yere. Six yere reigned he in Tirzáh.

24 And he bought the mountaine * Samaria of one Shémer for two talents of siluer, and buyt in the mountaine, and called the name of the citie, which he buyt, after the name of Shémer, lord of the mountaine Samaria.

25 But Omrí did euil in the eyes of the Lord, and did worse then all that were before him.

26 For he walked in all the way of Ierobo-
ám the sonne of Nebát, and in his sinnes
wherewith he made Israél to sinne in prouoking the Lord God of Israél with their vanities.

27 And the rest of the actes of Omrí, that he did, and his strégh that he shewed, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israél?

28 And Omrí slept with his fathers, & was buried in Samaria: and Aháb his sonne
reigned in his steade.

29 Now Aháb the sonne of Omrí began to reigne ouer Israél, in the eight
and thirtie yere of Asá King of Iudáh:

and Aháb & sonne of Omrí reigned ouer Israël in Samaria two and twentie yere.

10 And Aháb the sonne of Omrí did worse in the sight of the Lord then all that were before him.

11 For was it a light thing for him to walke in the finnes of Ieroboám the sonne of Nebát, except he toke Iezabel also the daughter of Echi-baal King of the Zidonians to his wife, and went and serued Baal, and worshipped him?

12 Also he reared vp an altar to Baal in the house of Baal, which he had buylt in Samaria.

13 And Aháb made a groue, and Aháb proceeded, and did prouoke the Lord God of Israël more then all the Kings of Israël that were before him.

14 In his dayes did Hiél the Bethelite buyld a Ierichó: he laied the fundació thereof in Abirám his eldett sonne, and set vp the gates thereof in his yongest sonne Segúb, according to the worde of the Lord which he spake by Ioshúa the sonne of Nun.

1 Eliáh forewarneth of the famine to come. 4 He is fed of rauens. 9 He is sent to Zarephath, where he resteth his hostesse, sunne to life.

1 And Eliáh the Tishbite one of the inhabitants of Gilead said vnto Aháb, As the Lord God of Israël liueth, before whome I stand, there shalbe neither dewe nor rayne these yeres, but according to my worde.

2 And the worde of the Lord came vnto him, saying,

3 Go hence, and turne thee Eastwarde, and hide thy selfe in the riuer Cherith, that is ouer against Iordén,

4 And thou shalt drinke of the riuer: and I haue commanded the rauens to feede thee there.

5 So he went and did according vnto the worde of the Lord: for he went, and remained by the riuer Cherith that is ouer against Iordén.

6 And the rauens brought him bread & flesh in the morning, and bread and flesh in the euening, and he dranke of the riuer.

7 And after a while, the riuer dried vp, because there fel no rayne vpon the earth.

8 And the worde of the Lord came vnto him, saying,

9 Vp, and get thee to Zarephath, which is in Zidón, and remaine there: beholde, I haue commanded a widowe there to sustaine thee.

10 So he arose, and went to Zarephath: and when he came to the gate of the citie, beholde, the widowe was there gathering Rickets: & he called her, & said, Bring me, I pray thee, a litle water in a vessel, that I may drinke.

11 And as she was going to fet it, he called to her, and said, Bring me, I pray thee, a morfel of bread in thine hand.

12 And she said, As the Lord thy God liueth, I haue not a cake, but euen an handfull of meale in a barrel, and a litle oyle in a cruse: and beholde, I am gathering a fewe stickes for to go in, and dreffe it for me and my sonne, that we may eat it, and dye.

13 And Eliáh said vnto her, Feare not, come, do as thou hast said, but make me therof a litle cake first of all, and bring it vnto me, and afterwarde make for thee, and thy sonne.

14 For thus saith the Lord God of Israël, The meale in thy barrel shal not be waikened, neither shal the oyle in the cruse be diminished, vnto the time that the Lord send raine vpon the earth.

15 So she went, and did as Eliáh said, and she did eat: so did he and her house for a certeine time.

16 The barrel of the meale wasted not, neither the oyle was spent out of the cruse, according to the worde of the Lord, which he spake by the hand of Eliáh.

17 And after these things, the sonne of the wife of the house fel sicke, and his sickness was so sore, that there was no breath left in him.

18 And she said vnto Eliáh, What haue I to do with thee, o thou man of God? art thou come vnto me to call my sinne to remembrance, and to slaye my sonne?

19 And he said vnto her, Giue me thy sonne, and he toke him out of her bosom, and carried him vp into a chamber, where he abode, and laied him vpon his owne bed.

20 Then he called vnto the Lord, & said, O Lord my God, hast thou punished also this widowe, with whome I sojourn, by killing her sonne?

21 And he stretched him selfe vpon the childe three times, and called vnto the Lord, and said, O Lord my God, I pray thee, let this childe soule come into him againe.

22 Then the Lord heard the voyce of Eliáh, and the soule of the childe came into him againe, and he reuiued.

23 And Eliáh toke the childe, and brought him downe out of the chamber into the house, and deliuered him vnto his mother, and Eliáh said, Beholde, thy sonne liueth.

24 And the woman said vnto Eliáh, Now I knowe that thou art a man of God, and that the worde of the Lord in thy mouth is true.

1 After many daies, the Lord came to Eliáh, saying, Go, shewe Aháb, and I wil fend raine.

2 And Eliáh went to shewe Aháb, and there was a groue in Samaria.

3 And Aháb called Obadiáh, his seruant, saying, Beholde, the Lord is angry, and he hath destroyed the Prophetes, & hid them with bread, and he fed them with bread.

4 And Aháb said vnto Obadiáh, Beholde, the Lord is angry, and he hath destroyed the Prophetes, & hid them with bread, and he fed them with bread. And Aháb said vnto Obadiáh, Beholde, the Lord is angry, and he hath destroyed the Prophetes, & hid them with bread, and he fed them with bread.

7 And as Obadiáh was holde, Eliáh came him: and fel on his face, and said, My lord Eliáh?

8 And he answered him, lord, Beholde, Eliáh is here. And he said, What hast thou woldest deliuer thy hand of Aháb, to slaye me?

9 As the Lord thy God liueth, I will not let thee go, whither thou wilt go: for thou art a man of God.

Prophetes. 40 Eliáh killeth all Baals prophetes. 45 He obtaineth raine.

After many daies, the worde of the Lord came to Eliáh, in the <sup>a</sup> third yere, saying, Go, shewe thy selfe vnto Aháb, and I will send raine vpon the earth.

2 And Eliáh went to shewe him selfe vnto Aháb, and there was a great famine in Samaria.

3 And Aháb called Obadiáh the gouernour of his house: (and Obadiáh <sup>b</sup> feared God greatly.)

4 For when Iezébel destroyed the Prophetes of the Lord, Obadiáh toke an húdredh Prophetes, & hid them, by fiftie in a caue, and he fed them with bread and water.

5 And Aháb said vnto Obadiáh, Go into the land, vnto all the fountaines of water, and vnto all the riuers, if so be that we may finde grasse to saue the horses & the mules aliue, lest we deprime the land of the beastes.

6 And so thei deuided the land betwene them to walke through it. Aháb went one way by him selfe, and Obadiáh went another way by him selfe.

7 And as Obadiáh was in the way, beholde, Eliáh met him: & he knewe him, and fel on his face, and said, Art not thou my lord Eliáh?

8 And he answered him, Yea, go tel thy lord, Beholde, Eliáh is here.

9 And he said, What haue I sinned, that thou woldest deliuer thy seruant into the hand of Aháb, to slaye me?

10 As the Lord thy God liueth, there is no naciõ or kigdome, whether my lord hate the not, nor to icke thee: and when thei said, He is not here, he toke an othe of y kingdome and naciõ, if thei had not founde thee.

11 And now thou saist, Go, tel thy lord, Beholde, Eliáh is here.

12 And when I am gone frõ thee, the Spirit of the Lord shal cary thee into some place that I do not knowe: so when I come and tel Aháb, if he can not finde thee, then wil he kil me: but I thy seruant <sup>a</sup> feare the Lord from my youth.

13 Was it not tolde my lord, what I did when Iezébel slawe the Prophetes of the Lord, how I hidde an hundredth men of the Lords Prophetes by fifties in a caue, & fed them with bread and water?

14 And now thou saiest, Go, tel thy lord, Beholde, Eliáh is here, that he may slaye me.

15 And Eliáh said, As the Lord of hostes liueth, before whome I stand, I wil surely shewe <sup>c</sup> my selfe vnto him this day.

16 So Obadiáh went to mete Aháb, and tolde him: and Aháb wēt to mete Eliáh.

17 And when Aháb sawe Eliáh, Aháb said

vnto him, Art thou he that troubleth Israel?

18 And he answered, I haue not troubled Israel, but <sup>f</sup> thou, and thy fathers house, in that ye haue forsaken the cõmandements of the Lord, and thou hast followed Baalim.

19 Now therefore send, and gather to me all Israel vnto mount Carmel, and the prophetes of Báal foure húdredh & fiftie, & the prophetes of the groues foure hundredh, which eat at Iezebels table.

20 So Aháb sent vnto all the children of Israel, & gathered the prophetes together vnto mount Carmel.

21 And Eliáh came vnto all the people, & said, How long halt ye betwene two opinions? If the Lord be God, followe him: but if Báal be he, then go after him. And the people answered him not a worde.

22 Then said Eliáh vnto y people, I only remaine a Prophet of the Lord: but Baals prophetes are foure hundredh & fiftie me.

23 Let them therefore giue vs two bullockes, and let them chuse the one, and cut him in pieces, and laye him on the wood, but put no fyre vnder, and I wil prepare the other bullocke, and laye him on the wood, and wil put no fyre vnder.

24 Then call ye on the name of your god, and I wil call on the Name of the Lord: and the God that answereth <sup>h</sup> by fyre, let him be God. And all the people answered, and said, It is wel spok'n.

25 And Eliáh said vnto the prophetes of Báal, Chuse you a bullocke, and prepare him first, (for ye are many) & call on the name of your gods, but put no fyre vnder.

26 So thei toke the one bullocke, y was giuen them, & thei prepared it, & called on y name of Báal, from morning to noone, saying, O Báal, heare vs: but there was no voyce, nor anie to answer: and thei <sup>i</sup> leapt vpon the altar that was made.

27 And at noone Eliáh mocked them, and said, Crie loude: for he is a <sup>k</sup> god: either he talketh or pursueth his enemies, or is in his journey, or it may be that he slepeth, and must be <sup>l</sup> awaked.

28 And they cryed loude, and cut them selues as their maner was, with kniues and lancets, til the blood gusheth out vpon them.

29 And when mydday was passed, and thei had prophesied vntil the offering of the evening sacrifice, there was nether voyce, nor onco to answer, nor anie that regarded.

1 Samaria is besieged. 13 The Lord promisseth the vision to Ahab by a Prophet. 21 The King of Israel
made peace with Ben-hadad, and is reprobated therefore by the Prophet.

1 THEN Ben-hadad the King of Aram assembled all his armie, and two and thirtie Kings with him, with horses, &
charets, and went vp, and besieged Samaria, and fought against it.

2 And he sent messengers to Ahab King
of Israel, into the citie,

3 And said vnto him, Thus sayeth Ben-ha-
dad, Thy siluer and thy golde his mine:
also thy women, and thy faire children
are mine.

4 And the King of Israel answered, and said, My lord King, according to thy sayings, I am thine, and all that I haue.

5 And when the messengers came againe,
they said, Thus comendeth Ben-hadad, &
sayth, When I shall send vnto thee, and

comande, thou shalt deliuer me thy siluer & thy golde, & thy women, & thy childre,

6 Or els I wil fend my seruants vnto thee
by to morow this time: and they shall sear-
che thine house, and the houses of thy ser-
uants: and what soeuer is pleasant in thine
eyes, they shall take it in their hands, and bring it away.

7 Then the King of Israel sent for all the Elders of the land, and said, Take hede, I pray you, and see how he seeketh mischief:
for he sent vnto me for my wiues, and for my children, and for my siluer, and for my golde, and I denyed him not.

8 And all the Elders, & all the people said
to him, Hearke not vnto him, nor obsey.

9 Wherefore he said vnto the messengers of Ben-hadad, Tel my lord the King, All that thou didest send for to thy seruants
at the first time, that I wil do, but this thing
I may not do. And the messengers departed, and brought him an answer.

10 And Ben-hadad sent vnto him, & said,
The gods do so to me & more also, if the dust of Samaria be ynough to all y people y followe me, for euery man an hādful.

11 And the King of Israel answered, and said, Tel him, Let not him that girdeth his loynes, boast himselfe, as he y putteth it of.

12 And when he heard y tidings, as he was with the Kings dwelling in the paultions,
he said vnto his seruants, Bring for the yong
engines, and thei set them against the citie.

13 And beholde, there came a Prophet vnto Ahab King of Israel, saying, Thus saith y Lord, Hast thou seen all this great multitude? beholde, I wil deliuer it into thine hand this day, that y maiest knowe,
s that I am the Lord.

14 And Ahab said, By whome? And he said, Thus saith the Lord, By the seruants of the princes of the prouinces. He said again, Who shall ordre the battel? And he answered, Thou.

15 Then he nombred the seruants of the princes of the prouinces, and they were two hundred, two and thirtie: & after the
he nombred the whole people of all the children of Israel, even seven thousand.

16 And they wet out at noone: but Ben-ha-dad did drinke til he was drunken in the tents, so the he & the Kings: for two & thir-
tie Kings helped him.

17 So the seruants of the princes of the prouinces went out first: & Ben-hadad sent out, and they shewed him, saying, There are men come out of Samaria.

18 And he said, Whether they be come out for peace, take them aliue: or whether they
be come out to fight, take them yet aliue.

19 So they came out of the citie, with the ser-uants of the princes of the prouinces, and
the hoste which followed them.

20 And they slewe euerie one his enemy: and the Aramites fled, and Israel pursued them: but Ben-hadad the King of Aram escaped on an horse with his horsemen.

21 And the King of Israel went out, and smote the horses and chariots, and with a great slaughter slewe he the Aramites.

22 (For there had come a Prophet to the King of Israel, & had said vnto him, Go, be of good courage, and confide, and take hede what thou doest: for when the yere is gone about, the King of Aram wil come vp against thee.)

23 ¶ The seruants of the King of Aram said vnto him, Their gods are gods of the mountaines, and therefore they ouercome vs: but let vs fight against them in the plaine, and doubtles we shal ouercome them.

24 And this do, Take the Kings away, euerie one out of his place, and place captaynes for them.

25 And number thy selfe an armie, like the armie that thou hast lost, with suche horses, and suche chariots, and we wil fight against them in the plaine, and doubtles we shal ouercome them: and he hearkened vnto their voyce, and did so.

26 And after the yere was gone about, Ben-hadad nombred the Aramites, and went vp to Aphek to fight against Israel.

27 And the children of Israel were nombred, and were all assembled and went against them, and the children of Israel pitched before them, like two little flocks of kiddes: but the Aramites filled the countrey.

28 And there came a man of God, and spake vnto the King of Israel, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, Because the Aramites haue said, The Lord is the God of the mountaines, and not God of the vailles, therefore wil I deliuer all this great multitude into thine hand, and ye shal knowe that I am the Lord.

29 And they pitched one ouer against the other seuen dayes, & in the seuen day the battel was ioyned: and the children of Israel slewe of the Aramites an hundred thousand foremen in one day.

30 But the rest fled to Aphek into the citie: and there fel a wall vpon seuen & twentie thousand men that were left: and Ben-hadad fled into the citie, and came into a secret chamber.

31 ¶ And his seruantes said vnto him, Beholde now, we haue heard say that the Kings of the house of Israel are merciful Kings: we pray thee, let vs put sackcloth about our loynes, and ropes about our heades, and go out to the King of Israel: it may be that he wil saue thy life.

32 ¶ They girded sackcloth about their loynes, and put ropes about their heades, and came to the King of Israel, and said, Thy seruant Ben-hadad saith, I pray thee, let me liue: and he said, Is he yet aliue? he is my brother.

33 Now the men toke diligent hede, if they coulde catche any thing of him, and made haltes, & said, Thy brother Ben-hadad. And he said, Go, bring him. So Ben-hadad came out vnto him, and he caused him to come vp vnto the chariot.

34 And Ben-hadad said vnto him, The cities, which my father toke fro thy fathers, I wil restore, and thou shalt make streets for thee in Damascus, as my father did in Samaria. Then said Ahab, I wil let thee go with this couenant. So he made a couenant with him and let him go.

35 ¶ Then a certaine man of the children of the Prophetes said vnto his neighbour by the comandement of the Lord, Smite me, I pray thee. But the man refused to smite him.

36 Then said he vnto him, Because thou hast not obeyed the voyce of the Lord, beholde, as thou art departed from me, a lyon shal slay thee. So when he was departed from him, a lyon found him and slewe him.

37 Then he found another man, and said, Smite me, I pray thee. And the man smote him, and in smiting wounded him.

38 So the Prophet departed, and waited for the King by the way, and disguised him selfe with ashes vpon his face.

39 And when the King came by, he cryed vnto the King, and said, Thy seruant went into the middes of the battel: and beholde, there went away a man, whome another man broght vnto me, & said, Keep this man: if he be lost, and want, thy life shal go for his, or els thou shalt paye a talent of siluer.

40 And as thy seruant hal here and there to do, he was gone: and the King of Israel said vnto him, So shal thy iudgement be: thou hast giuen sentence.

41 And he halted, and toke the ashes away from his face: & the King of Israel knew him that he was of the Prophetes:

42 And he said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Because thou hast let go out of thine hands a man whome I appointed to dye, thy life shal go for his life, and thy people for his people.

43 And the King of Israel went to his house heauy and in displeasure, and came to Samaria.

CHAP. XXI.

¶ Iezabel commandeth to kill Naboth for the vineyard, that he refused to sell to Ahab. 19 Eliiah reproveth Ahab, and he repenteth.

¶ After these things Melchizedek had a vineyard by the palace of Ahab.

2 And Ahab spake vnto Melchizedek, Give me thy vineyard to me a garden of herbes: and is nere by mine house: and for it a better vineyard I will giue thee, I wil giue thee it in money.

3 And Naboth said to Ahab, I wil kepe me from giuing the fathers vnto thee.

4 Then Ahab came into his house in displeasure, because Naboth the Izeelite had said for he had said, I wil not heritage of my fathers, his bed and turned his eat no bread.

5 Then Iezabel his wife said vnto him, Why is it thou eatest no bread?

6 And he said vnto her, Naboth the Izeelite hath said, Give me thy vineyard, or if it please thee, I wil giue thee my vineyard for it: but he hath not giue thee my vineyard.

7 Then Iezabel his wife said vnto him, What wilt thou now gouern of Israel? vp, eat bread, and chere, I wil giue thee the both the Izeelite.

8 ¶ So she wrote letters in sealed them with his seales, and sent them vnto the Elders, that were in his citie dwelers.

9 And she wrote in the letters, I charge you, and set two wicked men to be chief of the people,

10 And set two wicked men to be chief of the people, let the witness against him, and he shall blaspheme God, and cary him out, and stone him, and dye.

11 And the men of his house and gouernours, which were in the citie, did as Iezabel had said: and it was writen in the letters, and sent vnto them.

12 They proclaimed a fast among the chief of the people, and they fasted.

13 And there came two wicked men before him: and the wicked men said, Naboth the Izeelite hath said, I wil not giue thee my vineyard, or if it please thee, I wil giue thee my vineyard for it: but he hath not giue thee my vineyard.

14 Then they sent to Iezabel, saying, Naboth the Izeelite is dead, and he is stoned, and he is dead.

15 ¶ And when Iezabel heard that Naboth was dead, she sent to Ahab, and said, Arise, take thy vineyard, for Naboth is dead.

After these things Nabóth the Izreelite had a vineyarde in Izreél, hard
by the palace of Aháb King of Samaria.

And Aháb spake vnto Nabóth, saying, Giue me thy vineyarde, that I may make me a garden of herbes thereof, because it is nere by mine house: and I wil giue thee
for it a better vineyarde then it is: or if it please thee, I wil giue thee the worth of it in money.

And Nabóth said to Aháb, The Lord
kepe me from giuing the inheritace of my fathers vnto thee.

Then Aháb came into his house heavy &
in displeasure, because of the worde which Nabóth the Izreelite had spokē vnto him.
for he had said, I wil not giue thee the inheritance of my fathers, and he lay vpon
his bed and turned his face and wolde
eat no bread.

Then Iezébel his wife came to him and said vnto him, Why is thy spirit so sad? y
thou eatest no bread?

And he said vnto her, Because I spake
vnto Nabóth the Izreelite, and said vnto
him, Giue me thy vineyarde for money,
or if it please thee, I wil giue thee another vineyarde for it: but he answered, I wil
not giue thee my vineyarde.

Then Iezébel his wife said vnto him,
Dost thou now gouerne the kingdome
of Israël? vp, eat bread, and be of good chere, I wil giue thee the vineyard of Na-bóth the Izreelite.

So she wrote letters in Ahabs name, & sealed them with his seale, and sent the letters vnto the Elders, and to the nobles
that were in his citie dwelling w Nabóth.

And she wrote in the letters, saying, Pro-

And set two wicked men before him, and

And the men of his citie, even the Elcitie, did as Iezébel had sent vnto them: as it was writē in the letters, which she had sent vnto them.

They proclaimed a fast, and fet Nabóth

And there came two wicked men, & sate against Nabóth in the presence of the
